(a) Except as provided in paragraph (b) of this section, communications by an aeronautical multicom station shall pertain to activities of a temporary, seasonal or emergency nature which depend upon an aircraft in flight for the successful or safe conduct of the activity. Such communications shall be limited to the directing of ground activities from the air, the directing of aerial activities from the ground, and air-to-air communications where such communications are otherwise not provided for in this part.

(b) Where advisory service is not authorized at a landing area and an applicant is unable to meet the special requirements for an aeronautical advisory station under § 87.251, the Commission, upon a proper showing by the applicant, and until such time as an aeronautical advisory station is established at the landing area, may authorize service at such landing area on the frequency 122.9 Mc/s in accordance with the following provisions:

(1) The station shall not be used for air traffic control purposes other than the relay of certain air traffic control information between the pilot and air traffic controller. Relaying of air traffic control information is limited to the following:

(i) Revisions of proposed departure time.

(ii) Takeoff, arrival or flight plan cancellation time.

(iii) ATC clearances provided by a letter of agreement is consummated by the licensee of the multicom station with the FAA.

(2) Communications shall be limited to the necessities of safe and expeditious operation of private aircraft, pertaining to the conditions of runways, types of fuel available, wind conditions, weather information, dispatching or other necessary information: Provided, however, That on a secondary basis, communications may be transmitted which pertain to the efficient, portal-to-portal transit of which the flight is a portion, such as requests for ground transportation and food or lodging required during transit.

Title 49—TRANSPORTATION

Subtitle A—Office of the Secretary of Transportation

[OST Docket No. 1; Amdt. 1-2]

PART 1—FUNCTIONS, POWERS, AND DUTIES IN THE DEPARTMENT OF TRANSPORTATION

Limitation on Reservation of Authority; Federal Highway Administration

The purpose of this amendment is to further limit the reservation imposed in § 1.5(j)(1) of Part 1 (32 F.R. 5606; 32 F.R. 6496) on the authority delegated to the Federal Highway Administrator to perform the functions of the Secretary of Transportation contained in the National Traffic and Motor Vehicle Safety Act of 1966, 15 U.S.C. 1381–1425. The original reservation of authority extended to all of the authority provided by the Safety Act to issue motor vehicle safety standards.

Under § 1.5(j)(1), as amended, the Secretary retained the authority to issue new and revised motor safety standards and related procedural rules and the Federal Highway Administrator was delegated authority with respect to the issuance of initial standards. The purpose of this amendment is to specifically authorize the Federal Highway Administrator to issue notices of proposed rule making containing proposed standards for new pneumatic tires for passenger cars and proposed standards for tire selection and rims for passenger cars.

This action is taken under the authority of sections 6(a)(6)(A) and 9 of the Department of Transportation Act (P.L. 89-670, 80 Stat. 931). Since this amendment involves a delegation of authority and relates to the internal management of the Department, notice and public procedure thereon are not required and the amendment may be made effective immediately.

In consideration of the foregoing, effective July 15, 1967, 49 CFR 1.5(j)(1) is amended to read as follows:

Title 50—WILDLIFE AND FISHERIES

Chapter I—Bureau of Sport Fisheries and Wildlife, Fish and Wildlife Service, Department of the Interior

PART 32—HUNTING

Imperial National Wildlife Refuge, Arizona and California

The following special regulation is issued and is effective on date of publication in the FEDERAL REGISTER.

§ 32.22 Special regulations; upland game, for individual wildlife refuge areas.

ARIZONA AND CALIFORNIA

IMPERIAL NATIONAL WILDLIFE REFUGE

Public hunting of quail, cottontail, and jack rabbits on the Imperial National Wildlife Refuge, Arizona and California, is permitted only on the area designated by signs as open to hunting. This open area, comprising 33,000 acres, is delineated on maps available at refuge headquarters, Yuma, Ariz., and from the Regional Director, Bureau of Sport Fisheries and Wildlife, Post Office Box 1306, Albuquerque, N. Mex. 87103. Hunting seasons are as follows: Arizona—quail, October 1 through October 31, 1967, inclusive, and December 1, 1967, through January 31, 1968, inclusive; cottontail and jack rabbits, September 1, 1967, through January 31, 1968, inclusive. California—quail, October 28, 1967, through January 1, 1968, inclusive; cottontail and jack rabbits—September 2, 1967, through January 1, 1968, inclusive.

Hunting shall be in accordance with all applicable State Regulations.

The provisions of this special regulation supplement the regulations which govern hunting on wildlife refuge areas generally which are set forth in Title 50, Code of Federal Regulations, Part 32, and are effective through January 31, 1968.

Proposed Rule Making

CIVIL AERONAUTICS BOARD

[14 CFR Part 389]

[Docket No. 18345; ODR-3A]

FEES AND CHARGES FOR SPECIAL SERVICES

Certain Filing and License Fees; Supplemental Notice

JULY 28, 1967.

The Board in 32 F.R. 9841, as corrected in 32 F.R. 10265, and by circulation of ODR-3, dated June 29, 1967, gave notice that it had under consideration amendments to and reissuance of Part 389 which would set forth additional fees for Board services. Interested persons were invited to participate in the rule making proceeding by submission of 10 copies of written data, views, or arguments to the Docket Section of the Board on or before August 7, 1967.

The Air Transport Association, which has been requested to submit joint comments on behalf of its member airlines, has requested a 45-day extension of the time for filing comments. The Association believes such an extension is needed because of the very significant question of law and policy raised by the proposal, the substantial importance of the matter to the entire airline industry, the time required to obtain and coordinate the views of the large number of carriers involved, and the need to effect compliance with Part 263.

The undersigned finds that good cause has been shown for the extension of time requested. Accordingly, pursuant to authority delegated in § 385.20(d) of the Board's Organization Regulations, effective June 21, 1967, the undersigned hereby extends the time for submitting comments to September 21, 1967.

All relevant communications received on or before September 21, 1967, will be considered by the Board before taking action on the proposed rule. Copies of these communications will be available for examination in the Docket Section, Room 710, Universal Building, 1825 Connecticut Avenue NW., Washington, D.C., upon receipt thereof.

ATOMIC ENERGY COMMISSION

[10 CFR Parts 50, 115]

PRODUCTION AND UTILIZATION FACILITIES

Driving of Piles for Foundation Support for Facilities Prior to Issuance of Construction Permit

Section 50.10 of the Atomic Energy Commission's regulation, 10 CFR Part 50, Licensing of Production and Utilization Facilities, prohibits the beginning of the construction of a production or utilization facility on the site on which the facility is to be operated until a construction permit has been issued. "Construction" is, according to § 50.10(b), deemed to include pouring the foundation for, or the installation of, any portion of the permanent facility on the site, but does not include, among other things, "preparation of the site for construction of the facility." Performance of site preparation work has no effect upon the subsequent granting or denial of the construction permit, and any work performed for site preparation is done entirely at the risk, financial or otherwise, of the applicant.

On several occasions the Commission has authorized applicants for construction permits to drive piles for foundation support for a facility before issuance of the construction permit. That activity is closely related to, and may be appropriately included in, "preparation of the site for construction." The Commission has under consideration an amendment of Part 50 to specifically permit the driving of piles prior to issuance of the construction permit, and a similar amendment to Part 115, Procedures for Review of Certain Nuclear Reactors Exempted from Licensing Requirements.

Pursuant to the Atomic Energy Act of 1954, as amended, and the Administrative Procedure Act of 1946, notice is hereby given that adoption of the following amendments to 10 CFR Parts 50 and 115 is contemplated. All interested persons who desire to submit written comments or suggestions for consideration in connection with the proposed amendments should send them to the Secretary, U.S. Atomic Energy Commission, Washington, D.C. 20545, within 60 days after publication of this notice in the FEDERAL REGISTER. Comments received after that period will be considered if it is practicable to do so, but assurance of consideration cannot be given except as to comments filed within the period specified. Copies of comments received may be examined at the Commission's Public Document Room, 1717 H Street NW., Washington, D.C.

1. Subparagraph (1) of § 50.10(b) of 10 CFR Part 50 is amended to read as follows:

§ 50.10 License required.

* * * * * *

(b) No person shall begin the construction of a production or utilization facility on a site on which the facility is to be operated until a construction permit has been issued. As used in this paragraph, the term "construction" shall be deemed to include pouring the foundation for, or the installation of, any portion of the permanent facility on the site, but does not include:

(1) Site exploration, site excavation, preparation of the site for construction of the facility, including the driving of piles, and construction of roadways, railroad spurs and transmission lines;

Consumer and Marketing Service

[7 CFR Part 27]

BONA FIDE SPOT COTTON MARKETS FOR CONTRACT SETTLEMENT PURPOSES

Proposed Removal of Galveston, Tex. From List and Addition of Lubbock, Tex. to List

Notice is hereby given, in accordance with the administrative procedure provisions in 5 U.S.C. 553, that the Consumer and Marketing Service is considering amendment of §§ 27.93 and 27.94 of the Regulations for Cotton Classification Under Cotton Futures Legislation (7 CFR Part 27, Subpart A) to remove Galveston, Tex. from the list of bona fide spot markets (§ 27.93) and from the list of spot markets for contract settlement purposes (§ 27.94(a)) and to add Lubbock, Tex. to said list of spot markets for contract settlement purposes, pursuant to authority contained in the cotton futures provisions in sections 4862 and 4863 of the Internal Revenue Code of 1954 (68A Stat. 581, 582; 26 U.S.C. 4862, 4863).

Statement of considerations. Cotton is no longer traded in such volume and under such conditions in the Galveston, Tex. market as customarily to reflect accurately the value of spot cotton according to information available to the Department. If Galveston is removed from the list of bona fide spot cotton markets it will be replaced on the list of spot markets for contract settlement purposes. Lubbock, Tex. has been recommended by representatives of the cotton industry as this replacement. Lubbock is currently on the list of bona fide spot markets.

It is proposed that these amendments would be made effective September 1, 1967.

Any person who wishes to submit written data, views, or arguments concerning the proposed amendments may do so by filing them in duplicate with the Office of the Hearing Clerk, U.S. Department of Agriculture, Washington, D.C. 20250, not later than 15 days after publication of this notice in the FEDERAL REGISTER. All written submissions made pursuant to this notice of rule-making shall be made available for public inspection in said office during regular business hours and in a manner convenient to the public business (7 CFR 1.27).

Dated: July 28, 1967.

[7 CFR Part 81]

INSPECTION OF POULTRY AND POULTRY PRODUCTS

Net Weight Labeling of Stuffed Poultry Products

Notice is hereby given that the Consumer and Marketing Service of the U.S. Department of Agriculture is considering amending, as indicated below, the Regulations Governing the Inspection of Poultry and Poultry Products (7 CFR Part 81), with respect to net weight labeling of stuffed poultry products, pursuant to authority contained in the Poultry Products Inspection Act, as amended (21 U.S.C. 451 et seq.).

Statement of considerations. The Consumer and Marketing Service is investigating possible courses of action to take with respect to the net weight labeling of ready-to-cook stuffed poultry products. Presently, labels for these products are required to bear only the net weight of the total product, i.e., the amount of stuffing is not specified separately and is included in the total net weight along with the weight of the poultry. The Department initiated studies to determine if this total-weight labeling is sufficient to adequately inform consumers. These studies included evaluation of 1,400 stuffed whole carcass turkeys selected from two large poultry processing plants, which reflected present stuffing and labeling practices. (Data obtained by these studies are set forth in tables I, II, and III, post.) The studies indicate that the labeling now used for stuffed poultry products may be misleading or deceptive to consumers, primarily because of the great variation in the amount of stuffing in birds of the same weight range. This variation is due to birds of the same weight; differences in specific gravity, density, or composition of the stuffing; and the inability of skillful operators to mechanically add a precise amount, by volume or weight, of stuffing to a carcass.

The first course of action considered was whether a minimum poultry meat content standard, commonly referred to as a standard of composition, should be established. Such a standard would require that products labeled with a specific name (e.g., "Stuffed Turkey") contain a specified minimum amount of poultry or contain not more than a specified maximum amount of stuffing. Such standards have been developed for other poultry food products so their development could be considered a logical approach for stuffed poultry. However, a comprehensive statistical evaluation of the amount of stuffing in stuffed poultry products showed that the variation was so great that it appeared that these products did not lend themselves to standardization by this method. For example, the amount of stuffing in stuffed turkeys of identical weights and with the same kind of stuffing and prepared by the same company can vary over 14 percent. (See table I.) It was found that there was almost a 12-ounce difference in the amount of the same kind of stuffing in birds having a final packaged total net weight of 7½ pounds. Further, the data showed that there can be an additional variation in the amount of stuffing in birds of identical weights but with different types of stuffing and stuffed by different methods and companies, due primarily to variations in the density of the stuffing. This further aggravates the problem of standardizing this product. By combining the several factors of variation, it is possible for the stuffing in poultry with identical total net weights to differ more than 20 percent or over 1 pound and a half for an 8-pound bird. This is apparent from table I. This table shows that an 8-pound bird stuffed by Company B will vary in percent of stuffing from a low of 11.6 percent to a high of 24.1 percent and that Company A stuffs its birds of that weight with 10 to 15 percent more stuffing than Company B. Company A's 8-pound birds range from about 26.8 to 34.5 percent stuffing. The total range for both companies is from 11.6 to 34.5 percent for 8-pound birds. Similar variability can be seen in most other weights. Even with zero variation between types of stuffing and size of body cavity of birds of the same weight the data showed that no single percent or weight of poultry or stuffing could be applied to all poultry of the same kind (chicken, turkey, etc.) because of the relationship between weight of bird and size of body cavity. For example, in turkeys, for each 1 pound increase in size of bird, Company B had approximately three-fourths of 1 percent decrease in percent of stuffing. (See table III.) This phenomenon, demonstrated in table III, is not obvious from looking at the ranges in table I, but was developed by means of statistical analysis of the data. Company A had no corresponding decrease. (See table II.) On the basis of these facts, it does not seem feasible to establish minimum poultry meat content or maximum stuffing content standards for stuffed poultry products and it appears that a label showing only the net weight of the total product does not afford consumers as much information as may be needed.

The next possible course of action considered was whether to require a label declaration of separate weights for the poultry and the stuffing. On the surface this, too, appeared to be an acceptable solution. However, a detailed evaluation of the processing procedures necessary for this to be accomplished indicated that adoption of such a requirement might not be in the best interest of the consumer or the industry. Such a requirement would, in all probability, significantly increase the cost of the product to the consumer. The Department is obligated to weigh carefully any regulatory requirement which would increase food cost to the public without materially or substantially adding some form of benefit to the health or welfare of the public. Requiring label statements of dual weights could well fall into this category because of the increase it would cause in complexities of processing techniques. Presently, birds of varying sizes come down a processing line and the body cavity is stuffed by the use of a machine. As a bird moves through the stuffing operation, additional stuffing is manually placed in the neck cavity and giblets of varying weights are added. Excess stuffing is then removed and the remaining stuffing is formed or rounded off to give the desirable appearance. The product is then packaged, weighed, and marked. To mark dual weights on the product could require two additional scaling and recording operations—one before stuffing, a second after stuffing, and a third after adding giblets. (Giblets are separated from the rest of the carcass during processing and would, therefore, have to be reweighed as a final step when they are placed in the container.) In addition, each bird would have to be tagged or otherwise identified to make sure the weight recorded at each scaling operation was correctly associated with the proper carcass. Each of these separate operations increases the costs of processing.

Another problem with requiring separate weights would be the difficulty of administering such a requirement. Inspection personnel in plants operating under the Poultry Products Inspection Act are required to check the accuracy of information contained on labels in addition to the more publicized functions of inspection work such as determining wholesomeness and checking for sanitation. The net weight statement is part of the label which an inspector checks for accuracy. There is obviously a greater burden in assuring three correct weighings as opposed to one. To do so would require either more inspection personnel or less attention to other important problems by the same number of inspectors. Stuffed poultry products, generally, cannot easily or accurately be check-weighed for amount of poultry and amount of stuffing after the product is in final packaged form and frozen. It is extremely difficult to completely remove 100 percent of the stuffing from a carcass. Even if this were possible, the absorption by the stuffing of undeterminable amounts of moisture and body fluids from the poultry in the course of thawing would make it impossible to ascertain the original weight of the stuffing.

The 43d National Conference on Weights and Measures in 1958 adopted a policy that the net weight on stuffed poultry should include the weight of the stuffing as well as the poultry. They had previously adopted the opposite policy which required separate weight for the stuffing and the poultry but reversed their position due, in part at least, to the problem of regulatory inspectors being unable to determine the correctness of such weights on packaged product. The "Model State Law on Weights and Measures" of the National Bureau of Standards contains the policy set forth by the 43d National Conference. This Department would hesitate to take a position in the field of weights and measures diametrically opposite to that of the National Bureau of Standards unless there were extremely important reasons and strong justifications for so doing.

Finally, with respect to requiring separate weights, there is the consideration that each additional handling during or after processing, whether it be by plant personnel or inspectors, or any slow down in movement from start of processing to completion, enhances the possibility of bacteria multiplication.

In view of the matters mentioned above, it appears that the interests of the consumer and the poultry industry can best be served by requiring that each label on ready-to-cook whole carcass stuffed poultry contain, in proximity to the total net weight statement, a statement indicating either the maximum weight of stuffing in the product or the minimum weight of poultry in the product.

The Department studies indicate that such a requirement is feasible since there are reliable upper and lower percentage limits of stuffing for poultry of a given weight range which is stuffed in the same manner and with a particular type of stuffing. These maximum or minimum percentages can be easily converted to pounds and ounces. For example, in one of the plants in which data were collected, a 25 percent maximum for stuffing or 75 percent minimum for turkey would be a highly reliable figure for birds having a net weight of approximately 8 pounds. Converted to weight, this product would contain a maximum of 2 pounds of stuffing or a minimum of 6 pounds of turkey. If 2 pounds maximum stuffing were declared on the label, the plant would be obliged to maintain the average percent of stuffing considerably below this in order to produce a product conforming to the label. (This is illustrated in tables II and III. In these tables the solid line represents the average percent of stuffing for varying turkey net weights. The broken line above this average is the percent of stuffing required to be shown on the label that would make the plants 99 percent confident of having all individual birds conform to that label.)

Processors are able to control the density of the stuffing and the weight range of the birds being stuffed. Therefore, product can be accurately labeled to indicate to the consumer that a bird will not contain more stuffing than the weight specified. In fact, the bird will contain less stuffing than specified the large majority of the time since the weight is the maximum. The Department assumes that the most desirable ingredient in this product is poultry and that consumers are interested in being assured of receiving a maximum amount of poultry in relation to stuffing. Therefore the statement on the label of the minimum poultry content or the maximum stuffing content would appear to be a very meaningful addition to the label from the viewpoint of consumers.

Processors would be able to comply with this requirement without adding substantially to their cost of production and inspectors would be able to ascertain compliance without materially reducing the time spent on other inspection activities. Stuffing and weighing procedures could continue as presently used. The operator who records the net weight of the stuffed product could, at the same time, record the minimum weight of poultry or maximum weight of stuffing from a chart established on the basis of the weight of the unstuffed bird and type of stuffing used. Such a chart would be based on a statistically sound study of each operation similar to the studies reflected in tables I, II, and III. The inspector could check the specified weight markings on the basis of chart reading correlated with net weight of the finished product.

The Department thinks that this proposed course of action for stuffed poultry would give consumers information which will be very helpful to them. At the same time, it would not shackle industry and inspectors administering the inspection program with complex and costly procedures. It would provide manufacturers with the flexibility they need in making available to the consumer a wide variety of convenient poultry food products without materially raising the cost for such items.

The Department also proposes to apply the same labeling requirements to stuffed poultry products other than ready-to-cook whole carcass poultry (stuffed turkey roast, stuffed chicken breast, etc.). The percentage of stuffing in these products varies considerably, not because a given volume of stuffing cannot be added to each unit, but because a given volume of different types of stuffing will vary in weight due to the composition of the stuffing.

Therefore, it is proposed to amend § 81.130(a)(3) of the regulations by adding at the end thereof the following:

§ 81.130 Wording on labels.

(a) * * *

(3) * * * Notwithstanding the other provisions of this subparagraph, for any stuffed poultry food product, the label must show the total net weight of the poultry product and in proximity thereto, a statement specifying either the maximum weight of stuffing or the minimum weight of poultry in the product.

* * * * *

All persons who desire to submit written data, views, or arguments in connection with the proposal shall file the same in triplicate with the Hearing Clerk, U.S. Department of Agriculture, Room 112, Administration Building, Washington, D.C. 20250, not later than October 1, 1967.

All written submissions made pursuant to this notice will be made available for public inspection at the Office of the Hearing Clerk during regular business hours (7 CFR 1.27(b)).

Proposed Import Regulation

Notice is hereby given of proposed grade, size, quality, and inspection requirements to be made applicable to the importation of onions into the United States pursuant to the provisions of the Agricultural Marketing Agreement Act of 1937, as amended (7 U.S.C. 601 et seq.).

All persons who desire to submit written data, views, or arguments in connection with these proposals shall file the same, in quadruplicate, with the Hearing Clerk, Room 112-A, U.S. Department of Agriculture, Washington, D.C. 20250, not later than the 15th day after the publication of this notice in the FEDERAL REGISTER. All written submissions made pursuant to this notice will be made available for public inspection at the office of the Hearing Clerk during the regular business hours (7 CFR 1.27(b)).

Except as otherwise provided, during the period September 1, 1967, through June 15, 1968, no person may import dry onions of the yellow or white varieties unless such onions are inspected and meet the requirements of this section.

(a) Minimum grade and size requirements—(1) yellow varieties—(i) Grade. U.S. No. 2 or better grade.

(ii) Size. 2 inches minimum diameter.

(2) White varieties—(i) Grade. U.S. No. 2 or better grade.

(ii) Size. 1 inch minimum diameter.

(b) Condition. Due consideration shall be given to the time required for transportation and entry of onions into the United States. Onions with transit time from country of origin to entry into the United States of 10 or more days may be entered if they meet an average tolerance for decay of not more than 5 percent, provided they also meet the other requirements of this section.

(c) Minimum quantity. Any importation which in the aggregate does not exceed 100 pounds in any day, may be imported without regard to the provisions of this section.

(d) Plant quarantine. Provisions of this section shall not supersede the restrictions or prohibitions on onions under the Plant Quarantine Act of 1912.

(e) Designation of Governmental inspection service. The Federal or the Federal-State Inspection Service, Fruit and Vegetable Division, Consumer and Marketing Service, U.S. Department of Agriculture, and the Fruit and Vegetable Division, Production and Marketing Branch, Canada Department of Agriculture, are designated as governmental inspection services for certifying the grade, size, quality and maturity of onions that are imported into the United States under the provisions of section 8e-1 of the act.

(f) Inspection and official inspection certificates. (1) An official inspection certificate certifying the onions meet the United States import requirements for onions under section 8e-1 (7 U.S.C. 608e), issued by a designated governmental inspection service and applicable to a specific lot is required on all imports of onions.

(2) Inspection and certification by the Federal or Federal-State Inspection Service will be available and performed in accordance with the rules and regulations governing certification of fresh fruits, vegetables and other products (Part 51 of this title). Each lot shall be made available and accessible for inspection as provided therein. Cost of inspection and certification shall be borne by the applicant.

(3) Since inspectors may not be stationed in the immediate vicinity of some smaller ports of entry, importers of onions should make advance arrangements for inspection by ascertaining whether or not there is an inspector located at their particular port of entry. For all ports of entry where an inspection office is not located, each importer must give the specified advance notice to the applicable office listed below prior to the time the onions will be imported.

Ports	Office	Advance notice
All Texas points	W. T. McNabb, Post Office Box 111, 222 McClendon Bldg., 305 East Jackson St., Harlingen, Tex. 78550 (Phone—412—Garfield 3-5644—1240).	1 day.
All Arizona points	R. H. Berteleon, 136 Grand Ave., Post Office Box 1614, Nogales, Ariz. 85621 (Phone—602—AShwater—7-2002).	Do.
All California points	Carley D. Williams, 294 Wholesale Terminal Bldg., 754 South Central Ave., Los Angeles, Calif. 90021 (Phone—213—626-6746).	3 days.
All Hawaii points	Stevenson Ching, 1428 South King St., Powaa Substation, Post Office Box 5428, Honolulu, Hawaii 96814 (Phone—9-2071).	1 day.
New York City	Edward J. Beller, 346 Broadway, Room 808, New York, N.Y. 10013 (Phone—212-264-1130).	Do.
New Orleans	Pascal J. Lamarca, 2025 Federal Office Bldg., 701 Loyola Ave., New Orleans, La. 70113 (Phone—504—527-6741—6742).	Do.
All other points	D. S. Matheson, Fruit and Vegetable Division, C&MS, Washington, D.C. 20250 (Phone—202—Dudley-8-5870).	3 days.

(4) Inspection certificates shall cover only the quantity of onions that is being imported at a particular port of entry by a particular importer.

(5) In the event the required inspection is performed prior to the arrival of the onions at the port of entry, the inspection certificate that is issued must show that the inspection was performed at the time of loading such onions for direct transportation to the United States; and if transportation is by water, the certificate must show that the inspection was performed at the time of loading onto the vessel.

(6) Each inspection certificate issued with respect to any onions to be imported into the United States shall set forth, among other things:

(i) The date and place of inspection;

(ii) The name of the shipper, or applicant;

(iii) The commodity inspected;

(iv) The quantity of the commodity covered by the certificate;

(v) The principal identifying marks on the containers;

(vi) The railroad car initials and number, the truck and trailer license number, the name of the vessel, or other identification of the shipment; and

(vii) The following statement, if the facts warrant:

Meets U.S. Import requirements under section 8e-1 of the Agricultural Marketing Agreement Act.

(g) Reconditioning prior to importation. Nothing contained in this part shall be deemed to preclude any importer from reconditioning prior to importation any shipment of onions for the purpose of making it eligible for importation.

(h) Definitions. For the purpose of this section, "Onions" means all varieties of Allium cepa marketed dry, except dehydrated, canned and frozen onions, onion sets, green onions, and pickling onions. Onions commonly referred to as "braided," that is, with tops, may be imported if they meet the grade and size requirements except for top length. The terms "U.S. No. 1," and "U.S. No. 2" shall have the same meaning as set forth in the U.S. Standards for Grades of Onions (Other than Bermuda-Granex and Creole Types), §§ 51.2830–51.2854 of this title. Tolerances for size shall be those in the U.S. Standards. Onions meeting the requirements of Canada No. 1 and No. 2 grades shall be deemed to comply with the requirements of U.S. No. 1 and U.S. No. 2 grades. "Importation" means release from custody of the U.S. Bureau of Customs.

Dated: July 28, 1967.

PAUL A. NICHOLSON,
Acting Director, Fruit and Vegetable Division, Consumer and Marketing Service.

FEDERAL AIRWAY

Proposed Alteration

The Federal Aviation Administration is considering an amendment to Part 71 of the Federal Aviation Regulations that would alter VOR Federal airway No. 6, and No. 160.

The Sidney, Nebr., VOR will be relocated to a site at approximately latitude 41°05'45" N., longitude 102°58'51" W., in March 1968. All the airways predicated on this facility will automatically be realigned on the VOR at the new site with the exception of V-6 from Medicine Bow, Wyo., to Sidney, and V-160 from Denver, Colo., to Sidney. It is proposed to redesignate this segment of V-6 from Medicine Bow via the INT of Medicine Bow 106° T (092° M) and Sidney 291° T (278° M) radials to Sidney. This would provide 15° separation from V-138 at Sidney. It is also proposed to realign V-160 from Denver via the INT of Denver 045° T (032° M) and Sidney 230° T (217° M) radials to Sidney. This would retain the present alignment of V-160 in the Denver terminal area and preclude alteration of current Air Traffic Control procedures based on this alignment. The floors of 1,200 feet above the surface would be retained on these airway segments.

Interested persons may participate in the proposed rule making by submitting such written data, views, or arguments as they may desire. Communications should identify the airspace docket number and be submitted in triplicate to the Director, Central Region, Attention: Chief, Air Traffic Division, Federal Building, Federal Aviation Administration, 601 East 12th Street, Kansas City, Mo. 64106. All communications received within 45 days after publication of this notice in the FEDERAL REGISTER will be considered before action is taken on the proposed amendment. The proposal contained in this notice may be changed in the light of comments received.

An official docket will be available for examination by interested persons at the Federal Aviation Administration, Office of the General Counsel, Attention: Rules Docket, 800 Independence Avenue SW., Washington, D.C. 20590. An informal docket also will be available for examination at the office of the Regional Air Traffic Division Chief.

This amendment is proposed under the authority of section 307(a) of the Federal Aviation Act of 1958 (49 U.S.C. 1348).

Issued in Washington, D.C., on July 27, 1967.

H. B. HELSTROM,
Chief, Airspace and Air Traffic Rules Division.

[Docket No. 17627; FCC 67-883]

FM BROADCAST STATIONS

Table of Assignments; Tazewell, Va., etc.

In the matter of amendment of § 73.202 Table of Assignments, FM Broadcast Stations (Tazewell, Va., Guntersville, Ala., Winnsboro, La., Fosston, Minn., Tuscola, Ill., Mansfield, Pa., Cathedral City, Calif, Harrodsburg, Ky., Pipestone, Minn., Albany, N.Y., Murfreesboro, Ahoskie, Washington, Plymouth, and New Bern, N.C., Laurel, Miss., Ukiah, Calif., and Carbondale, Ill.), Docket No. 17627, RM-1154, RM-1153, RM-1155, RM-1146, RM-1162, RM-1158, RM-1163, RM-1172, RM-1141, RM-1148, RM-1121, RM-1165, RM-1125, RM-1168.

1. Notice is hereby given of proposed rule making in the above-entitled matters, concerning amendments to the FM Table of Assignments contained in § 73.202(b) of the Commission's rules. All the proposed assignments are alleged and appear to meet the spacing requirements of the rules. All assignments proposed within 250 miles of the U.S.-Canadian border require coordination with the Canadian Government under the terms of the Canadian-United States FM Agreement of 1947 and the Working Arrangement of 1963. Except as noted, all assignments proposed for shift or deletion are unoccupied and not applied for, and all population figures are taken from the 1960 U.S. Census.

2. RM-1154, Tazewell, Va. (C. A. Hess, W. H. Bowen, and Fred Cox); RM-1153, Guntersville, Ala. (Guntersville Broadcasting Co.); RM-1155, Winnsboro, La. (KMAR Broadcasting Corp.); RM-1146, Fosston, Minn. (Fosston Broadcasting Co.); RM-1162, Tuscola, Ill. (Charles R. Banks); RM-1158, Mansfield, Pa. (Farm and Home Broadcasting Co.); RM-1163, Cathedral City, Calif. (Glen Barnett); RM-1172, Harrodsburg, Ky. (Fort Harrod Broadcasting Co.). In these 8 cases interested parties seek the first Class A assignment in communities having no FM assignments and without requiring any other changes in the Table. The communities are of substantial size and have either no AM station or a daytime-only or a Class IV AM station each. Comments are therefore invited on the following additions to the Table:

City	Channel No.
Guntersville, Ala.	240A
Cathedral City, Calif.	276A
Tuscola, Ill.	228A
Harrodsburg, Ky.	257A
Winnsboro, La.	224A
Fosston, Minn.	296A
Mansfield, Pa.	[1] 296A
Tazewell, Va.	261A

[1] Petitioner alternatively proposes that Channel 296A be substituted for 249A at Wellsboro and that Channel 249A be assigned to Mansfield. However, since the first proposal is the simpler of the two, we are inviting comments only on this one. Petitioner further makes a showing that no future needed assignments will be precluded by the proposal, in line with the recent Public Notice—"Policy To Govern Requests for Additional FM Assignments", issued on May 12, 1967.

3. RM-1141, Pipestone, Minn. In a petition for rule making filed on April 27, 1967, KLOH, Inc., licensee of Station KLOH(AM), Pipestone, Minn., requests the substitution of Class C Channel 254 for Class A Channel 252A in Pipestone, as follows:

City	Channel No.
	Present	Proposed
Pipestone, Minn.	252A	254

Pipestone is a community of 5,324 persons and its county, of which it is the seat and largest community, has a population of 13,605 persons. KLOH is a daytime-only station and the only one in Pipestone County and in adjoining Rock County. Petitioner urges that Pipestone needs a Class C assignment to provide coverage to the large area served by KLOH (due to the high conductivity in the area) including the city of Luverne in Rock County, where it has one employee on a fulltime basis, that it would represent a more efficient use of the spectrum in that improved service would result without depriving any community of an assignment, and that it would permit broadcasts of vital weather information and other information and entertainment programs during the early morning and evening hours.

4. While Pipestone is only 35 miles southwest of Sioux Falls, South Dakota, where four Class C assignments have been made, KLOH submits that there is little expectation that these stations, located in another state, would provide the local program needs of Rock and Pipestone Counties. An engineering showing is also included to prove that a substantial area and population would be served with a first FM signal ("white area"). Based upon assumption of "reasonable facilities" of 100 kw power and antenna height of 400 feet above average terrain (resulting in a radius of 35 miles to the 1 mv/m contour) for all existing and assigned Class C channels in the area and for the proposed station, KLOH shows that an additional area of 1,083 square miles, containing 15,797 persons, would receive a first FM signal of 1 mv/m field strength as against a Class A station at the same location and with maximum Class A facilities.

5. Normally, a community the size of Pipestone is assigned a Class A channel, as was done in this case. However, in view of the isolation of the community from large population centers, and the claims that a large "white area" would be served made by the petitioner, we are inviting comments on the proposal to substitute a Class C for the Class A channel assigned.

6. RM-1148, Albany, N.Y. On May 5, 1967, and supplemented on June 20, 1967, WPOW, Inc., proposed assignee of Station WHAZ(AM), Troy, N.Y., filed a petition requesting the addition of Channel 299 as a third Class B assignment to Albany, N.Y., as follows:

City	Channel No.
	Present	Proposed
Albany, N.Y.	238, 265A, 276A, 280A, 300	238, 265A, 276A, 280A, 293, 299

Albany has a population of 129,726 and its Standard Statistical Metropolitan Area (Albany-Schenectady-Troy) has a population of 657,503. There are four unlimited time AM stations operating in Albany. The two Class B assignments are in operation as is one Class A (276A). No applications have been filed for the remaining Class A assignments. There is one Class B assignment each in Schnectady (population 81,682) and Troy (population 67,492), the former also having two fulltime AM stations and the latter one fulltime and one daytime-only AM station.

7. In support of its proposal, petitioner urges that Albany is not only the capital of New York State but also the principal city in the 38th largest metropolitan area in the Nation, that Channel 299 would be only the fifth Class B assignment to the three-city complex, and that it would not require any other changes in the Table. WPOW, Inc. also cites the description of a Class A assignment found in § 73.206(a)(2) of the rules to justify the request for a Class B channel, in spite of the fact that Class A channels are available in the community. WPOW also shows that no possible assignments would be precluded on the pertinent adjacent channels by the proposed addition of Channel 299 to Albany. As to the proposed assignment, petitioner demonstrates that there is a small irregular area in which this assignment can be made with only a few communities (other than Albany) located therein and which already have at least one Class A assignment. In view of the above, petitioner submits that the proposal conforms with the "Policy To Govern Requests for Additional FM Assignments" issued on May 12, 1967.

8. In setting up the present FM Table of Assignments an attempt was made to assign from four to six Class B assignments to a city the size of Albany. Since it was not possible at the time to assign all Class B channels to Albany, a mixture of Class A and B were assigned. Considering the three communities together we would have assigned from six to 10 such assignments. In view of the fact that the proposal would not exceed the criteria used in drafting the Table and since it appears that the proposed addition would not preclude future needed assignments in other communities, we are inviting comments on the petitioner's proposal as outlined above.

9. RM–1121, Murfreesboro, Ahoskie, Washington, Plymouth, and New Bern, N.C. In a petition for rule making filed on March 14, 1967, and amended on June 12, 1967, Murfreesboro Broadcasting Corp., licensee of Station WWDR (AM), Murfreesboro, N.C., requests the assignment of Channel 252A to Murfreesboro, N.C., by making the necessary changes in four other North Carolina communities as follows:

City	Channel No.
	Present	Proposed
All in North Carolina:
Murfreesboro	.....	252A
Ahoskie	249A	287A
Washington	252A	249A
Plymouth	287A	249A
New Bern	249A	287A

10. Murfreesboro has a population of 2,643 and the county in which it is located has a population of 22,718. Petitioner states that the area (northeast North Carolina) is primarily an agricultural section but that new industry is locating in the area. It submits that Murfreesboro is a daytime-only station own county, Hertford, and the neighboring county, Northampton, since the latter has no trade center of its own. In view of the fact that the only station in Murfreesboro is a day-time-only station, the proposal would provide the first local nighttime service and the first FM service and that it would give the people access to local emergency weather and news bulletins, sports, concerts, etc.

11. None of the channels proposed to be changed are occupied or applied for with the exception of Channel 249A, assigned to New Bern. There is an outstanding construction permit for the use of this assignment at Bridgeton (WVWM–FM) and the proposal would require a modification of this authorization to specify Channel 287A in lieu of 249A. The construction permit for this station was granted on November 29, 1965, but the station has not yet been constructed.

12. Since the proposal would assign a first Class A FM assignment in a community without any local nighttime service and would not delete any needed assignments elsewhere, we are of the view that comments should be invited on the petitioner's proposal as outlined above.

13. RM–1165, Laurel, Miss. New Laurel Radio Station, Inc., licensee of Station WAML(AM), Laurel, Miss., in a petition filed on June 5, 1967, requests the assignment of Channel 272A to Laurel as follows: [1]

City	Channel No.
	Present	Proposed
Laurel, Miss.	269	269, 272A

Laurel has a population of 27,889 and its county (Jones) has a population of 59,542. It has three AM stations, two daytime-only and one Class IV, licensed to petitioner. WNSL–FM operates on Channel 269. Petitioner submits that Laurel and Jones County is one of the largest areas in the State and that it merits additional FM service, that the assignment is technically feasible, and that Channel 272A is feasible only in a small area in which one other town is located.

14. We are of the view that rule making is warranted on the petitioner's request for a second FM assignment in Laurel. However, in view of our reluctance to assign a mixture of classes of stations in the same community, comments are invited on this aspect of the proposal as well. We are in addition requesting a showing on the possible preclusion of needed future assignments in other communities on the same and the six adjacent channels. See Public Notice–Policy to Govern Requests for Additional FM Assignments, issued on May 12, 1967.

15. RM–1125, Ukiah, Calif. The Commission has before it for consideration a petition for reconsideration of its Memorandum Opinion and Order issued in RM–1125 on May 15, 1967, FCC 67–564, denying the request of J & W Broadcasters, permittee of Station KLIL(FM) on Channel 232A at Ukiah, for the substitution of Channel 233 for 232A at Ukiah, Calif., as follows:

City	Channel No.
	Present	Proposed
Ukiah, Calif.	232A, 262A	232A, 233

Ukiah, the county seat and largest community in Mendocino County, has a population of 9,900 and the county has a population of 51,059. There are two AM stations in the community, a daytime-only station and a Class IV station. There are two outstanding construction permits for the two presently assigned Class A FM channels, including KLIL(FM).

16. The request for the substitution of the Class B channel for the Class A was denied on the grounds that there was no showing of need for the wide-area coverage assignment, but no showing was made that unserved areas would be covered, that future needed assignments could be precluded elsewhere, and that no justification was given for the mixture of a Class A and B channel in the same community. J & W urge that their petition for reconsideration now makes all the showings called for in the denial and that it fully justifies the proposal in accordance with the policy statement issued by the Commission on May 12, 1967, Policy to Govern Requests for Additional FM Assignments. J & W submit that Ukiah is far removed from other larger communities, with the nearest being Santa Rosa about 56 miles distant, that it is located in a very mountainous area making it difficult to cover the small communities near Ukiah, and that all the area which would be served by a Class B assignment but not by a Class A station is without any FM service. With respect to the possible future impact on the proposed channel and the pertinent six adjacent channels, petitioner shows that, with the exception of one channel (234), there would not result any preclusion of assignments in the future due to the proposal. On Channel 234 two areas would not be able to have assignments but in both areas about 12 channels are available for future needs or demands. Concerning the matter of intermixture of a Class A and B channel in the community, J & W states that this can be eliminated since Channels 277 and 298 can also be assigned to Ukiah and thus the intermixture would be "based solely upon the desire, and perhaps the financial ability, of the licensees and permittees to provide wide area service".

17. In view of the showing made by petitioner we believe that we should invite comments on the proposal outlined above. Since J & W hold a construction permit for Channel 232A for Station KLIL(FM) and since the proposal would delete this assignment in order to assign Channel 233 there, consideration will have to be given to a modification of this authorization, in the event the proposal is adopted.

18. RM–1168, Carbondale, Ill. On June 12, 1967 (amended July 7, 1967), Paul P. McRoy, licensee of Station WCIL (AM), Carbondale, Ill., filed a petition requesting the substitution of Channel 268 for 269A at Carbondale, Ill., as follows:

City	Channel No.
	Present	Proposed
Carbondale, Ill.	269A	268

Carbondale has a population of 14,670 and Jackson County, of which it is the largest community, has a population of 42,151. No applications have been filed for the present Class A assignment. It has a daytime-only AM station (WCIL) and a noncommercial educational FM station licensed to Southern Illinois University (WSIU). Petitioner submits that according to a special U.S. Census on December 28, 1964, the population of Carbondale was 18,531 and that since then the population has increased as a result of annexation to 20,516. In addition, petitioner urges that the growth in the enrollment at Southern Illinois University from 1,482 in 1935 to 18,188 in 1967 is mirrored in the growth of Carbondale. In view of this, McRoy urges that Carbondale easily merits the assignment of a Class B channel.

19. McRoy previously sought a Class B assignment by deleting a Class C assignment from Cape Girardeau, Mo. He states that this request was denied principally on the grounds that the deletion from Cape Girardeau would deprive a "white area" to the west of that city and the substitution of a Class A channel for the Class C at Cape Girardeau would result in a mixture of classes of stations in the community. See Memorandum Opinion and Order in RM–1115 issued on April 17, 1967, 7 FCC 2d 848. McRoy submits that the above considerations leading to the denial of the previous request are not pertinent to the subject request since the assignment of Channel 268 to Carbondale can be accomplished without depriving any other community of an assignment. With respect to the possible impact of the assignment of Channel 268 to Carbondale, McRoy shows that this channel is technically feasible only in an area of southern Illinois in which Carbondale is by far the largest community. As to the impact on the six adjacent channels, petitioner includes a showing which demonstrates that none of these channels would be precluded in any area which is not already precluded by existing stations and assignments in other communities.

20. We believe that rule making in this case is warranted and we invite comments on the proposal as outlined above in order that all interested parties may submit their views and relevant data.

21. Authority for the adoption of the amendments proposed herein is contained in sections 4(i), 303, and 307(b) of the Communications Act of 1934, as amended.

22. Pursuant to applicable procedures set out in § 1.415 of the Commission's rules, interested parties may file comments on or before September 15, 1967, and reply comments on or before September 29, 1967. All submissions by parties to this proceeding or by persons acting in behalf of such parties must be made in written comments, reply comments or other appropriate pleadings.

23. In accordance with the provisions of § 1.419 of the rules, an original and 14 copies of all written comments, replies, pleadings, briefs, or other documents shall be furnished the Commission.

Adopted: July 26, 1967.

Released: July 31, 1967.

[Docket No. 11279; FCC 67–891]

SUBSCRIPTION TELEVISION SERVICE

Order Setting Oral Argument

In the matter of amendment of Part 73 of the Commission's rules and regulations (Radio Broadcast Services) to provide for Subscription Television Service; Docket No. 11279.

1. The Commission has before it for consideration its order released in this proceeding on July 14, 1967 (FCC 67–819; 32 F.R. 10606, July 19, 1967), and the Attachment thereto which consisted of a Report of the Commission's Subscription Television Committee dated July 3, 1967. The order stated that, as an aid in studying and resolving this matter, the Commission intended to hold oral argument in the early fall in this proceeding and would specify a date for the argument by a subsequent order. It also stated that interested parties could file written comments or outlines of oral arguments, not to exceed 50 pages, on or before September 15, 1967.

2. The order further said that the oral argument would be most useful if addressed to the report of the Subscription Television Committee. That report consisted primarily of a proposed Fourth Report and Order and a Second Further Notice of Proposed Rule Making herein, which the Committee transmitted to the Commission and recommended for adoption. The Fourth Report and Order would, if adopted, establish a nationwide over-the-air subscription television (STV) service and, with the exception of rules governing STV system performance capability, would promulgate rules governing that service. The Committee recommended that the Second Further Notice of Proposed Rule Making, which invites comments on proposed rules governing STV system performance capability (and assumes that STV would not be limited to the use of a single technical system), be adopted simultaneously with the Fourth Report and Order.

3. After further consideration, the Commission has today determined the date on which oral argument will be held, and has also decided that it would be in the public interest to issue at this time the Second Further Notice of Proposed Rule Making inviting comments on proposed rules concerning STV system performance capability, instead of waiting until final decisions which might favor adoption of the Fourth Report and Order are made.

4. The reason for the decision to issue the Second Further Notice of Proposed Rule Making at the present time is that this will permit the Commission to give consideration to the technical matters concerning system performance capability sooner so that if, after oral argument, it should be decided to establish an STV service and not limit it to the use of a single technical system, the technical and other matters can be considered concurrently and the new service could get under way with a minimum of delay.

5. It is emphasized that the decision to issue the Second Further Notice of Proposed Rule Making at this time is not to be construed as a prejudgment of the basic issue of whether a nationwide STV service should be established, or of the issue of whether, if authorized, STV should be restricted to the use of a single technical system or permitted on any system which meets general system performance capability standards established by the Commission. The decision it is repeated, is solely for the purpose of expediting an earlier commencement of the service should it be decided that such a service is in the public interest and that use of multiple systems should be permitted.

6. The Commission has studied detailed specifications of present or proposed STV systems submitted by parties to this proceeding. This has helped in the formulation of the proposed rules set forth below which would permit the use of any STV technical system which meets the standards set therein. These rules would require adequate performance of STV systems in serving subscribers and in avoiding any increase of interference to conventional TV services.

7. The Commission does not presently foresee the need for special technical operating requirements for STV, and in the absence of such requirements the operating requirements for conventional television station operation will apply. Should any parties believe that special rules on the subject are necessary for STV, their suggestions and comments would be welcome.

8. Authority for the rule amendments proposed herein is contained in sections 4(i), 301 and 303 (e), (f), and (r) of the Communcations Act of 1934, as amended.

9. Accordingly, it is ordered, That pursuant to the procedures set forth in § 1.415 of the Commission's rules and regulations, interested parties may, in response to the Second Further Notice of Proposed Rule Making, file comments on or before September 29, 1967, and reply comments on or before October 20, 1967. All relevant and timely comments and reply comments will be considered by the Commission before final action is taken in this proceeding. In reaching its decision in this proceeding, the Commission may also take into account other relevant information before it in addition to the specific comments invited by this notice.

10. It is further ordered, That, in accordance with the provisions of § 1.419 of the rules and regulations of the Commission, an original and 14 copies of all comments, replies, pleadings, briefs, and other documents filed in the proceeding shall be furnished the Commission.

11. It is further ordered, That oral argument will be held in this proceeding at the Commission's offices in Washington, D.C., on October 2, 1967.

12. It is further ordered, That parties interested in participating in said oral argument shall notify the Secretary of the Commission in writing on or before September 15, 1967, briefly setting forth their intention to appear at the argument, their position in this matter, and the approximate amount of time they wish to use in argument: Provided, That interested parties may, in addition to the aforementioned brief submission, submit (in a separate filing) written comments or outlines of their arguments, not to exceed 50 pages, on or before September 15, 1967, pursuant to our order released on July 14, 1967, in this docket: And provided further, That the aforementioned brief submissions, comments, and outlines of arguments shall not be addressed to that portion of the report of the Subscription Television Committee dated July 3, 1967, which consisted of the Second Further Notice of Proposed Rule Making pertaining to system performance capability standards.

13. It is further ordered, That after the various requests filed pursuant hereto are received, the amount of time allowed to various parties will be specified by further order, which will also set forth the order of presentation.

Adopted: July 26, 1967.

Released: July 31, 1967.

FEDERAL COMMUNICATIONS COMMISSION,[1]

[SEAL] BEN F. WAPLE, Secretary.

It is proposed that § 73.644 of the Commission's rules and regulations be amended by the addition thereto of a new paragraph (b) as follows:

§ 73.644 Equipment and system performance requirements.

* * * * *

(b) The criteria for type acceptance of subscription television systems are as follows:

(1) The system shall be capable of operating by delivering a suitable signal to the antenna input terminals of receivers designed for reception of a signal meeting technical standards for color or monochrome television transmission and accompanying aural signal as set forth in Subpart E of this Part 73 of the Commission's rules. For the purpose of this requirement, a "suitable signal" shall be one which, except for distortion or changes caused by the transmitting antenna, receiving antenna or entering in the propagation medium, complies with all technical standards for color or monochrome transmission and accompanying aural signal set forth in this Part 73 of the Commission's rules.

(2) Spectral energy in transmission shall not exceed limitations set forth in § 73.687(1).

(3) No increase in width of the television broadcast channel (6 Mc/s) shall be required.

(4) Visual power (peak or average) and aural power shall not be necessary in excess of that now authorized, to provide coverage equal to that obtained by normal transmission standards.

(5) The encoded visual and aural programs shall be recoverable without perceptible degradation as compared to the same programs transmitted in accordance with Commission monochrome and color standards.

(6) Internal modifications to subscribers' receivers shall not be required.

(7) Interference to conventional television and subscription television, cochannel and adjacent channel, monochrome and color, shall not exceed that occurring from conventional television broadcasting conducted in compliance with the standards of Subpart E of this Part 73 of the Commission's rules.

(8) Susceptibility to interference of any kind shall not be greater than with conventional television broadcasting conducted in compliance with the standards of Subpart E of this Part 73 of the Commission's rules.

SECURITIES AND EXCHANGE COMMISSION

[17 CFR Part 274]

[Release Nos. 34-8133, IC-5035]

QUARTERLY REPORT OF MANAGEMENT INVESTMENT COMPANIES

Proposed Revision of Form N–30B–1 and Redesignation Thereof as Form N–1Q

Notice is hereby given that the Securities and Exchange Commission has under consideration proposed revisions of quarterly report form N–30B–1 (17 CFR 274.106), as set forth below.

This report is now required to be filed with the Commission by registered management investment companies except those which issue periodic payment plan certificates. Since there presently is no quarterly report form specified for management investment companies which issue periodic payment plan certificates, it is proposed to make the attached revised form applicable to them. The revised form would be designated Form N–1Q, and the various rules and regulations of the Commission which refer to the existing form would be appropriately amended to refer to the new designation.

It is proposed to add a new Item 1 to the quarterly report which would require management investment companies to report the number of shares (or other unit) or principal amount of debt securities acquired or disposed of for its portfolio during the preceding calendar quarter and the holdings of such securities and cash at the end of the quarter. No report pursuant to Item 1 would be required, however, if there were no transactions in such securities during the quarter. The amount of each security owned would be required on the first report filed pursuant to the new Item and on the first report filed pursuant to the new Item after a calendar year end. Small business investment companies would not be required to answer Item 1 in view of the concentration of their holdings in the securities of small business concerns.

The proposed amendment would provide the public with valuable information about securities transactions by management investment companies. Moreover, it would materially aid the Commission and others in conducting studies of these transactions and their impact in the market place and would provide the Commission with information necessary to carry out its regulatory responsibilities.

The Form N–30B–1 is now required to be filed within 30 days after the end of the fiscal quarter in which any of the events required to be reported occur. To obtain information about portfolio transactions on a comparable time basis, the revised form would be required to be filed for, and within 30 days after, each calendar quarter. The first report on Form N–1Q would be due after the first calendar quarter to be designated by the Commission and would be required to set forth any events specified in Form N–30B–1 which occurred since the close of the last fiscal quarter for which that form was required and which had not been previously reported.

The revised form would also require registrants to summarize certain information in the report on a new facing page. This summarization will materially help the public in reviewing the report by highlighting certain important facts and will assist the Commission in placing this information into its computer.

Eight copies of the report would be required to be filed with the Commission. Four copies would be kept in the Commission's principal office for the use of the staff and for public inspection. It is proposed that the additional copies would be placed in the principal regional offices of the Commission and in the regional office for the region in which the registrant has its principal office. This would make the information contained in the report more readily available to interested persons, in line with recommendations of the Special Study of Securities Markets. The report would be required to be prepared on paper 8½ x 11 (rather than 13) inches in size to facilitate the handling and filing of the data.

The proposed form would be adopted pursuant to sections 30 and 38 of the Investment Company Act of 1940 (15 U.S.C. 80a–29, 80a–37) and sections 13, 15(d), 23(a), and 24 of the Securities Exchange Act of 1934 (15 U.S.C. 78m, 78o(d), 78w). All interested persons are invited to submit views and comments with respect to the proposed revisions of quarterly report Form N–30B–1, captioned in the attached draft as Form N–1Q. They should be submitted in writing to the Securities and Exchange Commission, Washington, D.C. 20549 on or before August 25, 1967. All such communications should refer to Investment Company Act Release No. 5035, and they will be available for public inspection.

(Secs. 13, 15(d), 23(a), 48 Stat. 894, 895, 901, as amended, secs. 3, 8, 49 Stat. 1377, 1379, secs. 4, 6, 78 Stat. 569, 570, 15 U.S.C. 78m, 78o(d), 78w; secs. 30, 38, 54 Stat. 836, 841, 15 U.S.C. 80a–29, 80a–37)

By the Commission.

JULY 25, 1967.

§ 274.106 Form N–1Q, for quarterly report of Registered Management Investment Company.

(a) General Instructions—(1) Rule as to use of form N–1Q. (i) Form N–1Q is to be used for quarterly reports pursuant to Section 30 of the Investment Company Act of 1940 ("Act") and Section 13 or 15(d) of the Securities Exchange Act of 1934 by all management investment companies to report the occurrence during the preceding calendar quarter of any one or more of the events specified in the items of this form.

(ii) The report is to be filed within 30 days after the close of each calendar quarter during which any of the specified events occurred.

(iii) Notwithstanding the foregoing, a report need not be filed on this form if substantially the same information as that required by this form has been previously reported by the registrant. The term "previously reported" is defined in Rule 8b–2 under the Act, [17 CFR 270.-8b–2].

(2) Application of general rules and regulations. (i) The General Rules and Regulations under the Act [17 CFR Part 270] contain certain general requirements which are applicable to reports on any form. These general requirements should be carefully read and observed in the preparation and filing of reports on this form, subject to the requirements of General Instruction C below as to the size of paper to be used and of General Instruction D below as to the number of copies to be filed.

(ii) Particular attention is directed to Regulation 8B of the Act [17 CFR 270.8b–1 et seq.] which contains general requirements regarding matters such as the legibility of the report and the information to be given whenever the title of securities is required to be stated. The definitions contained in Rule 8b–2 under the Act [17 CFR 270.8b–2] should be especially noted.

(3) Preparation of report. This form is not to be used as a blank form to be filled in, but only as a guide to the preparation of the report on good quality unglazed, white paper 8½ x 11 inches in size. However, tables, charts, maps, and financial statements may be on larger paper if folded to that size. The report shall contain the numbers and captions of all applicable items, but the text of such items may be omitted, provided the answers thereto are prepared in the manner specified in Rule 8b–13 [17 CFR 270.8b–13] under the Act. All items which are not required to be answered in the particular report may be omitted and no reference thereto need be made in the report. All instructions should also be omitted.

(4) Filing of reports and signature. Eight complete copies of each report on this form, including exhibits and all papers and documents filed as a part thereof, shall be filed with the Commission. At least one such complete copy shall be filed with each exchange, if any, on which a security of the registrant is registered. At least one of the copies filed with the Commission and one filed with each such exchange shall be manually signed. Unsigned copies shall be conformed.

(5) Reports by Small Business Investment Companies. Item 1 shall not be restated or answered by any registrant which is a small business investment company licensed as such under the Small Business Investment Act of 1958.

(6) Incorporation by reference. Attention is directed to Rules 8b–23 and 8b–32 [17 CFR 270.8b–23, 270.8b–32] relating to incorporation by reference.

(c) Information required in report.

Item 1. Changes in Portfolio Securities.

If there has been any acquisition or disposition of portfolio securities by the registrant during the calendar quarter, furnish the information specified below as to such securities and the cash balance of the registrant, in the exact tabular form prescribed by the table and in accordance with the instructions, except that (1) the first report filed pursuant to this item, and (2) the first report filed pursuant to this item after the end of a calendar year, shall also include the information as to all other portfolio securities owned by the registrant at the end of the preceding calendar quarter.

[NOTE: The form of table to be submitted in response to Item 1 is included in copies of Form N–1Q which may be obtained from the Commission by requesting copy of Investment Company Act Release No. 5035.]

Instructions to Item 1.

1. For the purpose of this item, the term "U.S. Government securities" means any securities issued by the United States or by an instrumentality of the Government of the United States. "Short-term debt securities" means any securities payable on demand or having a maturity at the time of issuance of not exceeding one year, or any renewal thereof payable on demand or having a maturity at the time of renewal likewise limited. The term "long-term debt securities" means any debt securities other than short-term debt securities.

2. Except for U.S. Government securities and short-term debt securities, with respect to which only the totals for each such category shall be shown in columns (3) through (7), the required information shall be shown separately for each security acquired or disposed of by the registrant during the calendar quarter, even though the registrant may not have owned the particular security at the end of the quarter.

3. Acquisitions and dispositions other than for cash, set forth in columns (4) and (6), such as acquisitions by reason of stock dividends, stock splits, exchanges, or margin purchases, or dispositions through exchanges, shall be indicated by appropriate footnote stating the nature of the acquisition or disposition and the quantity, if other than that shown in the applicable column. Any security held in margin accounts or subject to option at the end of the calendar quarter shall also be indicated by footnote to the figures in column (7), which shall include the quantity and, in the case of options, the option prices and the dates within which they may be exercised.

4. Set forth in column (2), as to each security registered or traded on a national securities exchange, the symbol assigned to such security by the exchange.

5. If the registrant effected any short sale or any change in a short position in a security during the calendar quarter, it shall set forth in a separate table in columnar form the name of the issuer of such security, the title of the issue, and the exchange symbol, if any, and, in numbers of shares, the short sales during the quarter, the short positions closed during the quarter, and the short position at the end of the quarter. The first report filed pursuant to this item and the first report filed pursuant to this item after the end of a calendar year, shall also include the information as to all other securities in which the registrant had a short position at the end of the preceding calendar quarter.

6. The principal amount of all U.S. Government securities and of all other short-term and long-term debt securities, and the amount of cash, shall be stated in the nearest thousand dollars. The numbers of shares or other units of other securities shall be stated in the nearest full share or other unit.

Item 2. Submission of Matters to a Vote of Security Holders.

If any matter has been submitted to a vote of security holders, furnish the following information:

(a) The date of the meeting and whether it was an annual or special meeting.

(b) If the meeting involved the election of directors, state the name of each director elected at the meeting and of each other director now in office.

(c) Describe each other matter voted upon at the meeting and state the number of affirmative votes and the number of negative votes cast with respect to each such matter.

Instructions. 1. If any matter has been submitted to a vote of security holders otherwise than at a meeting of such security holders, corresponding information with respect to such submission shall be furnished. The solicitation of any authorization or consent (other than a proxy to vote at a stockholders' meeting) with respect to any matter shall be deemed a submission of such matter to a vote of security holders within the meaning of this item.

2. This item need not be answered as to (i) procedural matters, (ii) the selection or approval of auditors, or (iii) the election of directors or officers in cases where there was no solicitation in opposition to the management's nominees, as listed in a proxy statement pursuant to Rule 20a–1 [17 CFR 270.–20a–1] under the Act and Regulation 14A under the Securities Exchange Act of 1934 [17 CFR 240.14a–1 et seq.] and all of such nominees were elected. This item may be omitted if action at the meeting was limited to the foregoing. In cases where the registrant does not solicit proxies and the board of directors as previously reported to the Commission was re-elected in its entirety, a statement to that effect will suffice.

3. If the issuer has published a report containing all of the information called for by this item, the item may be answered by a reference to the information contained in such report, provided copies of such report are filed as an exhibit to the report on this form.

Item 3. Policies with Respect to Security Investments.

Describe any material change which has occurred in the investment policy of the registrant with respect to each of the following matters and which has not been approved by stockholders.

(a) The type of securities (for example, bonds, preferred stocks, common stocks) in which it may invest, indicating the proportion of the assets which may be invested in each such type of security.

(b) The percentage of assets which it may invest in the securities of any one issuer.

(c) The percentage of voting securities of any one issuer which it may acquire.

(d) Investment in companies for the purpose of exercising control or management.

(e) Investment in securities of other investment companies.

(f) The policy with respect to portfolio turnover.

(g) Any other investment policy which is set forth in the registrant's charter, by-laws or prospectus.

Item 4. Legal Proceedings.

(a) Briefly describe any material legal proceedings, other than ordinary routine litigation incidental to the business, to which the registrant or any of its subsidiaries has become a party or of which any of their property has become the subject. Include the name of the court in which the proceedings were instituted, the date instituted and the principal parties thereto.

(b) If any such proceeding previously reported has been terminated, identify the proceeding, give the date of termination and state the disposition thereof with respect to the registrant and its subsidiaries.

Instruction. Any bankruptcy, receivership or similar proceeding with respect to the registrant or any of its significant subsidiaries shall be described. Any proceeding to which any director, officer or other affiliated person of the registrant is a party adverse to the registrant or any of its subsidiaries shall also be described. Any proceeding involving the revocation or suspension of the right of the registrant to sell securities shall also be described.

Item 5. Changes in Security for Debt.

If there has been a material withdrawal or substitution of assets securing any class of debt of the registrant, furnish the following information:

(a) Give the title of the securities.

(b) Identify and describe briefly the assets involved in the withdrawal or substitution.

(c) Indicate the provision in the underlying indenture, if any, authorizing the withdrawal or substitution.

Instruction. This item does not apply to short-term paper. This item need not be answered where the withdrawal or substitution is made pursuant to the terms of an indenture which has been qualified under the Trust Indenture Act of 1939 (15 U.S.C. 77aaa et seq.).

Item 6. Defaults and Arrears on Senior Securities.

(a) State, as to each issue of long-term debt of the registrant which is in default at the close of the calendar quarter with respect to the payment of principal, interest or amortization: (1) Nature of default; (2) date of default; (3) amount of default per $1,000 face amount; and (4) total amount of default.

(b) State as to each issue of capital stock of the registrant on which any accumulated dividend is in arrears at the close of the calendar quarter: (1) Title of issue; (2) amount per share in arrears.

Item 7. Changes in Control of Registrant.

(a) If any person has become a parent of the registrant, give the name of such person, the date and a brief description of the transaction or transactions by which the person became such a parent and the percentage of voting securities of the registrant owned by the parent or other basis of control by the parent over the registrant.

(b) If any person has ceased to be a parent of the registrant, give the name of such person and the date and a brief description of the transaction or transactions by which the person ceased to be such a parent.

Item 8. Terms of New or Amended Securities.

(a) If the constituent instruments defining the rights of the holders of any class of the registrant's securities have been materially modified, give the title of the class involved and state briefly the general effect of such modification upon the rights of the holders of such securities.

(b) If the registrant has issued a new class of securities, furnish the description of such class called for by the applicable item of Form N–8B–1, (17 CFR 274.11).

Instructions. This item does not apply to short-term paper.

Item 9. Revaluation of Assets or Restatement of Capital Share Account.

(a) If there has been a material change during the calendar quarter in the method of valuation of the assets of the registrant, state the date of the change and explain the change, the accounts involved and the statutory or regulatory basis, if any.

(b) If there has been a material restatement during the calendar quarter of the capital share account of the registrant resulting in a transfer from capital share liability to surplus or reserves, or vice versa, state the date, purpose, and amount of the restatement and give a brief explanation of all related entries in connection with the restatement.

Item 10. Exhibits.

List below the exhibits, if any, filed as a part of this report.

[Release No. I. A. 211]

WITHDRAWAL FROM INVESTMENT ADVISER REGISTRATION

Notice of Proposed Rule Making

Notice is hereby given that the Securities and Exchange Commission has under consideration a proposal to amend its Rule 203–2 (17 CFR 275.203–2) under the Investment Advisers Act of 1940 (15 U.S.C. 80b–1 et seq.) to require that notice of withdrawal from registration as an investment adviser be filed on a proposed form to be designated Form ADV–W (17 CFR 279.2) in accordance with the instructions thereon. The amendment would also provide for a 60-day waiting period between the filing date and the effective date unless acceleration is granted or proceedings pursuant to sections 203(d) or 203(g) of the Act are pending or are instituted, in which event the notice of withdrawal would not become effective except at such time and upon such terms and conditions as the Commission deems necessary or appropriate in the public interest or for the protection of investors. This proposed action would be taken under the Investment Advisers Act, particularly sections 203, 204, and 211 thereof. The proposed rule provides that each notice of withdrawal will constitute a "report" under section 204, thereby subjecting the filing of false information to the penalties provided by sections 207 and 217 of the Act.

Proposed Form ADV–W would require the investment adviser seeking to withdraw from registration to furnish specified information: (a) Whether he owes any money or securities to any customer, and if he does, the amount involved and the arrangements made for payment (in this case he would also have to furnish a current report of financial condition); what disposition has been made of his investment advisory contracts and whether refunds were made to all customers whose contracts were not completed or assigned with their consent; (c) whether he is involved in any legal actions or proceedings and whether there are any unsatisfied judgments or liens against him; (d) the name and address of the person who will have custody or possession of his books and records required to be preserved under Rule 204–2 (17 CFR 275.204–2); and (e) the address where such books and records will be located. This information will help the Commission to determine whether the business is being terminated in compliance with applicable requirements, and whether it is necessary to conduct any investigation to determine whether terms and conditions should be imposed on the withdrawal of registration or it is necessary to institute proceedings to revoke registration as authorized by section 203(d) of the Act. Proposed Form ADV–W (17 CFR 279.2) would also contain an authorization to the custodian of the investment adviser's books and records to make them available to the Commission, if necessary.

At the present time, Rule 203–2 (17 CFR 275.203–2) provides that a notice of withdrawal will become effective on the 30th day after filing unless proceedings to revoke or suspend are pending, or the Commission, within the 30-day period, institutes such proceedings or proceedings to impose terms or conditions upon such withdrawal. It has been found that 30 days are not sufficient to determine whether the business is being terminated in compliance with applicable requirements or to complete an investigation if one is required, and to institute proceedings in appropriate cases. It is believed that the proposed amendments will enable the Commission to carry out its responsibilities under the Investment Advisers Act more effectively in the public interest and for the protecion of investors. Broker-dealers who propose to withdraw from registration are subject to similar requirements.

It is proposed to amend the text of Rule 203–2 (17 CFR 275.203–2) to read substantially as follows:

(a) Notice of withdrawal from registration as an investment adviser pursuant to section 203(g) shall be filed on Form ADV–W (§ 279.2 of this chapter) in accordance with the instructions contained therein.

(b) Except as hereinafter provided, a notice to withdraw from registration filed by an investment adviser pursuant to section 203(g) shall become effective on the 60th day after the filing thereof with the Commission or within such shorter period of time as the Commission may determine. If, prior to the effective date of a notice of withdrawal from registration, the Commission has instituted a proceeding pursuant to section 203(d) to suspend or revoke registration, or a proceeding pursuant to section 203(g) to impose terms or conditions upon withdrawal, the notice of withdrawal shall not become effective except at such time and upon such terms and conditions as the Commission deems necessary or appropriate in the public interest or for the protection of investors.

(c) Every notice of withdrawal filed pursuant to this section shall constitute a "report" within the meaning of sections 204 and 207 and other applicable provisions of the Act.

(Secs. 203, 204 and 211(a), 74 Stat. 885–8, as amended, 15 U.S.C. 80b–3, 80b–4, 80b–11)

In connection with the proposed amendment to Rule 203–2 (17 CFR 275.–203–2) it is proposed to adopt the following new Form ADV–W (17 CFR 279.2):

§ 279.2 Form ADV–W, Notice of withdrawal from registration as investment adviser.

(Secs. 203, 204 and 211(a), 74 Stat. 885–8, as amended, 15 U.S.C. 80b–3, 80b–4, 80b–11)

All interested persons are invited to submit their views and comments on the proposed amendment and form, in writing, to the Securities and Exchange Commission, Washington, D.C. 20549, on or before September 1, 1967. Except where it is requested that such communications not be disclosed, they will be considered available for public inspection.

By the Commission.

The books will be open only on July 31, 1967, for the receipt of subscriptions.

II. Description of notes. 1. The notes will be dated August 15, 1967, and will bear interest from that date at the rate of 5¼ percent per annum, payable on a semiannual basis on November 15, 1967, and May 15 and November 15, 1968. They will mature November 15, 1968, and will not be subject to call for redemption prior to maturity.

2. The income derived from the notes is subject to all taxes imposed under the Internal Revenue Code of 1954. The notes are subject to estate, inheritance, gift or other excise taxes, whether Federal or State, but are exempt from all taxation now or hereafter imposed on the principal or interest thereof by any State, or any of the possessions of the United States, or by any local taxing authority.

3. The notes will be acceptable to secure deposits of public moneys. They will not be acceptable in payment of taxes.

4. Bearer notes with interest coupons attached, and notes registered as to principal and interest, will be issued in denominations of $1,000, $5,000, $10,000, $100,000, $1 million, $100 million, and $500 million. Provision will be made for the interchange of notes of different denominations and of coupon and registered notes, and for the transfer of registered notes, under rules and regulations prescribed by the Secretary of the Treasury.

5. The notes will be subject to the general regulations of the Treasury Department, now or hereafter prescribed, governing U.S. notes.

III. Subscription and allotment. 1. Subscriptions accepting the offer made by this circular will be received at the Federal Reserve Banks and Branches and at the Office of the Treasurer of the United States, Washington, D.C. 20220. Only the Federal Reserve Banks and the Treasury Department are authorized to act as official agencies. Commercial banks, which for this purpose are defined as banks accepting demand deposits, may submit subscriptions for account of customers provided the names of the customers are set forth in such subscriptions. Others than commercial banks will not be permitted to enter subscriptions except for their own account. Subscriptions from commercial banks for their own account will be restricted in each case to an amount not exceeding 50 percent of the combined capital (not including capital notes or debentures), surplus and undivided profits of the subscribing bank. Subscriptions will be received without deposit from banking institutions for their own account, Federally-insured savings and loan associations, States, political subdivisions, or instrumentalities thereof, public pension and retirement and other public funds, international organizations in which the United States holds membership, foreign central banks and foreign States, dealers who make primary markets in Government securities and report daily to the Federal Reserve Bank of New York their positions with respect to Government securities and borrowings thereon, Federal Reserve Banks and Government Investment Accounts. Subscriptions from all others must be accompanied by payment (in cash or in securities of the issues enumerated in paragraph 1 of section I hereof, which will be accepted at par) of 2 percent of the amount of notes applied for, not subject to withdrawal until after allotment. Registered notes submitted as deposits should be assigned as provided in section V hereof. Following allotment, any portion of the 2 percent payment in excess of 2 percent of the amount of notes allotted may be released upon the request of the subscribers.

2. All subscribers are required to agree not to purchase or to sell, or to make any agreements with respect to the purchase or sale or other disposition of any notes of this issue at a specific rate or price, until after midnight July 31, 1967.

3. Commercial banks in submitting subscriptions will be required to certify that they have no beneficial interest in any of the subscriptions they enter for the account of their customers, and that their customers have no beneficial interest in the banks' subscriptions for their own account.

4. Under the Second Liberty Bond Act, as amended, the Secretary of the Treasury has the authority to reject or reduce any subscription, to allot less than the amount of notes applied for, and to make different percentage allotments to various classes of subscribers when he deems it to be in the public interest; and any action he may take in these respects shall be final. Subject to the exercise of that authority, subscriptions will be allotted:

(1) In full if the subscription is for a State, political subdivision or instrumentality thereof, public pension and retirement and other public fund, international organization in which the United States holds membership, foreign central bank and foreign State, Federal Reserve Bank, or Government Investment Account and such subscriber certifies in writing that at 4 p.m., e.d.s.t., July 26, 1967, it owned or had contracted to purchase for value securities of the issues enumerated in paragraph 1 of section I hereof, in an aggregate amount equal to or greater than the amount of such subscription (any such subscriber may enter an additional subscription subject to a percentage allotment); and

(2) On a percentage basis, to be publicly announced.

Allotment notices will be sent out promptly upon allotment.

IV. Payment. 1. Payment at 99.94 percent of their face value and accrued interest, if any, for notes allotted hereunder must be made or completed on or before August 15, 1967, or on later allotment. Payment will not be deemed to have been completed where registered notes are requested if the appropriate identifying number as required on tax returns and other documents submitted to the Internal Revenue Service (an individual's social security number or an employer identification number) is not furnished. In every case where full payment is not completed, the payment with application up to 2 percent of the amount of notes allotted shall, upon declaration made by the Secretary of the Treasury in his discretion, be forfeited to the United States. Payment may be made for any notes allotted hereunder in cash or by exchange of securities of the issues enumerated in paragraph 1 of section I hereof, which will be accepted at par. A cash adjustment will be made for the difference ($0.60 per $1,000) between the par value of maturing securities accepted in exchange and the issue price of the new notes. The payment will be made by check or by credit in any account maintained by a banking institution with the Federal Reserve Bank of its District, following acceptance of the maturing securities. In the case of registered notes, the payment will be made in accordance with the assignments on the notes surrendered. When payment is made with securities in bearer form, coupons dated August 15, 1967, should be detached and cashed when due. When payment is made with registered notes, the final interest due on August 15, 1967, will be paid by issue of interest checks in regular course to holders of record on July 14, 1967, the date the transfer books closed.

V. Assignment of registered notes. 1. Treasury notes in registered form tendered as deposits and in payment for notes allotted hereunder should be assigned by the registered payees or assignees thereof, in accordance with the general regulations of the Treasury Department, in one of the forms hereafter set forth. Notes tendered in payment should be surrendered to a Federal Reserve Bank or Branch or to the Office of the Treasurer of the United States, Washington, D.C. 20220. The maturing notes must be delivered at the expense and risk of the holder. If the new notes are desired registered in the same name as the notes surrendered, the assignment should be to "The Secretary of the Treasury for 5¼ percent Treasury Notes of Series D–1968"; if the new notes are desired registered in another name, the assignment should be to "The Secretary of the Treasury for 5¼ percent Treasury Notes of Series D–1968 in the name of _____"; if new notes in coupon form are desired, the assignment should be to "The Secretary of the Treasury for 5¼ percent Treasury Notes of Series D–1968 in coupon form to be delivered to _____".

VI. General provisions. 1. As fiscal agents of the United States, Federal Reserve Banks are authorized and requested to receive subscriptions, to make such allotments as may be prescribed by the Secretary of the Treasury, to issue such notices as may be necessary, to receive payment for and make delivery of notes on full-paid subscriptions allotted, and they may issue interim receipts pending delivery of the definitive notes.

2. The Secretary of the Treasury may at any time, or from time to time, prescribe supplemental or amendatory rules and regulations governing the offering, which will be communicated promptly to the Federal Reserve Banks.

[SEAL] HENRY H. FOWLER,
Secretary of the Treasury.

Notice of Proposed Withdrawal and Reservation of Lands

JULY 27, 1967.

The Forest Service, U.S. Department of Agriculture, has filed an application, Serial Number S 730 for the withdrawal of the lands described below, from prospecting, location, entry and purchase under the mining laws (30 U.S.C. Ch. 2), subject to valid existing claims.

The applicant desires the land for recreation areas to include camp grounds, picnic units, boat launching ramps and swimming in cooperation with the Oroville-Wyandotte Irrigation District.

For a period of 30 days from the date of publication of this notice, all persons who wish to submit comments, suggestions, or objections in connection with the proposed withdrawal may present their views in writing to the undersigned officer of the Bureau of Land Management, U.S. Department of the Interior, Room 4201, U.S. Courthouse and Federal Building, 650 Capitol Mall, Sacramento, Calif. 95814.

The Department's regulations (43 CFR 2311.1–3(c)) provide that the authorized officer of the Bureau of Land Management will undertake such investigations as are necessary to determine the existing and potential demand for the lands and their resources. He will also undertake negotiations with the applicant agency with the view of adjusting the application to reduce the area to the minimum essential to meet the applicant's needs, to provide for the maximum concurrent utilization of the lands for purposes other than the applicant's, and to reach agreement on the concurrent management of the lands and their resources.

The authorized officer will also prepare a report for consideration by the Secretary of the Interior who will determine whether or not the lands will be withdrawn as requested by the applicant agency.

The determination of the Secretary on the application will be published in the FEDERAL REGISTER. A separate notice will be sent to each interested party of record.

If circumstances warrant, a public hearing will be held at a convenient time and place, which will be announced.

The lands involved in the application are:

NEVADA

Notice of Filing of Plat of Survey and Order Providing for Opening of Lands

JULY 27, 1967.

1. The Plats of Survey of lands described below will be officially filed at the Nevada Land Office, Reno, Nev., effective 10:00 a.m. on September 3, 1967.

MOUNT DIABLO MERIDIAN, NEVADA

T. 12 N., R. 57 E. (Group 426)

2. The surveyed area of the described land aggregates 19,423.35 acres. The plat was accepted June 27, 1967. Located in Railroad Valley, the land is nearly level to rolling, with an elevation range of about 5,100 to 6,300 feet above sea level. The soil is sandy clay and rocky; vegetation consists of sagebrush and greasewood. The township is drained by Broom Canyon, southwest through the southern part of the township; and Bull Creek, draining south through the west tier of sections. No mineral formations of consequence are in evidence. Principal users of the township are cattlemen; access into the area is provided by State Highway No. 20, crossing the southwest corner of Sec. 31, and by desert roads.

3. Subject to any existing valid rights and the requirements of applicable law, the above-described lands are hereby opened to filing applications, selections, and location, except for applications under the Small Tract, Desert Land and Homestead Laws, in accordance with the following: Applications and selections under the nonmineral public land laws may be presented to the Manager mentioned below, beginning on the date of the order. Such applications, selections and offers will be considered as filed on the hour and respective dates shown for the various classes enumerated in the following paragraphs: Applications by persons having prior existing valid settlement rights, preference rights conferred by existing laws, or equitable claims subject to allowance and confirmation will be adjudicated on the facts presented in support of such claim or right. All applications presented by persons other than those referred to in this paragraph will be subject to the applications and claims mentioned in this paragraph. All valid applications and selections under the nonmineral public land laws presented prior to 10 a.m., September 3, 1967, will be considered as simultaneously filed at that hour. Rights under such applications and selections filed after that hour will be governed by the time of filing.

4. Persons claiming preference rights based upon valid settlement, statutory preference, or equitable claims must enclose properly corroborated statements in support of their applications, setting forth all facts relevant to their claims. Detailed rules and regulations governing applications, which may be filed pursuant to this notice can be found in Title 43 of the Code of Federal Regulations. Inquiries concerning these lands shall be addressed to the Manager, Land Office, Bureau of Land Management, 300 Booth Street, Reno, Nev. 89502.

DANIEL P. BAKER,
Manager, Nevada Land Office.

NEW MEXICO

Notice of Proposed Withdrawal and Reservation of Lands

JULY 27, 1967.

The Forest Service, U.S. Department of Agriculture, has filed application, Serial No. New Mexico 2768, for the withdrawal of lands described below. The lands were conveyed to the United States pursuant to section 8 of the Taylor Grazing Act. They lie within the exterior boundaries of the Cibola National Forest. They have not been open to entry under the public land laws. The applicant desires the lands for the addition to, and the consolidation with national forest lands to permit more efficient administration thereof in the conservation of national resources.

For a period of 30 days from the date of publication of this notice, all persons who wish to submit comments, suggestions, or objections in connection with the proposed withdrawal may present their views in writing to the undersigned officer of the Bureau of Land Management, Department of the Interior, Chief, Division of Lands and Minerals Program Management and Land Office, Post Office Box 1449, Santa Fe, N. Mex. 87501.

The authorized officer of the Bureau of Land Management will undertake such investigations as are necessary to determine the existing and potential demand for the lands and their resources. He will also undertake negotiations with the applicant agency with the view of adjusting the application to reduce the area to the minimum essential to meet the applicant's needs, to provide for the maximum concurrent utilization of the lands for purposes other than the applicant's, to eliminate lands needed for purposes more essential than the applicant's, and to reach agreement on the concurrent management of the lands and their resources.

He will also prepare a report for consideration by the Secretary of the Interior who will determine whether or not the lands will be withdrawn as requested by the applicant agency.

The determination of the Secretary on the application will be published in the FEDERAL REGISTER. A separate notice will be sent to each interested party of record.

If circumstances warrant it, a public hearing will be held at a convenient time and place, which will be announced.

The lands involved in the application are:

NEW MEXICO PRINCIPAL MERIDIAN, NEW MEXICO

Allocation of Adjusted Quotas for Calendar Year 1967 Among Producers Located in Guam and for Virgiline Watch Co., Inc., in the Virgin Islands

CROSS REFERENCE: For a document relating to allocation of adjusted quotas of watches and watch movements for the calendar year 1967 among producers located in Guam and for Virgiline Watch Co., Inc., in the Virgin Islands, see F.R. Doc. 67-9146, Commerce Department, infra.

Office of the Secretary

WATCHES AND WATCH MOVEMENTS

Allocation of Adjusted Quotas for Calendar Year 1967 Among Producers Located in Guam and for Virgiline Watch Co., Inc., in the Virgin Islands

Interested parties are invited to refer to the Interim Allocation of March 15, 1967, and the Allocation of June 9, 1967, by the Departments of the Interior and Commerce, published respectively in 32 F.R. 4178 of March 17, 1967, and 32 F.R. 8316 of June 9, 1967, for the background history of the present allocation. As explained therein, the Departments found it necessary to verify the accuracy of the data supplied by each of the applicants for a duty-free quota, in order to ensure that the quota formula was applied uniformly to all concerned.

Following verification of the data supplied by the 16 firms assembling watches and watch movements in the Virgin Islands, verification was made of the data supplied by the eight firms assembling watches and watch movements in Guam.

As had been the case in the Virgin Islands, the auditors found that the data supplied by these eight firms was substantially accurate. However, as in the Virgin Islands, inconsistencies occurred in reporting direct labor costs largely because of lack of uniformity in the treatment of the salaries of individuals who were engaged part of the time in supervisory or administrative activities and part of the time on the bench as watchmakers.

In computing the direct labor costs of the firms located in Guam, the Departments concluded that these salaries should be treated in the same manner as in computing direct labor costs in the Virgin Islands, namely by excluding the salaries of all presidents and general managers, and including the salaries of plant managers who were also watchmakers only up to the amount of the highest paid watchmaker in that particular firm. A difficulty arose, however, in applying this treatment to some of the firms where the plant manager was basically the only watchmaker employed. This problem was handled by computing the average percentage by which the salaries of the plant managers of the other firms exceeded the salaries of their highest paid watchmakers. This percentage was then uniformly deducted from the salary of each of the plant managers of the firms where the difficulty arose.

Any watches and watch movements entered duty-free into the customs territory of the United States on or after January 1, 1967, are to be deducted from these allocations which are issued for the full calendar year 1967.

Adjustments have been made reflecting verification of the data submitted and of final statistics issued by the U.S. Tariff Commission on total apparent U.S. watch consumption during 1966.

In addition to the following quota allocations to producers located in Guam, there is published below an allocation for the full calendar year 1967 to Virgiline Watch Co., Inc., a firm located in the Virgin Islands. This firm is one of the 16 producers located in the Virgin Islands to which an interim quota allocation was made on March 15, 1967. Because the data it submitted could not be fully verified before June 8, 1967, it was not included in the list of firms to which an adjusted quota for calendar year 1967 was issued on that date.

CIVIL AERONAUTICS BOARD

[Docket No. 18766]

CALEDONIAN AIRWAYS (PRESTWICK), LTD., AND FLYING TIGER LINE, INC.

Notice of Proposed Approval

Application of Caledonian Airways (Prestwick), Ltd. and The Flying Tiger Line, Inc., for approval of agreement to lease an aircraft, Docket 18766.

Notice is hereby given pursuant to the statutory requirements of section 408(b) that the undersigned intends to issue the order set forth below under delegated authority. Interested parties are hereby afforded a period of 15 days from the date of service within which to file comments or request a hearing with respect to the action proposed in the order.

Dated at Washington, D.C., July 31, 1967.

[SEAL] A. M. ANDREWS,
Director, Bureau of Operating Rights.

ORDER APPROVING AGREEMENT

Issued under delegated authority.

Application of Caledonian Airways (Prestwick), Ltd., and The Flying Tiger Line, Inc., for approval pursuant to section 408(b) of the Federal Aviation Act of 1958, as amended, of an agreement to lease an aircraft.

By application filed July 6, 1967, Caledonian Airways (Prestwick), Ltd. (Caledonian), and The Flying Tiger Line, Inc. (FTL), requested that the Board approve, pursuant to section 408(b) of the Federal Aviation Act of 1958, as amended, an agreement under which Caledonian will lease from FTL one B-707-320C aircraft. The agreement also gives Caledonian an option to purchase the aircraft. Caledonian is a United Kingdom carrier engaged in charter operations under a foreign air carrier permit issued by the Board.[1]

The agreement is for a period of 6 years commencing December 31, 1968, and ending December 31, 1974.[2] Caledonian will pay a monthly rental of $100,322. Although Caledonian expects to take possession of the aircraft on December 31, 1968, the agreement provides that the aircraft could be made available commencing on June 1, 1968.[3] If Caledonian takes possession on June 1, 1968, it would pay a monthly rental of $95,000 through December 31, 1968. Caledonian will have an option to purchase the aircraft for $1,094,357 (U.S.) provided that written notice is given to FTL of its intent to exercise such option not less than 120 days, or more than 180 days prior to the expiration of the lease agreement, December 31, 1974.

It is contended that FTL is in the process of changing its fleet to a stretched jet fleet and has the intention of disposing of a number and possibly all of their B-707-320C aircraft.[4] Applicants stated that the lease and purchase terms were negotiated at arm's length bargaining and are considered by the parties to be fair and reasonable and consistent with market conditions.

No adverse comments or requests for a hearing have been received.

Notice of intent to dispose of the application without a hearing has been published in the FEDERAL REGISTER, and a copy of such notice has been furnished by the Board to the Attorney General not later than the day following the date of such publication, both in accordance with requirements of section 408(b) of the Act.

Upon consideration of the foregoing, we conclude that the lease transaction is subject to section 408 of the Act in that it involves the lease by a person engaged in a phase of aeronautics of a substantial part of the properties of an air carrier within the meaning of that section. We have reviewed the matter, however, and conclude that the lease does not affect the control of an air carrier directly engaged in the operation of aircraft in air transportation; does not result in creating a monopoly and does not tend to restrain competition. Furthermore, no person disclosing a substantial interest is currently requesting a hearing and we conclude that no hearing is required.

We also conclude that the agreement will not affect FTL's ability to meet its certificate obligations in that FTL will not lease the aircraft to Caledonian until it has taken delivery of four of the 10 DC8'63F stretched jet aircraft it has contracted to purchase. Further, FTL will then have more aircraft and available capacity then it had prior to the lease agreement. It therefore appears that approval of the transaction would not be inconsistent with the public interest.

Pursuant to authority duly delegated by the Board in the Board's regulations, 14 CFR 385.13, it is found that the above-described transaction should be approved under section 408(b) of the Act without a hearing.

Accordingly, it is ordered:

1. That the transaction between Caledonian and FTL be and it hereby is approved under section 408 of the Act;

2. That this action shall not be deemed an approval for rate-making purposes of the financial provisions of the transaction; and

3. That this order may be amended or revoked at any time in the discretion of the Board without hearing.

[1] Order E-25017 approved by the President Apr. 19, 1967.

[2] Caledonian may cancel the lease agreement on or before Dec. 31, 1971, upon 6 months' written notice to FTL.

[3] FTL has contracted for 10 DC 8's and expects delivery by the end of 1968. Caledonian would be able to call for delivery of the aircraft after FTL has taken delivery of its fourth DC 8-63F aircraft.

[4] FTL's jet fleet consists of (5) B707-320C aircraft.

Persons entitled to petition the Board for review of this order pursuant to the Board's regulations, 14 CFR 385.50, may file such petition within 5 days after date of service of this order.

This order shall be effective and become the action of the Civil Aeronautics Board upon expiration of the above period unless within such period a petition for review thereof is filed, or the Board gives notice that it will review this order on its own motion.

By: A. M. Andrews,
Director, Bureau of Operating Rights.

Secretary.

FEDERAL POWER COMMISSION

[Docket No. CP68-20]

AMERICAN GAS COMPANY OF WISCONSIN, INC., AND MICHIGAN WISCONSIN PIPE LINE CO.

Notice of Application

JULY 27, 1967.

Take notice that on July 19, 1967, American Gas Co. of Wisconsin, Inc. (Applicant), 110 East Main Street, Madison, Wis. 53703, filed in Docket No. CP68-20 an application pursuant to subsection (a) of section 7 of the Natural Gas Act for an order of the Commission directing Michigan Wisconsin Pipe Line Co. (Respondent) to establish physical connection of its transportation facilities with Applicant's existing facilities and the facilities proposed to be constructed by Applicant and to sell and deliver to Applicant volumes of natural gas for resale and distribution as initial natural gas service in the communities of Athens and Milan, Wis., and as an additional supply of natural gas for resale and distribution by Applicant in its existing 15-town system, all in the State of Wisconsin, all as more fully set forth in the application which is on file with the Commission and open to public inspection.

Applicant proposes to construct and operate municipal natural gas distribution systems in the towns of Athens and Milan and regulating facilities at the city-gates of Athens, Milan, and Abbotsford. Applicant proposes that Respondent construct and operate a transmission lateral line from a point of connection with its main transmission line in Wood County, Wis., generally north then west to points of connection with the towns of Athens, Milan, and Abbotsford. Applicant also proposes that Respondent construct and operate a measuring station on the above proposed lateral line.

Applicant states that the facilities proposed above will provide initial natural gas service to the towns of Athens and Milan and will also provide needed additional volumes of natural gas to serve the 15 towns in its natural gas system in Marathon, Clark, Taylor, and Chippewa Counties, Wis. Applicant estimates its third year peak daily and annual natural gas requirements as follows:

Town	Peak daily requirements (Mcf)	Annual requirements (Mcf)
Athens and Milan	381	108,483
Other 15 towns	2,624	911,398
Total purchases	3,005	1,017,881

Applicant states that the volumes of natural gas to be purchased for resale and distribution in its 15-town system are in addition to the volumes now being purchased from Midwestern Gas Transmission Co. (Midwest). Applicant further states that these volumes are necessary to enable it to maintain adequate pressure in the western end of said system. Applicant now purchases a daily and annual volume of natural gas from Midwest of 3,500 Mcf and 1,277,500 Mcf, respectively.

Applicant estimates the total cost of the facilities proposed to be constructed by it at approximately $117,397, said cost to be financed through the issuance and sale of additional common stock to its parent company, American Gas Co., and/or funds generated from operations.

Protests or petitions to intervene may be filed with the Federal Power Commission, Washington, D.C. 20426, in accordance with the rules of practice and procedure (18 CFR 1.8 or 1.10) on or before August 31, 1967.

JERSEY CENTRAL POWER & LIGHT CO.

Notice of Proposed Issue and Sale of Principal Amount of First Mortgage Bonds

JULY 28, 1967.

Notice is hereby given that Jersey Central Power & Light Co. ("Jersey Central"), Madison Avenue at Punch Bowl Road, Morristown, N.J. 07960, an electric utility subsidiary company of General Public Utilities Corporation, a registered holding company, has filed an application with this Commisden pursuant to the Public Utility Holding Company Act of 1935 ("Act"), designating section 6(b) of the Act and Rule 50 promulgated thereunder as applicable to the proposed transaction. All interested persons are referred to the application, which is summarized below, for a complete statement of the proposed transaction.

Jersey Central proposes to issue and sell, subject to the competitive bidding requirements of Rule 50, $30 million principal amount of First Mortgage Bonds, _____ percent Series due 1997. The interest rate (which will be a multiple of ⅛ of 1 percent) and the price, exclusive of accrued interest, (which will be not less than 100 percent nor more than 102.75 percent of the principal amount thereof), will be determined by the competitive bidding. The bonds will be issued under an Indenture dated as of March 1, 1946, between Jersey Central and First National City Bank, Successor Trustee, as heretofore supplemented and as to be further supplemented by a Fourteenth Supplemental Indenture to be dated as of September 1, 1967.

The proceeds from the sale of the new bonds will be employed for the purpose of financing Jersey Central's business as a public utility, including the payment of short-term bank loans outstanding at the date of sale of the bonds. At July 19, 1967, outstanding short-term bank loans amounted to $38,800,000. The company's 1967 construction program is estimated at approximately $70 million.

The fees and expenses to be paid by Jersey Central in connection with the issue and sale of the bonds are estimated at $90,000, including counsel fees of $20,000 and accountants' fees of $4,750. Fees and expenses of counsel for the underwriters, to be paid by the successful bidders, will be supplied by amendment.

It is stated that the Board of Public Utility Commissioners of New Jersey has jurisdiction over the proposed issue and sale of bonds by Jersey Central and that no other State commission and no Federal commission, other than this Commission, has jurisdiction over the proposed transaction.

Notice is further given that any interested person may, not later than August 29, 1967, request in writing that a hearing be held on such matter, stating the nature of his interest, the reasons for such request, and the issues of fact or law raised by said application which he desires to controvert; or he may request that he be notified if the Commission should order a hearing thereon. Any such request should be addressed: Secretary, Securities and Exchange Commission, Washington, D.C. 20549. A copy of such request should be served personally or by mail (air mail if the person being served is located more than 500 miles from the point of mailing) upon the applicant at the above-stated address, and proof of servce (by affidavit or, in case of an attorney at law, by certificate) should be filed with the request. At any time after said date, the application, as filed or as it may be amended, may be granted as provided in Rule 23 of the general rules and regulations promulgated under the Act, or the Commission may grant exemption from such rules as provided in Rules 20(a) and 100 thereof or take such other action as it may deem appropriate. Persons who request a hearing or advice as to whether a hearing is ordered will receive notice of further developments in this matter, including the date of the hearing (if ordered) and any postponements thereof.

For the Commission (pursuant to delegated authority).

SMALL BUSINESS ADMINISTRATION

[Declaration of Disaster Loan Area 630]

KENTUCKY

Declaration of Disaster Loan Area

Whereas, it has been reported that during the month of July 1967, because of the effects of certain disasters, damage resulted to residences and business property located in Middlesboro, Ky.;

Whereas, the Small Business Administration has investigated and received other reports of investigations of conditions in the area affected;

Whereas, after reading and evaluating reports of such conditions, I find that the conditions in such area consititute a catastrophe within the purview of the Small Business Act, as amended.

Now, therefore, as Administrator of the Small Business Administration, I hereby determine that:

1. Applications for disaster loans under the provisions of section 7(b)(1) of the Small Business Act, as amended, may be received and considered by the Office below indicated from persons or firms whose property, situated in the aforesaid Middlesboro and areas adjacent thereto, suffered damage or destruction resulting from floods occurring on July 25, 1967.

OFFICE

Small Business Administration Regional Office, Fourth and Broadway, Louisville, Ky. 40202.

2. Applications for disaster loans under the authority of this Declaration will not be accepted subsequent to January 31, 1968.

Dated: July 28, 1967.

INTERSTATE COMMERCE COMMISSION

[Notice No. 1091]

MOTOR CARRIER, BROKER, WATER CARRIER, AND FREIGHT FORWARDER APPLICATIONS

JULY 28, 1967.

The following applications are governed by Special Rule 1.247[1] of the Commission's general rules of practice (49 CFR, as amended), published in the FEDERAL REGISTER issue of April 20, 1966, effective May 20, 1966. These rules provide, among other things, that a protest to the granting of an application must be filed with the Commission within 30 days after date of notice of filing of the application is published in the FEDERAL REGISTER. Failure seasonably to file a protest will be construed as a waiver of opposition and participation in the proceeding. A protest under these rules should comply with § 1.247(d)(3) of the rules of practice which requires that it set forth specifically the grounds upon which it is made, contain a detailed statement of protestant's interest in the proceeding (including a copy of the specific portions of its authority which protestant believes to be in conflict with that sought in the application, and describing in detail the method—whether by joinder, interline, or other means—by which protestant would use such authority to provide all or part of the service proposed), and shall specify with particularity the facts, matters, and things relied upon, but shall not include issues or allegations phrased generally. Protests not in reasonable compliance with the requirements of the rules may be rejected. The original and one copy of the protest shall be filed with the Commission, and a copy shall be served concurrently upon applicant's representative, or applicant if no representative is named. If the protest includes a request for oral hearing, such requests shall meet the requirements of § 1.247(d)(4) of the special rule, and shall include the certification required therein.

Section 1.247(f) of the Commission's rules of practice further provides that each applicant shall, if protests to its application have been filed, and within 60 days of the date of this publication, notify the Commission in writing (1) that it is ready to proceed and prosecute the application, or (2) that it wishes to withdraw the application, failure in which the application will be dismissed by the Commission.

Further processing steps (whether modified procedure, oral hearing, or other procedures) will be determined generally in accordance with the Commission's General Policy Statement Concerning Motor Carrier Licensing Procedures, published in the FEDERAL REGISTER issue of May 3, 1966. This assignment will be by Commission order which will be served on each party of record.

The publications hereinafter set forth reflect the scope of the applications as filed by applicants, and may include descriptions, restrictions, or limitations which are not in a form acceptable to the Commission. Authority which ultimately may be granted as a result of the applications here noticed will not necessarily reflect the phraseology set forth in the application as filed, but also will eliminate any restrictions which are not acceptable to the Commission.

TARIFF COMMISSION

[AFTA-W-15]

BORG-WARNER CORP.

Workers' Petition for Determination of Eligibility To Apply for Adjustment Assistance; Notice of Termination of Investigation

Notice is hereby given that the investigation instituted by the Tariff Commission on June 12, 1967, at the request of the Automotive Agreement Adjustment Assistance Board, pursuant to section 302(c) of the Automotive Products Trade Act of 1965, with respect to a petition filed with the Board by the International Union, United Automobile Workers, and its Local 314, on behalf of a group of workers at the Long Manufacturing Division, Borg-Warner Corp., Detroit, Mich., has been terminated without prejudice. Notice of the investigation appeared in the FEDERAL REGISTER of June 17, 1967 (32 F.R. 8740).

The Board has advised the Commission that it would not object to this termination of the investigation because the petitioner has requested permission from the Board to withdraw its original petition without prejudice in order that it might submit a revised and more extensive petition for its consideration.

Issued: July 31, 1967.

By order of the Commission.

Title 4—ACCOUNTS

Chapter I—General Accounting Office

SUBCHAPTER A—GENERAL PROCEDURES

PART 20—BID PROTESTS

A new part, establishing procedures governing bid protests, is added as follows:

Sec.
20.1 Procedure for protest.
20.2 Notice of protest.

AUTHORITY: The provisions of this Part 20 issued under sec. 311, 42 Stat. 25, as amended, 31 U.S.C. 52. Interpret or apply sec. 305, 42 Stat. 24, 31 U.S.C. 71; sec. 304, 42 Stat. 24, as amended, 31 U.S.C. 74.

§ 20.1 Procedure for protest.

An interested party wishing to protest the proposed award of a contract, or the award of a contract, by an agency of the Federal Government whose expenditures are subject to disallowance by the U.S. General Accounting Office may do so by addressing a telegram, or letter to the Comptroller General of the United States, U.S. General Accounting Office, Washington, D.C. 20548, identifying the procurement and the agency concerned and stating the basis for the protest. A party having filed a protest may request a conference with the General Accounting Office attorney who has been assigned primary responsibility for handling the protest. The General Accounting Office reserves the right to make public any information submitted in connection with the protest unless such information is proprietary or is classified information as defined at 18 U.S.C. 798(b).

§ 20.2 Notice of protest.

If it proposes to sustain a protest, the General Accounting Office, unless the Comptroller General or the Assistant Comptroller General certifies that time and circumstances do not permit, will give notice of the protest and an opportunity to present views to the contractor where the contract has already been awarded or, if prior to award, to the bidder who it appears from the facts of record would be awarded the contract but for the protest.

[SEAL] ELMER B. STAATS,
Comptroller General of the United States.

Title 7—AGRICULTURE

Chapter IX—Consumer and Marketing Service (Marketing Agreements and Orders; Fruit, Vegetables, Nuts), Department of Agriculture

PART 993—DRIED PRUNES PRODUCED IN CALIFORNIA

Salable and Reserve Percentages for 1967–68 Crop Year

Pursuant to the marketing agreement, as amended, and Order No. 993, as amended (7 CFR Part 993), regulating the handling of dried prunes produced in California, effective under the Agricultural Marketing Agreement Act of 1937, as amended (7 U.S.C. 601–674), the Prune Administrative Committee has unanimously recommended salable and reserve percentages for California dried prunes of 100 percent and 0 percent, respectively. These percentages would be applicable to all dried prunes received by handlers from producers and dehydrators during the 1967–68 crop year (beginning August 1, 1967).

The Committee's recommendation is based on its estimate of 1967 California dried prune production at 135,000 tons, natural condition weight, and carrying of 34,692 tons, natural condition weight. This would result in an estimated supply, processed weight equivalent, of 174,783 tons. The Committee also estimated 1967–68 domestic trade demand at 115,000 tons (processed weight), and foreign trade demand at 40,000 tons (processed weight), leaving a carryout on July 31, 1968, of 19,783 tons. A carryout of 25,000 tons is deemed desirable.

After consideration of the committee's recommendation and supporting information, and other available information, it is found that to establish the salable and reserve percentages as hereinafter set forth will tend to effectuate the declared policy of the act.

Therefore, the salable and reserve percentages for dried prunes for the 1967–68 crop year are established as follows:

The salable and reserve percentages for the 1967–68 crop year shall be 100 percent and 0 percent, respectively.

It is hereby further found that it is impracticable, unnecessary, and contrary to the public interest to give preliminary notice and engage in public rulemaking procedure, and that good cause exists for making the provisions hereof effective upon publication in the FEDERAL REGISTER and not postponing the effective time until 30 days after publication (5 U.S.C. 553) in that: (1) The percentages will apply to all dried prunes received by handlers from producers and dehydrators during the 1967–68 crop year beginning August 1, 1967; and (2) this action places no restrictions on handlers.

Dated August 1, 1967, to become effective upon publication in the FEDERAL REGISTER.

PAUL A. NICHOLSON,
Deputy Director,
Fruit and Vegetable Division.

Title 14—AERONAUTICS AND SPACE

Chapter I—Federal Aviation Administration, Department of Transportation

SUBCHAPTER C—AIRCRAFT

[Docket No. 8308; Amdt. 39-461]

PART 39—AIRWORTHINESS DIRECTIVES

British Aircraft Corporation Model BAC 1–11, 200- and 400-Series Airplanes

A failure of a reverse thrust plunger unit, P/N AC 39 A 111, has occurred on a British Aircraft Corp. Model BAC 1–11 200-Series airplane. An examination of the plunger unit revealed that plunger rod P/N AC 39–117 was broken at the threaded portion, the plain portion of the rod was bent where it joined the fork, and the spring was distorted. It was also determined that under these conditions locking plate P/N AB 39–577 could fall into the locking slot in the gap plate, thus preventing the engine throttle handle from being moved out of flight idle position and creating a dangerous situation if additional power was needed. Since this condition is likely to exist or develop in other airplanes of the same type design, an airworthiness directive is being issued to require the inspection, within the next 155 hours' time in service, of plunger rods P/N AC 39–117 in accordance with British Aircraft Corp. Alert Service Bulletin No. 76–A–PM 2837 and the replacement of defective plunger rods before further flight. The AD also requires the reinspection of the plunger rods at an interval not to exceed 600 hours after the initial inspection, and the replacement of plunger units P/N AC 39 A 111 with plunger units P/N AB 39 A 3477 within the next 1,000 hours' time in service.

Since a situation exists that requires immediate adoption of this regulation, it is found that notice and public procedure hereon are impracticable and good cause exists for making this amendment effective in less than 30 days.

In consideration of the foregoing, and pursuant to the authority delegated to me by the Administrator (14 CFR 11.89), § 39.13 of Part 39 of the Federal Aviation Regulations is amended by adding the following new airworthiness directive:

BRITISH AIRCRAFT. Applies to Model BAC 1–11 200- and 400-Series airplanes.

Compliance required as indicated.

To prevent failure of the reverse-thrust plunger unit rods P/N AC 39–117, accomplish the following:

(a) Within the next 155 hours' time in service after the effective date of this AD and thereafter at an interval not to exceed 600 hours' time in service from the initial inspection, remove and dismantle reverse-thrust plunger units P/N AC 39 A 111 and visually inspect plunger rods P/N AC 39–117 for cracks, distortion, or other defects in accordance with British Aircraft Corp. Alert Service Bulletin No. 76–A–PM 2837 or later ARB-approved issue, or FAA-approved equivalent.

(b) Replace cracked, distorted, or defective plunger rods, P/N AC 39–117, with serviceable plunger rods of the same part number before further flight.

(c) Within the next 1,000 hours' time in service after the effective date of this AD, replace reverse-thrust plunger units P/N AB 39 A 111 with plunger units P/N AB 39 A 3477 in accordance with British Aircraft Corp. Service Bulletin No. 76–PM 2837 or later ARB-approved issue, or FAA-approved equivalent.

(d) The inspections required by paragraph (a) may be discontinued after reverse thrust plunger units P/N AB 39 A 111 have been replaced with plunger units P/N AB 39 A 3477 in accordance with paragraph (c).

This amendment becomes effective August 4, 1967.

(Secs. 313(a), 601, 603, Federal Aviation Act of 1958; 49 U.S.C. 1354(a), 1421, 1423)

Issued in Washington, D.C., on July 27, 1967.

R. S. SLIFF,
Acting Director,
Flight Standards Service.

SUBCHAPTER E—AIRSPACE

[Airspace Docket No. 67-WE-46]

PART 71—DESIGNATION OF FEDERAL AIRWAYS, CONTROLLED AIRSPACE, AND REPORTING POINTS

Alteration of Control Zone

The purpose of this amendment to Part 71 of the Federal Aviation Regulations is to alter the description of the LaVerne, Calif., control zone.

A recent review of the approach procedures and associated airspace requirements for Brackett Field, LaVerne, Calif., and Cable Airport, Upland, Calif., has resulted in raising the crossing altitude at the Pomona, Calif., VOR from 2,000 feet to 3,000 feet for the AL–5203–VOR–1 approach procedure to Cable Airport. This adjustment will provide a greater degree of safety between aircraft executing the approach procedure to Cable Airport and aircraft in the traffic pattern at Brackett Field. Raising the crossing altitude at the Pomona VOR to 3,000 feet also eliminates the requirement for the control zone extension west of Pomona VOR.

The review further revealed that a 1-mile control zone extension will be required 2 miles each side of the Pomona VOR 179° T (164° M) radial. This extension will provide protection for aircraft executing the prescribed instrument approach procedure for Brackett Field while operating below 1,000 feet above the surface.

Since these changes are minor in nature, notice and public procedure hereon are unnecessary.

In consideration of the foregoing, Part 71 of the Federal Aviation Regulations is amended effective 0001 e.s.t., October 12, 1967, as hereinafter set forth:

In § 71.171 (32 F.R. 2109) the LaVerne, Calif., control zone is amended to read as follows:

LAVERNE, CALIF.

Within a 3-mile radius of Brackett Field (latitude 34°05'30" N., longitude 117°47'00" W.), within 2 miles each side of the Pomona VOR 179° radial, extending from the 3-mile radius zone to 3 miles S. of the VOR.

Issued in Los Angeles, Calif., on July 28, 1967.

LEE E. WARREN,
Acting Director,
Western Region.

SUBCHAPTER F—AIR TRAFFIC AND GENERAL OPERATING RULES

[Reg. Docket No. 8294; Amdt. 547]

PART 97—STANDARD INSTRUMENT APPROACH PROCEDURES

Miscellaneous Amendments

The amendments to the standard instrument approach procedures contained herein are adopted to become effective when indicated in order to promote safety. The amended procedures supersede the existing procedures of the same classification now in effect for the airports specified therein. For the convenience of the users, the complete procedure is republished in this amendment indicating the changes to the existing procedures.

As a situation exists which demands immediate action in the interests of safety in air commerce, I find that compliance with the notice and procedure provisions of the Administrative Procedure Act is impracticable and that good cause exists for making this amendment effective within less than 30 days from publication.

In view of the foregoing and pursuant to the authority delegated to me by the Administrator (24 F.R. 5662), Part 97 (14 CFR Part 97) is amended as follows:

1. By amending the following automatic direction finding procedures prescribed in § 97.11(b) to read:

ADF STANDARD INSTRUMENT APPROACH PROCEDURE

Bearings, headings, courses and radials are magnetic. Elevations and altitudes are in feet MSL. Ceilings are in feet above airport elevation. Distances are in nautical miles unless otherwise indicated, except visibilities which are in statute miles.

If an instrument approach procedure of the above type is conducted at the below named airport, it shall be in accordance with the following instrument approach procedure, unless an approach is conducted in accordance with a different procedure for such airport authorized by the Administrator of the Federal Aviation Agency. Initial approaches shall be made over specified routes. Minimum altitudes shall correspond with those established for en route operation in the particular area or as set forth below.

RADAR STANDARD INSTRUMENT APPROACH PROCEDURE

Bearings, headings, courses and radials are magnetic. Elevations and altitudes are in feet, MSL. Ceilings are in feet above airport elevation. Distances are in nautical miles unless otherwise indicated, except visibilities which are in statute miles.
If a radar instrument approach is conducted at the below named airport, it shall be in accordance with the following instrument procedure, unless an approach is conducted in accordance with a different procedure for such airport authorized by the Administrator of the Federal Aviation Agency. Initial approaches shall be made over specified routes. Minimum altitude(s) shall correspond with those established for en route operation in the particular area or as set forth below. Positive identification must be established with the radar controller. From initial contact with radar to final authorized landing minimums, the instructions of the radar controller are mandatory except when (A) visual contact is established on final approach at or before descent to the authorized landing minimums, or (B) at pilot's discretion if it appears desirable to discontinue the approach, except when the radar controller may direct otherwise prior to final approach, a missed approach shall be executed as provided below when (A) communication on final approach is lost for more than 5 seconds during a precision approach, or for more than 30 seconds during a surveillance approach; (B) directed by radar controller; (C) visual contact is not established upon descent to authorized landing minimums; or (D) if landing is not accomplished.

Title 21—FOOD AND DRUGS

Chapter I—Food and Drug Administration, Department of Health, Education, and Welfare

SUBCHAPTER B—FOOD AND FOOD PRODUCTS

PART 120—TOLERANCES AND EXEMPTIONS FROM TOLERANCES FOR PESTICIDE CHEMICALS IN OR ON RAW AGRICULTURAL COMMODITIES

Isopropyl 4,4′-Dichlorobenzilate

A petition (PP 7F0543) was filed with the Food and Drug Administration by Geigy Chemical Corp., Ardsley, N.Y. 10702, proposing the establishment of a tolerance for residues of the insecticide isopropyl 4,4′-dichlorobenzilate in or on apples and pears at 5 parts per million.

The Secretary of Agriculture has certified that this insecticide is useful for the purposes for which the tolerance is being established.

Based on consideration given the data submitted in the petition, and other relevant material, the Commissioner of Food and Drugs concludes that the tolerance established by this order will protect the public health. Therefore, by virtue of the authority vested in the Secretary of Health, Education, and Welfare by the Federal Food, Drug, and Cosmetic Act (sec. 408(d)(2), 68 Stat. 512; 21 U.S.C. 346a(d)(2)) and delegated by him to the Commissioner (21 CFR 2.120), Part 120 is amended as follows:

1. Section 120.3(e)(4) is amended by alphabetically inserting in the list of pesticides a new item, as follows:

§ 120.3 Tolerances for related pesticide chemicals.

* * * * * *

(e) * * *

(4) * * *

Isopropyl 4,4′-dichlorobenzilate

* * * * * *

2. A new section is added to Subpart C as follows:

§ 120.218 Isopropyl 4,4′-dichlorobenzilate; tolerance for residues.

A tolerance of 5 parts per million is established for residues of the insecticide isopropyl 4,4′-dichlorobenzilate in or on apples and pears.

Any person who will be adversely affected by the foregoing order may at any time within 30 days from the date of its publication in the FEDERAL REGISTER file with the Hearing Clerk, Department of Health, Education, and Welfare, Room 5440, 330 Independence Avenue SW., Washington, D.C. 20201, written objections thereto, preferably in quintuplicate. Objections shall show wherein the person filing will be adversely affected by the order and specify with particularity the provisions of the order deemed objectionable and the grounds for the objections. If a hearing is requested, the objections must state the issues for the hearing. A hearing will be granted if the objections are supported by grounds legally sufficient to justify the relief sought. Objections may be accompanied by a memorandum or brief in support thereof.

Effective date. This order shall become effective on the date of its publication in the FEDERAL REGISTER.

SUBCHAPTER D—HAZARDOUS SUBSTANCES

PART 191—HAZARDOUS SUBSTANCES: DEFINITIONS AND PROCEDURAL AND INTERPRETATIVE REGULATIONS

Child Protection Act of 1966

In the FEDERAL REGISTER of April 5, 1967 (32 F.R. 5561), the Commissioner of Food and Drugs proposed amendments to the hazardous substances regulations, Part 191, to prescribe requirements, exemptions, and procedures reflecting the "banned hazardous substance" and other provisions of the Federal Hazardous Substances Act as amended by the Child Protection Act of 1966. The Commissioner has considered the comments received in response to the proposal, and other relevant information, and concludes that the amendments, including certain additional editorial changes, should be issued as set forth below.

Therefore, pursuant to the provisions of the Federal Hazardous Substances Act (secs. 2 (n), (q), 10(a), 74 Stat. 372, 373, 378, 80 Stat. 1303–05; 15 U.S.C. 1261, 1269) and under the authority delegated to the Commissioner by the Secretary of Health, Education, and Welfare (21 CFR 2.120), Part 191 is amended:

1. By revising § 191.1(c) and (o) and by adding a new paragraph (s) to that section, as follows:

* * * * *

(c) Hazardous substances intended or packaged in a form suitable for use in the household. "Hazardous substances intended or packaged in a form suitable for use in the household" means any hazardous substance, whether or not packaged, that under any customary or reasonably foreseeable condition of purchase, storage, or use may be brought into or around a house, apartment, or other place where people dwell, or in or around any related building or shed, including but not limited to a garage, carport, barn, or storage shed. The term includes such articles as polishes or cleaners designed primarily for professional use but that are available in retail stores such as hobby shops for nonprofessional use. Also included are such items as anti-freeze and radiator cleaners that although principally for car use may be stored in or around dwelling places. The term does not include industrial supplies that might be taken into a home by a serviceman. An article labeled as and marketed solely for industrial use does not become subject to this act because of the possibility that an industrial worker may misappropriate a supply for his own use. Size of unit or container is not the only index of whether the article is suitable for use in or around the household. The test shall be whether under any reasonably foreseeable condition of purchase, storage, or use the article may be found in or around a dwelling.

* * * * *

(o) Accompanying literature. As used in section 2(n) of the act, "accompanying literature" means any placard, pamphlet, booklet, book, sign, or other written, printed, or graphic matter or visual device that provides directions for use, written or otherwise, and is used in connection with the display, sale, demonstration, or merchandising of a hazardous substance intended for or packaged in a form suitable for use in the household or by children.

* * * * *

(s) Banned hazardous substance. The term "banned hazardous substance" means:

(1) Any toy or other article intended for use by children that is a hazardous substance within the meaning of section 2(f)(1) of the act or any regulation in this part, or bears or contains such a hazardous substance in such manner as to be susceptible of access by a child to whom such toy or other article is entrusted; or

(2) Substances other than those defined in subparagraph (1) of this paragraph that are intended or packaged in a form suitable for use in the household and that the Commissioner finds and classifies by regulation as being so hazardous in nature that the objective of protecting the public health and safety can be adequately served only by keeping such substance when so intended or packaged out of the channels of interstate commerce.

2. By revising the introduction, paragraph (c), and the closing text of § 191.8 to read as follows:

§ 191.8 Labeling of fire extinguishers.

When a substance or mixture of substances labeled for use in or as a fire extinguisher produces substances that are toxic within the meaning of § 191.1 (e) and (f) when used according to label directions to extinguish a fire, the containers for such substances shall bear the following labeling:

* * * * *

(c) Regardless of whether paragraph (a) or (b) of this section applies, any substance or mixture of substances labeled for use as a fire extinguisher that if applied to an electrical fire would subject the user to the likelihood of electrical shock shall be conspicuously labeled "Caution: Do not use on electrical fires."

These statements shall be in addition to any other that may be required under the act or this section. All such substances or mixtures of substances shall also bear the additional statements: "Use in an enclosed place may be fatal" and "Do not enter area until well ventilated and all odor of chemical has disappeared."

3. By revising § 191.62 to read as follows:

§ 191.62 Exemption from full labeling and other requirements.

(a) Any person who believes a particular hazardous substance intended or packaged in a form suitable for use in the household or by children should be exempted from full label compliance otherwise applicable under the act, because of the size of the package or because of the minor hazard presented by the substance, or for other good and sufficient reason, may submit to the Commissioner a request for exemption under section 3(c) of the act, presenting facts in support of the view that full compliance is impracticable or is not necessary for the protection of the public health. The Commissioner shall determine on the basis of the facts submitted and all other available information whether the requested exemption is consistent with adequate protection of the public health and safety. If he so finds, he shall detail the exemption granted and the reasons therefor by an appropriate order published in the FEDERAL REGISTER.

(b) The Commissioner may on his own initiative determine on the basis of facts available to him that a particular hazardous substance intended or packaged in a form suitable for use in the household or by children should be exempted from full labeling compliance otherwise applicable under the act because of the size of the package or because of the minor hazard presented by the substance or for other good and sufficient reason. If he so finds, he shall detail the exemption granted and the reasons therefor by an appropriate order in the FEDERAL REGISTER.

(c) Any person who believes a particular article should be exempted from being classified as a "banned hazardous substance" as defined by section 2(q)(1)(A) of the act, because its functional purpose requires inclusion of a hazardous substance, it bears labeling giving adequate directions and warnings for safe use, and it is intended for use by children who have attained sufficient maturity, and may reasonably be expected, to read and heed such directions and warnings, may submit to the Commissioner a request for exemption under section 2(q)(1)(B)(i) of the act, presenting facts in support of his contention. The Commissioner shall determine on the basis of the facts submitted, and all other available information, whether the requested exemption is consistent with the purposes of the act. If he so finds, he shall detail the exemption granted and the reasons therefor by an appropriate order published in the FEDERAL REGISTER.

(d) On his own initiative the Commissioner may determine on the basis of available facts that a particular banned hazardous substance should be exempted from section 2(q)(1)(A) of the act, because its functional purpose requires inclusion of a hazardous substance, it bears labeling giving adequate directions and warnings for safe use, and it is intended for use by children who have obtained sufficient maturity, and may reasonably be expected, to read and heed such directions and warnings. If he so finds, he shall detail the exemption granted and the reasons therefor by an appropriate order in the FEDERAL REGISTER.

4. By revising the introduction to § 191.63(a) to read as follows:

§ 191.63 Exemptions for small packages, minor hazards, and special circumstances.

(a) The following exemptions are granted for the labeling of hazardous substances under the provisions of § 191.62:

* * * * *

5. By adding the following new section:

§ 191.65 Exemptions from classification as banned hazardous substances.

(a) The term "banned hazardous substances" as used in section 2(q)(1)(A) of the act and § 191.1(s) shall not apply to the following articles provided that these articles bear labeling giving adequate directions and warnings for safe use:

(1) Chemistry sets and other science education sets intended primarily for juveniles, and replacement components for such sets, when labeled in accordance with § 191.63(a)(23).

(2) Common fireworks devices suitable for use by the public (such as toy paper caps, cone fountains, cylinder fountains, whistles without report, and sparklers, but not including fireworks devices that may be confused with candy or other food, such as "dragon eggs" and "crackerballs," also known as "ball-type caps"), if such devices are:

(i) Designed to produce only visible effects by combustion; or are

(ii) Designed to produce audible effects, if the audible effect is produced by a charge of not more than 2 grains of pyrotechnic composition.

(3) Fireworks that are classified as devices within the meaning of the Federal Insecticide, Fungicide, and Rodenticide Act and that are intended and used for bona fide agricultural purposes, such as protection of crops from depredation by birds and animals. An exemption under this section does not apply if the fireworks involved are diverted or distributed for any other use in or about a household.

(4) Educational materials such as art materials, preserved biological specimens, laboratory chemicals, and other articles intended and used for educational purposes.

6. By adding to § 191.101 the following new paragraph:

§ 191.101 Placement, conspicuousness, contrast.

* * * * *

(f) Unpackaged hazardous substances intended or in a form suitable for use in or around a household or by children shall be labeled so that all items of information required by the act or by regulations in this part shall appear upon the article itself. In instances where such labeling is impracticable because of the size or nature of the article, the required cautionary labeling must be displayed by means of a tag or other suitable material that is securely affixed to the article so that the labeling will remain attached throughout conditions of merchandising and distribution to the ultimate consumer. The size, placement, and conspicuousness of these statements shall conform with paragraphs (a), (c), and (d) of this section.

7. By revising § 191.106 to read as follows:

§ 191.106 Substances determined to be "special hazards."

Whenever the Commissioner determines that for a particular hazardous substance intended or packaged in a form suitable for use in the household or by children, the requirements of section 2(p) of the act are not adequate for the protection of the public health and safety because of some special hazard, he shall by an appropriate order in the FEDERAL REGISTER specify such reasonable variations or additional label requirements that he finds are necessary for the protection of the public health and safety. Such order shall specify a date that is not less than 90 days after the order is published (unless emergency conditions stated in the order specify an earlier date) after which any such hazardous substance intended, or packaged in a form suitable, for use in the household or by children that fails to bear a label in accordance with such order shall be deemed to be a misbranded hazardous substance.

8. By changing in § 191.107 Substances with multiple hazards the word "packages" to read "articles" in paragraph (a).

9. In § 191.201 by revising the section heading and paragraph (a), by redesignating paragraph (e) as (f), and by adding a new paragraph (e). The affected portions read as follows:

§ 191.201 Procedure for the issuance, amendment, or repeal of regulations declaring particular substances to be hazardous substances or banned hazardous substances.

(a) The Commissioner may, upon his own initiative or upon the petition of any interested person, showing reasonable grounds therefor, propose the issuance, amendment, or repeal of any regulation provided for in section 3(a) or 2(q) of the act, declaring particular substances to be hazardous substances or banned hazardous substances. The proposal shall be published in the FEDERAL REGISTER, with an invitation for written comments. As soon as practicable after the comments have been received, the Commissioner shall by order act upon such proposals to declare the substance to be a hazardous substance or banned hazardous substance for purposes of the act, or to amend or repeal any regulation previously issued.

* * * * *

(e) If the Commissioner finds that the distribution of a hazardous substance presents an imminent hazard to the public health, he may by order in the FEDERAL REGISTER give notice of such finding and pursuant to section 2(q)(2) of the act declare such substance, when intended or offered for household use or when so packaged as to be suitable for such use, to be a "banned hazardous substance" pending completion of statutory proceedings relating to the issuance of such regulations.

(f) The Assistant General Counsel for Food and Drugs of the Department of Health, Education, and Welfare is the designated officer upon whom a copy of any petition for judicial review shall be served. Said officer is responsible for filing in court the record on which the order of the Commissioner is based in accordance with 28 U.S.C. 2112.

10. By amending § 191.212 Definition of guaranty; suggested forms in the following respects:

a. In paragraph (b)(1), the portion that reads "is in a misbranded package within" is changed to read "is misbranded within".

b. In paragraph (b)(2), the portion that reads "not in a misbranded package within" is changed to read "not misbranded within".

Effective date. This order shall become effective 30 days from its date of publication in the FEDERAL REGISTER.

(Secs. 2(n), (q), 10(a), 74 Stat. 372, 373, 378, 80 Stat. 1303–05; 15 U.S.C. 1261, 1269)

Dated: July 26, 1967.

PART 191—HAZARDOUS SUBSTANCES: DEFINITIONS AND PROCEDURAL AND INTERPRETATIVE REGULATIONS

Banned Hazardous Substances

In the matter of the Commissioner of Food and Drugs classifying certain water repellent mixtures for interior masonry surfaces as banned hazardous substances:

The comments received in response to the notice of proposed rulemaking in the above-identified matter published in the FEDERAL REGISTER of April 5, 1967 (32 F.R. 5663), and information gathered from investigations and other sources have been considered, and it is concluded that an order should be issued in this matter as set forth below. Therefore, pursuant to the provisions of the Federal Hazardous Substances Act (sec. 2 (q)(1)(B), (2), 74 Stat. 372, 80 Stat. 1304; 15 U.S.C. 1261) and of the Federal Food, Drug, and Cosmetic Act (sec. 701 (e), 52 Stat. 1055, as amended; 21 U.S.C. 371(e)), and under the authority delegated to the Commissioner by the Secretary of Health, Education, and Welfare (21 CFR 2.120): It is ordered, That Part 191 be amended by adding thereto the following new section.

§ 191.9 Banned hazardous substances.

(a) Under the authority of section 2 (q)(1)(B) of the the act, the Commissioner declares as banned hazardous substances the following articles because they possess such a degree of hazard that adequate cautionary labeling cannot be written and the public health and safety can be served only by keeping such articles out of interstate commerce:

(1) Mixtures that are intended primarily for application to interior masonry walls, floors, etc., as a water repellant treatment and that are "extremely flammable" within the meaning of section 2(l) of the act.

Any person who will be adversely affected by the foregoing order may at any time within 30 days from the date of its publication in the FEDERAL REGISTER file with the Hearing Clerk, Department of Health, Education, and Welfare, Room 5440, 330 Independence Avenue SW., Washington, D.C. 20201, written objections thereto. Objections shall show wherein the person filing will be adversely affected by the order and specify with particularity the provisions of the order deemed objectionable and the grounds for the objections. If a hearing is requested, the objections must state the issues for the hearing, and such objections must be supported by grounds legally sufficient to justify the relief sought. Objections may be accompanied by a memorandum or brief in support thereof. All documents shall be filed in six copies.

Effective date. This order shall become effective 60 days from the date of its publication in the FEDERAL REGISTER, except as to any provisions that may be stayed by the filing of proper objections. Notice of the filing of objections or lack thereof will be announced by publication in the FEDERAL REGISTER.

Dated: July 26, 1967.

JAMES L. GODDARD,
Commissioner of Food and Drugs.

(a) Background. Section 1260.1(a) describes the kinds of official records and information that must be made available to the public, describes the kinds of information that need not be made available to the public, requires facilities be made available to the public for the examination and copying of records, and provides procedures for the review of refusals to release records and information to the public. Requests from Members of Congress are governed by § 1260.1 (b). Additional guidance with respect to release of procurement information is contained in § 1260.1(j).

(b) Definition of "records." (1) In determining whether documentary material qualifies as a "record", consideration should be given to the Act of July 7, 1943, ch. 192, sec. 1 (44 U.S.C. 366) which defines the word "record" for records disposal purposes as follows:

[It] includes all books, papers, maps, photographs, or other documentary materials, regardless of physical form or characteristics, made or received by any agency of the U.S. Government in pursuance of Federal law or in connection with the transaction of public business and preserved or appropriate for preservation by that agency or its legitimate successor as evidence of the organization, functions, policies, decisions, procedures, operations, or other activities of the Government, or because of the informational value of data contained therein.

(2) The term "records" does not include objects or articles such as structures, furniture, paintings, sculpture, three-dimensional models, vehicles, equipment, etc., whatever their historical value or value as "evidence."

(3) Records are not limited to permanent or historical documents but include contemporaneous documents as well.

(c) Policy—(1) General. (i) It is the policy of DSA to make available to the public the maximum amount of information concerning its operations and activities. Exceptions to the requirements for disclosure will be made in accordance with the provisions of subparagraph (4) of this paragraph and the release procedures in § 1260.6.

(ii) Information exempt from public disclosure under provisions of subparagraph (4) of this paragraph should be made available to the public when its disclosure is not inconsistent with statutory requirements or with § 1260.1(f) and when officials determine that no significant purpose would be served by withholding the information. The determination of whether a significant purpose is served by withholding information under provisions of subparagraph (4) of this paragraph is within the sole discretion of the DSA official authorized by this Part 1260 to deny release.

(iii) Records and other documents or related material may be withheld from the public only as authorized by this Part 1260. In no event shall the determination that requested information comes within any of the specific exemptions in subparagraph (4) of this paragraph, or that information has not been properly requested be influenced by the possibility that its release might suggest administrative error or inefficiency or might embarrass DSA or an official of DSA.

(2) Availability of records. (i) Subject to the exemptions in subparagraph (4) of this paragraph and the procedural requirements of § 1260.6, any record in the possession of DSA will be made available upon the request of any person. Copies of records which have been published in the FEDERAL REGISTER or made available for inspection and copying under provisions of subparagraph (2) of this paragraph, should also be furnished, when practicable, upon request by any person.

(ii) In determining whether documentary material qualifies as a "record", consideration will be given to the definition of a "record" in paragraph (b) of this section.

(iii) A request for a record will be honored if:

(a) The requestor describes the record sought with sufficient particularity to enable DSA to locate the record with a reasonable amount of effort.

(b) The requestor is willing and able to pay the cost associated with locating and providing a copy of the record sought, as determined by § 1260.1(c).

(c) The requestor complies with the requirements of this Part 1260 regarding the time, place, and procedure for obtaining a copy of the record.

(iv) In order for a record to be considered "identifiable," it must exist at the time of the request. There is no obligation to "create" a record for the purpose of satisfying a request for information. When the information requested exists in the form of several records at several locations, the applicant should be referred to those sources if gathering the information would be burdensome.

(v) When the record requested was originated by another agency, the request will be referred promptly and directly to that agency for disposition. The originating agency of a record should consult with other agencies having a significant interest in the content of a requested document before determining whether to make it available. A member of the public requesting material primarily concerning a Member of Congress or Congressional Committee, or a transcript of testimony given before a Congressional Committee will be advised to direct his request to the Member or Committee concerned.

(vi) Elements of DSA will avoid creating procedural obstacles when internal DSA or Department of Defense organizational questions arise, particularly where reorganization or transfer of functions contributes to an improperly directed request. DSA personnel will make all reasonable efforts to assist private persons in directing requests for information to the appropriate authorities.

(3) Inspection and copying of opinions, orders, and manuals. (i) Subject to the exemptions set forth in subparagraph (4) of this paragraph, DSA will make available for public inspection and copying in an appropriate facility or facilities in accordance with the procedures in § 1260.6 the following materials, unless such materials are published and copies offered for sale:

(a) All final opinions (including concurring and dissenting opinions) and orders in adjudication, as defined in § 1260.1(e) that may be cited, used, or relied upon as precedents in future adjudication.

(b) Statements of policy and interpretations of less than general applicability affecting the public but not published in the FEDERAL REGISTER.

(c) Administrative staff manuals and instructions, or portions of such, which establish DSA policy or interpretation of policy that is determinative of the rights of members of the public. This provision does not apply to instructions for employees on the tactics and techniques to be used in performing their duties, or to instructions relating only to the internal management of the Agency. Examples of manuals and instructions not normally made available are:

(1) Those issued for audit and inspection purposes.

(2) Those which prescribe operational tactics, standards of performance, or criteria for defense, prosecution, or settlement of cases.

(3) Operations and maintenance manuals and technical information concerning munitions, equipment, and systems.

(ii) When feasible, all material published in the FEDERAL REGISTER will be made available for inspection and copying, along with any available index of that published material, in the same facility or facilities provided for inspection and copying of opinions, orders, and manuals.

(iii) Identifying details which if revealed would create a clearly unwarranted invasion of personal privacy may be deleted from any final opinion, order, statement of policy, interpretation, staff manual, or instruction made available for inspection and copying. In every such case, the justification for the deletion must be fully explained in writing.

(iv) No order, opinion, statement of policy, interpretation, staff manual, or instruction which is issued, promulgated, or adopted after July 4, 1967, which is not indexed and either made available or published, may be relied upon, used, or cited as a precedent against any member of the public unless he has actual and timely notice of its terms. If the order, opinion, statement of policy, interpretation, staff manual, or instruction was issued, promulgated, or adopted before July 4, 1967, it need not be indexed but must be made available in accordance with subdivision (i) of this subparagraph.

(a) In determining whether an order, opinion, statement of policy, interpretation, staff manual, or instruction is likely to be used or relied upon as precedent, the primary test will be whether it is intended to provide binding guidance for decisions or evaluations by subordinates or for future decisions by the same authority in adjudications of cases affecting the public, where similar facts or issues are presented.

(b) With regard to the precedential effect of an adjudication, opinions, and orders of the Boards of Review exemplify the type that shall be made available for inspection and copying since they may be relied upon, used or cited in future adjudications. By contrast, orders and opinions resulting from adjudications such as those involving internal personnel (including military personnel) proceedings and security proceedings are not required to be made available to the general public for inspection and copying since they are not relied upon, used, or cited in future adjudications.

(v) The cost to DSA of copying any such opinion, order, or statement of policy or interpretation will be imposed on the person requesting the document, under provisions of § 1260.1(c).

(4) Exemptions. (i) Documentary material which would otherwise have to be made available under subparagraphs (2) and (3) of this paragraph, may be withheld from public disclosure if it comes within a specific exemption. However, even exempted material should be made available if, in the judgment of the releasing authority, no significant purpose would be served by withholding it from the requestor under an applicable exemption and its release is not inconsistent with statutory requirements or § 1260.1(f).

(ii) The following types of records may be withheld from public disclosure:

(a) Those requiring protection in the interest of national defense or foreign policy according to the criteria established by § 1260.1(f) or by Executive order.

(b) Those containing rules, regulations, orders, manuals, directives, and instructions relating to the internal personnel rules or to the internal practices of the Department of Defense. Examples include:

(1) Operating rules, guidelines, and manuals for Department of Defense investigators, inspectors, auditors, or examiners, and schedules or methods which cannot be disclosed to the public without substantial prejudice to the effective performance of a significant function of the Department of Defense. Some of those materials would reveal:

(i) Negotiating and bargaining techniques.

(ii) Bargaining limitations and positions.

(iii) Inspection schedules and methods.

(iv) Audit schedules and methods.

(2) Personnel and other administrative matters such as examination questions and answers used in training courses or in the determination of the qualifications of candidates for employment, entrance to duty, advancement or promotion.

(c) Those containing information which statutes authorize or require be withheld from the public. The authorization or requirement may be found in the terms of the statute itself or in Executive orders or in regulations authorized by, or in implementation of the statute. Examples include:

(1) Trade technical and financial information provided in confidence by businesses, governed by § 1260.1(g).

(2) National Security Agency information, governed by § 1260.1(h).

(3) Any records containing information relating to inventions which are the subject of patent applications on which Patent Secrecy Orders have been issued, governed by § 1260.1(i).

(d) Those containing information which DSA receives from anyone including an individual, a foreign nation, an international organization, a State or local government, a corporation, or any other organization with the understanding that it will be retained on a privileged or confidential basis, or similar commercial or financial records which DSA develops internally, if they are in fact the kinds of records which are normally considered privileged or confidential. Such records include documents containing:

[1] Reference material may be obtained from Department of Defense, Defense Supply Agency, and Superintendent of Documents.

(i) Information customarily considered privileged or confidential under the rules of evidence in the Federal courts, such as information coming within the doctor-patient, lawyer-client, or priest-penitent privileges.

(ii) Commercial or financial information received in confidence in connection with loans, bids or proposals, as well as other information received in confidence or privileged, such as trade secrets, inventions and discoveries, or other proprietary data.

(iii) Statistical data and commercial or financial information concerning contract performance, income, profits, losses, and expenditures, if received in confidence from a contractor or potential contractor.

(iv) Information such as research data, formulae, designs, drawings, and other technical data and reports which:

(a) Are significant as items of valuable property acquired in connection with research, grants, or contracts.

(b) Would likely be held in confidence if owned by private parties.

(v) Personal statements given in the course of inspections or investigations, where such statements are received in confidence from the individual and retained in confidence.

(e) Except as provided in (i) of this subdivision, internal communications within and among elements of Federal agencies and of the Department of Defense.

(i) Examples include: (i) Staff papers containing staff advice, opinions, or suggestions.

(ii) Information received or generated by DSA preliminary to a decision or action, including draft versions of documents, where premature disclosure would harm the authorized appropriate purpose for which the records are being used.

(iii) Advice, suggestions, or reports prepared on behalf of the Department of Defense by boards, committees, councils, groups, panels, conferences, commissions, task forces, or other similar groups that are formed by a component to obtain advice and recommendations.

(iv) Records of Department of Defense evaluations of contractors and their products which in effect constitute recommendations or advice and could be used improperly to the advantage or to the detriment of private interests.

(v) Advance information on such matters as proposed plans to procure, lease or otherwise acquire and dispose of materials, real estate, facilities, or functions, when such information would provide undue or unfair competitive advantage to private personal interests.

(vi) Records which are exchanged among agency personnel or within and among elements of Federal agencies and the Department of Defense preparing for anticipated legal proceedings before any Federal, state, or military court or before any regulatory body.

(vii) Reports of inspections, audits, investigations, or surveys which pertain to safety, security or the internal management, administration, or operation of the Department of Defense.

(2) If any such intra-agency or inter-agency information requested would routinely be made available through the discovery process in the course of litigation with DSA, then it should not be withheld from the general public. If, however, the information would only be made available through the discovery process by special order of the court based on the particular needs of a litigant balanced against the interests of DSA in maintaining its confidentiality, then the record or document should not be made available to a member of the general public.

(f) Information in personnel and medical files, as well as information in similar files that, if disclosed to a member of the public, would result in a clearly unwarranted invasion of personal privacy.

(i) Examples of files similar to personnel and medical files include:

(i) Those compiled to evaluate or adjudicate the suitability of candidates for civilian employment and the eligibility of individuals, civilian, military, or industrial for security clearances.

(ii) Files containing reports, records, and other material pertaining to personnel matters in which administrative action, including disciplinary action, may be taken.

(2) In determining whether the release of information would result in a clearly unwarranted invasion of privacy, consideration should be given in cases such as those involving alleged misconduct, to the relationship of the alleged misconduct to an individual's official duties, the amount of time which has passed since the alleged misconduct, and the degree to which the individual's privacy has already been invaded. Thus, the release of information concerning alleged misconduct which is closely related to official duties, which has occurred recently, and which has already been exposed to the public is less likely to constitute a clearly unwarranted invasion of personal privacy.

(3) When the sole and exclusive basis for withholding information is protection of the personal privacy of an individual, the information should not be withheld from him or from his designated legal representative. An individual's personnel, medical, or similar files may be withheld from him or from his designated legal representative for reasons other than the protection of his personal privacy when valid Civil Service Commission regulations or other valid regulations so authorize.

(g) Investigatory files compiled for the purpose of enforcing civil, criminal, or military law, including Executive orders, or regulations validly adopted pursuant to law.

(i) Examples include:

(i) Statements of witnesses and other material based on the information developed during the course of the investigation and all materials prepared in connection with related Government litigation or adjudicative proceedings.

(ii) Lists of firms or individuals suspended under procurement regulations when the lists are compiled in connection with investigations of irregularities.

(2) The right of individual litigants to investigatory files currently available by law is not diminished.

(h) Those contained in or related to examination, operating, or condition reports prepared by, on behalf of, or for the use of any agency responsible for the regulation or supervision of financial institutions.

(i) Those containing geological and geophysical information and data, including maps, concerning wells.

(3) Identification and Marking "FOR OFFICIAL USE ONLY". (i) Records which are not classified under § 1260.1(f) but which are authorized by § 1260.1(a) to be withheld from general public disclosure under subparagraph (4) of this paragraph and which for a significant reason should not be given general circulation shall be considered as being "FOR OFFICIAL USE ONLY" (FOUO).

(ii) A record that is considered "FOR OFFICIAL USE ONLY" may be marked "FOR OFFICIAL USE ONLY" when such marking is deemed necessary to insure that all persons having access to the record are aware that it should not be publicly released and should not be handled indiscriminately. Individual folders, records, and files covering specific kinds of subject matter, normally falling within the exemptions of subparagraph (4) of this paragraph such as personnel and medical files, bids, proposals, and the like, which are covered by rules and regulations specifying what may be released publicly, do not require the "FOUO" marking unless handled under circumstances where marking is essential to insure protection of the information involved.

(a) The marking shall not be used on records which are classified under § 1260.1(f) but, if otherwise proper under this Part 1260, may be applied to information or material which has been declassified.

(b) Information contained in a technical document for which a determination has been made that a distribution statement under § 1260.1(d) is appropriate shall not be marked "FOUO."

(iii) Material which is considered "FOR OFFICIAL USE ONLY" must be safeguarded from general disclosure irrespective of whether the material is physically marked with the term "FOR OFFICIAL USE ONLY."

(iv) Whenever necessary to assure proper understanding, individual paragraphs which contain FOUO information shall be marked with symbol "FOUO." In classified documents, this marking should be applied only to paragraphs which contain FOUO information and do not contain classified information.

§ 1260.5 Responsibilities.

(a) The Chief, Publications Division, Office of Administration, HQ DSA, will review DSA publications to assure that those which meet the criteria for publication in the FEDERAL REGISTER are prepared in proper form and transmitted promptly for publication in the FEDERAL REGISTER, as required by DSAR 5025.19, Publications of Documents in the FEDERAL REGISTER.

(b) The Chief, Administrative Management Division, Office of Administration, HQ DSA, will:

(1) Serve as the point of contact for referring members of the public, except the news media, desiring to examine and copy records to the appropriate staff element within HQ DSA, or within the DSA Administrative Support Center having custody of the records.

(2) Maintain for examination and copying by the public a copy of the material and documents referred to in subparagraph (e) (3) of this section.

(3) Process requests for records received under provisions of § 1260.6(a) (1).

(4) Process to the Director/Deputy Director, DSA after coordination with the Counsel, HQ DSA, and other appropriate HQ DSA staff elements appeals from refusals to provide a record.

(c) The Special Assistant for Public Affairs, HQ DSA will serve as the central point of contact for the release of information to the news media.

(d) The Heads of HQ DSA Principal Staff Elements will:

(1) Review all instructions for which they are the proponent to insure that such instructions are not inconsistent with the provisions of this Part 1260.

(2) Recommend at the time instructions for which they are the proponent are prepared for publication whether the document should be published in the FEDERAL REGISTER, as required by DSAR 5025.19, Publication of Documents in the FEDERAL REGISTER.

(3) Insure that the provisions of this Part 1260 are followed in processing requests for records from members of the public.

(4) Coordinate with other HQ DSA staff elements to the extent considered necessary, requests from the public for information.

(e) The Heads of DSA Primary Level Field Activities will:

(1) Insure that the provisions of this Part 1260 are followed in processing requests for records from members of the public.

(2) Provide convenient facilities where members of the public may examine and copy documents to which they are entitled.

(3) Maintain for examination and copying by the public a copy of the following:

(i) All references listed in § 1260.1.

(ii) DSAH 5025.2, DSA Field Establishment Directory which reflects the mailing addresses of all activities of DSA.

(iii) DSAH 5025.1, Defense Supply Agency Index of Publications and Forms (DSIs, Handbooks, Manuals and Regulations) which contains, among other things, a topical index of the publications issued by HQ DSA.

(iv) DSAM 5015.1, Files Maintenance and Disposition which contains a functional description of all records and files generated by DSA. This Manual also contains a topical index.

(v) A copy of such local indexes of opinions, orders, statement of policy, and publications that may exist, or that may be prepared in the future.

(4) Arrange for the collection of fees prescribed in § 1260.1(c) associated with locating and providing copies of documentary material requested.

(5) Furnish the Director, DSA, Attention: DSAH–XA a copy of all refusals to provide a record made under provisions of § 1260.6. In the case of the Defense Contract Administration Services Regions, the copy will be forwarded through the Deputy Director for Contract Administration Services, DSA.

(6) Establish safeguards to insure that the official records of the activity are properly safeguarded during the time they are made available for examination by a member of the public.

(7) Insure that internal operating procedures provide for prompt response to all requests for records.

§ 1260.6 Procedures.

(a) Requests for records or for permission to examine records. (1) Members of the public may make requests for copies of records or for permission to examine or copy records directly to the Head of the DSA activity having custody of the records, if the whereabouts of the document is known. If the exact whereabouts is not known, and it is reasonably certain that the document is in the custody of DSA, the requestor should submit his request to the Director, Defense Supply Agency, Attention: DSAH–XA, Cameron Station, Alexandria, Va. 22314.

(2) Requests must identify each record with sufficient particularity to enable the custodian to locate the record with a reasonable amount of effort. Information as to where the record originated, its subject, date, number, or other identification that would enable the custodian to locate the document should be provided by the requestor when possible.

(3) Because certain information and documents are exempt from the imposition of fees under provisions of § 1260.1(c) the requestor need not submit payment for services with his initial written request. When it is anticipated that the cost of the record search and reproducton of the documents may exceed $10, the requestor will be so advised and requested to submit payment prior to furnishing the records. In other instances, the requestor will be advised at the time the record is found as to the charges involved.

(4) Refusal to make a record available may be made only by the Heads of DSA Primary Level Field Activities or the Heads of HQ DSA Principal Staff Elements. The refusal may be appealed to the Director/Deputy Director, DSA. The appeal should be filed with the official who refused release of the record in order that the appeal may be processed through command channels to the Director, DSA for a final decision.

(b) Processing requests for records or for permission to examine records. (1) Upon receipt of a request for records or for permission to examine records, the DSA activity having custody of the records will collect the documents, determine whether they are releasable under provisions of this Part 1260, determine the fees to be charged, and advise the requestor accordingly.

(2) If the request is for permission to examine releasable records, the requestor will be advised as to where and when during normal working hours he may appear for this purpose. Every reasonable effort will be made to accommodate individuals granted permission to examine records; however, overtime is not authorized for this purpose.

(3) If a final reply to a request cannot be made within 10 working days of receipt, the requestor will be given an interim reply and an estimated date on which he may receive a final reply.

(4) The DSA official having custody and control of any DSA record requested by a member of the public is authorized to make such record available unless the record falls within one of the exceptions listed in § 1260.4(c) (4). In such case the request will be referred promptly to the head of the primary level field activity or the head of a HQ DSA principal staff element, as appropriate. The fact that a record has been marked "FOR OFFICIAL USE ONLY" does not relieve the official who is authorized to release the record from the responsibility of reviewing the requested record for the purpose of determining whether an exemption under § 1260.4(c) (4) (i) is applicable.

(5) Requests for records will be denied only by the head of a DSA primary level field activity or the head of an HQ DSA principal staff element upon a determination that:

(i) The record is subject to one of the exemptions set forth in § 1260.4(3) (4), or

(ii) The record cannot be found because it has not been properly identified; or

(iii) The applicant has unreasonably failed to comply with the procedural requirement for obtaining the record set forth in paragraph (a) of this section.

(6) When a request for a record is refused, the official who made the determination will explain the basis for the denial and will advise the requestor that he may appeal the denial to the Director/Deputy Director, DSA. Any refusal will be in writing, and a copy of the refusal will be furnished the Director, DSA, Attention: DSAH–XA. In the case of the Defense Contract Administration Services Regions, the copy will be forwarded through the Deputy Director for Contract Administration Services, DSA.

Effective date: July 4, 1967.

By order of the Director, Defense Supply Agency.

[SEAL] WILLIAM PAULE,
Colonel, U.S. Air Force,
Staff Director, Administration.

Title 39—POSTAL SERVICE

Chapter I—Post Office Department

PART 142—PRECANCELED STAMPS

Sale and Use of Precanceled Stamps and Mailer's Precanceled Postmark

The regulations of the Post Office Department are amended as follows:

1. In § 142.2 Sale and use of precanceled stamps make the following changes:

A. Paragraph (c) is revised to prescribe that precanceled stamps will be sold only to precancel permitholders except as provided in paragraph (f) of this section.

(c) Sale limited. Precanceled stamps will be sold only to precancel permitholders except as provided in paragraph (f) of this section.

NOTE: The corresponding Postal Manual section is 142.23.

B. The number 8 in the first sentence of paragraph (e) is changed to 16 to show the increase in the amount of precanceled stamps affixed to a single piece without the need to overprint.

NOTE: The corresponding Postal Manual section is 142.25.

C. The present material under paragraph (f) is deleted and new material is inserted in lieu thereof to authorize limited sales of precanceled stamps for collection purposes.

(f) Philatelic sales.—(1) Nonpermit holders. Not more than 10 stamps of each of the precanceled denominations which are available at a post office may be purchased in person or by mail by nonpermit holders for collection purposes. Each mail order must be accompanied with a stamped, self-addressed envelope for use in returning the stamps to the purchaser. Precanceled stamps are available only at post offices which prepare or obtain them for sale to permit holders.

(2) Permit holders. Precancel permit holders may buy the quantity of precanceled stamps for philatelic purposes provided for by subparagraph (1) of this paragraph. Other precanceled stamps may be purchased only for the purpose of paying postage. Unused precanceled stamps may not be sold for philatelic purposes by permit holders.

NOTE: The corresponding Postal Manual section is 142.26.

II. In § 142.3 Mailer's precancel postmark, the words "or on postal cards" are deleted from the first sentence for clarification.

NOTE: The corresponding Postal Manual section is 142.3.

Chapter 9—Atomic Energy Commission

PART 9-1—GENERAL

Subpart 9-1.3—General Policies

PART 9-8—TERMINATION OF CONTRACTS

Subpart 9-8.2—General Principles Applicable to the Termination for Convenience and Settlement of Fixed-Price Type and Cost-Reimbursement Type Contracts

Subpart 9-8.5—Disposition of Termination Inventory

PART 9-15—CONTRACT COST PRINCIPLES AND PROCEDURES

Subpart 9-15.50—Cost Principles and Procedures

PART 9-58—RENTAL OF CONSTRUCTION EQUIPMENT

Miscellaneous Amendments

1. Section 9-1.350-1, Special specifications and standards, is amended by changing "Office of the Controller" to read "Director, Division of Contracts." As so amended, § 9-1.350-1 reads as follows:

§ 9-1.450-1 Special specifications and standards.

When special specifications or standards are used by a field office or Headquarters on a recurring basis or used by two or more field offices or contractors, consideration should be given to converting them to AEC specifications. Accordingly, contracting officers are urged to bring to the attention of the Director, Division of Contracts, any such special specifications which they believe may be of use to more than one field office. The Director, Division of Contracts, will notify field offices of the existence of any AEC specification.

2. In § 9-8.211-2, Required review and approval, paragraph (a) is revised by changing "appropriate Headquarters Division Director" to "Director, Division of Contracts." Section 9-8.211-2(a), as amended, reads as follows:

§ 9-8.211-2 Required review and approval.

(a) Proposed settlement agreements or determinations in excess of contractual authority of Managers of Field Offices will be transmitted to the Director, Division of Contracts, for review and approval.

* * * * *

3. Section 9-8.507-5, Applicability of antitrust laws, is amended by changing "Controller" to "Director, Division of Contracts." Section 9-8.507-5, as amended, reads as follows:

§ 9-8.507-5 Applicability of antitrust laws.

Managers of Field Offices and Headquarters officials having the contracting responsibility shall furnish two copies of the notification referred to in FPR 1-8.507-5 to the Office of the General Counsel and one copy to the Director, Division of Contracts, Headquarters.

4. Section 9-15.5003, Deviation, is revised to read as follows:

§ 9-15.5003 Deviation.

Deviations from the policy and principles set forth in this subpart shall not be made unless such action is authorized by the Director, Division of Contracts, after consultation with the Controller, General Counsel, and any other appropriate Headquarters office, on the basis of a written justification stating clearly the special circumstances involved. Where appropriate, any approved deviation shall be reflected in the compensation provisions of the contract.

5. In § 9-15.5005-2, Compensation through fee, paragraph (b) is amended by changing "appropriate Headquarters Division Director" to "Director, Division of Contracts." As amended, § 9-15.5005-2(b) reads as follows:

§ 9-15.5005-2 Compensation through fee.

* * * * *

(b) In a particular case, the contractor may be compensated on the basis of allowable cost, rather than through the fixed fee for some or all of the expenses described in paragraph (a) of this section if the Director, Division of Contracts, the Manager of the Field Office, or a representative having the authority to approve the contract, authorizes use of this alternative approach and determines that the negotiated fixed fee reflects proper downward adjustment from that which would otherwise have been established. In the case of no-fee contracts (including contracts providing for nominal or token fees), this category of expense may be either reimbursed on the basis of actual costs or compensated through a predetermined fixed amount.

6. In § 9-58.002, General policy, paragraph (a) is amended by changing "Office of the Controller" to Director, Division of Contracts." As amended, § 9-58.002(a) reads as follows:

§ 9-58.002 General policy.

It is the policy of the AEC:

(a) To use presently owned AEC construction equipment to the fullest extent. Careful investigation shall be made of the equipment available not only at the field office concerned, but at other field offices, to determine whether such equipment can be economically utilized on the job. The Director, Division of Contracts, Headquarters, can assist in the investigation of excess equipment available in other offices.

Proposed Rule Making

DEPARTMENT OF THE INTERIOR

Federal Water Pollution Control Administration

[18 CFR Part 601]

WATER POLLUTION CONTROL

Grants for Construction of Treatment Works

Notice is hereby given that the Secretary of the Interior proposes to amend Chapter V of Title 18 Code of Federal Regulations, Part 601, Subpart B, to read as set forth below.

The proposed amended Subpart B would reflect amendments to construction grant provisions in the Federal Water Pollution Control Act, as amended (33 U.S.C. 46 et seq.), effected by the enactment of Public Law 84-660.

Interested persons may submit written data, views, or arguments in triplicate in regard to the proposed regulations to the Secretary of the Interior, Washington, D.C. 20240. All relevant material received not later than 30 days after publication of this notice will be considered.

The regulations will become effective upon republication.

AUTHORITY: The provisions of this Subpart B issued under sec. 10, 70 Stat. 506, as amended; 33 U.S.C. 466i; sec. 6, 70 Stat. 502, as amended; 33 U.S.C. 466e.

Subpart B—Grants for Construction of Treatment Works

§ 601.21 Definitions.

All terms used in this subpart which are defined in the Federal Water Pollution Control Act and are not defined in this section shall have the meaning given to them in such Act. As used in this subpart, the following terms shall have the meaning indicated hereinbelow:

(a) "Federal Act" means the Federal Water Pollution Control Act, as amended (33 U.S.C. 466 et seq.).

(b) "Administration" means the Federal Water Pollution Control Administration in the Department of the Interior.

(c) "Commissioner" means the head of the Federal Water Pollution Control Administration, or his duly authorized representative.

(d) "State water pollution control agency" means the State health authority, except that in the case of any State in which there is a single State agency other than the State health authority charged with responsibility for enforcing the State laws relating to the abatement of water pollution, it means such other State agency.

(e) "Interstate agency" means an agency of two or more States established by or pursuant to an agreement or compact approved by the Congress, or any agency of two or more States having substantial powers or duties pertaining to the control of pollution of waters.

(f) "State" means a State, the District of Columbia, the Commonwealth of Puerto Rico, the Virgin Islands, and Guam.

(g) "Fiscal year" means a 12-month period beginning on July 1.

(h) "Population" means the official population figures of the latest decennial census for which figures are available as certified by the Secretary of Commerce.

(i) "Per capita income" means the average of the per capita income of the States and of the continental United States for the three most recent consecutive years for which satisfactory data are available from the Department of Commerce; except that, in the absence of such satisfactory data, the per capita incomes of (1) Puerto Rico, (2) the Virgin Islands, and (3) Guam shall be deemed to equal the per capita income of the State having the lowest per capita income in the continental United States.

(j) "Municipality" means a city, town, borough, county, parish, district, or other public body created by or pursuant to State law and having jurisdiction over disposal of sewage, industrial wastes, or other wastes, and an Indian tribe or an authorized Indian tribal organization.

(k) "Intermunicipal agency" means an agency of two or more municipalities having jurisdiction over disposal of sewage, industrial wastes, or other wastes.

(l) "Treatment works" means the various devices used in the treatment of sewage or industrial wastes of a liquid nature, including the necessary intercepting sewers, outfall sewers, pumping, power, and other equipment and their appurtenances, and includes any extensions, improvements, remodeling, additions, and alterations thereof.

(m) "Applicant" means any State, municipality, intermunicipal, or interstate agency which files an application for a grant under section 8 of the Federal Act.

(n) "Metropolitan area" means either (1) a standard metropolitan statistical area as defined by the Bureau of the Budget, except as may be determined by the President as not being appropriate for the purposes hereof, or (2) any urban area, including those surrounding areas that form an economic and socially related region, taking into consideration such factors as present and future population trends and patterns of urban growth, location of transportation facilities and systems, and distribution of industrial, commercial, residential, governmental, institutional, and other activities, which in the opinion of the President lends itself as being appropriate for the purposes hereof.

(a) The first $100 million appropriated for any fiscal year shall be alloted as soon as practicable as follows:

(1) 50 per centum of such sums in the ratio that the population of each State bears to the population of all the States, and

(2) 50 per centum of such sums in the ratio that the quotient obtained by dividing the per capita income of the United States by the per capita income of each State bears to the sum of such quotients for all the States.

(b) Funds in excess of $100 million appropriated for any fiscal year shall be allotted as soon as practicable in the ratio that the population of each State bears to the population of all the States.

(c) Except as provided in § 601.25 (a) (8), sums allotted to a State under paragraphs (a) and (b) of this section which are not obligated within six months following the end of the fiscal year for which allotted because of a lack of projects which have been approved as provided in § 601.25(a) (3) and certified as entitled to priority as provided in § 601.25(a) (6) shall be reallotted in accordance with paragraph (d) of this section to States having approved projects for which grants have not been made because of lack of funds.

(d) Reallotment of unobligated funds under paragraph (c) of this section will be made on the basis of the ratio which the current year's allotment of each State bears to the current year's allotments of all such States: Provided, That no State's reallotment shall exceed the sum necessary to satisfy requests for grants contained in applications on hand in the State agency which, except for lack of funds, are eligible for immediate certification as provided in § 601.25(a) (6).

§ 601.23 Availability of allotments.

The allotment of a State, including reallotments, shall be available, in accordance with the provisions of this subpart, for payments to meet the cost of construction of treatment works in such State for which Federal grants have been approved by the Commissioner.

§ 601.24 Application for grants.

Applications for grants for the construction of treatment works shall be submitted on such forms and in such manner as the Commissioner may prescribe.

§ 601.25 Grant limitations.

(a) Grants under this subpart shall be subject to the following limitations:

(1) No grant shall be made for any work for which a contract was let prior to July 31, 1956.

(2) To be eligible for a grant, a project must be designed to result in an operable treatment works, or part thereof, which will treat or stabilize sewage or industrial wastes of a liquid nature in order to abate, control, or prevent water pollution. In addition, where a project or a portion thereof provides for the treatment or stabilization of sewage or industrial wastes of a liquid nature, and unless a higher degree of treatment is required to comply with water quality standards established pursuant to section 10 of the Federal Act, or with recommendations of the Secretary or judgment of a court made pursuant to section 10 of the Federal Act, such treatment or stabilization shall consist of at least primary treatment, or its equivalent, resulting in the substantially complete removal of settleable solids.

(3) No grant shall be made for any project unless such project shall have been approved by the appropriate State water pollution control agency and by the Commissioner and unless such project is included in a comprehensive program developed pursuant to section 3 of the Federal Act.

(4) Except as provided in subparagraphs (8) and (9) of this paragraph, no grant shall be made for any project in an amount exceeding 30 per centum of the estimated reasonable cost of the project as determined by the Commissioner, except that the percentage limitation shall be increased to 40 per centum if the State agrees to pay not less than 30 per centum of the cost of all projects for which Federal grants are to be made from the same fiscal year's allocation, or the percentage limitation shall be increased to 50 per centum if the State agrees to pay not less than 25 per centum of the cost of all projects for which Federal grants are to be made from the same fiscal year's allocation and enforceable water quality standards have been established for the waters into which the project discharges, in accordance with section 10(c) of this Act in the case of interstate waters, and under State law in the case of intrastate waters.

(5) No grant shall be made until the applicant has made provision satisfactory to the Commissioner for assuring proper and efficient operation and maintenance of the treatment works after completion of the construction thereof.

(6) No grant shall be made unless such project is in conformity with the State water pollution control plan submitted pursuant to the provisions of section 7 of the Federal Act and has been certified by the State water pollution control agency as entitled to priority over other eligible projects on the basis of financial as well as water pollution control needs; except that in the case of additional grants as provided for in subparagraphs (8) and (9) of this paragraph, no additional State certification of priority shall be required for the project receiving such an additional grant.

(7) In connection with a project in which construction was initiated after June 30, 1966, which is approved by the State water pollution control agency and which the Commissioner finds meets the requirements of the Act, but which was constructed without Federal assistance or with a lesser amount of Federal assistance than was allowable under the Act, a grant may be made in reimbursement of State or local funds used for such project prior to July 1, 1971, to the extent that assistance could have been provided if such project had been approved for Federal support and if adequate Federal funds had been available.

(8) Whenever a State has funds subject to reallotment under § 601.22(c) prior to such reallotment additional grants may be made for any projects in that State where the Commissioner finds that the need for the projects is due in part to any Federal institution or Federal construction activity which has resulted in an influx of Federally connected personnel and have added to the applicant's requirements for sewage treatment works. Such additional grants shall be limited to additional identifiable costs of construction attributable to such Federal institution or Federal construction activity. Applicants for additional grants must support their claims that the need for their projects is due in part to any Federal institution or Federal construction activity by showing that at least five percent of the population contributing wastes to the project are, as of the date of filing the application for the additional grant, in one or more of the following categories: (i) Federal personnel and their families residing on or at a Federal institution as hereinafter defined, as well as occupants, patients, and inmates of such institutions; (ii) Federal personnel and their families working on or at, but residing at other than, a Federal institution as hereinafter defined; (iii) non-Federal personnel and their families working on Federal construction projects involving a Federal institution as hereinafter defined. Necessary supporting information submitted by applicants shall be used as the basis for computing a project's additional grant entitlement as follows: For subdivision (i) of this subparagraph, 100 percent of the product of the per capita cost of the project and the number represented in this category; for either subdivision (ii) or (iii) of this subparagraph, 50 percent of the product of the per capita cost of the project and the number represented by such category: Provided, That in any case the additional grant entitlement with respect to any category shall be reduced by the amount of any Federal contribution by any other Federal agency toward the capital cost of the approved project made on behalf of such category. The total of the sums of the above calculations shall be the maximum entitlement of an individual project for an additional grant. If the total of all entitlements for additional grants exceeds the funds available to a State for such grants, the available funds will be prorated over all eligible applicants for such grants in the State. In any instance where a grantee community claims its need for a project is due in part to any Federal institution or Federal construction activity, but because of exceptional circumstances is not measurable by the criteria set out above, a request for special consideration may be made to the Commissioner. Notwithstanding the provisions of this section, the Commissioner may waive the percentage requirements set out above in the case of an application for an additional grant whenever, in his judgment, exceptional circumstances exist or existed which make such action necessary to avoid inequity and avoid defeating the purposes of this section. In no event shall any additional grant be made in an amount which, together with the amount of the basic grant, will exceed the total eligible project cost. As used in this section, the term "Federal institution" shall mean any Federal institution, reservation, installation, base, project, or other similar Federal establishment used by the Federal Government primarily for the performance of functions other than the provision of services to the area in which such establishment is situated; and the term "Federal construction activity" shall mean the construction of any "Federal institution" as herein defined.

(9) The Commissioner may increase the amount of a grant made under subsection 8(b) of the Federal Act by 10 per centum of such grant for any project which has been certified by an official State, metropolitan, or regional planning agency empowered under State or local laws or interstate compact to perform metropolitan or regional planning for a metropolitan area within which such grant is to be used, or other agency or instrumentality designated for such purposes by the Governor (or Governors in the case of interstate planning) as being in conformity with the comprehensive plan developed or in the process of development for the metropolitan area.

(10) At least 50 per centum of the first $100 million appropriated for grants under section 8 of the Federal Act for each fiscal year beginning on or after July 1, 1965, shall be used for the construction of treatment works serving municipalities of 125,000 population or under.

§ 601.26 Grant conditions.

(a) All measures required to minimize water pollution to affected waters shall be undertaken in the planning and construction processes of the treatment plant to be financed in part by the Federal grant. To achieve this end, regard shall be given to the selection of a plant site compatible with the protection of the natural environment, and to the protection of the watershed natural cover, engineering and work measures to assure minimal siltation and bank erosion from the construction process, and other measures which reduce water pollution to a minimum. Any grant awarded under this subpart shall be subject to these and such additional requirements of regulations and recommendations issued under section 7 of Executive Order 11288, July 2, 1966 (F.R. Doc. 66-7460) which provides that federally assisted activities shall be performed pursuant to regulations and recommendations made by the Department of the Interior covering grant practices designed to reduce water pollution.

(b) Any grant awarded under this subpart shall be subject to the requirements of Executive Order 11246, September 24, 1965 (30 F.R. 12319), which provides for nondiscrimination in federally assisted construction contracts, and with applicable rules, regulations, and procedures prescribed pursuant thereto.

(c) Any grant awarded under this subpart shall be subject to the requirements of Title VI of the Civil Rights Act of 1964 (78 Stat. 252; P.L. 88-352) which provides that no person in the United States shall, on the ground of race, color, or national origin be excluded from participation in, be denied the benefits of, or be subjected to discrimination under any program or activity receiving Federal financial assistance (sec. 601); and shall be subject to the implementing regulation issued by the Secretary of the Interior with the approval of the President (43 CFR Part 17).

(d) That the construction contract will require the contractor to comply with the regulations of the Secretary of Labor made pursuant to the Davis-Bacon Act of March 3, 1931, as amended (40 U.S.C. 276a through 276a-5), the Anti-Kickback Act of June 13, 1934, as amended (40 U.S.C. 276c), and the Contract Work Hours Standards Act of August 13, 1962 (40 U.S.C. 327-330), and any amendments or modifications thereto, to cause appropriate provisions to be inserted in subcontracts to insure compliance therewith by all subcontractors subject thereto, and to be responsible for the submission of statements required of subcontractors thereunder, except as the Secretary of Labor may specifically provide for reasonable limitation, variations, tolerances, and exemptions from the requirements thereof.

No grant shall be made until the Commissioner has received assurances from the applicant:

(a) That actual construction work will be performed by the lump sum (fixed price) or unit price contract method, that adequate methods of obtaining competitive bidding will be employed prior to awarding the construction contract, and that the award of the contract will be made to the responsible bidder submitting the lowest acceptable bid, which shall be determined without regard to State or local law whereby preference is given on factors other than the amount of the bid;

(b) That the project will not be advertised or placed on the market for bidding until the final plans and specifications have been approved by the Commissioner and the appropriate State agency, and the applicant has been so notified;

(c) That the construction contract will require the contractor to furnish performance and payment bonds, the amount of which shall each be in an amount not less than 50 per centum (50 percent) of the contract price, and to maintain during the life of the contract adequate fire and extended coverage, workmen's compensation, public liability and property damage insurance; proceeds of the performance and payment bonds and the fire and extended coverage insurance shall, in the discretion of the Commissioner, be applied to meet the cost of construction of the project;

(d) That any change in the contract which makes any major alteration in the work required by the plans and specifications, or which raises the cost of the project above the latest estimate approved by the Commissioner will be submitted to the Commissioner for prior approval;

(e) That the construction of the project, including the letting of contracts in connection therewith, shall conform to the applicable requirements of State, territorial, and local laws and ordinances except as provided in paragraph (a) of this section;

(f) That the construction contract will provide that representatives of the Administration and the State will have access to the work wherever it is in preparation or progress and that the contractor will provide proper facilities for such access and inspection;

(g) That the applicant will provide and maintain competent and adequate engineering supervision and inspection at the project to insure that the construction conforms with the approved plans and specifications;

(h) That records will be maintained which fully disclose the total cost of the project, the amount, source and disposition of all funds received for payment of project construction costs, as well as such other records as the Commissioner may prescribe to facilitate an effective audit; such records shall be retained for 3 years following final payment of the Federal share or such other period as the Commissioner shall prescribe;

(i) That all funds granted pursuant to this subpart shall be expended solely for carrying out the approved project;

(j) That the Commissioner and the Comptroller General of the United States, or any of their duly authorized representatives, shall have access, for the purpose of audit and examination, to any books, documents, papers, and records of the grantee that are pertinent to grants received under this subpart, and the grantee shall submit to the Commissioner or the Comptroller General of the United States such documents and information as they may require in connection with the project;

(k) That the applicant will demonstrate to the satisfaction of the Commissioner his ability to pay the remaining cost of the project;

(l) That the applicant will demonstrate to the satisfaction of the Commissioner that he has or will have a fee simple or such other estate or interest in the site of the project, and rights of access, as the Commissioner finds sufficient to assure undisturbed use and possession for the purposes of construction and operation for the estimated life of the project; and in the case of projects serving more than one municipality, that the participating communities have such interests or rights as the Commissioner finds sufficient to assure their undisturbed utilization of the project for the estimated life of the project;

(m) That the declarations, assurances, representations, and statements made by the applicant in the application, and all documents, amendments, and communications filed with the Administration by the applicant in support of its request for a grant, will be fulfilled;

(n) That the applicant will permit the Administration or its authorized agents to have access to the project permanently and the records pertaining to its operation at any reasonable time following the completion of construction for the purpose of inspecting the operation and maintenance of the project;

(o) That the applicant agrees to construct the project or cause it to be constructed in accordance with the application and plans and specifications approved by the Commissioner: Provided, That any of these assurances required under this section may be waived, in whole or part (and subject to such conditions as he deems necessary), if the Commissioner finds that the purpose of such assurance is fulfilled.

§ 601.28 Determining the desirability of projects.

In determining the desirability of projects for treatment works and of approving Federal financial aid in connection therewith, the Commissioner shall give consideration to the following:

(a) The relation of the estimated cost of the project, including operation and maintenance, to the public interest and to the necessity for the project;

(b) The propriety of Federal aid in construction of the project;

(c) The public benefits to be derived by the construction of the project;

(d) The related projects requiring completion before full benefit can be derived from the project for which the application is made and the degree to which the completion of the related projects in the near future is assured;

(e) The feasibility of utilizing available facilities; and,

(f) The probability that the project will be constructed and put into operation within a reasonable time.

§ 601.29 Criteria for considering propriety of Federal aid.

In addition to other designated requirements, the propriety of Federal aid pursuant to section 8(c) of the Federal Act will be determined by the Commissioner on the basis of one or more of the following criteria:

(a) Effective control. Whether the project effectively contributes to the control of pollution of the waters into which the project discharges its treated wastes.

(b) International treaty obligations. Whether the project is required to control pollution in meeting international treaty obligations or agreements.

(c) Federal impact. Whether the project involves a pollution problem affected by (1) Federal installations contributing to the total municipal waste loadings; (2) a water use requirement involving national defense; (3) a Federal water resource development; or (4) an increase in population due to any Federal institution or Federal construction activity which has resulted in an influx of federally connected personnel and which have added to the applicant's requirements for sewage treatment works.

(d) Public health necessity. Whether the project involves treatment works required to abate a public health hazard.

(e) Financial burden. Whether the municipality can demonstrate that the construction of sewage treatment works involves an extraordinary and excessive financial burden in relation to the municipality's economic resources.

(f) Enforcement recommendations. Whether the construction of the sewage treatment is necessitated by recommendations pursuant to section 10 (e) and (f) of the Federal Act.

§ 601.30 Payments.

(a) Installment payments of the Federal grant shall be made upon request of the applicant, shall be based on the cost of the work performed, materials and equipment furnished, and services rendered in connection with an approved project, and may be made as follows:

(1) A first installment when not less than 25 percent of the construction of the project is completed;

(2) A second installment when not less than 50 percent of the construction of the project is completed;

(3) A third installment when not less than 75 percent of the construction of the project is completed; and,

(4) A fourth installment when the project is completed and final inspection by a representative of the Department is made.

(b) Upon written request and a showing of necessity by the applicant, the Commissioner may adopt a different schedule of payments.

(c) The total grant payments for any project shall not exceed the amount of the authorized percent of the actual reasonable cost thereof as determined by the Commissioner at completion of construction of the treatment works.

(d) Where the applicant fails to comply substantially with the requirements of the Federal Act or the regulations in this subpart or with the assurances contained in § 601.27, the Commissioner may, upon giving reasonable notice and opportunity for hearing to the applicant, withhold, in whole or in part, further payments to the applicant pending action based on such hearing or until there is no longer any failure to comply.

If an examination or audit discloses that an overpayment has been made to the grantee, the total of such overpayment shall constitute a debt owed by the grantee to the United States and if not paid to the United States shall be recovered from the grantee or its successors by set-off or other action as provided by law.

STEWART L. UDALL,
Secretary of the Interior.

Purchase by Packers on Carcass Grade and/or Weight Basis; Extension of Time To File Comments

On May 30, 1967, there was published in the FEDERAL REGISTER (32 F.R. 7858) a notice of a proposal to amend the regulations (9 CFR 201.1 et seq.) under the Packers and Stockyards Act, 1921, as amended (7 U.S.C. 181 et seq.), by adding a new § 201.99 dealing with the purchase of livestock by packers on a carcass grade, carcass weight, or carcass grade and weight basis. The notice provided that written data, views or arguments concerning the proposed amendment should be filed in duplicate with the Hearing Clerk, U.S. Department of Agriculture, Washington, D.C. 20250, within 30 days from the publication of the notice in the FEDERAL REGISTER. On June 27, 1967, a document was published in the FEDERAL REGISTER (32 F.R. 9101) extending the time for filing such data, views or arguments to and including July 29, 1967.

Pursuant to a request from interested parties, the time for filing written data, views or arguments concerning the proposed amendment is hereby extended to and including August 15, 1967.

Done at Washington, D.C., this 28th day of July 1967.

GLENN G. BIERMAN,
Acting Administrator, Packers and Stockyards Administration.

FOOD ADDITIVES

Synthetic Organic Colorants in Paper and Paperboard

The Commissioner of Food and Drugs has evaluated data submitted by Synthetic Organic Chemical Manufacturers Association of the United States, 261 Madison Avenue, New York, N.Y. 10016, and other relevant information, and concludes that a food additive regulation should be proposed that would provide for the safe use under certain conditions of synthetic organic colorants in food-packaging paper and paperboard. Accordingly, pursuant to the provisions of the Federal Food, Drug, and Cosmetic Act (sec. 409(d), 72 Stat. 1787; 21 U.S.C. 348(d)) and under the authority delegated to the Commissioner by the Secretary of Health, Education, and Welfare (21 CFR 2.120), it is proposed that Part 121 be amended by adding to Subpart F a new section as follows:

§ 121.____ Synthetic organic colorants in paper and paperboard.

(a) Conditions of use. Synthetic organic colorants may be safely used to impart color to food-packaging paper and paperboard otherwise complying with regulations in this Subpart F if one of the conditions set forth in subparagraphs (1) through (4) of this paragraph plus the conditions set forth in subparagraph (5) of this paragraph are met:

(1) There is a functional barrier between the colored paper or paperboard and the food.

(2) The colorant is listed as a color additive for food use by a regulation in Part 8 of this chapter.

(3) The colored paper or paperboard is used or intended for use in contact with a dry food the surface of which contains no free fat or oil.

(4) The colorant is applied to the paper or paperboard only prior to the sheet-forming operation, the colored paper or paperboard is used or intended for use in contact with food containing not over 2 weight percent of free drainable liquid, and it passes the extraction and discoloration tests described in paragraph (b) of this section.

(5) The colorant contains, if at all, only useful adjuvants that:

(i) Are permitted to be added directly to food by a regulation in Subpart D of this part; or

(ii) Are otherwise permitted in the manufacture of paper and paperboard by a regulation in this Subpart F and are so used as to meet any limitations prescribed by such regulation.

Failure to meet the appropriate conditions prescribed by this paragraph will cause the colorant to be deemed a food additive for which no regulation exists.

(b) Tests. The tests referred to in paragraph (a)(4) of this section are as follows:

(1) Food-simulating solvents. Food-simulating solvents are chosen from the following table:

Types of food	Solvent
I. Nonacid, moist products; may contain salt or sugar or both (pH above 5.0).	Water.[1]
II. Acidic, moist products; may contain salt or sugar or both, and including oil-in-water emulsions of high or low fat content.	Water,[1] citric acid.[2]
III. Moist, acid or nonacid products containing free oil or fat; may contain salt, and including water-in-oil emulsions of high or low fat content.	Water,[1] citric acid,[2] [4] lard oil.[3]
IV. Dairy products and modifications	Water,[1] lard oil.[3]
V. Low-moisture fats and oils	Lard oil.[3]
VI. Bakery products, except dry foods	Water,[1] lard oil.[3]
VII. Dry solids with the surface containing no free fat or oil	No end test required.
VIII. Dry solids with the surface containing free fat oil	Lard oil.[3]
XI. Fruits and vegetables, raw	Water.[1]

[1] Water—either distilled or demineralized.
[2] Citric acid solution—20 percent sucrose solution containing 1 percent citric acid adjusted to pH 3.5.
[3] Lard oil—an industrial grade of lard oil is satisfactory.
[4] Omit unless food is acid.

(2) Drainable liquids in foods. The test for drainable liquids in food is as follows: A 100-gram sample of the food in question is placed on a 5-inch diameter, U.S. standard sieve No. 8, tilted approximately 30° from the horizontal and drained for 2 minutes at ambient temperatures of not less than 65° F. The weight of the extracted liquid shall not exceed more than 2 weight percent of the original sample.

(3) Color transfer. The test for color transfer from treated paper and paperboard ("sandwich test") involves visual comparison against a standard of a moist filter paper held in contact with the colored paper under test for a standard period of time.

(b) Glass-fiber filter paper.

(c) Aluminum foil.

(d) Tweezers.

(e) Appropriate solvents simulating the foods to be contacted by the paper or paperboard under test.

(f) Approximately 1-inch squares of the paper or paperboard to be tested, sufficient to provide one square for each of the required food-simulating solvents.

(ii) Determination of color transfer. (a) Saturate the filter paper in the selected solvent at room temperature (no lower than 65° F.) and place the saturated filter paper, "screen" side up, upon a piece of aluminum foil of appropriate size, handling the filter paper with tweezers.

(b) Using tweezers, promptly place the test square upon the wet filter paper being sure that the food-contact side of the test sample is in contact with the filter paper.

(c) Complete a four-ply "sandwich" by covering the upper side of the test paper with a cover of aluminum foil of suitable size.

(d) Seal the entire sandwich in complete cover of foil or in a polyethylene envelope to prevent loss of solvent during test period.

(e) Subject the sandwich to a pressure of 10 pounds per square inch of test paper and maintain the pressure continuously for at least 20 hours.

(f) At the conclusion of the contact period remove the pressure, carefully open the envelope, and remove the layers down to the filter paper by use of tweezers.

(g) While still wet, compare the filter paper with the color transfer standard. If the color of the filter paper is not darker than the color transfer standard, the colorant shows no significant migration and meets the transfer test.

(4) Brightening-agent transfer. The test for brightening-agent transfer from treated paper and paperboard involves a visual comparison under ultraviolet light of a moist filter paper held in contact with the colored test paper for a period of time against a spot containing a known amount of fluorescent brightening agent.

(i) Equipment. (a) Glass-fiber filter paper.

(b) Aluminum foil.

(c) Tweezers.

(d) Appropriate solvents simulating the foods to be contacted by the paper or paperboard under test.

(e) Approximately 1-inch squares of the paper or paperboard to be tested, sufficient to provide one square for each of the required food-simulating solvents.

(f) Fluorescent brightening-agent transfer standard: Prepare solution 1 as an aqueous solution of 10–50 milligrams per liter of Fluorescent Brightening Agent 28 and determine its absorbance in a 1-centimeter cell at a wavelength of 350 millimicrons in a suitable spectrophotometer against distilled water in the blank cell. Prepare a working solution by weighing out another amount of the brightening agent equal to:

Transfer this amount to an actinic 500-milliliter volumetric flask. Make to volume and mix thoroughly as solution 2. Dilute 5 milliliters of solution 2 to 100 milliliters volumetrically with distilled water as solution 3. Dilute 10 milliliters of solution 3 to 100 milliliters with distilled water using an actinic flask for the preparation of solution 4 as the working-standard solution.

(ii) Determination of fluorescent brightening-agent transfer. (a) Using the "sandwich" technique described in subparagraph (3) of this paragraph, extract the brightening agent from the test paper onto the moist filter paper.

(b) Place a drop of approximately 0.05 milliliter of the working standard solution (solution 4) on another glass-fiber filter paper and let dry. Moisten this spot with the same food-simulating solvent as used on the test paper and compare the standard spot with the moist filter paper under ultraviolet light. If the fluorescence of the test sample does not exceed the fluorescence of the standard spot, the fluorescent brightening agent shows no significant migration and meets the transfer test.

(5) Test for the discoloration of colorants. Prepare a solution (or suspension) containing approximately 10 milligrams colorant in 1 liter of the food-simulating solvent. Measure the absorbance of the solution at a suitable wavelength. Hold the solution at room temperature in the dark for 20 hours, then again measure absorbance at the predetermined wavelength. This test is repeated for each of the three food-simulating solvents (water, 1 percent citric acid solution, and lard oil), described in the footnotes to the table in subparagraph (1) of this paragraph. If with any solvent the absorbance after 20 hours dark storage is 10 percent or more below the original absorbance, the colorant may not be used in paper or paperboard intended for use in contact with food except for dry food of type VII identified in the table in subparagraph (1) of this paragraph.

All interested persons are invited to submit their views in writing, preferably in quintuplicate, regarding this proposal. Such views and comments should be addressed to the Hearing Clerk, Department of Health, Education, and Welfare, Room 5440, 330 Independence Avenue SW., Washington, D.C. 20201, within 30 days following the date of publication of this notice in the FEDERAL REGISTER. Comments may be accompanied by a memorandum or brief in support thereof.

Dated: July 28, 1967.

Associate Commissioner for Compliance.

DEPARTMENT OF TRANSPORTATION

Federal Aviation Administration

[14 CFR Part 39]

[Docket No. 8309]

AIRWORTHINESS DIRECTIVES

British Aircraft Corporation Model BAC 1–11 200 and 400 Series Airplanes

The Federal Aviation Administration is considering amending Part 39 of the Federal Aviation Regulations by adding an airworthiness directive applicable to British Aircraft Corp. Model BAC 1–11 200 and 400 Series airplanes. There have been several instances of corrosion being found within the bore of the magnesium bearing housing in the flap secondary transmission system. Heavy corrosion deposits in this area can interfere with the free operation of the bearing and in extreme cases penetrate the exterior on the underside. Since this condition is likely to exist or develop in other aircraft of the same type design, the proposed airworthiness directive would require periodic inspection of the support bearings in the flap secondary transmission shafting and the replacement of corroded bearing housings with unused magnesium bearing housings until the magnesium housing is replaced with an aluminum alloy housing.

Interested persons are invited to participate in the making of the proposed rule by submitting such written data, views, or arguments as they may desire. Communications should identify the docket number and be submitted in duplicate to the Federal Aviation Administration, Office of the General Counsel, Attention: Rules Docket, 800 Independence Avenue SW., Washington, D.C. 20590. All communications received on or before September 5, 1967, will be considered by the Administrator before taking action upon the proposed rule. The proposals contained in this notice may be changed in the light of comments received. All comments will be available, both before and after the closing date for comments, in the Rules Docket for examination by interested persons.

This amendment is proposed under the authority of sections 313(a), 601, and 603 of the Federal Aviation Act of 1958 (49 U.S.C. 1354(a), 1421, and 1423).

In consideration of the foregoing, it is proposed to amend § 39.13 of Part 39 of the Federal Aviation Regulations by adding the following new airworthiness directive:

BRITISH AIRCRAFT. Applies to Model BAC 1-11, 200 and 400 Series airplanes.

Compliance required as indicated.

To prevent deterioration of the secondary flap transmission system due to corrosion in the magnesium bearing housings, accomplish the following:

(a) Within the next 150 hours' time in service after the effective date of this AD for airplanes with 2,750 or more hours' time in service, or for airplanes with less than 2,750 hours' time in service as of the effective date of this AD before the accumulation of 3,000 hours' time in service, and thereafter at intervals not to exceed 600 hours' time in service from the last inspection, visually inspect the support bearings in the flap secondary transmission shafting for signs of corrosion or stiffness in accordance with British Aircraft Corp. BAC 1-11 Alert Service Bulletin No. 27-A-PM 2757, Issue 1, or later ARB-approved issue, or an FAA-approved equivalent.

(b) If signs of corrosion or stiffness are found during the inspection required by paragraph (a), remove and dismantle the affected bearing assembly and inspect the interior of the bearing housing. If any corrosion is found, replace bearing housing before further flight with an unused magnesium bearing housing of the same part number or with an aluminum alloy bearing housing, in accordance with BAC 1-11 Service Bulletin No. 27-PM 2757 or later ARB-approved issue, or an FAA-approved equivalent.

(c) The repetitive inspections required by paragraph (a) may be made at intervals not to exceed 3,000 hours' time in service from the last inspection after the bearing assembly has been inspected in accordance with paragraph (b) and reassembled with the original magnesium bearing housing or an unused replacement magnesium bearing housing and the space between the bushings is coated with Jointing Compound J.C. 5A (VX3-100/200) or U.S. equivalent Hylomar SQ23(L) or SQ23(M).

(d) When a particular magnesium bearing housing is replaced with an aluminum alloy bearing housing in accordance with BAC 1-11 Service Bulletin 27-PM 2757 or later ARB-approved issue, or an FAA-approved equivalent, the repetitive inspection of that support bearing required by paragraph (a) may be discontinued.

Issued in Washington, D.C., on July 27, 1967.

Acting Director,
Flight Standards Service.

AIRWORTHINESS DIRECTIVES

Piper PA-28 and PA-32 Series Airplanes

The Federal Aviation Administration is considering amending Part 39 of the Federal Aviation Regulations by adding an airworthiness directive applicable to Piper PA-28 and PA-32 series airplanes. There have been numerous reports of the fuel tank sealant (sloshing compound) deterioration in the main fuel tanks on these aircraft. Airworthiness Directive 67-16-2 was issued to require periodic recurrent fuel tank inspections to detect loose sealant in the tanks. The aircraft manufacturer has developed a procedure to reseal the tanks where sealant has been found to be peeling. After satisfactory completion of tank inspections in accordance with this proposed airworthiness directive, the repetitive inspections which are now required will be dropped. Amendment 39-418 (Airworthiness Directive 67-16-2) will be superseded by this proposed rule when adopted.

Interested persons are invited to participate in the making of the proposed rule by submitting such written data, views, or arguments as they may desire. Communications should identify the docket number and be submitted in duplicate to the Federal Aviation Administration, Office of the Regional Counsel, Attention: Rules Docket, Post Office Box 20636, Atlanta, Ga. 30320. All communications received within 30 days after publication in the FEDERAL REGISTER will be considered by the Administrator before taking action upon the proposed rule. The proposals contained in this notice may be changed in the light of comments received. All comments will be available, both before and after the closing date for comments in the Rules Docket for examination by interested persons.

This amendment is proposed under the authority of sections 313(a), 601, and 603 of the Federal Aviation Act of 1958 (49 U.S.C. 1354(a), 1421, 1423).

In consideration of the foregoing, it is proposed to amend Section 39.13 of Part 39 of the Federal Aviation Regulations by adding the following new airworthiness directive:

PIPER. Applies to Model PA-28-140 airplanes, Serial Numbers 28-20913 through 28-22917; Model PA-28-150, PA-28-160, PA-28S-160, PA-28-180, PA-28S-180 airplanes, Serial Numbers 28-2538 through 28-3979; Model PA-28-235 airplanes, Serial Numbers 28-10676 through 28-10991; Model PA-32-260 airplanes, Serial Numbers 32-04, 32-17 through 32-861; Model PA-32-300, PA-32S-300 airplanes, Serial Numbers 32-15, 32-40000 through 32-40239.

Compliance required as indicated.

To prevent the possibility of restricting fuel flow through the fuel system screens and filters caused by sealing material film (sloshing compound) which has peeled from the inner surfaces of the main fuel tanks, accomplish the following:

(a) Within the next 50 hours' time in service after the effective date of this AD, unless already accomplished within the last 50 hours' time in service, inspect the entire interior of both main fuel tanks for sealing material film which has separated from or is loosely attached to the tank interior surfaces. Inspection may be accomplished through the filler neck without removing the tank from the aircraft, but the tank should be completely drained and dried. Exert precautions usually followed around explosive vapors.

(b) Remove all separated and loosely attached material from the tank interior.

(c) If no loose or separated material is found in aircraft having less than 1,000 hours' time in service repeat the inspection prescribed in (a) above at intervals not to exceed 100 hours' time in service from the last inspection. The inspections may be discontinued after the third inspection (including the initial inspection prescribed in (a) above) or at 1,000 hours' total time in service if no peeling has been found. Small scrapes in the film adjacent to the filler neck may be disregarded provided there is no indication of peeling.

(d) If no loose or separated material is found in aircraft having 1,000 hours' or more time in service it will not be necessary to inspect after the initial inspection prescribed in (a) above.

(e) If loose or separated material was found at any time, prior to but not later than the next 50 hours' time in service after the effective date of this AD remove the tank from the airplane and reseal in accordance with Piper Service Bulletin No. 351 and with instructions contained in Piper Kit No. 921-388V, or an equivalent method approved by Chief, Engineering and Manufacturing Branch, Federal Aviation Administration, Southern Region. Following resealing, conduct the inspection prescribed in (a) above at intervals not to exceed 100 hours' time in service. These inspections may be discontinued after the second inspection if no further peeling is found. Small scrapes in the film adjacent to the filler neck may be disregarded provided there is no indication of peeling.

Aircraft log record entry must be made to reflect AD compliance in accordance with FAR 43.9.

The inspection time intervals (other than for the initial inspection) may be adjusted up to a maximum of 10 hours to coincide with aircraft annual or 100-hour scheduled inspections.

This supersedes Amendment 39-418 (32-7205), AD 67-16-2.

(Piper Service Bulletin No. 351 dated July 6, 1967, pertains to this same subject.)

Issued in East Point, Ga., on July 27, 1967.

Acting Director, Southern Region.

JET ROUTE

Proposed Extension

The Federal Aviation Administration is considering an amendment to Part 75 of the Federal Aviation Regulations that would extend Jet Route No. 11 from Phoenix, Ariz., to Tucson, Ariz., via the intersection of the Phoenix 161° T (147° M) and the Tucson 316° T (303° M) radials. This extended segment of J-11 would provide a bypass route for high altitude air traffic operating at altitudes between 18,000 MSL and FL-240 during the periods when Williams I Intensive Student Jet Training Area is being used for its established purpose.

Interested persons may participate in the proposed rule making by submitting such written data, views, or arguments as they may desire. Communications should identify the airspace docket number and be submitted in triplicate to the Director, Western Region, Attention: Chief, Air Traffic Division, Federal Aviation Administration, 5651 West Manchester Avenue, Post Office Box 90007, Los Angeles, Calif. 90009. All communications received within 45 days after publication of this notice in the FEDERAL REGISTER will be considered before action is taken on the proposed amendments. The proposals contained in this notice may be changed in the light of comments received.

An official docket will be available for examination by interested persons at the Federal Aviation Administration, Office of the General Counsel, Attention: Rules Docket, 800 Independence Avenue SW., Washington, D.C. 20590. An informal docket also will be available for examination at the office of the Regional Air Traffic Division Chief.

This amendment is proposed under the authority of section 307(a) of the Federal Aviation Act of 1958 (49 U.S.C. 1348).

Issued in Washington, D.C., on July 28, 1967.

CIVIL AERONAUTICS BOARD

[14 CFR Part 217]

[Docket No. 18864; EDR-122]

REPORTING DATA PERTAINING TO CIVIL AIRCRAFT CHARTERS PERFORMED BY FOREIGN AIR CARRIERS

Notice of Proposed Rule Making

AUGUST 1, 1967.

Notice is hereby given that the Civil Aeronautics Board has under consideration promulgation of new Part 217 of the Economic Regulations which would require the reporting of civilian charter travel information by all foreign air carriers in a new CAB Form 217 report, to be submitted quarterly.

The principal features of the proposed new rule are described in the attached Explanatory Statement and the proposed new part is set forth in the attached Proposed Rule. The new part is proposed under authority of section 204(a) and in application and interpretation of section 402 of the Federal Aviation Act of 1958, as amended (72 Stat. 743, 757; 49 U.S.C. 1324, 1372).

Interested persons may participate in the proposed rule making through submission of 10 copies of written data, views, or arguments pertaining thereto, addressed to the Docket Section, Civil Aeronautics Board, Washington, D.C. 20428. All relevant material received on or before September 5, 1967, will be considered by the Board before taking final action on the proposed rule. Copies of such communications will be available for examination by interested persons in the Docket Section of the Board, Room 710, Universal Building, 1825 Connecticut Avenue NW., Washington, D.C., upon receipt thereof.

By the Civil Aeronautics Board.

[SEAL] HAROLD R. SANDERSON,
Secretary.

Explanatory statement. Civilian charter operations are taking on an increasingly important role in air transportation. The Board presently has only limited reporting requirements as to the nature and volume of charter operations and these relate primarily to the total charter operations of the certificated supplemental and route carriers. With respect to foreign air carriers, the only reporting of charter operations that is presently required relates to those carriers whose permits authorize charter transportation only, and the data called for are limited to the date of trip, the points served and the number of round-trip and one-way passengers (§ 214.5 of the Board's Economic Regulations).

By EDR-116 issued May 11, 1967 (32 F.R. 7343), the Board has proposed to require the certificated supplemental and route carriers to file recurrent reports of data concerning the type and volume of charters performed on a point-to-point basis in a new schedule T-6 of CAB Form 41. To alleviate further the basic information deficiency concerning civil charters performed to or from the United States—by foreign air carriers as well as by U.S. air carriers—the Board proposes to require a similar reporting requirement with respect to foreign air carriers concerning their charter operations to or from the United States. We shall, however, exempt from the part those foreign air carriers holding permits authorizing casual, occasional and infrequent flights with small aircraft in transborder operations. Flight and traffic data for such operations would have very limited value, incommensurate with the burden on these small carriers which such reports would entail. The details of the new reporting form appear in the proposed rule.

Proposed rule. The Board proposes to amend Chapter II of Title 14 of the Code of Federal Regulations (14 CFR) by adding new Part 217 to Subchapter A—Economic Regulations, and new CAB Form 217, to read as follows:

PART 217—REPORTING DATA PERTAINING TO CIVIL AIRCRAFT CHARTERS PERFORMED BY FOREIGN AIR CARRIERS

Sec.
217.1 Definitions.
217.2 Applicability.
217.3 Report of Civil Aircraft Charters Performed by Foreign Air Carriers.
217.4 Extension of filing time.
217.5 Certification.
217.6 Reporting instructions.

§ 217.1 Definitions.

As used in this part:

"Foreign air carrier" means a carrier which holds a permit under section 402 of the Act.

"Small aircraft" means aircraft with a gross take-off weight of 12,500 pounds or less.

§ 217.2 Applicability.

This part applies to foreign air carriers which are authorized to perform civil aircraft charters to or from the United States: Provided, however, That foreign air carriers holding permits authorizing casual, occasional, and infrequent flights with small aircraft across the border between the United States and a contiguous nation shall not be subject to the requirements of this part.

§ 217.3 Report of Civil Aircraft Charters Performed by Foreign Air Carriers.

(a) Each foreign air carrier shall file CAB Form 217 entitled "Report of Civil Aircraft Charters Performed by Foreign Air Carriers" in accordance with the provisions of this part and in the manner set forth in said form which is made a part hereof and annexed hereto.[1]

(b) CAB Form 217 shall be prepared for the quarters ending March 31, June 30, September 30, and December 31 of each calendar year. Form CAB 217 shall be completed in triplicate and filed with the Board (i.e., postmarked) not more than 40 days after the end of each calendar quarter, and shall be addressed to the Civil Aeronautics Board, Attention of the Bureau of Accounts and Statistics, Washington, D.C. 20428.

§ 217.4 Extension of filing time.

If circumstances prevent the filing of a report within the prescribed time limit, consideration will be given to the granting of an extension upon receipt of a written request therefor. Such a request must give a sufficient reason for granting the extension, set forth the date when the report can be filed, and be submitted sufficiently in advance of the due date to permit proper time for consideration and communication to the foreign air carrier of the action taken. Except in cases of emergency, no request for extension will be entertained which is not received in sufficient time to enable the Board to pass thereon before the prescribed due date. If a request is denied, the foreign air carrier remains subject to the filing requirements to the same extent as if no request for extension had been made.

§ 217.5 Certification.

The certificate contained in CAB Form 217 shall be executed by the officer in charge of the carrier's accounts and shall apply to all reports of civil aircraft charters and supporting documents, if any, filed therewith.

§ 217.6 Reporting instructions.

(a) A complete report shall be made on this form for the overall or system operations conducted by a foreign air carrier to or from the United States.

(b) Separate reports of civil aircraft charters shall be filed for each of the below-named types of charter contracts and the type shall be inserted opposite the caption "Type of Charter."

[1] Form filed as part of original document.

(1) Single entity charter, as defined in Part 214 of the Board's Economic Regulations.

(2) Pro rata charter, as defined in Part 214 of the Board's Economic Regulations. Mixed charters, as defined in Part 214, are to be reported as pro rata charters.

(3) All-cargo charter.

(4) Inclusive tour charter, as defined in Part 378 of the Board's Special Regulations.

(5) Split charter, as defined in § 214.2(b)(2) of the Board's Economic Regulations by carriers subject to Part 214. For reporting purposes, a split charter is to be listed as one flight, and listed only on the split charter report even though a portion of the split charter may be pro rata and the other portion single entity.

(c) Each flight shall be reported in the quarter in which its performance actually began. If the contract calls for more than one flight, each of the flights shall be reported in the quarter in which the particular flight actually began.

(d) All points included in the report shall be identified by the three-letter airport code used in the Official Airline Guide.

(e) Columns 1 and 2 shall reflect the origination and destination, respectively, of the charter flight. For round-trip charters, the origin point shall be shown also as the destination point.

(f) Column 3 shall reflect the number of flights which began in the current quarter. Columns 4 and 5 shall reflect, respectively, the aggregate number of seats and the aggregate cargo capacity in tons contracted for on the flights reported in column 3. Round trips shall be reported as a single service without breakdown by directional components.

(g) Columns 6 through 12 shall reflect the intermediate points (where a portion of the charter traffic is either enplaned or deplaned) in operating sequence between origin and destination. On round-trip flights, all stopover points other than the common origin and destination shall be shown as intermediate points. Indicate instances where there is a break in air transportation, such as surface travel, by placing an asterisk between the pairs of points where such a break occurs.

TABLE OF ASSIGNMENTS

UHF Television Broadcast Channel, Baytown, Tex.; Order Extending Time For Filing Comments and Reply Comments

In the matter of amendment of the Table of Assignments in section 73.606(b) of the Commission rules and regulations to assign a UHF television broadcast channel to Baytown, Tex., Docket No. 17496, RM-1084.

1. A notice of proposed rule making was released by the Commission on June 9, 1967, in this docket inviting comments on a proposal of several petitioners (George Chandler, H. W. Kilpatrick, III, W. T. Jones, Jr., Richard Park, and Mrs. Hellen Nelson), to assign television broadcast Channel 50 to Baytown, Tex. In a subsequent order, released July 12, 1967, the time for filing comments on the proposal was extended to August 14, 1967, and to August 24, 1967, for filing replies to comments. This action was in response to a request of these petitioners for an extension to September 5, 1967, for filing comments, and to September 15, 1967, for filing reply comments. In the petition before us, filed July 27, 1967, these petitioners again request that the time for filing comments and reply comments in this proceeding be extended to September 5, 1967, and to September 15, 1967, respectively.

2. Petitioners state that the additional time requested is needed because, while they have been endeavoring to meet the present August deadline for comments, due to the extent of the undertaking, they will be unable to complete the task by that time.

3. In acting on the previous petition for extension of time filed by petitioners, we were of the view that the additional time provided would be sufficient to permit the preparation and filing of meaningful comments directed to the proposal under consideration and the questions raised in the rule making notice. In view of the representations of petitioners at this time, as well as the recognized complexity of questions upon which comment is sought in the rule making notice, we now feel that further extending the closing date for comments, as requested, is warranted in the public interest.

4. Accordingly, it is ordered, That the aforesaid petition of George Chandler, H. W. Kilpatrick, III, W. T. Jones, Jr., Richard Park, and Mrs. Hellen Nelson is granted; that the time for filing comments herein is extended from August 14, 1967, to September 5, 1967; and that the time for filing reply comments is extended from August 24, 1967, to September 15, 1967.

5. This action is taken pursuant to authority found in sections 4(i), 5(d)(1), and 303(r) of the Communications Act of 1934, as amended, and § 0.281(d)(8) of the Commission's rules and regulations.

Adopted: July 28, 1967.

Released: August 1, 1967.

FEDERAL COMMUNICATIONS COMMISSION,
[SEAL] BEN F. WAPLE,
Secretary.

DEPARTMENT OF THE INTERIOR

Office of the Secretary

[Order No. 2882, Amdt. 3]

CONGRESS OF MICRONESIA, TRUST TERRITORY OF PACIFIC ISLANDS

Legislative Authority

Whereas, on September 28, 1964, the Secretary of the Interior promulgated Secretarial Order No. 2882 (30 F.R. 7765, and amended at 31 F.R. 9138) creating the Congress of Micronesia and granting legislative authority thereto; and

Whereas, section 24 of the said Order 2882 provides that the Congress may recommend amendments to the Secretary of the Interior by a two-third majority vote of the membership of each House; and

Whereas, the Congress of Micronesia adopted Senate Joint Resolution No. 43 requesting that Order No. 2882 be amended so as to require the passage of bills by the majority votes of all members of each House; and

Whereas, provision needs to be made for the conduct of biennial elections in the event a natural disaster or other Act of God should prevent balloting on the appointed day; and

Whereas, a further clarification of the appropriation power of the Congress appears to be desirable;

Now therefore, Secretarial Order No. 2882 is amended in the following particulars, the amendments to become effective immediately:

1. Section 17(b) of the said Order No. 2882 is hereby amended to read as follows:

Section 17(b) Reading of bills—Passage. A bill in order to become a law shall pass two readings in each House, on separate days, the final passage of which in each House shall be by a majority vote of all the members of such House, which vote shall be entered upon the journal.

2. Section 9 of the said Order No. 2882 is hereby amended to read as follows:

Section 9. General elections. General elections shall be held biennially in each even-numbered year on the first Tuesday following the first Monday in November: Provided, That in the event of a natural disaster or other Act of God, the effect of which precludes holding the election on the foregoing date, the High Commissioner, with the approval of the Secretary of the Interior, may proclaim a later election date in the affected election district or districts. All elections shall be held in accordance with such procedures as this order and the laws of the Trust Territory may prescribe. Legislators shall be chosen by secret ballot of the qualified electors of their respective district.

3. Section 5 of the said Order No. 2882 is hereby amended to read as follows:

Section 5. Budget. Money bills enacted by the Congress of Micronesia shall not provide for the appropriation of funds in excess of such amounts as are available from revenues raised pursuant to the tax laws and other revenue laws of the Trust Territory: Provided, That income derived from the provision of air and sea transportation services; reimbursements from public works sales and services; and income from the operation of water, power, sewerage, and communications services shall be applied against the costs of providing those services and shall not be considered to be revenues within the meaning of this order. Prior to his final submission to the Secretary of the Interior of requests for Federal funds necessary for the support of governmental functions in the Trust Territory, the High Commissioner shall prepare a preliminary budget plan. He shall submit such plan to the Congress of Micronesia in joint session for its review and recommendations with respect to such portions as relate to expenditures of funds proposed to be appropriated by the Congress of the United States. With respect to such portions of the preliminary budget plan, the High Commissioner shall adopt such recommendations of the Congress as he may deem appropriate, but he shall transmit to the Secretary of the Interior all recommendations he has not adopted.

STEWART L. UDALL,
Secretary of the Interior.

DEPARTMENT OF AGRICULTURE

Commodity Credit Corporation

SALES OF CERTAIN COMMODITIES

August Sales List

Notice to buyers. Pursuant to the policy of Commodity Credit Corporation issued October 12, 1954 (19 F.R. 6669), and subject to the conditions stated therein as well as herein, the commodities listed below are available for sale and, where noted, for redemption of payment-in-kind certificates on the price basis set forth.

The U.S. Department of Agriculture announced the prices at which CCC commodity holdings are available for sale beginning at 3 p.m., e.d.t., on July 31, 1967, and, subject to amendment, continuing until superseded by the September Monthly Sales List.

The following commodities are available: cotton (upland and extra long staple), wheat, corn, oats, barley, rye, rice, grain sorghum, peanuts, flax, dry edible beans, tung oil, butter, cheese, and nonfat dry milk.

The only change in the list for August is the withdrawal of linseed oil.

With the 1967-crop marketing year beginning August 1 for cotton and rice, the August list includes formula minimum pricing for these commodities based on 1967 price-support loan rates.

Information on the availability of commodities stored in Commodity Credit Corporation bin sites may be obtained from ASCS State offices shown at the end of the sales list, and for commodities stored at other locations from ASCS commodity and grain offices also shown at the end of the list.

Corn, oats, barley, or grain sorghum, as determined by CCC, will be sold for unrestricted use for "Dealers' Certificates" issued under the emergency livestock feed program. Grain delivered against such certificates will be sold at the applicable current market price, determined by CCC.

In the following listing of commodities and sales prices or method of sales, "unrestricted use" applies to sales which permit either domestic or export use and "export" applies to sales which require export only. CCC reserves the right to determine the class, grade, quality, and available quantity of commodities listed for sale.

The CCC Monthly Sales List, which varies from month to month as additional commodities become available or commodities formerly available are dropped, is designed to aid in moving CCC's inventories into domestic or export use through regular commercial channels.

If it becomes necessary during the month to amend this list in any material way—such as by the removal or addition of a commodity in which there is general interest or by a significant change in price or method of sale—an announcement of the change will be sent to all persons currently receiving the list by mail from Washington. To be put on this mailing list, address: Director, Procurement and Sales Division, Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service, U.S. Department of Agriculture, Washington, D.C. 20250.

Interest rates per annum under the CCC Export Credit Sales Program (Announcement GSM-3 or 4) for August 1967 are 5½ percent for U.S. bank obligations and 6½ percent for foreign bank obligations. Commodities now eligible for financing under the CCC Export Credit Sales Program include wheat, wheat flour, barley, bulgur, corn, cornmeal, grain sorghum, upland and extra long staple cotton, tobacco, cottonseed oil, soybean oil, dairy products, dry edible beans, and tallow. Commodities purchased from CCC may be financed for export as private stocks under Announcement GSM-4.

Information on commodities available under Title I, Public Law 480, private trade agreements, and current information on interest rates and other phases of the program may be obtained from the Office of the General Sales Manager, Foreign Agricultural Service, U.S. Department of Agriculture, Washington, D.C. 20250.

The following commodities are currently available for new and existing barter contracts: Oats, cotton (upland and extra long staple), and tobacco. Wheat and grain sorghum are also available under conditions noted in the individual commodity listings. (In addition, free market stocks of corn, grain sorghum, wheat, wheat flour, tobacco, cottonseed, and soybean oils are eligible for barter programming under barter contracts covering procurements for Federal agencies that will reimburse CCC except that Hard Red Winter, Hard Red Spring, and durum wheats, may not be exported through west coast ports. Also new export sales of wheat under barter contracts may not provide for white wheat to be exported off the west coast prior to August 15, 1967.)

The CCC will entertain offers from responsible buyers for the purchase of any commodity on the current list. Offers accepted by CCC will be subject to the terms and conditions prescribed by the Corporation. These terms include payment by cash or irrevocable letter of credit before delivery of the commodity, and the conditions require removal of the commodity from CCC stocks within a reasonable period of time. Where sales are for export, proof of exportation is also required, and the buyer is responsible for obtaining any required U.S. Government export permit or license. Purchases from CCC shall not constitute any assurance that any such permit or license will be granted by the issuing authority.

Applicable announcements containing all terms and conditions of sale will be furnished upon request. For easy reference a number of these announcements are identified by code number in the following list. Interested persons are invited to communicate with the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service, USDA, Washington, D.C. 20250, with respect to all commodities or—for specified commodities—with the designated ASCS commodity office.

Commodity Credit Corporation reserves the right to amend from time to time, any of its announcements. Such amendments shall be applicable to and be made a part of the sale contracts thereafter entered into.

CCC reserves the right to reject any or all offers placed with it for the purchase of commodities pursuant to such announcements.

CCC reserves the right to refuse to consider an offer, if CCC does not have adequate information of financial responsibility of the offerer to meet contract obligations of the type contemplated in this announcement. If a prospective offerer is in doubt as to whether CCC has adequate information with respect to his financial responsibility, he should either submit a financial statement to the office named in the invitation prior to making an offer, or communicate with such office to determine whether such a statement is desired in his case. When satisfactory financial responsibility has not been established, CCC reserves the right to consider an offer only upon submission by offerer of a certified or cashier's check, a bid bond, or other security, acceptable to CCC, assuring that if the offer is accepted, the offerer will comply with any provisions of the contract with respect to payment for the commodity and the furnishing of performance bond or other security acceptable to CCC.

Disposals and other handling of inventory items often result in small quantities at given locations or in qualities not up to specifications. These lots are offered by the appropriate ASCS office promptly upon appearance and therefore, generally, they do not appear in the Monthly Sales List.

On sales for which the buyer is required to submit proof to CCC of exportation, the buyer shall be regularly engaged in the business of buying or selling commodities and for this purpose shall maintain a bona fide business office in the United States, its territories or possessions and have a person, principal or resident agent upon whom service of judicial process may be had.

Prospective buyers for export should note that generally, sales to U.S. Government agencies, with only minor exceptions will constitute domestic unrestricted use of the commodity.

Commodity Credit Corporation reserves the right, before making any sales, to define or limit export areas.

The Department of Commerce, Bureau of International Commerce, pursuant to regulations under the Export Control Act of 1949, prohibits the exportation or reexportation by anyone of any commodities under this program to Cuba, the Soviet Bloc or Communist-controlled areas of the Far East including Communist China, North Korea, and the Communist-controlled area of Viet Nam except under validated license issued by the U.S. Department of Commerce, Bureau of International Commerce.

For all exportations, one of the destination control statements specified in Commerce Department Regulations (Comprehensive Export Schedule, § 379.10(c)) is required to be placed on all copies of the shipper's export declaration, all copies of the bill of lading, and all copies of the commercial invoices. For additional information as to which destination control statement to use, the exporter should communicate with the Bureau of International Commerce or one of the field offices of the Department of Commerce.

Exporters should consult the applicable Commerce Department regulations for more detailed information if desired and for any changes that may be made therein.

Sales Price or Method of Sale

WHEAT, BULK

Unrestricted use.

A. Storable. All classes of wheat in CCC inventory are available for sale at market price but not below 115 percent of the 1967 price-support loan rate for the class, grade, and protein of the wheat plus the markup shown in C below applicable to the type of carrier involved.

B. Nonstorable. At not less than market price, as determined by CCC.

C. Markup and examples (dollars per bushel—in-store).[1]

Markup in-store received by—		Examples—Agricultural Act of 1949; Stat. minimum
Truck	Rail or barge
$0.05½	$0.03	Minneapolis—No. 1 DNS ($1.56) 115 percent +$0.06, $1.67. Portland—No. 1 SW ($1.44) 115 percent +$0.03, $1.60. Kansas City—No. 1 HRW ($1.43) 115 percent +$0.03; $1.60. Chicago—No. 1 RW ($1.47) 115 percent +$0.03; $1.53.

Export.

A. CCC will sell limited quantities of Hard Red Winter and Hard Red Spring wheat at west coast ports at domestic market price levels for export under Announcement GR-345 (Revision III, July 6, 1962, as amended) as follows:

(1) Notice of foreign sale must be furnished CCC within 5 calendar days after purchase.

(2) Sales will be made only to fill dollar market sales abroad and exporter must show export from the west coast to a destination west of the 170th meridian, west longitude, and east of the 60th meridian, east longitude, and to countries on the west coast of Central and South America.

B. CCC will sell wheat for export under Announcement GR-361 (Revision III, Jan. 9, 1961, as amended and supplemented) subject to the following:

(1) All classes will be sold subject to offers which include the price at which the buyer proposes to purchase the wheat.

(2) All classes will be sold to fill dollar market sales abroad and exporter must show export from the west coast to a destination within the geographical limitation shown in A(2) above.

(3) All classes will be sold for application to barter contracts entered into pursuant to invitations for barter offers dated prior to 3:30 p.m., e.d.t., on August 26, 1966. However, CCC-owned wheat will not be sold for barter at west coast ports nor will evidence of export at west coast ports be acceptable under a sale for barter.

C. Announcement GR-262 (Revision II, Jan. 9, 1961, as amended) for export as flour as follows: All classes will be sold for application to barter contracts entered into pursuant to invitations for barter offers dated prior to 3:30 p.m., e.d.t., on August 26, 1966. However, sales for barter will not be made at west coast ports nor will evidence of export from west coast ports be acceptable under a sale for barter pursuant to this announcement.

CERTAIN HUMANELY SLAUGHTERED LIVESTOCK

Identification of Carcasses; List of Establishments

Pursuant to section 4 of the Act of August 27, 1958 (7 U.S.C. 1904), and the statement of policy thereunder in 9 CFR 381.1, the following table lists the establishments operated under Federal inspection pursuant to the Meat Inspection Act (21 U.S.C. 71 et seq.) which were officially reported on July 1, 1967, as humanely slaughtering and handling on that date the species of livestock respectively designated for such establishments in the table. Additions to and deletions from this list will be made from time to time, as the facts may warrant, by notices published in the FEDERAL REGISTER. The establishment number given with the name of the establishment is branded on each carcass of livestock inspected at that establishment. The table should not be understood to indicate that all species of livestock slaughtered at a listed establishment are slaughtered and handled by humane methods unless all species are listed for that establishment in the table. Nor should the table be understood to indicate that the affiliates of any listed establishment use only humane methods:

OFFICE OF BUSINESS ECONOMICS

Appendix A—Public Information

JULY 18, 1967.

This material amends the material appearing at 29 F.R. 11855-11856 of August 19, 1964.

A. Purpose. The purpose of this appendix is to describe, in general, the public information services of the Office of Business Economics, to describe the places at which and the methods whereby the public may obtain information, to inform the public as to the sources or availability of rules, regulations, procedures, instructions, forms, reports, or other requirements established by the Office of Business Economics which affect the public, and otherwise to comply with the requirements of section 552 of Title 5, U.S. Code, as amended by Public Law 90-23 (hereinafter referred to as the Act).

B. Public information services. .01 The major medium for dissemination of the product of the Office of Business Economics is its monthly publication Survey of Current Business, the volumes of which cover the past 40 years. This magazine reflects the activity of the Office in the following fields:

a. Preparation of national income and product data. Calculations are made of the gross national product, national income, personal income, and their components, providing an overall view of the state of the economy.

b. Analysis of business trends. The business situation is assessed monthly, and the results of continuing analyses of the major factors underlying cyclical developments and long-range business trends are published regularly.

c. Computation of the balance of international payments. The U.S. balance of international payments is determined and analyzed, and the official statistics of foreign expenditures by the U.S. Government are maintained.

.02 Publications issued as supplements to the Survey of Current Business range from a weekly four-page statistical interim report (included in the annual subscription) to major volumes of varying subject matter, size, and periodicity. Like the magazine itself, they are sold by the Superintendent of Documents, U.S. Government Printing Office, Washington, D.C. 20402.

.03 The annual volumes of the U.S. Government Organization Manual, also available from the Superintendent of Documents, list in an appendix the currently available publications of the Office. OBE publications are announced, as they go on sale, in the weekly Business Service Checklist issued by the Department of Commerce, Washington, D.C. 20230, and are listed in the Department's annual Catalog of Commerce Publications.

.04 All OBE publications can be examined at the library of the U.S. Department of Commerce in the Commerce Building, Washington, D.C., or by visiting the Office of Business Economics, which is located in its entirety in Washington. Since all of the Commerce Field Offices are accredited sales agencies of the Superintendent of Documents, they are in a position to sell copies when available as well as to make their library facilities and staff services available to persons seeking information originating in the Office of Business Economics. Their locations are to be found in local telephone directories, and are also shown on the inside front cover of each issue of the monthly Survey of Current Business, which is widely available in public, college and Chamber of Commerce libraries.

C. Guide to published rules and regulations. .01 Data are periodically collected by the Office of Business Economics as authorized by the Secretary under and/or subject to the provisions of (a) the Bretton Woods Agreements Act (59 Stat. 512, 22 U.S.C. 286 et seq.) and Executive Order 10033 of February 8, 1949 (14 F.R. 561) as amended, issued pursuant thereto; (b) the Federal Reports Act of 1942 (56 Stat. 1078, 5 U.S.C. 139 et seq.); and (c) the statutes codified at 15 U.S.C. 171 et seq. as modified by Reorganization Plan No. 5 of 1950, set out in Note under 5 U.S.C. 133a.

.02 Chapter VIII of Title 15 of the Code of Federal Regulations contains regulations of the Office of Business Economics with regard to reporting requirements in the field of foreign economic transactions.

.03 These rules contain all the matters required to be published by subsections 552(a)(1)(B) to 2(a)(1)(D) of the Act, except that copies of forms required, and instructions for their use, may be obtained from the Office of Business Economics, U.S. Department of Commerce, Washington, D.C. 20230.

D. Submittals and requests. .01 The established places to which reports or information required or requested by the Office of Business Economics are to be submitted are identified on the forms, schedules, or instructions specifying the information desired.

.02 In the event that additional time is needed to prepare reports requested by the Office of Business Economics, or further information is needed to clarify the request, or additional forms or instruction sheets are desired, application should be made to the Director, Office of Business Economics, U.S. Department of Commerce, Washington, D.C. 20230.

.03 Any member of the public desiring to make other submittals, or to obtain information with regard to the economic materials collected, analyzed, or distributed by the Office of Business Economics, or about any other functions or activities of the Office, should direct such submittals or requests to the Director, Office of Business Economics.

E. Final delegations of authority. The Director, Office of Business Economics, has made no delegation or redelegation of authority to officers or employees of the Office to take final actions, or make final decisions, with respect to requirements, submissions, or other matters arising under its published rules and regulations.

F. Inspection and copying of opinions and orders. All final opinions of the Office of Business Economics made in the adjudication of cases, statements of policy and interpretations not published in the FEDERAL REGISTER, administrative staff manuals and instructions to staff that affect a member of the public, and any other materials required to be made available for public inspection and copying by 5 U.S.C. 552(a)(2), are made available for such purposes at the Central Reference and Records Inspection Facility of the Department of Commerce, Room 2122, Commerce Building, 14th Street between Constitution Avenue and E Street NW., Washington, D.C. 20230. Rules prescribing public use of this facility are contained in Part 4, Title 15,

Code of Federal Regulations, and may also be obtained from the facility.

G. Inspection of Bureau records. Rules for persons desiring, pursuant to 5 U.S.C. 552(a)(3), to inspect records of the Office of Business Economics which are not available to the public as part of the regular public information services of the Office, are contained in Part 4, Title 15, Code of Federal Regulations. Application forms and instructions are available from the Central Reference and Records Inspection Facility of the Department of Commerce, or from any Field Office of the Office of Field Services, Department of Commerce.

DAVID R. BALDWIN,
Assistant Secretary for Administration.

BUSINESS AND DEFENSE SERVICES ADMINISTRATION

Appendix A—Public Information

JULY 18, 1967.

This material amends the material appearing at 30 F.R. 3393-3395 of March 13, 1965.

A. Purpose. The purpose of this appendix is to describe, in general, the public information services of the Business and Defense Services Administration (BDSA) to describe the places at which, and the methods whereby, the public may obtain information, to inform the public as to the sources or availability of rules, regulations, procedures, instructions, forms, or other requirements established by the Business and Defense Services Administration which affect the public, and otherwise to comply with the requirements of section 552, Title 5, U.S.C., as amended by Public Law 90-23, June 5, 1967 (81 Stat. 54) (hereinafter referred to as the Act).

B. Public information services. .01 BDSA provides the business community with a wide range of information on domestic and foreign industry, domestic markets, and business opportunities. This includes periodic and special reports and studies covering foreign market surveys, market analyses and trends, industry reports, input-output relationships between industries, international business opportunities, and analyses of data bearing on production, sales, employment, profits, and distribution.

.02 Publications of the Bureau are listed in the Annual Catalog of Commerce Publications and the weekly Business Service Checklist, both of which are available from the Field Offices of the Office of Field Services, Department of Commerce, or the U.S. Department of Commerce, Washington, D.C. 20230. In addition, BDSA publishes a BDSA Publications Booklet, which can be obtained from the U.S. Department of Commerce or the Field Offices of the Office of Field Services, Department of Commerce.

C. Guide to published rules and regulations. .01 Defense Production Act. Public orders and regulations issued in implementation of Title I (priorities and allocation powers) under the Defense Production Act of 1950, as amended (64 Stat. 798; 50 U.S.C. 2061 et seq.), are found in Title 32A, Code of Federal Regulations, Chapter VI. Appeals procedures under these orders and regulations are provided in BDSA Regulation 5 (which is also published in 32A CFR Ch. VI) and in Department Order 106.

.02 National Defense Executive Reserve. Departmental responsibilities for the National Defense Executive Reserve, as exercised by BDSA, are outlined in Department Order 163 (30 F.R. 12957). Selection procedures and criteria are found in the BDSA Operating Instruction Manual. Applications for participation in the NDER must be made on CD-174 which is available from the Director, Mobilization Readiness Staff, BDSA, U.S. Department of Commerce, Washington, D.C. 20230.

.03 Trade adjustment assistance. Rules and regulations for certification of eligibility to apply for trade adjustment assistance and for application for such assistance under the Trade Expansion Act of 1962 (76 Stat. 883-892; 19 U.S.C. 1901-1920) are contained in 48 CFR Part 310.

.04 Automotive Products Trade. Rules, procedures, and criteria for determination of bona fide motor vehicle manufacturers under the Automotive Products Trade Act of 1965 (79 Stat. 1025; 19 U.S.C. 3032) are found in 19 CFR 301.

.05 Foreign Excess Property. Rules, regulations, criteria for judgment, appeal procedure, and application for Foreign Excess Property Import Determination are found in 44 CFR Part 401.

.06 Florence Agreement—Importation of Educational, Scientific, and Cultural Materials. Rules and regulations concerning the processing by the Departments of Commerce and Treasury of applications for duty free entry of scientific instruments are published in the FEDERAL REGISTER at 32 F.R. 2433 et seq. These rules and any amendments thereto, are also contained in 15 CFR Part 602 and 19 CFR Part 10. They are issued pursuant to the Educational, Scientific, and Cultural Materials Importation Act of 1966 (80 Stat. 897; 19 U.S.C. 1202). The public may secure information, make submittals or requests and obtain decisions, with respect to the Department of Commerce's functions under the above Act from Director, Office of Scientific and Technical Equipment, Business and Defense Services Administration, Washington, D.C. 20230. However, applications for duty free entry of instruments, and resubmittals of applications denied without prejudice to resubmission, should be filed, as prescribed at 15 CFR 602, with the Commissioner of Customs, Attention: Tariff Classification Rulings, Washington, D.C. 20226. Application forms may be obtained from the Bureau of Customs, Washington, D.C. 20226, or from any District Director of Customs.

.07 Allocation of Watches and Watch Movement Quotas Among Producers Located in the Virgin Islands, Guam, and American Samoa (19 U.S.C. 1202, as amended by Public Law 89-805, Nov. 10, 1966). Requests for information concerning this activity, including forms for filing applications, may be obtained from the Director, Office of Scientific and Technical Equipment, Business and Defense Services Administration, Department of Commerce, Washington, D.C. 20230.

D. Submission of requests and applications. The established places at which and the methods whereby the public may make any submittals, applications, or requests concerning the programs listed in section C of this appendix are found in the rules and regulations cited therein.

E. [Reserved]

F. Inspection and copying of opinions and orders. All final opinions and orders made in the adjudication of cases, statements of policy and interpretations not published in the FEDERAL REGISTER, administrative staff manuals and instructions to staff that affect a member of the public; and any other materials required to be made available for public inspection and copying under section 552(a)(2) are made available for such purposes in the Central Reference and Records Inspection Facility of the Department of Commerce, Room 2122, Main Commerce Building, 14th Street between Pennsylvania Avenue and Constitution Avenue NW., Washington, D.C. 20230. Rules concerning the use of this Facility are contained in Part 4, Title 15, Code of Federal Regulations, or may be obtained from the facility.

G. Inspection of Bureau records. Rules for persons desiring, pursuant to section 552(a)(3), to inspect records not available to the public as part of the regular public information services of the Business and Defense Services Administration are contained in Part 4, Title 15, Code of Federal Regulations. Applications are available from the Central Reference and Records Inspection Facility of the Department of Commerce, or from the Field Offices of the Office of Field Services, Department of Commerce.

DAVID R. BALDWIN,
Assistant Secretary for Administration.

OFFICE OF FIELD SERVICES

Appendix B—Public Information

JULY 18, 1967.

This material amends the material appearing at 29 F.R. 5411-5412 of April 22, 1964 and 29 F.R. 12141 of August 26, 1964.

A. Purpose. The purpose of this appendix is to describe, in general, the public information services of the Office of Field Services, to identify the places at which, and the methods whereby, the public may obtain information provided by or through the Office of Field Services; the procedures established by the Office of Field Services for the administration of the "E" Award program; and otherwise to comply with the requirements of section 552, Title 5, U.S.C., as amended by Public Law 90-23, June 5, 1967 (81 Stat. 54) (hereinafter referred to as the Act).

B. Public information services. .01 The Office of Field Services, through its 42 Field Offices, disseminates information and carries out the field program of four major Department of Commerce agencies: Business and Defense Services Administration, Bureau of International Commerce, Office of Business Economics, and the Institute for Applied Technology of the National Bureau of Standards. It also disseminates Census Bureau data and acts as an information center for other Department of Commerce operating units having program responsibilities which affect the business community.

.02 The Office of Field Services issues a pamphlet, "Commerce Field Offices Help Business", which describes the services rendered by the Field Offices. It may be procured from any of the Field Offices, or from the Office of Field Services, U.S. Department of Commerce, Washington, D.C. 20230. Guides to publications catalogues and further listings of the major types of information available through the Field Offices of the Office of Field Services may be found in the Public Information Appendices to the Department orders of the operating units listed in paragraph .01 of this section.

.03 The Office of Field Services also publishes the "Commerce Business Daily" which helps American business firms keep abreast of Federal Government procurement and general contracting activity. It lists (by commodity and service) Government procurement invitations, subcontracting leads, contract awards, and sales of surplus property. This publication is sold by subscription by the Superintendent of Documents, Washington, D.C. 20402. Subscription blanks may be obtained from the Office of Field Services, U.S. Department of Commerce, Washington, D.C. 20230, or from any of the 42 Field Offices.

.04 The cities in which the 42 Field Offices are located are shown in Appendix A to this order.

C. Guide to published materials regarding the "E" Award Program. Executive Order 10978, which established Presidential awards ("E" Awards) for significant contributions to the export expansion program, is published in 3 CFR 1959-63, pp. 498-499. Requests for information concerning the rules and procedures involved in the administration of the "E" award program may be directed to any Field Office of the Office of Field Services, Department of Commerce or the Office of Field Services, U.S. Department of Commerce, Washington, D.C. 20230. Application forms may be secured from and submitted to the above sources.

D. Submission of requests and applications. .01 The Office of Field Services has established no requirements for the submission of forms, reports, or other information from the public, nor does it act for other organizations of the Department of Commerce in receiving such submittals.

.02 Requests for publications, information, or other services available from or through the Office of Field Services may be made to any of its Field Offices. No forms are required in obtaining these services.

E. Inspection and copying of opinions and orders. All final opinions and orders made in the adjudication of cases, statements of policy and interpretations not published in the FEDERAL REGISTER, administrative staff manuals and instructions to staff that affect a member of the public, and any other materials required to be made available for public inspection and copying under section 552(a)(2) are made available for such purposes in the Central Reference and Records Inspection Facility of the Department of Commerce, Room 2122, Main Commerce Building, 14th Street between Pennsylvania Avenue and Constitution Avenue NW., Washington, D.C. 20230. Rules concerning the use of this Facility are contained in Part 4, Title 15, Code of Federal Regulations, or may be obtained from the Facility.

F. Inspection of bureau records. Rules for persons desiring, pursuant to section 552(a)(3), to inspect records not available to the public as part of the regular public information services of the Office of Field Services are contained in Part 4, Title 15, Code of Federal Regulations. Applications are available from the Central Reference and Records Inspection Facility of the Department of Commerce, or from the Field Offices of the Office of Field Services, Department of Commerce.

DAVID R. BALDWIN,
Assistant Secretary for Administration.

U.S. TRAVEL SERVICE

Appendix A—Public Information

JULY 18, 1967.

This material amends the material appearing at 32 F.R. 6375 of April 22, 1967.

A. Purpose. The purpose of this appendix is to describe, in general, the public information services of the U.S. Travel Service, to describe the places at which, and the methods whereby, the public may obtain information, to inform the public as to the sources or availability of rules, regulations, procedures, instructions, forms, reports, or other requirements established by the U.S. Travel Service which affect the public, and otherwise to comply with the requirements of section 552 of Title 5, United States Code, as amended by Public Law 90-23 (hereinafter referred to as the Act).

B. Public information services. .01 A major function of the U.S. Travel Service (USTS) is to develop, and to disseminate to potential travelers abroad, attractive and useful information concerning the advantages of the United States as a travel destination, points of interest to foreign tourists, services available to foreigners, and official requirements for foreign visitors. This information is made available, both in English and in many foreign languages, through brochures, pamphlets, advertisements in foreign media, and other appropriate channels. Information concerning travel in the United States is also produced for the tourist industry, both abroad (e.g., foreign travel agencies) and domestically (e.g., local visitors bureaus). USTS publications are listed in the annual "Promotional Materials of U.S. Travel Service" which is available from the U.S. Travel Service, U.S. Department of Commerce, Washington, D.C. 20230. A semiannual report on the activities of USTS is available from the U.S. Department of Commerce, Washington, D.C. 20230, at 50 cents per copy.

.02 Most of the USTS publications produced for foreigners can also be obtained from the eleven USTS overseas offices, and in some cases, from the commercial staffs of U.S. embassies and consulates. Each USTS overseas office maintains a reference library for the use of the local travel industry and the general public. The library contains material about individual States, transportation guides, accommodations directories, U.S. Government regulations and formalities, listings of travel agencies and wholesale tour operators, tourist attractions, travel media, and the like. In those areas abroad which are not covered by USTS, potential visitors are invited to use the commercial reading rooms of our diplomatic and consular offices, and the libraries and information centers of U.S. Information Service offices throughout the world. Commercial, visa, and public affairs officers at our embassies and consulates disseminate travel information about the United States, and assist the local travel industry in arranging foreign travel to the United States.

.03 Any requests for information or other inquiry may also be sent to the Director, U.S. Travel Service, Department of Commerce, Washington, D.C. 20230.

C. Guide to published rules and regulations. The U.S. Travel Service has no rules and regulations affecting the public, nor does it require any submittals, reports, or other information from the public.

D. Inspection and copying of opinions and orders. Any materials of the U.S. Travel Service required to be made available for public inspection and copying pursuant to 5 U.S.C. 552(a)(2), are made available for such purposes at the Central Reference and Records Inspection Facility of the Department of Commerce, Room 2122, Commerce Building, Washington, D.C. 20230. Rules concerning the use of this facility are contained in Part 4, Title 15, Code of Federal Regulations, or may be obtained from the facility.

E. Inspection of Bureau records. Rules for persons desiring, pursuant to 5 U.S.C. 552(a)(3), to inspect records of the U.S.

Travel Service, which are not available to the public as part of the regular public information services of USTS, are contained in Part 4, Title 15, Code of Federal Regulations. Application forms and instructions are available from the facility, or from any Field Office of the Office of Field Services, Department of Commerce.

DAVID R. BALDWIN,
Assistant Secretary for Administration.

OFFICE OF ADMINISTRATION FOR DOMESTIC AND INTERNATIONAL BUSINESS

Appendix A—Public Information Appendix

JULY 18, 1967.

This material amends the material appearing at 31 F.R. 4170-4171 of March 9, 1966.

A. Purpose. The purpose of this appendix is to inform the public as to the operations of the U.S. Expositions Staff, and as to sources or availability of rules, regulations, forms and other requirements established by the Office of Administration for Domestic and International Business for the functions of the U.S. Expositions Staff, and otherwise to comply with the requirements of section 552, Title 5, U.S.C., as amended by Public Law 90-23, June 5, 1967 (81 Stat. 54) (hereinafter referred to as the Act).

B. U.S. expositions staff operations. .01 The U.S. Expositions Staff is responsible for coordination of U.S. Government participation in international expositions held in the United States or its territories; for preparing studies and reports preparatory for expositions; for applying appropriate criteria on U.S. participation; and for assuring that expositions will not jeopardize full international participation in the U.S. Bicentennial Exposition by violating standards and schedules of the Bureau of International Expositions. International exhibitions and world fairs are primarily cultural and educational in concept and U.S. participation is aimed at projecting an accurate and meaningful picture of the development of the economic, political and social life of the United States. They are typically longer and involve broader participation than trade fairs and expositions in which U.S. participation is an adjunct to the export promotion program or to implement the Mutual Educational and Cultural Exchange Act.

.02 The U.S. Expositions Staff, headed by a Director and Deputy Director, is organized on a functional basis to cover all phases of exposition planning, development, and operations. There is no permanent field organization. However, when a given pavilion is to be constructed, operated, and maintained, members of the U.S. Expositions Staff, supplemented by temporary employees hired in the field, are assigned to the location.

.03 In the preparation of studies and reports, the Staff has the advice and assistance of Interagency Committees whose members are appointed by appropriate agencies at the request of the Secretary of Commerce. Where criteria for participation are met, the committees also review theme development, story line, and preliminary design concepts.

.04 The legislation providing for Federal participation in some expositions calls for the appointment of a Commissioner for the U.S. Government pavilion. The tenure of the Commissioner is temporary and does not ordinarily exceed a period of from 2 months before opening date to 1 month after the closing date of the Federal exposition. The Commissioner is under the direction of the Secretary and normally is concerned with public relations, protocol, ceremony, and official representation.

C. Public information services. .01 There are no regular public information services generated by the organizational units performing administrative functions in the Office of Administration for Domestic and International Business. However, the public may make submittals for any information concerning these functions to the Director, Office of Administration for Domestic and International Business, U.S. Department of Commerce, Washington, D.C. 20230.

.02 The U.S. Expositions Staff publishes in International Commerce every 6 months (in June or July and in December) a list of the Trade Fairs in the United States. International Commerce may be purchased at the Field Offices of the Office of Field Services, Department of Commerce.

.03 The U.S. Expositions Staff provides no other regular information service to the public. It does, however, answer routine inquiries concerning its role in the administration of the Trade Fairs Act of 1959 (19 U.S.C. 1751-1756), and other relevant questions. Such inquiries should be directed to the Director, U.S. Expositions Staff, U.S. Department of Commerce, Washington, D.C. 20230.

D. Guide to published rules and regulations, trade fairs in the United States. .01 Under the Trade Fair Act of 1959 (19 U.S.C. 1751-1756), the operator of a designated fair is eligible for the privilege of duty-free entry of articles to be exhibited at the fair or used in the construction, installation, or maintenance of foreign exhibits at the fair. Rules for application for designation of a fair and criteria for judgment are found in 15 CFR Part 364. Applications are received by the U.S. Expositions Staff and are considered by the Trade Fair Act Committee which consists of representatives of the Department units having an interest in this area. This committee makes a recommendation to the Director, Office of Administration for Domestic and International Business who has the authority to sign letters to the Treasury Department granting the privileges provided by the Trade Fair Act.

.02 The U.S. Expositions Staff is responsible for rendering official U.S. Government assistance to sponsors of International Expositions held in the United States. Regulations governing this activity are published in 15 CFR Part 367.

E. Submissions of requests and applications. The established places at which and the methods whereby the public may make any submittals, applications, or requests concerning the Trade Fair Act program administered by the U.S. Expositions Staff are found in the rules and regulations cited in section D.01 of this appendix.

F. Final delegations of authority. The authority to designate a fair under the provisions of the Trade Fair Act of 1959 (19 U.S.C. 1751-1756) has been delegated to the Director, Office of Administration for Domestic and International Business.

G. Inspection and copying of opinions and orders. All final opinions and orders made in the adjudication of cases, statements of policy and interpretations not published in the FEDERAL REGISTER, administrative staff manuals and instructions to staff that affect a member of the public, and any other materials required to be made available for public inspection and copying under section 552(a)(2) are made available for such purposes in the Central Reference and Records Inspection Facility of the Department of Commerce, Room 2122, Main Commerce Building, 14th Street between Pennsylvania Avenue and Constitution Avenue NW., Washington, D.C. 20230. Rules concerning the use of this Facility are contained in Part 4, Title 15, Code of Federal Regulations, or may be obtained from the Facility.

H. Inspection of Bureau records. Rules for persons desiring, pursuant to section 552(a)(3), to inspect records not available to the public as part of the regular public information services of Office of Administration for Domestic and International Business are contained in Part 4, Title 15, Code of Federal Regulations. Applications are available from the Central Reference and Records Inspection Facility of the Department of Commerce, or from the Field Offices of the Office of Field Services, Department of Commerce.

CIVIL AERONAUTICS BOARD

[Docket No. 18778; Order No. E-25477]

JET AIR FREIGHT

Order of Tentative Approval

Adopted by the Civil Aeronautics Board at its office in Washington, D.C., on the 1st day of August 1967.

Application of Jet Air Freight (formerly Jet Transportation, Inc.), Docket 18778; for approval without a hearing of a merger under section 408 of the Federal Aviation Act of 1958, as amended.

By application filed July 11, 1967,[1] Jet Air Freight, formerly Jet Transportation, Inc. doing business as Jet Air Freight (Jet)[2] requested approval without a hearing pursuant to section 408 of the Federal Aviation Act of 1958, as amended (the Act), of a proposed merger with Speedway Trucking Co. (Speedway) and International Airfreight, Inc., doing business as Jet International (International). Jet will acquire and subsequently cancel all of the shares of each of the latter corporations in exchange for new shares to be issued by Jet as the survivor corporation.

Jet, Speedway, and International are all California corporations. Jet is a domestic and international airfreight forwarder and an IATA air cargo sales agent. International holds an ocean freight forwarder license issued by the Federal Maritime Commission and operates as an ocean freight forwarding broker in the utilization of harbor truckers to pick up and deliver freight to ocean carriers with which it books shipments. It is also an IATA air cargo sales agent, but is presently inactive, has never operated under its appointment, and contemplates cancellation of its appointment when the proposed merger becomes effective.

Speedway is an intrastate motor carrier which holds various permits issued by the Public Utilities Commission of California,[3] is authorized to operate within a 150-mile radius of Los Angeles, and provides pickup and delivery service of freight under an exclusive contract with Jet in furtherance of the latter's intrastate, interstate, and international air freight forwarding operations. The applicant states that Speedway was started for the sole purpose of providing delivery and pickup services for Jet in the Los Angeles area and has operated under this arrangement since its formation; Speedway performs at Jet's direction; Jet's employees dispatch Speedway's trucks which are driven by Speedway's employees; and Speedway provides insurance coverage for all Speedway trucks and Jet provides insurance coverage for all cargo carried by Speedway trucks. The applicant further states that Speedway, although it does not advertise for, nor solicit business from the general public, is not restricted to operate exclusively for Jet, and either party may terminate the contract upon 90 days' notice to the other party. Jet and Speedway are both controlled by Julius Wagner and his wife, and by Sam Moldave and his wife, and Jet owns 20 percent of the issued and outstanding shares of International.

Pursuant to, and as a part of the proposed merger, Jet will be recapitalized by increasing its authorized capital stock from 1,000 to 1 million shares of common stock, of which approximately 325,000 shares will be issued and outstanding. Each outstanding share of Jet (580 shares) will be reconstructed and split up into 252.16 shares of the new common stock of Jet; each outstanding share of Speedway (6⅔ shares) will be converted into 17,961.95 shares of the survivor corporation; and each outstanding share of International (1,000 shares) will be converted into 81.25 shares of Jet, the survivor corporation. The present outstanding shares of each corporation will be canceled and all properties of each corporation, subject to their respective liabilities, will become vested in the survivor corporation. It is noted that the preexisting controls of Jet and Speedway by the Wagner and Moldave families will be continued in the survivor corporation by reason of their being the two largest shareholders of Jet with 45.23 percent of the stock being divided almost equally between them.

The application states that the proposed merger will enhance the survivor company's financial position and present any potential services to the public in comparison with prospects for each constituent company alone, and that Jet as the survivor corporation would then be able to compete more vigorously in the airfreight forwarding business. The applicant contends that the proposed merger would be consistent with the public interest, and would otherwise meet the Board's requirements for approval without a hearing pursuant to the third proviso of section 408(b) of the Act.

Upon consideration of the application[4] the Board concludes that Jet is an air carrier, and Speedway is a common carrier within the meaning of section 408 of the Act and that the merger of Speedway into Jet is subject to that section.[5] However, the Board has further concluded tentatively that the proposed merger does not affect a carrier directly engaged in the operation of aircraft in air transportation, does not result in a monopoly, and does not restrain competition. Furthermore, no person disclosing a substantial interest in the proceeding is currently requesting a hearing. The proposed merger is basically similar to other control relationships involving air freight forwarders and direct surface carriers holding limited operating rights, and which have been approved by the Board. In this instance, Speedway is authorized to operate solely within California. Thus, the instant application does not present any new substantive issues not heretofore considered by the Board.[6] On the basis of the facts as they exist today, approval of the merger would not be inconsistent with the public interest. Of course, if the surface rights of the merged company should be expanded to include interstate authority, new policy questions would be posed. Consequently, any approval granted herein will continue only so long as the merged carrier's direct surface carrier rights are intrastate in scope.[7]

In view of the foregoing, the Board tentatively finds that the merger should be approved without hearing under the provisions of section 408(b) of the Act. In accordance therewith, this order, constituting a notice of the Board's tentative finding, will be published in the FEDERAL REGISTER and interested persons will be afforded an opportunity to file comments or request a hearing on the Board's tentative decision.

Accordingly, it is ordered:

1. That the Attorney General of the United States be furnished a copy of this order within 1 day of its publication;

2. That interested parties are hereby afforded a period of ten (10) days within which to file comments or request a hearing with respect to the Board's proposed action on the application in Docket 18778,[8]; and

3. That, to the extent not granted, the application is dismissed.

This order will be published in the FEDERAL REGISTER.

By the Civil Aeronautics Board.

HAROLD R. SANDERSON,
Secretary.

[F.R. Doc. 67-9109; Filed, Aug 3, 1967; 8:48 a.m.]

[1] The application was supplemented by letters of July 17, 18, 21, and 24, 1967, and amended on July 20, 1967, and supplemented on July 24, 1967.

[2] An application for change of name has been filed with the Board, Docket 18798.

[3] As an agent for shippers of ocean freight, International is not considered a common carrier by the Federal Maritime Commission, nor does it appear to be a common carrier within the meaning of section 408 of the Act. Similarly, under the facts set forth above, International does not appear to be a person engaged in a phase of aeronautics within the meaning of this section.

[4] The permits authorize Speedway to operate as a "radial highway common carrier" (No. 19-54374), a "highway contract carrier" (No. 19-54375), and a city carrier (No. 19-54376).

[5] It appears that the common control and interlocking relationships involving Jet, Speedway, and the Wagner and Moldave families jointly have been in effect since July 18, 1960. Nevertheless, it has been decided not to enforce the doctrine expressed in the Sherman Control and Interlocking Relationships, 15 CAB 876 (1952) and to consider the application on its merits.

[6] Our action herein does not extend to International since International is not deemed to be subject to the Act.

[7] Cf. Skymaster, Inc., et al., Docket 18518, Order E-25375, July 3, 1967.

[8] If Jet or the owners of Jet establish or acquire a company and such company has or acquires direct surface operating rights in interstate transportation, relationships covered by section 408 would exist and appropriate relief by the Board would be required.

[9] Comments shall conform to the requirements of the Board's rules of practice. Further, since an opportunity to file comments is provided for, petitions for reconsideration of this order will not be entertained.

AMERICANA BROADCASTING CORP. AND LOYOLA UNIVERSITY

Order Designating Applications for Consolidated Hearing on Stated Issues

In re applications of Americana Broadcasting Corp., New Orleans, La., Requests: 101.9 mc, No. 270; 50 kw; 410 ft., Docket No. 17607, File No. BPH-5404; Loyola University, New Orleans, La., Requests: 101.9 mc, No. 270; 50 kw; 830 ft., Docket No. 17608, File No. BPH-5466; for construction permits.

1. The Commission has under consideration the above-captioned and described applications which are mutually exclusive in that operation by the applicants as proposed would result in mutually destructive interference.

2. Consideration of the programing proposals is required because of the substantial and material difference between the proposals in the amount of AM programing to be duplicated. Americana Broadcasting Corp. proposes 50 percent duplication while Loyola University proposes a maximum of 19 percent duplication. Therefore, evidence regarding program duplication will be admissible under the standard comparative issue. The showing permitted under the standard comparative issue when duplicated programing is proposed will be limited to evidence concerning the benefits to be derived from the proposed duplication, and a full comparison of the applicants' program proposals will not be permitted in the absence of a specific programing inquiry—Jones T. Sudbury ------ FCC 2d ------, FCC 67-614 (1967). Nevertheless, the parties are free to seek enlargement of the issues to include a special programing issue—see Chapman Radio and Television Co. (7 FCC 2d, 213, FCC 67-234 (1967) and Jones T. Sudbury, supra.

3. Neither applicant would be able to provide a 3.16-mv/m signal to the entire city of New Orleans as required by § 73.315(a) of the Commission's rules. In both cases this inability results from the fact that the city is about 34 miles wide. The small portion not receiving the required signal is primarily an unpopulated swamp. Under these circumstances, we have determined that waiver of this provision is appropriate and will condition a grant of either application accordingly.

4. Each of the applicants are qualified to construct and operate as proposed. However, because of their mutual exclusivity, the Commission is unable to make a statutory finding that a grant of the subject applications would serve the public interest, convenience, and necessity, and is of the opinion that they must be designated for hearing in a consolidated proceeding on the issues set forth below.

It is ordered, That, pursuant to section 309(e) of the Communications Act of 1934, as amended, the applications are designated for hearing in a consolidated proceeding, at a time and place to be specified in a subsequent Order, upon the following issues:

1. To determine which of the proposals would better serve the public interest.

2. To determine in the light of the evidence adduced pursuant to the foregoing issue, which of the applications for construction permit should be granted.

It is further ordered, That to avail themselves of the opportunity to be heard, the applicants, pursuant to § 1.221(c) of the Commission's rules, in person or by attorney shall, within 20 days of the mailing of this order, file with the Commission in triplicate, a written appearance stating an intention to appear on the date fixed for the hearing and present evidence on the issues specified in this order.

It is further ordered, That the applicants herein shall, pursuant to section 311(a)(2) of the Communications Act of 1934, as amended, and § 1.594 of the Commission's rules, give notice of the hearing, either individually or, if feasible and consistent with the rules, jointly, within the time and in the manner prescribed in such rule, and shall advise the Commission of the publication of such notice as required by § 1.594(g) of the rules.

Adopted: July 19, 1967.

Released: July 31, 1967.

AUGUSTA TELECASTERS, INC., AND GEORGIA-CAROLINA INDUSTRIES, INC.

Order Designating Applications for Consolidated Hearing on Stated Issues

In re applications of: Augusta Telecasters, Inc., Augusta, Ga., Docket No. 17611, File No. BPCT-3840; Georgia-Carolina Industries, Inc., Augusta, Ga., Docket No. 17612, File No. BPCT-3894; for construction permit for new television broadcast station.

1. The Commission has before it for consideration the above-captioned applications each requesting a construction permit for a new television broadcast station to operate on Channel 26, Augusta, Ga.

2. The transmitter proposed by Augusta Telecasters, Inc., has not been type-accepted by the Commission. Accordingly, in the event of a grant of the application of Augusta Telecasters, Inc., the grant shall be made subject to the condition that, prior to licensing, the permittee shall submit acceptable data for type acceptance of the proposed transmitter in accordance with § 73.640 of the Commission's rules.

3. The applicants are qualified to construct, own and operate the proposed new television broadcast station. The applications are, however, mutually exclusive in that operation by the applicants as proposed would result in mutually destructive interference. The Commission, is therefore, unable to make the statutory finding that a grant of the applications would serve the public interest, convenience and necessity, and is of the opinion that they must be designated for hearing in a consolidated proceeding on the issues set forth below.

It is ordered, That, pursuant to section 309(e) of the Communications Act of 1934, as amended, the above-captioned applications of Augusta Telecasters, Inc., and Georgia-Carolina Industries, Inc., are designated for hearing in a consolidated proceeding at a time and place to be specified in a subsequent order, upon the following issues:

1. To determine which of the proposals would best serve the public interest.

2. To determine, in the light of the evidence adduced pursuant to the foregoing issue, which of the applications should be granted.

It is further ordered, That, in the event of a grant of the application of Augusta Telecasters, Inc., such grant shall be made subject to the condition that, prior to licensing, the permittee shall submit acceptable data for type acceptance of its proposed transmitter in accordance with the requirements of § 73.640 of the Commission's rules.

It is further ordered, That, to avail themselves of the opportunity to be heard, the applicants herein, pursuant to § 1.221(c) of the Commission's rules, in person or by attorney, shall within 20 days of the mailing of this order, file with the Commision, in triplicate a written appearance stating an intention to appear on the date fixed for the hearing and present evidence on the issues specified in this order.

It is further ordered, That, the applicants herein shall, pursuant to section 311(a)(2) of the Communications Act of 1934, as amended, and § 1.594 of the Commisison's rules, give notice of the hearing, either individually or if feasible, jointly, within the time and in the manner prescribed in such rule, and shall advise the Commission of the publication of such notice as required by § 1.594(g) of the rules.

The Hearing Examiner having under consideration the joint "Motion for Continuance" filed on July 28, 1967 by the above-entitled applicants, requesting that the presently scheduled prehearing conference and hearing be continued;

It appearing, that the Commission's Order of Designation made Eastern Oklahoma Television Co., Inc., licensee of Station KTEN, and Texoma Broadcasters, Inc., licensee of KXII, parties to the above proceeding; and

It further appearing, that agreement has been reached between Mesa, Vumore, KTEN, and KXII that will resolve several of the issues designated for hearing, thus eliminating the necessity for hearing or substantially reducing the time required for such hearing; and

It further appearing, that counsel for KTEN, KXII, and the Broadcast Bureau have advised that they have no objection to the requested continuance, and that good cause has been shown for a grant thereof;

It is ordered, That the joint "Motion for Continuance" noted above, be, and the same is, hereby granted; that the prehearing conference presently scheduled for July 31, 1967, be, and the same is, hereby continued to September 18, 1967 at 9 a.m., and that the hearing presently scheduled for September 11, 1967, be, and the same is, hereby continued to a date to be set at the aforementioned prehearing conference.

MILTON BROADCASTING CO.

Order Designating Application for Hearing on Stated Issues

In re application of Clayton W. Mapoles, tr/as Milton Broadcasting Co., Docket No. 17613, File No. BR-2983; for renewal of license of Station WEBY, Milton, Fla.

1. The Commission has before it for consideration (1) the above-captioned application for renewal of license of Station WEBY, Milton, Fla.; (2) Commission correspondence with the licensee and others; and (3) the Commission's field inquiry with respect to the operation of Station WEBY.

2. The Commission's inquiry into certain matters asserted in correspondence to the Commission and into the operation of WEBY raises a number of serious questions bearing upon whether Milton

[1] Commissioners Bartley and Loevinger absent.

Broadcasting Co. possesses the qualifications to remain the licensee of WEBY.

3. In view of these questions the Commission is unable to find that a grant of the above-captioned application would serve the public interest, convenience, and necessity and must, therefore, designate this application for a hearing.

4. Accordingly, it is ordered, That pursuant to section 309(e) of the Communications Act of 1934, as amended, the above-captioned application for renewal of license is designated for a hearing to be held at Milton, Fla., at a time to be specified in a subsequent order, upon the following issues:

(1) To determine the facts and circumstances surrounding the broadcast of editorial or other comment concerning John C. Boles over Station WEBY on April 22, 1966;

(2) To determine whether in written statements to the Commission the applicant or its agents, employees or representatives misrepresented facts to the Commission and/or lacked candor;

(3) To determine whether during April 1966 the applicant complied with the fairness doctrine (a) by furnishing to persons attacked transcripts, recordings or summaries of personal attacks broadcast during presentation of views on controversial issues of public importance, together with offers of reasonable opportunity to respond over the applicant's facilities, and (b) by furnishing to candidates opposed in editorials broadcast by the station, transcripts, recordings, or summaries of such editorials together with offers of reasonable opportunity for the candidates or their spokesmen to respond over the applicant's facilities;

(4) To determine whether the licensee operated its station in violation of the provisions of § 73.112(a) (1) (iii);

(5) To determine whether in light of the evidence adduced under the foregoing issues, the applicant has the necessary qualifications to continue to be the licensee of Station WEBY;

(6) To determine whether in light of all the evidence a grant of the application for renewal of the license of Station WEBY would serve the public interest, convenience, and necessity.

It is further ordered, That the Chief, Broadcast Bureau, proceed with the initial introduction of evidence with respect to issues 1 through 4 to delineate the facts in issue. See D & E Broadcasting Co., 1 FCC 2d 78; 5 RR 2d 475 (1965). Following the Bureau's initial presentation, the applicant will then proceed with his evidence under the issues.

It is further ordered, That, pursuant to section 309(e) of the Communications Act of 1934, as amended, the Chief, Broadcast Bureau, is directed to serve upon the applicant a Bill of Particulars setting forth the charges relating to the above issues. See Dispatch, Inc., 10 RR 1190.

It is further ordered, That, to avail himself of the opportunity to be heard, the applicant herein, pursuant to § 1.221 of the Commission's rules, in person or by attorney, shall within 20 days of the mailing of this order, file with the Commission, in triplicate, a written appearance stating an intention to appear on the date fixed for the hearing and present evidence on the issues specified in this order.

It is further ordered, That the applicant herein shall, pursuant to section 311(a) (2) of the Communications Act of 1934, as amended, and § 1.594 of the Commission's rules, give notice of the hearing within the time and in the manner prescribed in such Rule and shall advise the Commission thereof as required by § 1.594 of the rules.

Adopted: July 19, 1967.

Released: Aug. 1, 1967.

[Docket Nos. 17609, 17610; FCC 67-853]

MINSHALL BROADCASTING CO., INC., AND UNIVERSITY CITY TELEVISION CABLE CO., INC.

Order Designating Applications for Consolidated Hearing on Stated Issues

In re applications of: Minshall Broadcasting Co., Inc., Gainesville, Fla., Docket No. 17609, File No. BPCT-3879; University City Television Cable Co., Inc., Gainesville, Fla., Docket No. 17610, File No. BPCT-3939; for Construction Permit for New Television Broadcast Station.

1. The Commission has before it for consideration the above-captioned applications each requesting a construction permit for a new television broadcast station to operate on Channel 20, Gainesville, Fla.

2. With respect to the issues specified below the following considerations are pertinent:

Based on the information contained in the application of University City Television Cable Co., Inc., cash in the amount of $273,562 will be needed for the construction and first-year operation of the proposed station, consisting of cost of equipment—$137,812; building—$10,750, other items—$5,500; first-year cost of operation—$120,000. To meet the cash requirements, the applicant relies upon the availability of $280,000 in loans from its four principal stockholders. While the applicant has established the availability of a $70,000 loan from J. D. Cutlip, it has failed to demonstrate how Ralph Shepler, Harry H. Harkins, and C. W. Thornley will obtain liquid and current assets (as defined in section III, Paragraph 4(d), FCC Form 301) in excess of current liabilities in sufficient amount for each stockholder to meet his commitment to loan $70,000 to the applicant. Furthermore, while the applicant estimates first-year revenues of $150,000, it has not submitted any data in an effort to support such an estimate. Accordingly, financial issues have been specified.

3. Since the principals of University City Television Cable Co., Inc., own CATV systems and the Commission has issued a Notice of Inquiry into Developing Patterns of Ownership in the CATV Industry, Docket No. 17371, 7 FCC 2d 853, in the event of a grant of the application of University City Television Cable Co., Inc., the grant shall be made without prejudice to whatever action the Commission may deem appropriate as a result of the pending proceeding in Docket No. 17371.

4. There appears to be a significant disparity in the proposed Grade B contours of the applications. In accordance with the Commission's policy, evidence with respect to which of the proposals would represent a more efficient use of the frequency may be adduced under the comparative issue.[2]

5. Minshall Broadcasting Co., Inc. proposes to locate its main studios outside of the corporate limits of Gainesville, Fla., at its transmitter site, which is located approximately 5½ miles from Gainesville. The applicant states that the combined studio-transmitter location will result in a more efficient operation and therefore enable the applicant to decrease its cost of operation. The applicant also states that the proposed studio location is easily accessible by a paved state highway. We believe that good cause has been shown for so locating the main studios and that the location proposed would not be inconsistent with operation of the station in the public interest. We will provide, therefore, that in the event of a grant of the application of Minshall Broadcasting Co., Inc., the Commission's consent to the location will be granted, pursuant to § 73.613(b) of the rules.

6. Minshall Broadcasting Co., Inc., is qualified to construct, own and operate the proposed new television broadcast station and, except as indicated by the issues set forth below, University City Television Cable Co., Inc., is qualified to construct, own and operate the proposed new television broadcast station. The applications are, however, mutually exclusive in that operation by the applicants as proposed would result in mutually destructive interference. The Commission is, therefore, unable to make the statutory finding that a grant of the applications would serve the public interest, convenience and necessity, and is of the opinion that they must be designated for hearing in a consolidated proceeding on the issues set forth below.

It is ordered, That, pursuant to section 309(e) of the Communications Act of 1934, as amended, the above-captioned applications of Minshall Broadcasting Co., Inc., and University City Television Cable Co., Inc., are designated for hearing in a consolidated proceeding at a time and place to be specified in a subsequent order, upon the following issues:

1. To determine with respect to the application of University City Television Cable Co., Inc.:

(a) Whether Ralph Shepler, Harry H. Harkins, and C. W. Thornley have liquid and current assets (as defined in section III, Paragraph 4(d), FCC Form 301) in excess of current liabilities in sufficient amounts to meet their respective commitments to loan $70,000 each to the applicant.

(b) Whether, in the light of the evidence adduced pursuant to the foregoing, University City Television Cable Co., Inc., is financially qualified.

2. To determine which of the proposals would better serve the public interest.

3. To determine, in the light of the evidence adduced pursuant to the foregoing issues, which of the applications should be granted.

It is further ordered, That, in the event of a grant of the application of Minshall Broadcasting Co., Inc., the applicant's request, pursuant to § 73.613(b) of the Commission's rules to locate its main studios outside of the corporate limits of Gainesville, Fla., shall be granted.

It is further ordered, That, in the event of a grant of the application of University City Television Cable Co., Inc., the grant shall be without prejudice to whatever action the Commission may deem appropriate as a result of the pending proceeding in Docket No. 17371.

It is further ordered, That, to avail themselves of the opportunity to be heard, the applicants herein, pursuant to § 1.221(c) of the Commission's rules, in person or by attorney, shall within twenty (20) days of the mailing of this order, file with the Commission, in triplicate a written appearance stating an intention to appear on the date fixed for the hearing and present evidence on the issues specified in this order.

It is further ordered, That, the applicants herein shall, pursuant to section 311(a) (2) of the Communications Act of 1934, as amended, and § 1.594 of the Commission's rules, give notice of the hearing, either individually or if feasible, jointly, within the time and in the manner prescribed in such rule, and shall advise the Commission of the publication of such notice as required by §1.594(g) of the rules.

VIRGINIA BROADCASTERS ET AL.

Memorandum Opinion and Order Designating Applications for Consolidated Hearing on Stated Issues

In re applications of Kenneth S. Bradby and Gilbert L. Granger, doing business as Virginia Broadcasters, Williamsburg, Va., Docket No. 17604, File No. BP-16829, Requests: 1110 kc, 250 w, Day, Class II; Charles E. Springer and Rose Mae Springer, his wife, doing business as Suffolk Broadcasters, Suffolk, Va., Docket No. 17606, File No. BP-17274, Requests: 1110 kc, 250 w, Day, Class II; James River Broadcasting Corp., Norfolk, Va., Requests: 1110 kc, 50 kw, DA-Day, Class II; for construction permits.

1. The Commission has before it for consideration (a) the above applications of Virginia Broadcasters and Charles E. Springer and Rose Mae Springer, his wife, doing business as Suffolk Broadcasters, both of which have been accepted for filing; (b) the James River proposal, which has not been accepted for filing; (c) a "Petition for Reconsideration and Reinstatement of Application Nunc Pro Tunc as of May 31, 1966, and For Other Relief", filed November 30, 1966, by James River; (d) a "Petition To Reject [the James River] application", as supplemented, filed August 16, 1966, by KFAB Broadcasting Company, licensee of Station KFAB, Omaha, Nebraska; and (e) pleadings in opposition and reply to the aforementioned petitions. If accepted for filing, the James River proposal would be mutually exclusive with the other two applications and entitled to consolidation with them.

2. The James River application was tendered for filing on May 27, 1966—4 days prior to the published cut-off date (May 31, 1966) of the lead application, Virginia Broadcasters. However, the application was returned as unacceptable for filing because of excessive daytime skywave radiation (§ 73.187 of the rules). In its petition, James River asks that the Commission (i) set aside its action (by letter of November 2, 1966) returning the application; or (ii) waive the provisions of section 1.227 to permit comparative consideration with the Springer and Broadcasters proposals; or (iii) accept the application nunc pro tunc May 31, 1966.

3. On August 19, 1966, James River tendered an amendment purporting to correct the original defect by reducing radiation to protect the 0.1 mv/m groundwave contour of Station KFAB (1110 kc, 50 kw, DA-N, U) during critical hours in accordance with the provisions of § 73.187. James River's position is that its application should have been accepted as timely filed on the grounds that (i) since it was substantially complete, it was erroneously returned; (ii) return of the application without hearing abrogated its Ashbacker rights[1]; (iii) it should not be held responsible for an error by its consulting engineer; and (iv) return of the proposal would deprive the Commission of a choice between Norfolk and the other two cities under section 307(b) of the Communications Act of 1934, as amended.

4. James River's argument that its application was substantially complete and lacking only in some minor respects is not well founded and cases cited in support of this contention[2] are not pertinent. They involved defects such as failure to submit copies of corporate bylaws and articles of incorporation; failure to submit adequate balance sheets; failure to comply with State security laws; failure to give exact street address of studio; and minor variations in transmitter site coordinates. The Commission has always permitted applicants to correct these types of deficiencies after acceptance and even by amendment after designation for hearing. In none of the cases cited was a question of protection of an existing station involved. On the other hand, James River violated an important technical standard which specifically bars all proposals that do not provide adequate daytime skywave protection for Class I stations.

5. James River's contention that it was not afforded its Ashbacker rights is likewise ill-founded. In that case the court stated that "where two bona fide applications are mutually exclusive the grant of one without a hearing to both deprives the loser of the opportunity which Congress chose to give him". Clearly, defective or untimely applications are not entitled to consolidation under Ashbacker; Ranger et al. (Radio Cabrillo) v. FCC, 21 RR 2030 (1961); Kittyhawk Broadcasting Corp., 7 FCC 2d 153, 9 RR 2d 709 (1967).

6. With respect to James River's argument that return of its proposal would deprive the Commission of the opportunity of making a 307(b) choice between Norfolk and the other two cities, we find that whatever merit this argument has would also attach to countless potential applications for other communities. This, of course, would leave the Commission's cut-off and consolidation procedures a shambles. Even if the operation of 307(b) were our sole consideration, we note that Norfolk itself has four standard broadcast stations and the Norfolk-Portsmouth S.M.S.A. has seven.

7. The question of whether an applicant should be penalized because of an error of its consulting engineer was also raised in Natick Broadcast Associates, Inc., 6 FCC 2d 607, 9 RR 2d 360 (1967). There, under strikingly similar circumstances, we stated:

> If applicants were to be saved from the consequences of defects in their applications, merely because the defective portions of their applications were prepared by engineering consultants rather than themselves, it is reasonable to assume that—as in Gresham's law—engineering work of poorer quality would tend to drive out costlier but more carefully prepared engineering submissions.

The rationale in Natick is perhaps even more appropriate in the present case, because the engineer involved is an officer, director and five percent stockholder of James River as well as the son of its president and majority stockholder.

8. In summary, we find that, since the proposal as originally tendered violated § 73.187, it was "patently not in accordance with the Commission's rules" within the meaning of § 1.566 and was properly returned as unacceptable. Although the amendment tendered August 19, 1966, corrected the engineering defect, it did not do so until after the lead application's cut-off date. As a result, the application was not timely filed under § 1.571(c) and was not entitled to consolidation under § 1.227(b) of the rules. If James River had not decided to delay its filing until shortly before Virginia Broadcasters' cut-off date, perhaps the defect could have been remedied in time. But, the plight of which it complains is of its own making; and public interest considerations can hardly be said to weigh in favor of the procedural disarray that would result from its acceptance. Natick Broadcast Associates, Inc., supra. Thus, the James River petition will be denied and its application returned. In light of this ruling, it will not be necessary to discuss specifically the petition to reject by Station KFAB and their pleadings will be dismissed as moot.

9. We turn now to the two remaining mutually exclusive applications. An examination of the Virginia Broadcasters application indicates that a total of $60,580 is needed to construct and operate the proposed station for a period of 1 year without revenues.[1] Virginia shows $1,000 in available assets of the partnership, and proposes to obtain the remainder of the necessary funds through various assets of one of the partners, Gilbert L. Granger, who states in a letter dated July 8, 1965, that such funds will come from liquidation of marketable common stocks, personal earnings, and a loan on his Richmond Road property. Although the application includes a written loan offer to Mr. & Mrs. Granger from the Williamsburg Savings and Loan in the amount of $18,800 on the Richmond Road property, it is dated May 4, 1965, states that it is valid for 10 days only, and therefore cannot be considered valid at this time. Furthermore, the Grangers' balance sheet is no longer current. Therefore, the Commission cannot determine the amount of liquid assets which would be available to finance construction and operation of the proposed station.

10. Examination of the Springer application indicates that the proposed 5 mv/m contour of this proposal penetrates the geographic boundary of the city of Chesapeake, Va. The population (1960 census) of Chesapeake (73,647) is over 50,000, and is more than twice that of Suffolk (12,609). Accordingly, a presumption of intent to serve the larger community arises under the Commission's Policy Statement on Section 307(b) Considerations for Standard Broadcast Facilities Involving Suburban Communities, 2 FCC 2d 190, 6 RR 2d 1901. On February 14, 1967, the applicant submitted data for the purpose of rebutting the presumption.

11. After examination of the material submitted, the Commission finds that Springer has demonstrated its intention to serve its specified station location rather than Chesapeake. The proposed 5 mv/m contour covers only 11 square miles (having a population of 28) of the city of Chesapeake. The area penetrated is part of the Great Dismal Swamp which occupies the westerly third of Chesapeake and the easterly third of Nansemond County, of which Suffolk is the approximate geographical center. Chesapeake, which came into being as a city on January 1, 1963, through a merger of Norfolk County and the city of South Norfolk, although rather large in area (344 square miles) is not a metropolitan community in the usual or conventional sense. The city of Chesapeake is roughly rectangular, extending from 16 to 19 miles in a north-south direction and from 13 to 31 miles in an east-west direction. Most of the area is sparsely populated farmland or swamp with a density of approximately 22 persons per square mile. All the business and industrial areas of the city lie within the boundaries of the former city of South Norfolk, which has a density of 3,150 persons per square mile.[2] South Norfolk is about 20 miles from Suffolk and is not even penetrated by the applicant's 2 mv/m contour. Thus, because of the unusual nature and demographic makeup of Chesapeake we believe that a 307(b) suburban communities issue is not called for in this instance.

12. The Commission finds that, except as indicated by the issues specified below, Virginia Broadcasters and Charles E. Springer and Rose Mae Springer, his wife, doing business as Suffolk Broadcasters, are qualified to construct and operate as proposed. However, since their proposals are mutualy exclusive, they must be designated for hearing in a consolidated proceeding upon the issues set forth below.

Accordingly, it is ordered, That pursuant to section 309(e) of the Communications Act of 1934, as amended, the applications are designated for hearing in a consolidated proceeding, at a time and place to be specified in a subsequent order, upon the following issues:

1. To determine the areas and populations which would receive primary service from each of the applications and the availability of other primary service to such areas and populations.

2. To determine with respect to the application of Virginia Broadcasters, Inc.:

(a) Whether the $18,800 loan commitment to the Grangers is still available.

(b) Whether, assuming the funds noted in (a) above, are available, the applicant has sufficient additional funds available to construct and operate its proposed station for one year.

(c) Whether, in light of the evidence adduced pursuant to (a) and (b) above, the applicant is financially qualified.

3. To determine, in light of section 307(b) of the Communications Act of 1934, as amended, which of the proposals would better provide a fair, efficient and equitable distribution of radio service.

4. To determine, in the light of the evidence adduced pursuant to the foregoing issues which, if either, of the applications should be granted.

[1] Virginia Broadcasters shows cash requirements for construction and operation of the proposed station for 1 year without revenues in the total amount of $49,400. However, the applicant has included only $3,000 of the $10,000 cost of land on the basis, according to Virginia, that "it appears that (it) can obtain financing for 70 percent of the total price of the land." Inasmuch as this loan is not substantiated (applicant states that it will not arrange the final financing for the purchase until such time as it receives its construction permit), $7,000 must be added for this item; also the sum of $4,180 must be added for first-year payments of principal and interest on its proposed equipment loan (advanced credit) which Virginia failed to include in its cost of equipment.

[2] For a detailed description of Chesapeake see the hearing examiner's findings in South Norfolk Broadcast Co., 1 FCC 2d 621.

It is further ordered, That the petition for reconsideration by James River Broadcasting Corp. is denied and its application, as amended, is returned as unacceptable for filing.

It is further ordered, That the petition to reject, as supplemented, filed by KFAB Broadcasting Co., is dismissed as moot.

It is further ordered, That in the event of a grant of either of the applications, the construction permit shall contain the following condition:

Pending a final decision in Docket No. 14419 with respect to presunrise operation with daytime facilities, the present provisions of § 73.87 of the Commission's rules are not extended to this authorization, and such operation is precluded.

It is further ordered, That, to avail themselves of the opportunity to be heard, the applicants herein, pursuant to § 1.221(c) of the Commission's rules, in person or by attorney, shall, within 20 days of the mailing of this order, file with the Commission in triplicate, a written appearance stating an intention to appear on the date fixed for the hearing and present evidence on the issues specified in this Order.

It is further ordered, That the applicants herein shall, pursuant to section 311(a)(2) of the Communications Act of 1934, as amended, and § 1.594 of the Commission's rules, give notice of the hearing, either individually or, if feasible and consistent with the rules, jointly, within the time and in the manner prescribed in such rule, and shall advise the Commission of the publication of such notice as required by § 1.594(g) of the rules.

Adopted: July 19, 1967.

Released: July 31, 1967.

FEDERAL POWER COMMISSION

[Docket Nos. G-3892, etc.]

PANHANDLE PRODUCING CO. ET AL.

Notice of Applications for Certificates, Abandonment of Service and Petitions To Amend Certificates [1]

JULY 26, 1967.

Take notice that each of the Applicants listed herein has filed an application or petition pursuant to section 7 of the Natural Gas Act for authorization to sell natural gas in interstate commerce or to abandon service heretofore authorized as described herein, all as more fully described in the respective applications and amendments which are on file with the Commission and open to public inspection.

Protests or petitions to intervene may be filed with the Federal Power Commission, Washington, D.C. 20426, in accordance with the rules of practice and procedure (18 CFR 1.8 or 1.10) on or before August 17, 1967.

Take further notice that, pursuant to the authority contained in and subject to the jurisdiction conferred upon the Federal Power Commission by sections 7 and 15 of the Natural Gas Act and the Commission's rules of practice and procedure, a hearing will be held without further notice before the Commission on all applications in which no protest or petition to intervene is filed within the time required herein if the Commission on its own review of the matter believes that a grant of the certificates or the authorization for the proposed abandonment is required by the public convenience and necessity. Where a protest or petition for leave to intervene is timely filed, or where the Commission on its own motion believes that a formal hearing is required, further notice of such hearing will be duly given: Provided, however, That pursuant to § 2.56, Part 2, Statement of General Policy and Interpretations, Chapter I of Title 18 of the Code of Federal Regulations, as amended, all permanent certificates of public convenience and necessity granting applications, filed after April 15, 1965, without further notice, will contain a condition precluding any filing of an increased rate at a price in excess of that designated for the particular area of production for the period prescribed therein unless at the time of filing such certificate application, or within the time fixed herein for the filing of protests or petitions to intervene the Applicant indicates in writing that it is unwilling to accept such a condition. In the event Applicant is unwilling to accept such condition the application will be set for formal hearing.

Under the procedure herein provided for, unless otherwise advised, it will be unnecessary for Applicants to appear or be represented at the hearing.

GORDON M. GRANT,
Secretary.

[1] This notice does not provide for consolidation for hearing of the several matters covered herein, nor should it be so construed.

UNITED GAS CORP. ET AL.

Notice of Proposed Issue and Sale of Notes and Exemption From Competitive Bidding

JULY 31, 1967.

Notice is hereby given that United Gas Corp. ("United"), 1525 Fairfield Avenue, Shreveport, La. 71102, a gas utility subsidiary company of Pennzoil Co., a registered holding company, and two of its subsidiary companies, United Gas Pipe Line Co. ("Pipe Line") and Duval Corp. ("Duval"), have filed an application and an amendment thereto with this Commission pursuant to the Public Utility Holding Company Act of 1935 ("Act"), designating sections 6, 6(b), 9, and 10 of the Act and Rule 50(a)(5)(B) promulgated thereunder as applicable to the proposed transactions. All interested persons are referred to said application, which is summarized below, for a complete statement of the proposed transactions.

United proposes, from time to time but no later than December 31, 1967, to issue and sell commercial paper in the form of short-term promissory notes in an aggregate face amount of not more than $35,000,000 to be outstanding at any one time to Lehman Commercial Paper, Inc. ("Lehman"), a dealer in commercial paper. Proceeds from the sale of commercial paper will be added to United's treasury funds which together with cash resources and retained earnings will be used for the proposed acquisition by United of notes to be issued by Pipe Line and Duval, as described below.

The commercial paper notes will be of varying maturities with no such notes maturing more than 9 months, exclusive of days of grace, after the date of issue, and none will be prepayable prior to maturity. The notes, in denominations of not less than $50,000 and not more than $1 million, will be issued and sold by United directly to Lehman at a discount which will not be in excess of the discount rate per annum prevailing at the date of issuance for commercial paper of comparable quality and of the particular maturity sold by issuers thereof to commercial paper dealers and which will not exceed the prime commercial loan rate of The First National City Bank of New York for unsecured loans prevailing on the date of issue.

It is stated that no commission or fee will be payable in connection with the issue and sale of the commercial paper notes. Lehman, as principal, will reoffer such notes at a discount of one-eighth of 1 percent per annum less than the prevailing discount rate to United in such a manner as not to constitute a public offering. The notes will be reoffered to no more than 100 identified and designated customers in a list (nonpublic) prepared in advance by Lehman. No additions will be made to this customer list, which includes commercial banks, insurance companies, corporate pension funds, investment trusts, foundations, colleges and universities, municipal and State benefit funds, eleemosynary institutions, finance companies, and nonfinancial corporations which invest surplus funds in commercial paper. It is expected that United's commercial paper notes will be held by customers to maturity, but, if they wish to resell prior thereto, Lehman, pursuant to a verbal repurchase agreement, will repurchase the notes and reoffer the same to others in the group of 100 customers.

The filing states that the cost of commercial paper borrowing for companies of comparable credit to United has averaged approximately three-fourths of 1 percent per annum less than the New York commercial bank prime rate and that, based on the recent experience of other companies, United desires the flexibility of using commercial paper borrowings to supplement its outstanding bank borrowings if lower interest costs are obtainable. It is also stated that the use of commercial paper will afford greater flexibility in the timing by United of its permanent financing. At final maturity, the commercial paper notes will be paid from the proceeds of debt or equity securities; the nature, maturity, and the amount of which will be determined in the light of prevailing market conditions.

United requests exception from the competitive bidding requirements of Rule 50 for the proposed issue and sale of its commercial paper pursuant to clause (a)(5)(B) thereof. The company states that the proposed commercial paper notes will have a maturity of 270 days or less and will be sold at effective interest costs that will not exceed the bank prime rate and that it expects to sell its commercial paper at lower effective interest costs. It is further stated that it is not practical to invite competitive bids for commercial paper and that current rates for commercial paper for such prime borrowers as United are published daily in financial publications.

Pipe Line and Duval propose to issue and sell, from time to time as funds are required, promissory notes to United, which United proposes to acquire, in aggregate amounts not exceeding $25 million and $15 million, respectively. The notes will be payable on demand but not later than September 30, 1968, and will be prepayable, in whole or in part, at any time without premium or penalty. The stated interest rate in the notes will be the prime rate for commercial loans of the First National City Bank of New York; however, after the last maturity of its commercial paper notes, United will determine the cost of money to it and will refund the excess over cost to the subsidiary companies. The amount of such refund shall be determined by deducing from the aggregate of the interest charged the subsidiary companies, an amount equal to the aggregate actual cost of money borrowed by United by the issue of commercial paper plus an allowance for interest on United's treasury funds advanced to the subsidiary companies computed on a daily basis at the applicable prime interest rate. The excess interest thus computed shall be refunded to the borrowing subsidiaries in proportion to the total interest charged the subsidiary companies by United.

Pipe Line will use the proceeds from its notes sold to United for construction, improvement, and expansion of its facilities in connection with its 1967-68 construction and expansion program, and for reimbursing its treasury, in part, for expenditures actually made for such purposes, and for other general corporate purposes. Duval will use the proceeds from the sale of its notes to United for the purpose of completing its 1967-68 construction and expansion program.

The fees and expenses to be paid by United in connection with the proposed transactions are estimated at $700. It is stated that no State commission and no Federal commission, other than this Commission, has jurisdiction over the proposed transactions.

Notice is further given that any interested person may, not later than August 21, 1967, request in writing that a hearing be held on such matter, stating the nature of his interest, the reasons for such request, and the issues of fact or law raised by said application which he desires to controvert; or he may request that he be notified if the Commission should order a hearing thereon. Any such request should be addressed: Secretary, Securities and Exchange Commission, Washington, D.C. 20549. A copy of such request should be served personally or by mail (airmail if the person being served is located more than 500 miles from the point of mailing) upon the applicants at the above-stated address, and proof of service (by affidavit or, in case of an attorney at law, by certificate) should be filed with the request. At any time after said date, the application, as amended or as it may be further amended, may be granted as provided in Rule 23 of the general rules and regulations promulgated under the Act, or the Commission may grant exemption from such rules as provided in Rules 20(a) and 100 thereof or take such other action as it may deem appropriate. Persons who request a hearing or advice as to whether a hearing is ordered will receive notice of further developments in this matter, including the date of the hearing (if ordered) and any postponements thereof.

For the Commission (pursuant to delegated authority).

FEDERAL RESERVE SYSTEM

FEDERAL OPEN MARKET COMMITTEE

Current Economic Policy Directive

In accordance with § 271.5 of its Rules Regarding Availability of Information, there is set forth below the Committee's Current Economic Policy Directive issued at its meeting held on May 2, 1967.[1]

The economic and financial developments reviewed at this meeting suggest that prospects for renewed economic expansion have improved. The adjustment of excessive inventories is proceeding, as a result of the reduced level of industrial output and with consumer buying strengthening. Average wholesale prices have declined recently, reflecting reductions in farm and food prices and stability in prices of industrial commodities; but unit labor costs in manufacturing have risen further. Bank credit expansion has moderated in recent weeks from its earlier rapid rate. Long-term interest rates have risen considerably under the influence of heavy securities market financing and more optimistic market appraisals of the business outlook, but short-term yields have declined further following the recent reduction in Reserve Bank discount rates. Interest rates abroad have continued to decline and some further reductions have been made in foreign central bank discount rates. The balance of payments deficit has remained substantial despite some improvement in the foreign trade surplus. In this situation, it is the Federal Open Market Committee's policy to foster money and credit conditions, including bank credit growth, conducive to renewed economic expansion, while recognizing the need for progress toward reasonable equilibrium in the country's balance of payments.

To implement this policy, while taking account of the current Treasury financing, System open market operations until the next meeting of the Committee shall be conducted with a view to maintaining the prevailing conditions in the money market.

Dated at Washington, D.C., the 31st day of July 1967.

By order of the Federal Open Market Committee.

ROBERT C. HOLLAND, Secretary.

Title 3—THE PRESIDENT

PROCLAMATION 3798

FIRE PREVENTION WEEK, 1967

By the President of the United States of America

A Proclamation

Every day, destructive fires bring tragedy and loss to some American families. Every year the human toll of fire exceeds 10,000 lives. In 1966, more than twice as many Americans were killed by fire than on the battlefields of Vietnam.

The dollar damage from fire increases every year. Last year, almost $2 billion worth of property was destroyed in flame and smoke.

These are grievous statistics. They represent sorrow and suffering and financial hardship which need not have happened. For fire's final, bitter irony is that most of it is avoidable. Most fires are caused by carelessness or by hazardous conditions which could be corrected.

It is imperative that the United States undertake a massive program to perfect its knowledge of, and its protection against, the havoc of fire.

For this reason, I have asked the Congress to enact the Fire Research and Safety Act of 1967, which will:

—Improve our information about the causes and costs of fire.

—Develop better fire fighting and fire prevention techniques.

—Support community efforts to improve their fire control programs.

—Expand public education in the prevention of fires.

I have also asked the Congress to enact amendments to the Flammable Fabrics Act, which will enable us to help save the thousands who die each year because of flammable and explosive clothing and interior furnishings.

This legislation will strengthen America's efforts to reduce the senseless repetition of destruction that fire inflicts on our Nation.

But in the final analysis, fire prevention can succeed only at the community level. Local efforts must make every citizen aware of his personal responsibility for removing fire hazards and reforming the habits that cause fires.

Recognizing the importance of those efforts, I, LYNDON B. JOHNSON, President of the United States of America, do hereby designate the week beginning October 8, 1967, as Fire Prevention Week.

I bid all citizens earnestly to support the fire prevention and control efforts of their community fire departments. I urge State and local governments, the National Fire Protection Association, business and civic groups, and public information agencies to observe Fire Prevention Week, to provide useful fire safety information to the public, and to enlist the active participation of all citizens in year-round fire prevention programs. I also direct the Federal Fire Council and the appropriate Federal agencies to assist in this effort to reduce the needless waste of life and property caused by preventable fires.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF, I have hereunto set my hand this second day of August in the year of our Lord nineteen hundred and sixty-seven, and of the Independence of the United States of America the one hundred and ninety-second.

[Valencia Orange Reg. 214]

PART 908—VALENCIA ORANGES GROWN IN ARIZONA AND DESIGNATED PART OF CALIFORNIA

Limitation of Handling

§ 908.514 Valencia Orange Regulation 214.

(a) Findings. (1) Pursuant to the marketing agreement, as amended, and Order No. 908, as amended (7 CFR Part 908), regulating the handling of Valencia oranges grown in Arizona and designated part of California, effective under the applicable provisions of the Agricultural Marketing Agreement Act of 1937, as amended (7 U.S.C. 601–674), and upon the basis of the recommendations and information submitted by the Valencia Orange Administrative Committee, established under the said amended marketing agreement and order, and upon other available information, it is hereby found that the limitation of handling of such Valencia oranges, as hereinafter provided, will tend to effectuate the declared policy of the act.

(2) It is hereby further found that it is impracticable and contrary to the public interest to give preliminary notice, engage in public rule-making procedure, and postpone the effective date of this section until 30 days after publication hereof in the FEDERAL REGISTER (5 U.S.C. 553) because the time intervening between the date when information upon which this section is based became available and the time when this section must become effective in order to effectuate the declared policy of the act is insufficient, and a reasonable time is permitted, under the circumstances, for preparation for such effective time; and good cause exists for making the provisions hereof effective as hereinafter set forth. The committee held an open meeting during the current week, after giving due notice thereof, to consider supply and market conditions for Valencia oranges and the need for regulation; interested persons were afforded an opportunity to submit information and views at this meeting; the recommendation and supporting information for regulation during the period specified herein were promptly submitted to the Department after such meeting was held; the provisions of this section, including its effective time, are identical with the aforesaid recommendation of the committee, and information concerning such provisions and effective time has been disseminated among handlers of such Valencia oranges; it is necessary, in order to effectuate the declared policy of the act, to make this section effective during the period herein specified; and compliance with this section will not require any special preparation on the part of persons subject hereto which cannot be completed on or before the effective date hereof. Such committee meeting was held on August 3, 1967.

(b) Order. (1) The respective quantities of Valencia oranges grown in Arizona and designated part of California which may be handled during the period August 6, 1967, through August 12, 1967, are hereby fixed as follows:

(i) District 1: 161,000 cartons;

(ii) District 2: 539,000 cartons;

(iii) District 3: Unlimited movement.

(2) As used in this section, "handled," "handler," "District 1," "District 2," "District 3," and "carton" have the same meaning as when used in said amended marketing agreement and order.

PART 910—LEMONS GROWN IN CALIFORNIA AND ARIZONA

§ 910.579 Lemon Regulation 279.

(a) Findings. (1) Pursuant to the marketing agreement, as amended, and Order No. 910, as amended (7 CFR Part 910), regulating the handling of lemons grown in California and Arizona, effective under the applicable provisions of the Agricultural Marketing Agreement Act of 1937, as amended (7 U.S.C. 601–674), and upon the basis of the recommendations and information submitted by the Lemon Administrative Committee, established under the said amended marketing agreement and order, and upon other available information, it is hereby found that the limitation of handling of such lemons, as hereinafter provided, will tend to effectuate the declared policy of the act.

(2) It is hereby further found that it is impracticable and contrary to the public interest to give preliminary notice, engage in public rule-making procedure, and postpone the effective date of this regulation until 30 days after publication hereof in the FEDERAL REGISTER (5 U.S.C. 553) because the time intervening between the date when information upon which this regulation is based became available and the time when this regulation must become effective in order to effectuate the declared policy of the act is insufficient, and a reasonable time is permitted, under the circumstances, for preparation for such effective time; and good cause exists for making the provisions hereof effective as hereinafter set forth. [CCC Grain Price Support Regulations, 1966 and Subsequent Crops Soybean Supplement, Amdt. 1]

PART 1421—GRAINS AND SIMILARLY HANDLED COMMODITIES

Subpart—1966 and Subsequent Crops Soybean Loan and Purchase Programs

WAREHOUSE CHARGES

The regulations issued by the Commodity Credit Corporation published in 31 F.R. 6013, containing provisions for price support loans and purchases applicable to the 1966 and subsequent crops of soybeans are amended as follows:

In § 1421.2958, paragraph (c) is amended to provide that a table of storage deductions for soybeans stored in warehouses operated by Eastern common carriers will be set forth in the annual crop year supplement. The amended paragraph reads as follows:

§ 1421.2958 Warehouse charges.

* * * * *

(c) Deduction of storage charges—Eastern common carriers. The table set forth in the annual crop year supplement will provide the deduction for storage charges to be made from the amount of the loan or purchase price in the case of soybeans stored in an approved warehouse operated by an Eastern common carrier. Such deduction shall be based on entries shown on the warehouseman's supplemental certificate and delivery order. If written evidence is submitted with the supplemental certificate and delivery order that all warehouse charges except elevation charges have been prepaid through the applicable loan maturity date, no storage deduction shall be made. Where the producer presents evidence showing that the elevation charges have been prepaid, the amount of the storage charges to be deducted shall be reduced by the amount of the elevation charges set forth in the table in the annual crop year supplement.

Title 9—ANIMALS AND ANIMAL PRODUCTS

Chapter I—Agricultural Research Service, Department of Agriculture

SUBCHAPTER C—INTERSTATE TRANSPORTATION OF ANIMALS AND POULTRY

PART 76—HOG CHOLERA AND OTHER COMMUNICABLE SWINE DISEASES

Miscellaneous Amendments

Pursuant to the provisions of the Act of May 29, 1884, as amended, the Act of February 2, 1903, as amended, the Act of March 3, 1905, as amended, the Act of September 6, 1961, and the Act of July 2, 1962 (21 U.S.C. 111–113, 114g, 115, 117, 120, 121, 123–126, 134–134h), Part 76, Title 9, Code of Federal Regulations, restricting the interstate movement of swine and certain products because of hog cholera and other communicable swine diseases, is hereby amended in the following respects:

1. Section 76.1 is amended by redesignating paragraph (y) as paragraph (z), and changing paragraph (x) and adding a new paragraph (y) to read, respectively, as follows:

§ 76.1 Definitions.

* * * * *

(x) Official vaccinates. Swine which have never received official serum prophylaxis and which are vaccinated against hog cholera by one of the methods prescribed in § 76.9(b) or § 76.10(b) under the supervision of a Federal or State veterinary official, permanently identified as such vaccinates as specified in this part, and reported at the time of vaccination to the appropriate State or Federal agency.

(y) Official serum prophylaxis. The inoculation of swine for purposes of interstate movement with anti-hog-cholera serum or hog cholera antibody concentrate by the method described in § 76.9 (b) (2) under the supervision of a Federal or State veterinary official, permanent identification of such swine as having been so inoculated as specified in this part, and reporting of such inoculation at the time thereof to the appropriate State or Federal agency.

* * * * *

2. Section 76.2(f) is amended to read as follows:

§ 76.2 Notices relating to existence of hog cholera; prohibition of movement of virulent virus; spread of disease through raw garbage; regulations; quarantines; eradication States; and free States.

* * * * *

(f) Notice is hereby given that there is no clinical evidence that the virus of hog cholera exists in swine in the following States, that systematic procedures are in effect to detect and eradicate the disease should it appear within any of such States, and that such States are hereby designated as hog cholera eradication States: Connecticut, Florida, Maryland, Oregon, Washington, Wisconsin, and Wyoming.

* * * * *

3. Section 76.7(c) is amended by changing subparagraphs (3), (4), (5), and (6) and adding a new subparagraph (7) to read, respectively, as follows:

§ 76.7 Movement to recognized slaughtering centers, licensed establishments, approved feed lots, public stockyards, or approved stockyards or livestock markets.

* * * * *

(c) * * *

(3) From a farm of origin in any State to a public stockyard or approved stockyard in any other State if such swine have received official serum prophylaxis as provided in § 76.9(b)(2) prior to such movement; and,

(i) Movement is to a State the laws, rules or regulations of which provide for such prophylaxis; and

(ii) Such movement is completed within five days (120 hours) after such prophylactic inoculation: Provided, however, That if the 5-day period expires before the movement is completed, the swine may continue to move interstate if they receive at least one additional official serum prophylaxis inoculation within each additional 5-day (120 hour) period, or portion thereof, which expires before such movement is completed; or

(4) From a farm of origin in a State designated in § 76.2 (f) or (g) to a public stockyard or approved stockyard or livestock market in any other State if interstate movement is continuous and is accomplished in the same vehicle in which movement of such swine commenced and such swine are moved interstate without contact prior to or during such movement with swine from States not designated in § 76.2 (f) or (g); or,

(5) From a public stockyard or approved stockyard or livestock market in any State to a public stockyard or approved stockyard or livestock market in any other State if such swine meet the requirements of § 76.9(a) (1) through (5); and,

(6) From a public stockyard or approved stockyard or livestock market in a State designated in § 76.2 (f) or (g) to a public stockyard or approved stockyard or livestock market in any State if such swine originate in a State designated in § 76.2 (f) or (g) and the interstate movement is continuous—and is accomplished in the same vehicle in which movement of such swine commenced and such swine are individually identified and are moved interstate without contact prior to or during such movement with swine from States not designated in § 76.2 (f) or (g) and the swine meet the requirements of § 76.9(a) (1) through (5) except that such swine are not required to have been officially vaccinated or to have received official serum prophylaxis; or,

(7) From any point not listed in subparagraphs (1) through (6) of this paragraph (c) to a public stockyard or approved stockyard or livestock market in any other State if such swine have been officially vaccinated at least 21 days prior to the date of shipment by methods provided in § 76.10(a) (1) or (2) or (b)(2).

4. Section 76.9 is amended to read:

§ 76.9 Movements from public stockyards or approved stockyards of livestock markets.

(a) Swine not known to be affected with or exposed to hog cholera may be moved interstate for feeding or breeding purposes from public stockyards or approved stockyards or livestock markets to States the laws, rules or regulations of which provide for the segregation or quarantine of imported swine for a period of not less than 21 days[1][2] if:

(1) The swine are inspected by a Division inspector or an accredited veterinarian at such yard or market;

(2) The swine upon such inspection are found to be free from symptoms of hog cholera and in a healthy condition and are treated in accordance with paragraph (b) (1) or (2) of this section in a public stockyard by a veterinarian under Division supervision, or in an approved stockyard or livestock market by an accredited veterinarian, in a portion of the yard or market set aside for that purpose: Provided, That swine officially vaccinated prior to inspection in accordance with § 76.10 (a) or (b)(2) or swine which have received official serum prophylaxis in accordance with paragraph (b)(2) of this section prior to inspection are not required to be so treated but are subject to the other provisions of this paragraph (a): And provided further, That swine which originate in, and are shipped interstate from public stockyards or approved stockyards or livestock markets located in, States designated in § 76.2 (f) or (g) are not required to be so treated if shipped interstate without contact prior to or during movement with swine from States not so designated and if the interstate movement of such swine is continuous and is accomplished in the same vehicle in which movement of such swine commenced, but such swine are subject to the other provisions of this paragraph (a): And provided further, That official serum prophylaxis will qualify swine for interstate movement under this paragraph (a) only to States[1] the laws, rules, or regulations of which provide for such prophylaxis:

(3) The swine required to be so treated are permanently identified as follows:

(i) Official vaccinates shall be identified by individual eartag (other than orange in color) or other proper individual identification; and

(ii) Swine receiving official serum prophylaxis shall be identified by individual orange eartag or other proper individual identification;

(4) The swine are accompanied by a health certificate issued by a Division inspector at the public stockyard, or accredited veterinarian at the approved stockyard or livestock market, showing place and date of issue, destination of shipment, record of official vaccination, or official serum prophylaxis when applicable, the permanent identification of the swine, and that the swine are apparently free from hog cholera and other contagious, infectious, or communicable diseases; and a copy of the certificate is forwarded to the appropriate livestock sanitary official of the State of destination; and

(5) The swine are transported in a cleaned and disinfected vehicle: Provided, however, That, if the vehicle is not regularly used to transport livestock, disinfection is not required.

(b) Inoculation methods: Swine required under this section to be officially vaccinated or to receive official serum prophylaxis shall be inoculated by one of the following methods as appropriate:

(1) Official vaccinates. Swine required under this section to be officially vaccinated shall be given simultaneous inoculation with anti-hog-cholera serum or hog cholera antibody concentrate and modified live virus vaccine prepared under license from the Secretary of Agriculture. Such vaccine must also be approved by the Director of Division pursuant to the provisions of § 76.16(c). The dosage of serum or antibody concentrate and modified live virus vaccine shall be as follows:

(i) Dosage of anti-hog-cholera serum or hog cholera antibody concentrate. Except for swine under 20 pounds in weight, the dosage of serum should not exceed 1 cc. per pound body weight, or ½ cc. per pound body weight if antibody concentrate is used.

Weight of swine (pounds)	Minimum dose of serum (cubic centimeters)	Minimum dose of anti-body concentrate (cubic centimeters)
Under 60	20	10
60–120	30	15
Over 120	40	20

(ii) Dosage of modified live virus vaccine. The dosage of modified live virus vaccine shall be that recommended on the product label by the licensed manufacturer for use with the amounts of anti-hog-cholera serum or hog cholera antibody concentrate given in subdivision (i) of this subparagraph.

(2) Official serum prophylaxis. Swine required under this section to receive official serum prophylaxis shall be inoculated with anti-hog-cholera serum or hog cholera antibody concentrate prepared under license from the Secretary of Agriculture, as provided below:

(i) Dosage of anti-hog-cholera serum or hog cholera antibody concentrate: Such swine shall be given the dosage of anti-hog-cholera serum or antibody concentrate provided in subparagraph (1) (i) of this paragraph; and,

(ii) Such dosage shall be given within 5 days (120 hours) prior to interstate movement: Provided, however, That such swine shall receive at least one additional official serum prophylaxis inoculation in the amount provided in subparagraph (1) (i) of this paragraph during each additional 5-day (120-hour) period, or portion thereof, that expires after the first official serum prophylaxis inoculation until such interstate movement ends.

[1] In each instance the regulations of the State of destination should be consulted before shipments are made.

[2] In order to minimize possible stress associated with shipping and vaccination, feeder and breeder swine should be in transit as short a time as possible, with not more than 72 hours between shipment and arrival at destination.

5. Section 76.10 is amended to read:

§ 76.10 Other movements for feeding, breeding, or exhibition purposes or for sale for such purposes.

Swine which are not known to be affected with or exposed to hog cholera or any other contagious, infectious, or communicable disease may be moved interstate to any destination for feeding, breeding, or exhibition purposes or for sale for such purposes in accordance with the provisions of this section.

(a) Movement from any point of origin. Swine which otherwise qualify for interstate shipment under the provisions of this section may be moved interstate to any destination for feeding, breeding, or exhibition purposes or for sale for such purposes if such swine have never been inoculated with anti-hog-cholera serum alone or hog cholera antibody concentrate alone and such swine have been officially vaccinated either with:

(1) Modified live virus hog cholera vaccine prepared under a license issued by the Secretary of Agriculture, approved by the Director of Division pursuant to the provisions of § 76.16(c), and, administered in accordance with the recommendations on the vaccine label not less than 21 days nor more than 2 years prior to date of shipment; or

(2) Killed or inactivated hog cholera vaccine prepared under a license issued by the Secretary of Agriculture and administered in accordance with the recommendations on the vaccine label prior to the date of shipment, as provided below:

(i) Swine which are officially vaccinated with one dose of inactivated vaccine may be moved interstate not less than 21 days nor more than 6 months after the date of official vaccination; and

(ii) Swine which are officially vaccinated with at least two doses of inactivated vaccine given not less than 2 weeks nor more than 6 months apart may be moved interstate not less than 21 days nor more than 1 year after the date such swine receive the second dose of such vaccine.

(b) Movement from farm of origin in any State. Notwithstanding paragraph (a) of this section, swine which otherwise qualify for interstate movement under the provisions of this section may be moved interstate directly from the farm of origin in any State to any destination for feeding, breeding, or exhibition purposes, or for sale for such purposes, if interstate movement is continuous and is accomplished in the same vehicle in which movement of such swine commenced; and

(1) Such swine have been officially vaccinated as provided in paragraph (a) of this section; or

(2) Such swine have been officially vaccinated within 21 days prior to movement with the simultaneous inoculation of modified live virus hog cholera vaccine prepared under license issued by the Secretary of Agriculture, approved by the Director of Division pursuant to the provisions of § 76.16(c), and administered in accordance with the dosage recommendations on the vaccine label with a minimum of 15 cc. of anti-hog-cholera serum or a minimum of 7.5 cc. of hog cholera antibody concentrate, also prepared under such license; or

(3) Such swine have received official serum prophylaxis as provided in § 76.9(b)(2) and such swine are moved to States[1] the laws, rules, or regulations of which provide for such prophylaxis; or

(4) Such swine, without being previously officially vaccinated or previously receiving official serum prophylaxis, are moved, for feeding or breeding purposes, from a farm of origin directly to a farm in another State,[1] the laws, rules, or regulations of which require a 21-day or longer quarantine or isolation period for imported feeder or breeder swine; and

(i) All swine located on the farm of origin have remained on that farm for a period of not less than 21 days prior to such movement; and

(ii) A permit for importing such swine is obtained from the State of destination prior to such movement; and

(iii) Such swine do not come in contact with other swine during such movement.

(c) Movement from a farm of origin located in a State designated in § 76.2 (f) or (g). Notwithstanding paragraphs (a) and (b) of this section, swine which otherwise qualify for interstate movement under this section may be moved directly from the farm of origin in a State identified in § 76.2 (f) or (g) to any destination for feeding, breeding, or exhibition purposes or for sale for such purposes if the interstate movement is continuous and is accomplished in the same vehicle in which movement of such swine commenced; and

(1) Such swine are officially vaccinated prior to interstate movement as provided in paragraph (a) or (b) of this section; or

(2) Such swine have received official serum prophylaxis prior to interstate movement as provided in § 76.9(b)(2) of this section; or

(3) If such swine have not been officially vaccinated or have not received official serum prophylaxis prior to interstate movement, such swine are moved interstate in such a manner that they do not come into contact prior to or during such movement with swine from a State not designated in § 76.2 (f) or (g).

(d) Identification. All swine moved interstate under the provisions of this section shall be identified as provided below:

(1) Such swine receiving official serum prophylaxis shall be permanently identified by individual orange eartag or other proper individual identification prior to such movement; and

(2) Other swine moved interstate under the provisions of this section shall be permanently identified by individual eartag (other than orange in color) or other proper individual identification prior to such movement.

(e) Health certificates. All swine moved interstate under the provisions of this section shall be accompanied by a health certificate issued by a State or Federal inspector or accredited veterinarian specifying:

(1) The permanent and individual identification of the swine;

(2) The consignee and consignor;

(3) The record of official vaccination if such swine are officially vaccinated and if official vaccination is required for movement under this section;

(4) The record of official serum prophylaxis if such swine have received official serum prophylaxis and official serum prophylaxis is required for movement under this section;

(5) That such swine are apparently free from and have not been exposed to hog cholera or other contagious, infectious or communicable diseases;

(6) That swine moved under the provisions of paragraph (b) (2) or (3) or (c)(3) of this section are moved interstate from the farm where they were born and that such farm has not been used within the past 6 months to assemble, buy, or sell swine brought in from other sources;

(7) That swine moved under the provisions of paragraph (b)(4) of this section are moved interstate from the farm where they were born and that such farm has not been used within the past 6 months to assemble, buy, or sell swine brought in from other sources; and that all swine on the farm at the time of shipment have been located on such farm for not less than 21 days prior to shipment.

A copy of the certificate shall be forwarded to the appropriate livestock sanitary official of the State of destination.

(Secs. 4–7, 23 Stat. 32, as amended, secs. 1, 2, 32 Stat. 791, as amended, 792, as amended, sec. 3, 33 Stat. 1265, as amended, sec. 1, 75 Stat. 481, secs. 3 and 11, 76 Stat. 130, 132; 21 U.S.C. 111, 112, 113, 114g, 115, 117, 120, 121, 125, 134b, 134f; 29 F.R. 16210, as amended, 30 F.R. 5799, as amended)

The foregoing amendments (1) under § 76.1(x) revise the definition of "official vaccinates"; (2) under § 76.1(y) add a definition of "official serum prophylaxis"; (3) under § 76.2(f) add the States of Connecticut and Maryland to the list of hog cholera eradication States; (4) under § 76.7 permit the interstate movement from the farm of origin of feeding and breeding swine which have received official serum prophylaxis to public stockyards or approved stockyards or livestock markets in States the laws, rules, or regulations of which provide for such prophylaxis, and provide for continuing such prophylaxis through reinoculation when interstate movement is not completed within 5 days (120 hours) of such prophylaxis; (5) under § 76.9 permit interstate movement of feeding and breeding swine which have received official serum prophylaxis from public stockyards or approved stockyards or livestock markets to States the laws, rules, or regulations of which provide for such prophylaxis and for the segregation or quarantine of imported swine for a period of not less than 21 days; prescribe the dosage of anti-hog-cholera serum or hog cholera antibody concentrate to be administered to such swine in such prophylaxis; and provide the method of identification required for swine receiving official serum prophylaxis prior to interstate movement; (6) under § 76.10 extend the length of time official vaccination with modified live virus hog cholera vaccine is recognized for purposes of interstate movement from 1 year to 2 years after vaccination; provide that official vaccination with at least two doses of inactivated vaccines, given not less than 2 weeks nor more than 6 months apart, will be recognized for purposes of interstate movement for 1 year after administration of the second dose of such vaccine; and permit the interstate movement of swine receiving official serum prophylaxis prior to movement for feeding, breeding, or exhibition purposes, or for sale for such purposes, if the swine receive the dosage of anti-hog-cholera serum or hog cholera antibody concentrate specified in § 76.9, are identified as provided in § 76.10, and are moved interstate from their farms of origin to States the laws, rules, or regulations of which provide for such prophylaxis.

The purposes of the foregoing amendments are to recognize newly qualified hog cholera eradication States, thereby relieving certain requirements for swine to move interstate from such States; to extend the length of time official vaccination is recognized for purposes of interstate movement, thereby taking advantage of later knowledge concerning hog cholera vaccines and providing relief for persons moving such swine interstate; and to approve official serum prophylaxis affording a method of short term protection against hog cholera for swine as a method to qualify swine for interstate movement to States which no longer deem official vaccination of swine safe, necessary, or practical. The amendments will also provide a means to eliminate the administration of modified live virus vaccines in pregnant sows to qualify such swine for immediate interstate movement, a practice now recognized as possessing risks to the cooperative hog cholera eradication program.

The amendments relieve restrictions now imposed by 9 CFR Part 76 relating to hog cholera and other communicable swine diseases and must be made effective promptly in order to be of maximum benefit to persons subject to the restrictions which are relieved. Accordingly, under the administrative procedure provisions of 5 U.S.C. section 553, it is found upon good cause that notice and other public procedure with respect to the amendments are impracticable and unnecessary and the amendments may be made effective less than 30 days after publication in the FEDERAL REGISTER.

The foregoing amendments shall become effective upon issuance.

Done at Washington, D.C., this 3d day of August 1967.

E. P. REAGAN,
Acting Deputy Administrator, Agricultural Research Service.

Title 10—ATOMIC ENERGY

Chapter I—Atomic Energy Commission

PART 2—RULES OF PRACTICE

PART 8—INTERPRETATIONS

Computation of Time

An interpretation of § 2.710 of 10 CFR Part 2 is added to the regulations in 10 CFR Part 8, which contains interpretations of the Atomic Energy Act of 1954 (68 Stat. 919) and of regulations of the Atomic Energy Commission issued thereunder. An appropriate reference to the interpretation is also added to Part 2 of this chapter.

Pursuant to the Atomic Energy Act of 1954, as amended, and the Administrative Procedure Act of 1946, as amended, the following amendments of 10 CFR Parts 2 and 8 are published as a document subject to codification, to be effective upon publication in the FEDERAL REGISTER.

§ 2.710 [Amended]

1. A footnote is added at the end of § 2.710 to read as follows:

An interpretation of this section is contained in 10 CFR Part 8, § 8.3.

2. A new § 8.3 is added to read as follows:

§ 8.3 Interpretation by the General Counsel of 10 CFR Part 2, § 2.710, Computation of time.

(a) Section 2.710 of the Commission's rules of practice, 10 CFR Part 2, provides:

In computing any period of time, the day of the act, event, or default after which the designated period of time begins to run is not included. The last day of the period so computed is included unless it is a Saturday, Sunday, or legal holiday at the place where the action or event is to occur, in which event the period runs until the end of the next day which is neither a Saturday, Sunday, nor holiday. When the period of time is less than seven (7) days, intermediate Saturdays, Sundays, and holidays are excluded. Whenever a party has the right or is required to do some act or take some proceeding within a prescribed period after the service of a notice or other paper upon him and the notice or paper is served upon him by mail, three (3) days shall be added to the prescribed period.

(b) (1) When a party to a proceeding subject to Subpart G of Part 2 of this chapter has the right or is required to do some act or take some proceeding within a prescribed period, which is less than seven (7) days, after the service of a notice or paper upon him, the computation of time should be made excluding intermediate Saturdays, Sundays, and holidays before any additional 3 days is added because service is by mail.

(2) In so computing the time, a Saturday, Sunday, or holiday at the beginning of the period should be excluded as an "intermediate Saturday, Sunday, or legal holiday."

(c) An example of a computation of time based upon the foregoing paragraphs is as follows: If a petition for leave to intervene under § 2.714(a) of this chapter were filed and served by mail on a Friday, § 2.714(b) of this chapter prescribes 5 days to reply. Since 5 days is less than 7 days, Saturday and Sunday would be excluded because they are an intermediate Saturday and Sunday. Monday would be the first day counted in determining when the answer to the petition must be filed. The 5 days allowed in § 2.714(b) of this chapter would end on the next Friday. Three additional days would be allowed because of service of the petition by mail, but Saturday and Sunday would be excluded, as an intermediate Saturday and Sunday, thus making the last date for filing an answer fall on the following Wednesday.

(d) An example with respect to motions follows: If a motion were filed and served by mail on a Wednesday, § 2.730 (c) of this chapter prescribes 5 days to file an answer. Thursday would be the 1st day counted. The intermediate Saturday and Sunday would be excluded as 5 days is less than 7 days. The 5 days allowed by § 2.730(c) of this chapter would end on the next Wednesday. Three additional days because of service by mail would be allowed, but Saturday and Sunday would be excluded since the last day would be a Saturday, thus making the last date for filing an answer fall on the following Monday.

Dated at Germantown, Md., this 1st day of August 1967.

Title 14—AERONAUTICS AND SPACE

Chapter I—Federal Aviation Administration, Department of Transportation

[Docket No. 67-SO-60; Amdt. 39-457]

PART 39—AIRWORTHINESS DIRECTIVES

Aero Commander (Meyers) Model 200 Airplanes

A proposal to amend Part 39 of the Federal Aviation Regulations to include an airworthiness directive requiring inspection and adjustment of the main landing gear emergency extension and down lock mechanism on Aero Commander (Meyers) Model 200 airplanes was published in the FEDERAL REGISTER June 2, 1967.

Interested persons have been afforded an opportunity to participate in the making of the amendment. No objections were received.

In consideration of the foregoing, and pursuant to the authority delegated to me by the Administrator (25 F.R. 6489), § 39.13 of the Federal Aviation Regulations is amended by adding the following new airworthiness directive.

AERO COMMANDER (MEYERS): Applies to Aero Commander (Meyers) Model 200 series airplanes, Serial Nos. 255, 256, 260, 262, 263, 268, 272, 273, 275, 276, 277, 278, 279, 281, 282, 286, 287, 288, 289, 290, 291, 296, 306, 308, 309, 328, 329, 331, 338, and 353.

Compliance required within the next 25 hours' time in service after the effective date of this AD unless already accomplished.

To detect improper rigging of the main landing gear emergency extension and down lock mechanism, accomplish the following:

Inspect and adjust each main landing gear in accordance with Aero Commander, Albany Division, Service Bulletin 2004 dated February 10, 1967, or later FAA approved revision, or in a manner approved by the Chief, Engineering and Manufacturing Branch, FAA Southern Region.

This amendment becomes effective August 15, 1967.

(Secs. 313(a), 601, 603, Federal Aviation Act of 1958; 49 U.S.C. 1354(a), 1421, 1423)

Issued in East Point, Ga., on July 27, 1967.

Acting Director, Southern Region.

[Docket No. 67-EA-29; Amdt. 39-459]

PART 39—AIRWORTHINESS DIRECTIVES

Colonial Aeronautics (Lake) Type Aircraft

On page 5543 of the FEDERAL REGISTER for April 5, 1967, the Federal Aviation Administration published a rule, Airworthiness Directive 67-11-1 which required a reworking of the AN 824-4D "T" fitting in the fuel gauge pressure line to prevent unrestricted fuel leakage into the cabin of Colonial Aeronautics (Lake) type aircraft. It has subsequently been determined that the airworthiness directive could not be accomplished on the Colonial C-1 model. The airworthiness directive is therefore being rewritten to include procedures for the Colonial C-1 model. The new directive also includes a change in the diameter of aluminum rod to be brazed into the fitting of other than Colonial C-1 models.

The original rule required immediate adoption and it is equally apparent that notice and public procedure hereon are impractical and good cause exists for making this amendment effective in less than 30 days.

In consideration of the foregoing, and pursuant to this authority delegated to me by the Administrator, 14 CFR 11.85 (31 F.R. 13697), § 39.13 of Part 39 of the Federal Aviation Regulations is amended by revising airworthiness directive 67-11-1 (Docket No. 67-EA-29, Amdt. 39-381) to read as follows:

COLONIAL, LAKE AIRCRAFT DIVISION, CONSOLIDATED AERONAUTICS, INC. Applies to models Colonial C-1 S/N 1 through 14, 16 through 20, and 22 through 25; Colonial C-2 S/N 115, and 126 through 143; Lake LA-4P S/N 121; Lake LA-4A S/N 244 and 245; Lake LA-4 S/N 246 through 356.

Compliance required within 25 hours' time in service after April 5, 1967, the original effective date of this Airworthiness Directive, unless already accomplished.

To preclude unrestricted fuel from entering the cabin compartment in the event of failure of the fuel pressure gauge instrument line, accomplish the following:

COLONIAL C-2 AND LA-4 SERIES

Braze a 3/16" diameter x 3/8" aluminum alloy rod into the 9 o'clock position of the "T" end of an AN 824-4D fitting. Drill through rod with a No. 60 drill (0.40 in.). If previously accomplished using a 3/32" diameter rod, this is satisfactory.

Install the "T" assembly in the fuel pressure gauge instrument line just above the top of the hull (firewall) with the orifice end in the 6 o'clock position. Cap the open end (9 o'clock position) using an AN 929-D4 cap. NOTE: If the airplane is equipped with a fuel combustion heater, the AN 824-4D fitting already provided may be utilized and reworked per above.

COLONIAL C-1

Remove the AN 894D6-4 reducer in the aft end of the fuel gauge instrument line and tap a 3/16-24NF thread 3/8" deep in the male end. Insert a threaded 3/16" aluminum rod utilizing "Loctite" sealant. Drill through rod with a No. 60 drill. This procedure my also be applied to the C-2 and LA-4 model aircraft.

Lake Aircraft Division, Consolidated Aeronautics Service Letters Nos. 14 dated February 24, 1967, and 14A dated May 3, 1967, pertain to this request. Their P/N's 2-6700-153 and 1-6700-99 are the equivalent "T" and reducer assembly respectively.

This amendment becomes effective August 5, 1967.

PART 39—AIRWORTHINESS DIRECTIVES

Fairchild Hiller Type F-27 and F-227 Airplanes

On page 6983 of the FEDERAL REGISTER for May 6, 1967, the Federal Aviation Regulations published a proposed rule which would require rewiring of the engine driven generator control sensing circuit on F-27 and F-227 type aircraft.

Interested parties were given 30 days in which to submit written data or views. No objections to the proposed rule were received.

In consideration of the foregoing the proposed rule is hereby adopted as published effective August 31, 1967.

(Sec. 313(a), 601, 603, Federal Aviation Act of 1958; 49 U.S.C. 1354(a), 1421, 1423)

Issued in Jamaica, N.Y., on July 27, 1967.

WAYNE HENDERSHOT,
Acting Director, Eastern Region.

FAIRCHILD. Applies to Model F-27J Airplanes, Serial Numbers 111, and 113 through 121, inclusive, and FH-227 Series Airplanes, Serial Numbers 501 through 520, inclusive, Incorporating Solar Auxiliary Power Unit, Model T62T-25.

Compliance required within the next 400 hours' time in service after the effective date of this AD, unless already accomplished.

To prevent electrical damage to the A.C. engine-driven generator resulting from an unregulated and unloaded condition when the APU-driven generator (A.C.) is switched on the line, accomplish the following:

(a) Rewire the engine-driven A.C. generator control sensing circuit in accordance with Fairchild Hiller F-27 Service Bulletin 30-12, Revision No. 1, dated September 15, 1966, for F-27J aircraft and Fairchild Hiller FH-227 Service Bulletin 30-1 dated August 23, 1966, for FH227 aircraft, or later revision approved by the Chief, Engineering and Manufacturing Branch, FAA Eastern Region, or perform an equivalent rewiring modification approved by the Chief, Engineering and Manufacturing Branch, FAA Eastern Region.

(b) Upon request with substantiating data submitted through an FAA maintenance inspector, an increase in the compliance time may be approved by the Chief, Engineering and Manufacturing Branch, FAA Eastern Region.

PART 39—AIRWORTHINESS DIRECTIVES

Lycoming Engines

The purpose of this amendment to Part 39 of the Federal Aviation Regulations is to amend Airworthiness Directive 65-3-3 (Amdt. 39-28, 30 F.R. 1032), which applied to Lycoming IO-320-BIA engines equipped with Hartzell HC-E2YL-2/7663-4 propellers and installed in Piper Model PA-30 aircraft.

The airworthiness directive among other things required a removal of the crankshaft for a magnetic particle inspection at 1,200 hours time in service. In view of a lack of reports of crankshaft cracks during the interim it is determined that the other restrictions of the directive have been so effective so as to permit deleting the 1,200 hour inspection requirement.

Since this amendment is relaxing a prior rule, notice and public procedure hereon are unnecessary and the amendment may be made effective in less than 30 days.

In view of the foregoing Part 39 of the Federal Aviation Regulations is amended effective August 5, 1967, as hereinafter set forth:

1. Amend § 39.13 of Part 39 of the Federal Aviation Regulations by deleting paragraphs (c), (d), and (f) of Airworthiness Directive 65-3-3 and reletter paragraph (e) as paragraph (c).

(Secs. 303(d), 313(a), 601, Federal Aviation Act of 1958, 49 U.S.C. 1344, 1354, 1421)

Issued in Jamaica, N.Y., on July 28, 1967.

[Airworthiness Docket No. 67-SW-46 (Formerly Docket No. 6360); Amdt. 39-455]

PART 39—AIRWORTHINESS DIRECTIVES

Mooney Models M20C, M20D, and M20E Airplanes

A proposal issued under Docket No. 6360 to amend Part 39 of the Federal Aviation Regulations to include an airworthiness directive requiring replacement of Dukes fuel pumps on Mooney M20C, M20D, and M20E airplanes to supersede Amendment 39-45 (30 F.R. 3349), Airworthiness Directive 65-6-5, was published in 32 F.R. 7596. After publication of the proposal, it was considered desirable to cross-reference the directive with the assignment of a Southwest Region docket number for the purpose of establishing the public docket in the office of the Regional Counsel applicable to this action in keeping with delegated authority and the requirements of Part 11, Federal Aviation Regulations.

Interested persons have been afforded an opportunity to participate in the making of the amendment. Mooney Aircraft, Inc., advised that references to pump serial numbers "above 1551" and "above 1159" in the body of the directive and in Mooney Service Bulletin M20-121B (Revision B, 11-4-66) should read "above 1550" and "above 1158", respectively. No other comments were received.

In consideration of the foregoing, and pursuant to the authority delegated to me by the Administrator (31 F.R. 13697), § 39.13 of Part 39 of the Federal Aviation Regulations is amended by adding the following new airworthiness directive:

MOONEY. Applies to Model M20C (Mark 21) airplanes, Serial Numbers 3623 through 2737 and 2739 through 3198; Model M20D (Master) airplanes, Serial Numbers 201 through 260; and Model M20E (Super 21) airplanes, Serial Numbers 101 through 850.

Compliance required as indicated unless already accomplished.

Service experience indicates that it is necessary to replace Dukes fuel pumps now in service with a redesigned Dukes fuel pump as follows:

(a) For Model M20E (Super 21) airplanes equipped with Dukes fuel pump:

(1) Within the next 25 hours time in service after April 12, 1965, replace Dukes fuel pump, Part No. 4140-00-19, Serial Nos. 101, 102, 103, 150 through 312, with Dukes fuel pump, Part No. 4140-00-19A, with pump serial numbers above 1550, in accordance with Mooney Service Bulletin M20-121B (Revision B, 11-4-66).

(2) Within the next 100 hours time in service after April 12, 1965, replace Dukes fuel pump, Part No. 4140-00-19, Serial Nos. 313 through 613, with Dukes fuel pump, Part No. 4140-00-19A with pump serial numbers above 1550, in accordance with Mooney Service Bulletin M20-121B (Revision B, 11-4-66).

(3) Within the next 100 hours time in service after the effective date of this AD, replace Dukes fuel pump, Part No. 4140-00-19A, Serial Nos. 614 through 1550 with Dukes fuel pump, Part No. 4140-00-19A with pump serial numbers above 1550 in accordance with Mooney Service Bulletin M20-121B (Revision B, 11-4-66).

(b) For Models M20C (Mark 21) and M20D (Master) airplanes equipped with Dukes fuel pump:

(1) Within the next 25 hours time in service after April 12, 1965, replace Dukes fuel pump, Part Number 4140-00-21, Serial Numbers 100, 102, 103, 150 through 244, with Dukes fuel pump, Part Number 4140-00-21A with pump serial numbers above 1158, in accordance with Mooney Service Bulletin M20-121B (Revision B, 11-4-66).

(2) Within the next 100 hours time in service after April 12, 1965, replace Dukes fuel pump, Part Number 4140-00-21, Serial Numbers 245 through 409, with Dukes fuel pump, Part Number 4140-00-21A with pump serial numbers above 1158, in accordance with Mooney Service Bulletin Number M20-121B (Revision B, 11-4-66).

(3) Within the next 100 hours time in service after the effective date of the AD, replace Dukes fuel pump, Part Number 4140-00-21A, Serial Numbers 410 through 1158, with Dukes fuel pump, Part Number 4140-00-21A with pump serial numbers above 1158, in accordance with Mooney Service Bulletin M20-121B (Revision B, 11-4-66).

(c) For Model M20E, Serial Numbers 101 through 363, Model M20C, Serial Numbers 2623 through 2690, and Model M20D, Serial Numbers 201 through 236, concurrent with the fuel pump replacement in (a) and (b) above, remove Mooney electric fuel pump mounting bracket, Part Number 610032, and install redesigned pump bracket, Part Number 610048, in accordance with Mooney Service Letter 20-120, dated March 18, 1964.

This supersedes Amendment 39-45 (30 F.R. 3349), AD 65-6-5.

This amendment becomes effective September 5, 1967.

PART 71—DESIGNATION OF FEDERAL AIRWAYS, CONTROLLED AIRSPACE, AND REPORTING POINTS

Alteration of Control Zone

The purpose of this amendment to Part 71 of the Federal Aviation Regulations is to alter the Gulfport, Miss., control zone.

The Gulfport control zone is described in § 71.171 (32 F.R. 2071 and 32 F.R. 5497).

Because of a planned military operation during the time the control zone is inoperative, there is an aeronautical requirement that the effective period of this control zone exceed the 0600 to 2200 hours, local time. To provide the flexibility required for this military operation, it is necessary to redesignate the control zone to allow for changes by Notices to Airmen when minor variations in time of designation are anticipated.

Since this amendment is required for reasons of safety, notice and public procedure hereon are unnecessary.

In consideration of the foregoing, Part 71 of the Federal Aviation Regulations is amended, effective immediately, as hereinafter set forth.

In § 71.171 (32 F.R. 2071), the Gulfport, Miss., control zone (32 F.R. 5497) is amended to read:

GULFPORT, MISS.

Within a 5-mile radius of Gulfport Municipal Airport (latitude 30°24'27.5" N., longitude 89°04'05" W.); within 2 miles each side of the Gulfport VOR 325° radial, extending from the 5-mile radius zone to 8 miles northwest of the VOR, excluding that portion each of longitude 89°00'00" W. This control zone is effective during the specific dates and times established in advance by a Notice to Airmen. The effective date and time will thereafter be continuously published in the Airman's Information Manual.

(Sec. 307(a), Federal Aviation Act of 1958; 49 U.S.C. 1348(a))

PART 73—SPECIAL USE AIRSPACE

Revocation of Restricted Area

The purpose of this amendment to Part 73 of the Federal Aviation Regulations is to revoke Restricted Area/Military Climb Corridor R-5003 Wrightstown, N.J. (McGuire AFB).

The U.S. Air Force has advised there no longer is a requirement for R-5003 since McGuire AFB, N.J., has been removed from the list of bases authorized to conduct ADC operations. Accordingly, action is taken herein to revoke this restricted area.

Since this amendment is less restrictive in nature, notice and public procedure hereon are unnecessary, and the amendment may be made effective on less than 30 days' notice.

In § 73.50 (32 F.R. 2320) R-5003 Wrightstown, N.J. (McGuire AFB) Restricted Area/Military Climb Corridor is revoked.

(Sec. 307(a), Federal Aviation Act of 1958; 49 U.S.C. 1348)

Title 32A—NATIONAL DEFENSE, APPENDIX

Chapter X—Oil Import Administration, Department of the Interior

[Oil Import Reg. 1 (Rev. 5); Amdt. 4]

OI REG. 1—OIL IMPORT REGULATION

Residual Fuel Oil To Be Used as Fuel

Experience to date under the revised system of allocating and licensing imports of residual fuel oil to be used as fuel indicates that difficulties in supplying oil are likely to arise as a result of licensing requirements. Accordingly, in order to assure a continuing supply of oil it has been decided to allow licenses issued during the months of February and March to remain valid for periods of 12 months respectively. This action will operate to extend the terms of licenses issued in February and March 1967.

The definition of "Residual fuel oil" is amended in order to conform to the definition contained in amendatory Proclamation 3794 (32 F.R. 10547).

1. Paragraph (f) of section 12 of Oil Import Regulation 1 (Revision 5) as amended (32 F.R. 1175), is further amended to read as follows:

Sec. 12 Eligibility for and allocations of residual fuel oil to be used as fuel—District I.

* * * * *

(f) All licenses issued during that part of an allocation period April 1 through January 31 shall expire the end of the allocation period in which they are issued. Licenses issued during the months of February and March in an allocation period shall expire at the end of the next succeeding allocation period.

Example. Licenses issued in July 1967, expire on March 31, 1968, the end of the allocation period April 1, 1967–March 31, 1968. Licenses issued in February and March 1968 expire March 31, 1969.

2. Subparagraph (7) of paragraph (g) of section 22 of Oil Import Regulation 1 (Revision 5), (31 F.R. 7745) is amended to read as follows:

Sec. 22 Definitions.

* * * * *

(g) * * *

(7) Residual fuel oil—topped crude oil or viscous residuum which has a viscosity of not less than 45 seconds Saybolt universal at 100°F. and crude oil which has a viscosity of not less than 45 seconds Saybolt universal at 100° F. minimum viscosity and which is to be used as fuel without further processing other than by blending by mechanical means.

* * * * *

As a primary purpose of this amendment is to relax a restriction upon the duration of import licenses for residual fuel oil to be used as fuel in District I, it is unnecessary either to give notice of proposed rule making or to delay the effective date of the amendment, and the amendment shall become effective immediately.

STEWART L. UDALL,
Secretary of the Interior.

Title 38—PENSIONS, BONUSES, AND VETERANS' RELIEF

Chapter I—Veterans Administration

PART 17—MEDICAL

Miscellaneous Amendments

1. In § 17.46, paragraph (e) is amended to read as follows:

§ 17.46 Persons entitled to hospital or domiciliary care.

* * * * *

(e) The authorization of services under any provision of this section, except paragraph (a)(1) of this section, is subject to charges as required by § 17.62.

2. Immediately preceding § 17.62, a new centerhead is added to read as follows: "Charges, Waivers, and Collections."

3. Section 17.62 is revised to read as follows:

§ 17.62 Charges for care or services.

Charges at the indicated rates shall be made for Veterans Administration hospital care or medical services (including, but not limited to, dental services, supplies, medicines, orthopedic and prosthetic appliances, and domiciliary or nursing home care) as follows:

(a) Furnished in error. Charges at rates prescribed by the Chief Medical Director shall be made for inpatient or outpatient care or services (including domiciliary care) authorized for any person on the basis of eligibility as a veteran, but who was subsequently found to have been ineligible for such care or services as a veteran; or

(b) Furnished in a medical emergency. Charges at rates prescribed by the Chief Medical Director shall be made for any inpatient or outpatient care or services rendered any person in a medical emergency who was not eligible for such care or services as a veteran, if:

(1) The care or services were rendered as a humanitarian service; or

(2) The person for whom care or services were rendered was a Veterans Administration employee or a member of a Veterans Administration employee's family; or

(c) Furnished beneficiaries of the Department of Defense or other Federal agencies. Except as provided for in paragraph (f) of this section, charges at rates prescribed by the Bureau of the Budget shall be made for any inpatient or outpatient care or services authorized for a member of the Armed Forces on active duty or retired, or for any beneficiary or designee of any other Federal agency; or

(d) Furnished pensioners of allied nations. Charges at rates prescribed by the Chief Medical Director shall be made for any inpatient or outpatient care or services rendered a pensioner of a nation allied with the United States in World War I and World War II; or

(e) Furnished under sharing agreements. Charges at rates agreed upon in an agreement for sharing specialized medical resources shall be made for all medical care or services, either on an inpatient or outpatient basis, rendered to a person designated by the other party to the agreement as a patient to be benefited under the agreement; or

(f) Furnished military retirees with chronic disability. Charges for subsistence at rates prescribed by the Chief Medical Director shall be made for the period during which hospital care is rendered when such care is rendered to a member or former member of the Armed Forces required to pay the subsistence rate under § 17.47 (b)(2) and (c)(2).

4. Sections 17.63 and 17.64 are added to read as follows:

§ 17.63 Collection of claims.

The collection of claims against persons in default of payment of charges made under any provision of § 17.62 shall be aggressive, on a timely basis with effective follow-up, and the provisions referable to claims collections in § 1.900 series of this chapter are for application.

§ 17.64 Waivers.

Charges made under § 17.62(a) are subject to waiver and any request for waiver in such category of claims shall be referred to the field station Committee on Waivers and Compromises for disposition under the provisions of § 13.200 series of this chapter. No other category of charges or claims arising in connection with Veterans Administration medical benefits or transactions of the Department of Medicine and Surgery may be waived, unless incident to disposition of a claim against a third party as referred to in § 17.65(b).

5. The centerhead "Hospital Discharge of Actively Tuberculous Patients" is deleted and § 17.65 is revoked and a new § 17.65 is added to read as follows:

§ 17.65 Compromises and termination or suspension of collection action.

Any offer to compromise or settle any charges or claim made by the Veterans Administration in connection with the medical program, and any proposal by the Chief of the Fiscal activity responsible for the collection of such indebtedness, to terminate collection action, or to suspend collection action for 1 year or more (except terminations or suspensions involving claims of $150 or less concerning which the Fiscal activity shall make final determinations pursuant to the provisions of § 1.900 series of this chapter) shall be referred as follows:

(a) If the charges were made under § 1762(a) and do not exceed $20,000., the compromise offer or proposal to terminate or suspend collection action shall be referred for disposition under § 13.200 of this chapter, to the field station Committee on Waivers and Compromises which shall take final action, where appropriate, or refer the case to the Central Office Board on Waivers and Compromises for final action; or

(b) If the compromise offer or proposal to waive, terminate or suspend collection action involves a claim asserted against a third party tort feasor or under workman's compensation laws or Public Law 87-693 (76 Stat. 593). (See § 1.903 of this chapter), or involves a claim contemplated by § 1.902 of this chapter over which the Veterans Administration lacks jurisdiction, the offer or proposal shall be promptly referred to the field station Chief Attorney having jurisdiction in the area in which the claim arose; or

(c) If the charges or claim arose in connection with any transaction not contemplated by paragraphs (a) and (b) of this section, the compromise offer or proposal to terminate or suspend collection action shall be referred to the Department of Medicine and Surgery Board on Collections and Compromises for consideration as provided for in §§ 17.300 through 17.306.

6. A new centerhead and §§ 17.300 through 17.306 are added to read as follows:

BOARD ON COLLECTIONS AND COMPROMISES

§ 17.300 Establishment.

There is established in the Department of Medicine and Surgery, under the supervision and administrative control of the Assistant Chief Medical Director for Management and Evaluation, a Board on Collections and Compromises. The Board shall consider and determine, except for determinations as to litigative probabilities and other legal considerations for which authority has been delegated to the General Counsel under § 2.6(d)(2) of this chapter, questions involving any offer to settle for less than liquidated value, and proposals to terminate collection action or to suspend collection action for 1 year or more, which are properly referred to the Board under § 17.65, in any claim asserted by the Veterans Administration on a debt or obligation owed the Veterans Administration, if:

(a) The claim is for $20,000 or less; and

(b) The claim arose in the course of transactions of an organizational element under the jurisdiction of the Department of Medicine and Surgery, including, but not limited to, claims for charges for medical services rendered as a humanitarian service, claims for aid or grant funds paid a recipient or grantee under a program administered by the Department of Medicine and Surgery, and claims arising in connection with the training and procurement functions of the Department of Medicine and Surgery; and

(c) The offer of compromise or proposal to terminate or suspend collection action is not one which should be referred to a field station committee or the Central Office Board on Waivers and Compromises or to the Chief Attorney or other official or agency having jurisdiction, pursuant to the provisions of § 17.65 (a) or (b).

§ 17.301 Composition of Board.

The Board on Collections and Compromises shall consist of six members and six alternate members appointed by the Chief Medical Director, including a chairman and alternate chairman.

§ 17.302 Selection of members.

The members of the Board on Collections and Compromises, and their alternates, shall be selected so that each organizational element headed by an Assistant Chief Medical Director, the Administrative Services and the Budget Service is represented on the Board. The chairman and his alternate shall be selected from the staff of the Assistant Chief Medical Director for Management and Evaluation.

§ 17.303 Rules of procedure.

The Board shall act on cases fully developed with recommendations from the Chief of the Fiscal activity responsible for collection action in each case. The Board's function shall largely be a matter of accepting or rejecting the referred offer of compromise or proposal to terminate or suspend collection action. In making such determinations the following procedures shall be followed:

(a) Decisions by panels. A panel of the Board, consisting of the chairman and two or more members of the Board shall convene for disposition of business before it when called by the chairman; and

(b) Choice of panels. The panels should be chosen by the Chairman from among the membership of the Board so that each matter of business shall receive the attention of the Board's representative of the organizational element within whose functional area the claim arose, and any other member or members whose specialty the chairman deems necessary; and

(c) Majority vote. The decision of a majority of a panel shall be the final decision of the Board. In determining majority decisions, the vote of the chairman shall be counted only when the votes of the remaining panel members are tied.

§ 17.304 Rules for making determinations.

Decisions made by the Board on Collections and Compromises shall be in conformity with the standards set forth in § 1.900 series of this chapter. The Board shall be assisted by any advice or consultation from any Veterans Administration officer or employee whose specialty is deemed pertinent to a particular case. Any questions concerning litigative probabilities or other legal considerations for which authority to make determinations is delegated under § 2.6(d)(2) of this chapter shall be referred to the General Counsel.

§ 17.305 Reviews and revisions.

There shall be no right of appeal from any determination made by the Board on Collections and Compromises in any matter under its jurisdiction.

§ 17.306 Correspondence, records and certificates.

Consistent with the provisions of § 17.305, replies to all matters referred to the Board within its jurisdiction shall be prepared for the signature of the Chairman, Board on Collections and Compromises, Department of Medicine and Surgery. The chairman shall execute or certify any documents pertaining to its proceedings and be responsible for maintaining records for any administrative or other reports on the Board's transactions as may be required.

(72 Stat. 1114; 38 U.S.C. 210)

Proposed Rule Making

DEPARTMENT OF AGRICULTURE

Consumer and Marketing Service

[9 CFR Part 318]

REINSPECTION AND PREPARATION OF PRODUCT

Poultry, Egg (Other Than Shell Eggs), and Dry Milk Products

Notice is hereby given in accordance with the administrative procedure provisions in 5 U.S.C. 553 that the Department of Agriculture, pursuant to the authority conferred by the Meat Inspection Act, as amended and extended (21 U.S.C. 71–96) and section 306 of the Tariff Act of 1930, as amended (19 U.S.C. 1306), proposes to amend Part 318 of the Meat Inspection Regulations (9 CFR Part 318) as follows:

In § 318.6 paragraph (b)(12) would be revised and paragraph (b)(13) would be added to read:

§ 318.6 Processes to be supervised; containers, equipment, processes of manufacture to be clean and sanitary; substances to be clean and wholesome.

• • • • •

(b) • • •

(12) Poultry products and egg products (other than shell eggs) which are intended for use as ingredients of meat food products at official establishments shall be considered acceptable for such use only when identified as having been inspected and passed for wholesomeness by the Department under the regulations in 7 CFR Part 55, 70, or 81 and when found to be sound and otherwise acceptable when presented for use. Poultry products and egg products (other than shell eggs) which have not been inspected and passed for wholesomeness by the Department shall not be used in the preparation of such meat food products.

(13) Dry milk products which are intended for use as ingredients of meat food products at official establishments shall be considered acceptable for such use only when produced in a plant approved by the Department under the regulations in 7 CFR Part 58, and when found to be sound and otherwise acceptable when presented for use. Dry milk products prepared in a plant not so approved shall not be used in the preparation of such meat food products.

The purpose of the proposed amendments is to provide additional assurance of the wholesomeness of meat food products prepared at federally inspected meat processing plants, by requiring that egg products used in such meat food products must have been inspected for wholesomeness by this Department under the Agricultural Marketing Act of 1946, as amended, and dry milk products so used must have been produced in a plant approved for service by this Department under the regulations for grading or inspection of dairy products under that Act.

Any person who wishes to submit written data, views, or arguments concerning the proposed amendments may do so by filing them in duplicate, with the Hearing Clerk, U.S. Department of Agriculture, Washington, D.C. 20250, within 60 days after date of publication of this notice in the FEDERAL REGISTER.

All written submissions made pursuant to this notice will be made available for public inspection at times and places and in a manner convenient to the public business (7 CFR 1.27(b)).

Done at Washington, D.C., this 2d day of August 1967.

R. K. SOMERS,
Deputy Administrator, Consumer Protection, Consumer and Marketing Service.

[Airspace Docket No. 67–SW–51]

TRANSITION AREA

Proposed Alteration

The Federal Aviation Administration is considering amending Part 71 of the Federal Aviation Regulations to alter the Midland, Tex., transition area to provide airspace protection for aircraft executing a revised instrument approach procedure at the Midland-Odessa Regional Air Terminal and to conform with present criteria.

Interested persons may submit such written data, views, or arguments as they may desire. Communications should be submitted in triplicate to the Chief, Air Traffic Division, Southwest Region, Federal Aviation Administration, Post Office Box 1689, Fort Worth, Tex. 76101. All communications received within 45 days after publication of this notice in the FEDERAL REGISTER will be considered before action is taken on the proposed amendment. No public hearing is contemplated at this time, but arrangements for informal conferences with Federal Aviation Administration officials may be made by contacting the Chief, Air Traffic Division. Any data, views, or arguments presented during such conferences must also be submitted in writing in accordance with this notice in order to become part of the record for consideration. The proposal contained in this notice may be changed in the light of comments received.

The official docket will be available for examination by interested persons at the Office of the Regional Counsel, Southwest Region, Federal Aviation Administration, Forth Worth, Tex. An informal docket will also be available for examination at the Office of the Chief, Air Traffic Division.

It is proposed to amend Part 71 of the Federal Aviation Regulations as hereinafter set forth.

In § 71.181 (32 F.R. 2221) the Midland, Tex., transition area 1,200-foot portion is amended by substituting "• • • 31°36'20" N., longitude 102°00'00" W., to latitude 31°28'40" N., longitude 102°00'-00" W., to latitude 31°30'00" N., longitude 102°20'00" W. • • •" for "• • • 31°37'00" N., longitude 102°25'00" W. • • •."

This amendment is proposed under the authority of section 307(a) of the Federal Aviation Act of 1958 (49 U.S.C. 1348).

Issued in Fort Worth, Tex., on July 27, 1967.

A. L. COULTER,
Acting Director, Southwest Region.

DEPARTMENT OF THE INTERIOR

Bureau of Land Management

OUTER CONTINENTAL SHELF OFF LOUISIANA

Salt Lease Offer

Pursuant to section 8 of the Outer Continental Shelf Lands Act (67 Stat. 462; 43 U.S.C. sec. 1331 et seq.) and the regulations issued thereunder (43 CFR 3380), sealed bids addressed to the Manager, New Orleans Office, Bureau of Land Management, Room T-9003, Federal Office Building, 701 Loyola Avenue, New Orleans, La., or Post Office Box 53226, New Orleans, La. 70150, will be received until 10 a.m., on September 5, 1967, for the lease of salt deposits in certain areas of the Outer Continental Shelf, adjacent to the State of Louisiana. Bids will be opened at 10 a.m., September 5, 1967, in Room T-13003, Federal Office Building, 701 Loyola Avenue, New Orleans, La.

On that day bids may be delivered in person to the Office of the Manager or to Room T-13003, Federal Office Building between 8:30 a.m., and 10 a.m. No bids received by mail or in person after 10 a.m., will be accepted. All bids must be submitted in accordance with applicable regulations, particularly 43 CFR 3382.1; 3382.3; and 3382.4. Each bidder must submit the certification required by 41 CFR 60-1.6(b) and Executive Order No. 11246 of September 24, 1965, on Form 1140-1, November 1966.

Bids may not be modified or withdrawn unless written modifications or withdrawals are received prior to the end of the period fixed for the filing of bids. Bidders are warned against violation of section 1860 of Title 18 United States Code, prohibiting unlawful combination or intimidation of bidders. Attention is directed to the nondiscrimination clauses in section 2(d) of the lease agreement (Form 3380-8, June 1966). Bidders must submit with each bid, one-fifth of the amount bid, in cash or by cashier's check, bank draft, certified check or money order, payable to the order of the Bureau of Land Management. The leases will provide for a royalty rate of $0.03 per short ton, and a rental rate of $3 per acre or minimum royalty of $5,000. The successful bidder will be required to pay the remainder of the bid and the first year's rental of $3 per acre or fraction thereof and furnish an acceptable surety bond as required in 43 CFR 3384.1 prior to the issuance of each lease.

This offer is made pursuant to paragraph 13 of the October 12, 1956 Agreement between the United States and the State of Louisiana, as amended March 31, 1960, and to a joint declaration by the Secretary of the Interior and the State Mineral Board of Louisiana that salt leases on the tracts herein offered for bid are desirable for utilization of salt to facilitate production of sulphur.

Bids will be considered on the basis of the highest cash bonus offered for a tract but no total bid amounting to less than $5 per acre or fraction thereof will be considered. Overriding royalty, payments out of production, logarithmic or sliding scale bids will not be considered. No bid for less than a full tract, as listed below, will be considered. A separate bid, in a separate sealed envelope, must be submitted for each tract. The envelope should be endorsed "Sealed bid for salt lease, Louisiana (insert number of tract), not to be opened until 10 a.m., September 5, 1967." The right is reserved to reject any or all bids. The tracts offered for bid are as follows:

Notice of Applications for Duty-Free Entry of Scientific Articles

The following are notices of the receipt of applications for duty-free entry of scientific articles pursuant to section 6 (c) of the Educational, Scientific and Cultural Materials Importation Act of 1966 (Public Law 89-651; 80 Stat. 897). Interested persons may present their views with respect to the question of whether an instrument or apparatus of equivalent scientific value for the purposes for which the article is intended to be used is being manufactured in the United States. Such comments must be filed in triplicate with the Director, Office of Scientific and Technical Equipment, Business and Defense Services Administration, Washington, D.C. 20230, within 20 calendar days after date on which this notice of application is published in the FEDERAL REGISTER.

Regulations issued under cited Act, published in the February 4, 1967 issue of the FEDERAL REGISTER, prescribe the requirements applicable to comments.

A copy of each application is on file, and may be examined during ordinary Commerce Department business hours at the Office of Scientific and Technical Equipment, Department of Commerce, Room 5123, Washington, D.C.

A copy of each comment filed with the Director of the Office of Scientific and Technical Equipment must also be mailed or delivered to the applicant, or its authorized agent, if any, to whose application the comment pertains; and the comment filed with the Director must certify that such copy has been mailed or delivered to the applicant.

Docket No. 68-00008-33-46040. Applicant: National Aeronautics and Space Administration (NASA) Ames Research Center LVX-N-236-3, Moffett Field, Calif. 94035. Article: Electron Microscope EM-300-S, Type PW-6001/00; Anti-Contamination Device type PW 6526/00; 70 mm. film holder. Manufacturer: N. V. Philips, The Netherlands. Intended use of article: Applicant states: "This laboratory has been designated to do the ultrastructure research on the Lunar return samples * * *" The applicant states further that the limited amount of material must be examined quickly to obtain the maximum amount of information retrieval from the specimens and make further measurements in a spectrometer to obtain X-ray data on the organic and inorganic constituents. The structure of Bioadhesives will be examined. Better methods for detecting iron in the blood to prevent edema and other degradations will be investigated. Knowledge of the radiation effects on the fractioned myelin components of nerves will be studied. Application received by Commissioner of Customs: July 7, 1967.

Docket No. 68-00012-33-46040. Applicant: Harvard University, Purchasing Department, 75 Mount Auburn Street, Cambridge, Mass. 02138. Article: Electron Microscope, Norelco Model EM-300. Manufacturer: Philips Electronics, The Netherlands. Intended use of article: Applicant states:

The electron microscope will be used to study atherosclerosis of arteries obtained at autopsy from humans plus naturally occurring and diet-induced atherosclerosis in monkeys.

Docket No. 67-00144-33-46040. Applicant: The University of New Mexico School of Medicine, 900 Stanford Drive NE., Albuquerque, N. Mex. 97106. Article: Electron microscope Hitachi Perkin-Elmer Model HU-11C. Manufacturer: Hitachi, Ltd., Japan. Intended use of article: Applicant states:

* * * For example, current investigations are being pursued on a variety of tissues and organs in the vertebrate body. These extend from the studies of synaptic structure in vertebrate retina to the cytochemical properties and morphological substructure inherent in the production of mucus in the slime glands of hagfish. In addition, the topographical relationships of nerves innervating intrinsic musculature of the heart in several species is being studied. The influence of a variety of drugs on the structure of biological membranes, in retina, acinar pancreas, absorptive cells of the gut, phagocytic cells of the liver sinusoid and alveolar macrophages in the lung are under active research. Each of these tissues and their constituent cells display a remarkable amount of comparable structural complexity. Our particular point of view for which we hope to employ the requested electron microscope is to identify those sites of substructure with which chemical identification and/or indirect labeling methods can bind in an effort to demonstrate the orientation and disposition of molecules that comprise the framework of the morphology as visualized in the electron microscope.

Application received by Commissioner of Customs: June 26, 1967.

Docket No. 68-00013-65-46040. Applicant: Rutgers—The State University, New Brunswick, N.J. 08903. Article: Electron microscope, Hitachi Perkin-Elmer Model HU-200. Manufacturer: Hitachi, Ltd., Japan. Intended use of article: Applicant states:

Our intended uses of the requested apparatus are to study the morphology, the structure, and the nature of defects in crystals of both metals and polymers. By use of the 200 KV electron microscope, we hope to obtain new information about structure, and changes in structure, produced by various types of external agencies, such as applied stress, radiation, annealing, crystallisation conditions, etc. * * *

We expect to use the new electron microscope in connection with many of the research projects which are currently under investigation by our faculty and our graduate students. Some of these are as follows:

1. Study of Fatigue of Metal Crystals * * *.
2. Study of Single Crystals of Polymers * * *.
3. Study of Precipitation-Hardened Titanium Alloys * * *.
4. Study of Relaxation Behavior and Structure in Polymers and Related Materials * * *.

Intended use of article: These articles are intended to be used as accessories for Siemens Electron Microscope. Application received by Commissioner of Customs: July 17, 1967.

Docket No. 68-00028-00-46040. Applicant: Montefiore Hospital and Medical Center, 111 East 210th Street, Bronx, N.Y. 10467. Article: Shutter for Siemens Electron Microscope Model 171460. Docket No. 67-00141-33-46040. Applicant: Northwestern State College, Natchitoches, La. 71457. Article: Electron Microscope Hitachi Perkin-Elmer Model HU-11C. Manufacturer: Hitachi, Ltd., Japan. Intended use of article: Applicant states:

The article will be used for research and teaching at graduate and undergraduate levels in the study of fine structure of cells primarily in microbiology and immunology.

(1) Materials to be studied include bacteria, viruses, and related phagocytic and propagating mammalian cells.

(2) Ultrastructural studies of cell walls (including cell membranes) of Brucella, of lysosomal relationships of staphylococcal toxin, of phagocytised bacteria and ferritin and other antigen-coated inert particles, and of morphological relationships of viruses to propagating cells are to be carried out * * *.

(3) Objectives of the studies include: Determination of reactive sites of serum factors upon cell wall layers of Brucella following treatments to remove various components. Observations of the structure of lysosomal limiting membranes of kidney tubular epithelial cells under the in vivo labilizing influence of purified staphylococcal alpha toxin. Changes in phagocytized bacteria and antigen-coated inert particles upon ingestion by phagocytes. The morphologic relationships of viruses growing in propagating cells.

Pursuant to the provisions of the Federal Food, Drug, and Cosmetic Act (sec. 408(d)(1), 68 Stat. 512; 21 U.S.C. 346a (d)(1)), notice is given that a petition (PP 7F0620) has been filed by Geigy Chemical Corp., Ardsley, N.Y. 10502, proposing the establishment of tolerances for residues of the herbicide atrazine (2-chloro-4-ethylamino-6-isopropylamino-s-triazine) in or on raw agricultural commodities as follows: 15 parts per million in or on perennial rye grass; 10 parts per million in or on pineapple (forage and fodder); 5 parts per million in or on wheat (straw, forage, and hay); 0.25 part per million in or on macadamia nuts, pineapple (fruit), sugarcane (cane, forage, and fodder), and wheat (grain).

The analytical methods proposed for determining residues of the herbicide are based on a spectrophotometric technique and on the gas chromatographic methods of A. M. Mattson, R. A. Kahrs, and J. Schneller, Journal of Agricultural and Food Chemistry, Vol. 13, No. 2, pp. 120–122.

DEPARTMENT OF HOUSING AND URBAN DEVELOPMENT

ASSISTANT SECRETARY AND DEPUTY ASSISTANT SECRETARY FOR RENEWAL AND HOUSING ASSISTANCE

Delegations of Authority

The Secretary's delegations of authority to the Assistant Secretary and Deputy Assistant Secretary for Renewal and Housing Assistance effective July 1, 1966 (31 F.R. 8964–8965, June 29, 1966), as amended effective October 5, 1966 (32 F.R. 624–625, Jan. 19, 1967), are hereby further amended in the following respects:

(1) Paragraph 2 of section A is revised to read:

2. The program of Grants for Provision of Open-Space Land in Built-Up Urban Areas under section 705 of the Housing Act of 1961, as amended (42 U.S.C. 1500c–1), Grants for Urban Beautification and Improvement under section 706 of the Housing Act of 1961, as amended (42 U.S.C. 1500c–2), and grants for demonstrations relative to the provision of open-space land in built-up urban areas and for demonstrations relative to urban beautification and improvement under section 708(c) of the Housing Act of 1961, as amended (42 U.S.C. 1500d(c)); except the authority to approve the conversion of open-space land to other uses under section 704 of the Housing Act of 1961, as amended (42 U.S.C. 1500c).

(2) Paragraph 1 of section C is revised to read:

1. Make determinations under subsection 220(d)(1)(A) of the National Housing Act, as amended (12 U.S.C. 1715k(d)(1)(A)), that there exist the necessary authority and financial capacity to assure the completion of the redevelopment or urban renewal plan.

(3) Subparagraph 3a of section C is revised by deleting the period at the end thereof, substituting a comma, and adding the following: "Provided, however, That this power and authority may be redelegated to Regional Administrators and Deputy Regional Administrators."

(4) Paragraph 4 of section C is revised by deleting the period at the end thereof, substituting a comma, and adding the following: "except the power and authority to determine that the objectives of an Urban Renewal Plan could not be achieved through rehabilitation of the project area, under subsection 110(c) of the Housing Act of 1949, as amended (42 U.S.C. 1460(c))."

(5) Paragraph 5 of section C is revised as follows:

(a) The language preceding the enumerated subparagraphs is revised to read:

Redelegate to the Deputy Assistant Secretary for Renewal Assistance and to the General Deputy, Renewal Assistance, the powers and authorities delegated in section A above with respect to the following programs and matters except as stated in this paragraph 5:

(b) In subparagraph 5a, item "iv" is deleted.

(c) In subparagraph 5a, item "v" is revised to read:

v. Make allocations of loan funds: Provided, however, That there may be redelegated to the Deputy Assistant Secretary for Renewal Assistance and the General Deputy, Renewal Assistance, the power and authority (1) to make amendatory allocations increasing the Federal loan amount set forth in a contract, and (2) to make allocations of loan funds for early land acquisition pursuant to the third sentence of subsection 102(a) of the Housing Act of 1949, as amended (42 U.S.C. 1452(a)).

(d) In subparagraph 5d, items "i" and "ii" are revised to read:

i. Make reservations or allocations of grant funds: Provided, however, That there may be redelegated to the Deputy Assistant Secretary for Renewal Assistance and the General Deputy, Renewal Assistance, the power and authority (1) to decrease the amount of an outstanding reservation of grant funds, and (2) to make amendatory allocations increasing the Federal relocation grant amount or rehabilitation grant amount set forth in a contract.

ii. Authorize contracts and commitments for Federal loan or grant assistance and amendatory contracts which provide for an increase in the total Federal grant amount set forth in a contract: Provided, however, That there may be redelegated to the Deputy Assistant Secretary for Renewal Assistance and the General Deputy, Renewal Assistance, power and authority to authorize (1) amendatory contracts which provide for an increase in the Federal loan amount or an increase in the Federal relocation grant or rehabilitation grant amount (whether or not resulting in an increase in the total Federal grant amount) set forth in a contract, (2) loan contracts for early land acquisition pursuant to the third sentence of subsection 102(a) of the Housing Act of 1949, as amended (42 U.S.C. 1452(a)), and (3) waivers of contract provisions.

(6) Subparagraph 6a of section C is revised to read:

a. The programs of Grants for Provision of Open-Space Land in Built-Up Urban Areas under section 705 of the Housing Act of 1961, as amended (42 U.S.C. 1500c–1), Grants for Urban Beautification and Improvement under section 706 of the Housing Act of 1961, as amended (42 U.S.C. 1500c–2), and grants for demonstrations relative to the provision of open-space land in built-up urban areas and for demonstrations relative to urban beautification and improvement under section 708(c) of the Housing Act of 1961, as amended (42 U.S.C. 1500d(c)); except the authority to set further terms and conditions for assistance, pursuant to subsection 702(d) of the Housing Act of 1961, as amended (42 U.S.C. 1500a(d)).

(7) Subparagraph 6d of section C is revised to read:

d. Additional authority excepted. There are further excepted from the authority to redelegate to the Deputy Assistant Secretary for Renewal Assistance and the General Deputy, Renewal Assistance, the powers and authorities excepted in items "i" through "v" of subparagraph 5d above (in this section C).

Effective date. These amendments to delegations of authority shall be effective as of August 5, 1967.

b. Set further terms and conditions for assistance, pursuant to subsection 702(d) of the Housing Act of 1961, as amended (42 U.S.C. 1500a(d)).

(3) In section A, the following new paragraph 6 is added:

6. Determinations under subsection 220(d)(1)(A) of the National Housing Act, as amended (12 U.S.C. 1715k(d)(1)(A)), that there exist the necessary authority and financial capacity to assure the completion of the redevelopment or urban renewal plan.

(4) Section C is revised to read:

SEC. C. Additional authority redelegated. Each Regional Administrator and each Deputy Regional Administrator is further authorized to redelegate to one or more employees under his jurisdiction the powers and authorities redelegated in section A except the power and authority to:

1. Authorize loans, grants, and advances and amend or modify the terms thereof: Provided, That this exception shall not be applicable with respect to the Rehabilitation Loan Program.

2. Find that a State or local low-rent housing program in connection with which urban renewal project land is to be used as a site for a State or locally assisted low-rent housing project has the same general purposes as the Federal low-rent program, and find that under such State or local program there are assurances equivalent to those under the Federal program that the local contribution to such project will be made during the entire period the project is used as low-rent housing, pursuant to section 107 of the Housing Act of 1949, as amended (42 U.S.C. 1457).

3. Make determinations with respect to the uncollectibility of Federal advances, in accordance with subsection 103(b) of the Housing Act of 1949, as amended (42 U.S.C. 1453(b)).

4. Make determinations that the objectives of an Urban Renewal Plan could not be achieved through rehabilitation of the project area, under subsection 110(c) of the Housing Act of 1949, as amended (42 U.S.C. 1460(c)).

Effective date. These amendments to redelegations of authority shall be effective as of August 5, 1967.

DON HUMMEL,
Assistant Secretary for Renewal and Housing Assistance.

ATOMIC ENERGY COMMISSION

[Docket No. 50-262]

BRIGHAM YOUNG UNIVERSITY

Notice of Proposed Issuance of Construction Permit and Facility License

The Atomic Energy Commission is considering the issuance to Brigham Young University of a construction permit, substantially in the form set forth below, which would authorize the construction of an Atomic International Type L–77 research reactor on the University's campus at Provo, Utah. Since the University's application, as amended, is complete enough to permit all evaluations, this notice of proposed issuance covers both the construction permit and operating license pursuant to the provisions of § 2.105(c) of 10 CFR Part 2.

Upon completion of the construction of the facility in compliance with the terms and conditions of the construction permit, and an inspection of the completed facility by Commission representatives, the Commission, in the absence of good cause to the contrary, will issue without further prior notice a license, substantially as also set forth below, authorizing operation of the reactor by Brigham Young University at a thermal power level of 10 watts.

Within fifteen (15) days from the date of publication of this notice in the FEDERAL REGISTER, the applicant may file a request for a hearing, and any person whose interest may be affected by the issuance of this construction permit and facility license may file a petition for leave to intervene. A request for a hearing and petitions to intervene shall be filed in accordance with the provisions of the Commission's rules of practice, 10 CFR Part 2. If a request for a hearing or petition for leave to intervene is filed within the time prescribed in this notice, a notice of hearing or an appropriate order will be issued.

For further details with respect to this proposed issuance, see (1) the application dated July 22, 1966, and amendments thereto, and (2) the related Safety Evaluation prepared by the Division of Reactor Licensing, all of which are available for public inspection at the Commission's Public Document Room, 1717

H Street NW., Washington, D.C. A copy of the Safety Evaluation may be obtained at the Commission's Document Room, or upon request addressed to the Atomic Energy Commission, Washington, D.C. 20545, Attention: Director, Division of Reactor Licensing.

Dated at Bethesda, Md., this 28th day of July 1967.

For the Atomic Energy Commission.

DONALD J. SKOVHOLT,
Assistant Director for Reactor Operations, Division of Reactor Licensing.

PROPOSED CONSTRUCTION PERMIT

1. By application dated July 22, 1966, and amendments thereto dated October 10, 1966, February 24, and June 21, 1967 (hereinafter "the application"), Brigham Young University requested authority to construct and operate on the applicant's site at Provo, Utah, an Atomics International Type L–77 research reactor (hereinafter "the reactor").

2. The Atomic Energy Commission ("the Commission") has found that:

A. The application complies with the requirements of the Atomic Energy Act of 1954, as amended ("the Act"), and the Commission's regulations set forth in Title 10, Chapter I, CFR;

B. The reactor will be a utilization facility as defined in the Commission's regulations contained in Title 10, Chapter I, CFR, Part 50, "Licensing of Production and Utilization Facilities";

C. The reactor will be used in the conduct of research and development activities of the types specified in section 31 of the Act;

D. Brigham Young University is financially qualified to construct the reactor in accordance with the regulations contained in Title 10, Chapter I, CFR;

E. Brigham Young University and its contractor, the Atomics International Division of North American Aviation, Inc., are technically qualified to design and construct the reactor;

F. Brigham Young University has submitted sufficient technical information concerning the proposed facility to provide reasonable assurance that the proposed facility can be constructed and operated at the proposed location without endangering the health and safety of the public;

G. The issuance of a construction permit to Brigham Young University will not be inimical to the common defense and security or to the health and safety of the public.

3. Pursuant to the Act and Title 10, CFR, Part 50 "Licensing of Production and Utilization Facilities", the Commission hereby issues a construction permit to Brigham Young University to construct the reactor in accordance with the application. This permit shall be deemed to contain and be subject to the conditions specified in §§ 50.54 and 50.55 of said regulations; is subject to all applicable provisions of the Act and rules, regulations, and orders of the Commission now or hereafter in effect, and is subject to the additional conditions specified below:

A. The earliest completion date of the facility is September 1, 1967. The latest completion date of the facility is February 1, 1968. The term "completion date", as used herein, means the date on which construction of the facility is completed except for the introduction of the fuel material.

B. The reactor shall be constructed on the campus at Provo, Utah, at the location described in the application.

4. Upon completion of the construction of the reactor in accordance with the terms and conditions of this permit, upon finding that the facility authorized has been constructed and will operate in conformity with the application and the provisions of the Act and of the rules and regulations of the Commission, and in the absence of any good cause being shown to the Commission why the granting of a license would not be in accordance with the provisions of the Act, the Commission will issue a Class 104 license to Brigham Young University pursuant to section 104c of the Act, which license shall expire 40 years from the date of issuance of this permit.

Date:

For the Atomic Energy Commission.

DONALD J. SKOVHOLT,
Assistant Director for Reactor Operations, Division of Reactor Licensing.

PROPOSED LICENSE

[License No. R-------]

The Atomic Energy Commission (hereinafter referred to as "the Commission") having found that:

a. The application for license complies with the requirements of the Atomic Energy Act of 1954, as amended (hereinafter referred to as "the Act"), and the Commission's regulations set forth in Title 10, Chapter I, CFR;

b. The reactor has been constructed in conformity with Construction Permit No. CPPR-------- and will operate in conformity with the application in conformity with the Act and the rules and regulations of the Commission;

c. There is reasonable assurance that the reactor can be operated at the designated location without endangering the health and safety of the public;

d. The Brigham Young University is technically and financially qualified to engage in the proposed activities in accordance with the Commission's regulations, and to assume financial responsibility for Commission charges for special nuclear material;

e. The possession and operation of the reactor, and the receipt, possession, and use of the special nuclear material, in the manner proposed in the application, will not be inimical to the common defense and security or to the health and safety of the public; and

f. Brigham Young University is a nonprofit educational institution and will use the reactor for the conduct of educational activities. Brigham Young University is therefore exempt from the financial protection requirement of subsection 170a of the Act;

License No. R-------- is hereby issued, effective as of the date of issuance, to read as follows:

1. This license applies to the homogeneous solution research reactor, designated as the Atomics International Type L–77, owned by Brigham Young University (hereinafter, "the licensee"), and located on the campus in Provo, Utah, and described in the licensee's application for license dated July 22, 1966, and amendments thereto dated October 10, 1966, February 24, and June 21, 1967 (hereinafter "the application").

2. Subject to the conditions and requirements incorporated herein, the Commission hereby licenses Brigham Young University:

A. Pursuant to section 104c of the Act and Title 10, CFR, Chapter I, Part 50, "Licensing of Production and Utilization Facilities" to possess, use, and operate the reactor in accordance with the procedures and limitations described in the application, and in this license;

B. Pursuant to the Act and Title 10, CFR, Chapter I, Part 70, "Special Nuclear Material" to receive, possess, and use up to 1.6 kilograms of contained uranium 235, and a 0.5 curie plutonium-beryllium neutron source; and

C. Pursuant to the Act and Title 10, CFR, Chapter I, Part 30, "Rules of General Applicability to Licensing of Byproduct Material," to possess, but not to separate such byproduct material as may be produced by operation of the reactor.

3. This license shall be deemed to contain and be subject to the conditions specified in Part 20, § 30.34 of Part 30, §§ 50.54 and 50.59 of Part 50, and § 70.32 of Part 70, and is subject to all applicable provisions of the Act and rules, regulations, and orders of the Commission now or hereafter in effect; and is subject to the additional conditions specified or incorporated below:

A. Maximum power level. The licensee may operate the reactor at steady state power levels up to a maximum of 10 watts (thermal).

B. Technical specifications. The Technical Specifications contained in Appendix "A" hereto[1] are hereby incorporated in this license. Except as otherwise permitted by the Act and the rules, regulations, and orders of the Commission, the licensee shall operate the reactor in accordance with the Technical Specifications. No changes shall be made in the Technical Specifications unless authorized by the Commission as provided in § 50.59 of 10 CFR Part 50.

C. Records. In addition to those otherwise required under this license and applicable regulations, the licensee shall keep the following records:

(1) Reactor operating records, including power levels and periods of operation at each power level;

(2) Records showing radioactivity discharge into the air or water beyond the effective control of the licensee as measured at or prior to the point of such release or discharge;

(3) Records of emergency shutdowns and inadvertent scrams, including reasons for emergency shutdown;

(4) Records of maintenance operations involving substitution or replacement of reactor equipment or components;

(5) Records of experiments installed including description, reactivity worths, locations, exposure time, total irradiation, and any unusual events involved in their performance and in their handling; and

(6) Records of tests and measurements performed pursuant to the Technical Specifications.

D. Reports. In addition to reports otherwise required under the license and applicable regulations:

(1) The licensee shall inform the Commission of any incident or condition relating to the operation of the reactor which prevented or could have prevented a nuclear system from performing its safety function as described in the Technical Specifications. For each such occurrence, the licensee shall promptly notify by telephone or telegraph the Director of the appropriate Atomic Energy Commission Regional Compliance Office listed in Appendix D of 10 CFR 20 and shall submit within ten (10) days a report in writing to the Director, Division of Reactor Licensing (hereinafter, Director, DRL) with a copy to the Regional Compliance Office.

(2) The licensee shall report to the Director, DRL, in writing within thirty (30) days of its occurrence any substantial variance disclosed by operation of the reactor from performance specifications contained in the Safety Analysis Report or the Technical Specifications.

(3) The licensee shall report to the Director, DRL, in writing within thirty (30) days of its occurrence any significant change in transient or accident analysis, as described in the Safety Analysis Report.

4. This license shall expire at midnight,

Date of issuance:

For the Atomic Energy Commission.

DONALD J. SKOVHOLT,
Assistant Director for Reactor Operations, Division of Reactor Licensing.

TENNESSEE VALLEY AUTHORITY

Notice of Receipt of Application for Construction Permit and Facility License

The Tennessee Valley Authority, Knoxville, Tenn. 37902, pursuant to section 104b of the Atomic Energy Act of 1954, as amended, has filed an application, dated July 13, 1967, for a construction permit and operating license to authorize construction and operation of a single cycle, forced circulation, boiling water nuclear reactor at the applicant's Browns Ferry Nuclear Power Station. The proposed site is located in Limestone County, Ala., approximately 10 miles southwest of Athens, Ala.

The proposed reactor, designated by the applicant as Browns Ferry Nuclear Power Station Unit 3, is designed to operate initially at 3,293 megawatts thermal (1,098 megawatts electrical). The reactor is to be situated adjacent to Units 1 and 2 of the Browns Ferry Nuclear Station, which are currently under construction pursuant to construction permits issued by the Atomic Energy Commission on May 10, 1967. The design of Unit 3 is stated to be "virtually identical" to that of Units 1 and 2.

A copy of the application is available for public inspection at the Commission's Public Document Room, 1717 H Street NW., Washington, D.C.

Dated at Bethesda, Md., this 31st day of July 1967.

For the Atomic Energy Commission.

[Docket No. 17909; Order E-25485]

SPACE-AVAILABLE MAIL

Order To Show Cause Regarding Establishment of Service Rates

Adopted by the Civil Aeronautics Board at its office in Washington, D.C., on the 2d day of August 1967.

Establishment of service rates for that class of mail created by Public Law 89–725; Docket 17909.

On November 2, 1966, the President signed into law Public Law 89–725. Thereafter, on November 4, 1966, the Board issued Order E–24361 finding that Public Law 89–725 had created a new class of mail, for convenience referred to as space-available mail, and instituting an investigation to fix and determine, pursuant to section 406 of the Act, the fair and reasonable rates of compensation to be paid to the carriers for the transportation by aircraft of such mail.

Public Law 89–725 applies to first-class letter mail (including postal cards and post cards), sound-recorded communications having the character of personal correspondence, and parcels not weighing more than 5 pounds and not exceeding 60 inches in length and girth combined when mailed at or addressed to an Armed Forces post office located outside of the 48 contiguous States; certain second-class publications when mailed at or addressed to any Armed Forces post office located in an overseas area designated by the President as a combat zone; and parcels exceeding 5 pounds but not exceeding 70 pounds in weight and not exceeding 100 inches in length and girth combined when mailed at or addressed to an overseas Armed Forces post office where adequate surface transportation is not available.

Public Law 89–725 provides for such airlift between Armed Forces post offices located outside of the 48 contiguous States or between any such Armed Forces post office and the point of embarkation or debarkation within the 50 States, the territories and possessions of the United States in the Pacific area, the Commonwealth of Puerto Rico, the Virgin Islands, or the Canal Zone. In other words within the 48 contiguous States it only provides for a space-available airlift of such mail matter when it is in transit between Armed Forces post offices located outside thereof. It does not provide for airlift between origination or destination points within the 48 contiguous States and points of embarkation or debarkation. The Postmaster General has, however, filed a petition in Docket 17969 seeking the establishment of a rate for domestic space-available airlift of such mail mail initiated on his own motion. This order deals only with the space-available airlift conducted pursuant to Public Law 89–725, and therefore does not deal with the matter raised by the Postmaster General's petition in Docket 17969. The Board will deal with that matter at a later date.

The Congress first provided for a limited space-available airlift of certain mail matter to Armed Forces post offices by Public Law 89–315, November 1, 1965. That law provided for a space-available airlift of fourth-class parcels addressed to or mailed at an Armed Forces post office located in an area designated by the President as a combat zone between domestic embarkation or debarkation points and such Armed Forces post offices. The law further provided that such mail should be carried on U.S. flag carriers at rates approved by the Board which were not, however, to exceed the minimum rates established by the Board for military cargo moving on scheduled flights (Category A). Pan American World Airways, Inc. (Pan American), entered into an agreement with the Department of Defense to carry such mail at rates equal to the minimum rates established by the Board for Category A cargo, i.e., 12 cents per ton-mile for shipments moving outbound from the United States and 10 cents per ton-mile for shipments moving inbound to the United States. These rates were approved by the Board in Order E–23422, March 28, 1966.

The mail matter formerly covered by Public Law 89–315 is now covered by Public Law 89–725, which provides that the airlifting of mail matter pursuant thereto shall be provided at rates fixed by the Board pursuant to section 406 of the Act. In other words, the legal basis for establishing the rate pursuant to Public Law 89–725 is different from that under Public Law 89–315. Nevertheless, the similarities between such space-available mail and Category A cargo recognized by the Congress in Public Law 89–315, are also relevant to the fixing of a rate for mail carried pursuant to Public Law 89–725. Such mail is intended to be carried exclusively on a space-available basis, that is, like Category A cargo, it is to be carried within regularly scheduled capacity not being used by ordinary commercial cargo and which would have ordinarily remained empty. Also, the principal volumes of such mail will move to areas of concentrated military activity where large volumes of Category A Cargo have been moving for some time.

Considering the similarities between Public Law 89–725 mail and Category A military cargo as well as the fact that the Board has just finished a complete review of the reasonableness of the minimum rates applicable to Category A cargo, PS–33, June 1, 1967, it appears reasonable to propose a rate for Public Law 89–725 mail based on the minimum rates established for Category A cargo. In addition, informal conferences between the Board's staff and representatives of the Post Office Department, the Department of Defense, and the carriers which will carry the principal volumes of space available mail indicate that such a rate would be acceptable to both the user of the service and those that will provide the service. This is a fact that the Board has always considered to be substantial evidence of the reasonableness of a rate proposal.

There are currently two rates established for Category A cargo. A 12 cents per ton-mile rate applies to such cargo shipped in the direction outbound from the United States, and cargo shipped in the inbound direction takes a rate of 10 cents per ton-mile. The Post Office Department has indicated that such a directional rate would be difficult to administer and requests that a single rate be established to apply worldwide. Data supplied the Board indicate that the overall outbound space-available mail volumes exceed inbound volumes by a ratio of 7 to 3. Accordingly, it appears reasonable to propose a rate of 11.4 cents per ton-mile for the carriage of space-available mail pursuant to Public Law 89–725, to apply without regard to the direction of movement.

Upon consideration of the facts recited above and matters officially noted, the Board proposes to issue an order to include the following findings and conclusions:

1. Public Law 89–725 creates a new class of mail which is to be airlifted on a space-available basis between Armed Forces post offices which are located outside the 48 contiguous States of the United States, or between any such Armed Forces post office and the point of embarkation or debarkation within the 50 States of the United States, the territories and possessions of the United States in the Pacific area, the Commonwealth of Puerto Rico, the Virgin Islands or the Canal Zone, and consisting of the following categories of mail matter:

(A) (1) First-class letter mail (including postal cards and postcards);

(2) Sound-recorded communications having the character of personal correspondence; and

(3) Parcels of any class of mail not exceeding 5 pounds in weight and 60 inches in length and girth combined, which are mailed at or addressed to any such Armed Forces post office;

(B) Second-class publications published once each week or more frequently and featuring principally current news of interest to members of the Armed Forces and the general public which are mailed at or addressed to any such Armed Forces post office in an overseas area designated by the President as a combat zone; and

(C) Parcels of any class of mail exceeding 5 pounds but not exceeding 70 pounds in weight and not exceeding 100 inches in length and girth combined which are mailed at or addressed to any such Armed Forces post office where adequate surface transportation is not available.

2. The new class of mail service referred to above (for convenience sometimes referred to as SAM mail) for which rates of compensation are established herein shall be subject to the following terms and conditions:

(A) The air transportation to be compensated at such rate shall be that involving the transportation of those classes of mail enumerated in section 2 of Public Law 89–725 to the extent that such classes of mail are being transported between points where Public Law 89–725 provides that such mail shall be transported by air at rates fixed by the Civil Aeronautics Board under section 406 of the Federal Aviation Act, except that the rates established herein shall not apply to the transportation of such mail between points within the State of Alaska.[1]

(B) The rates established shall be made applicable to the transportation of such SAM mail over the routes of Airlift International, Inc., Alaska Airlines, Inc., American Airlines, Inc., Braniff Airways, Inc., Continental Air Lines, Inc., Delta Air Lines, Inc., Eastern Air Lines, Inc., The Flying Tiger Line, Inc., National Airlines, Inc., Northeast Airlines, Inc., Northwest Airlines, Inc., Pan American World Airways, Inc., Seaboard World Airlines, Inc., Trans Caribbean Airways, Inc., Trans World Airlines, Inc., United Air Lines, Inc., West Coast Airlines, Inc., and Western Air Lines, Inc.,[2] as authorized by certificates of public convenience and necessity and exemptions in effect on or subsequent to November 4, 1966, to the extent that such routes coincide with SAM mail routings between points where Public Law 89–725 provides that such mail shall be transported by air at rates fixed by the Civil Aeronautics Board under section 406 of the Federal Aviation Act, except that such rates shall not apply over routes between points within the State of Alaska.

(C) The rates established in these proceedings shall be applied to the mail ton-miles carried by each carrier in the class of service to which these rates are applicable. The mail ton-miles shall be computed on the basis of the standard mileage between points served for the carriage of mail. The standard mileages for domestic, transatlantic, transpacific, and Latin American SAM services shall be those used for computing mail rate compensation for other classes of mail in each of those ratemaking areas as currently provided in Orders E–22512, August 6, 1965, as amended by E–24247, September 30, 1966 (domestic), E–21514, November 19, 1964 (transatlantic, transpacific), and E–23753, May 31, 1966 (Latin America). In the event that any of the aforementioned orders are succeeded by a new temporary or final rate order, the standard mileages for SAM mail shall be determined in accordance with such new rate orders. In the case of SAM mail being transported between points in different ratemaking areas established for other classes of mail so that no single standard mileage applies between the point of origin and point of destination of the SAM mail, the standard mileage for such SAM mail shall be computed by combining the standard mileages applying over the segments in each of the various ratemaking areas involved that most closely conform to the routing of the SAM mail between origin and destination.

(D) No air carrier shall transport SAM mail at the rates fixed herein on any aircraft if such transportation will displace any other available revenue traffic.

3. The average volume of SAM mail moving outbound from the United States exceeds the average volume moving inbound to the United States by a ratio of 7 to 3.

4. A rate of 11.4 cents per ton-mile is a fair and reasonable rate to be paid by the Postmaster General pursuant to section 406 of the Federal Aviation Act of 1958 for the transportation by aircraft of SAM mail by the carriers listed in paragraph 2(B) above in the class of service described in paragraph 2, the facilities used and useful therefor, and the services connected therewith, provided that any air carrier, or, pursuant to agreement, any two or more air carriers providing service on an interline or interchange basis, may, by notice, elect to establish a reduced charge for the carriage of mail between points where Public Law 89–725 provides that SAM mail shall be transported by air equal to the charge then in effect for service between such points by any other air carrier or air carriers.

Notice of election to equalize rate. An original and three copies of each notice of election and agreement to equalize shall be filed with the Board and a copy thereof shall be served upon the Postmaster General and each carrier providing on-line or connecting service between the stated points. Such notices shall contain a complete description of the reduced charge being established, the routing over which it applies and how it is constructed and shall similarly describe the charge with which equalization is sought.

Any equalized rate established pursuant to this order shall be effective for the electing carrier or carriers as of the date of filing of the notice or such later date as may be specified in the notice, until such election is terminated. Elections may be terminated by any electing carrier upon 10 days' notice filed with the Board and served upon the Postmaster General and each carrier providing on-line or connecting service between the stated points.

Division of equalized rates. In case of equalization of rates by agreement, the agreement shall provide for the proration of the mail compensation between participating carriers on the basis of the relative compensation which would otherwise be payable to each carrier in the absence of such an equalization. In the absence of an agreement among carriers for equalization of rates for interline or interchange shipments between a stated pair of points, any carrier (or two or more carriers jointly) may, by notice, elect to receive as its portion of the total compensation for each shipment the amount remaining after subtracting from such total compensation the compensation due the other carrier or carriers involved (nonelecting carriers). Such total compensation shall be computed on the basis of the lowest rate then in effect for service between the stated pair of points for any carrier or carriers. The compensation due the nonelecting carrier or carriers shall be that otherwise applicable to the point-to-point service it actually provides. In those instances where there is a nonelecting carrier or carriers involved in providing the through service and two or more carriers elect to receive payment under this provision, the total payment due such electing carriers shall be prorated by them on the basis of the relative compensation which would otherwise be payable to each of them in the absence of the provisions of this paragraph.

Divisions of equalized rates prescribed by the Board. In the event that any carrier is unable to enter into an agreement with any other carrier to transport mail between any stated points at a reduced rate, it may file an application with the Board requesting it to determine and fix a different method of apportioning the total compensation for each such shipment of mail between the participating carriers. Such applications shall not be deemed to reopen the mail rates fixed by this order. An original and 19 copies of such an application shall be filed. Applications filed pursuant to this paragraph shall conform generally to the provisions of the rules of practice governing the filing of petitions in mail rate cases. Within seven days after the application is served, any party may file an answer in support of or in opposition to the application, together with any documentary material upon which it relies. Any order upon application filed pursuant to this paragraph shall be effective no earlier than the date of filing of the application with the Board.

In reviewing such application, the Board will consider, among other pertinent factors, the need for the proposed service, the historical participation of electing carrier or carriers in the transportation of mail between such stated points, the amount of absorption required, and the grounds for refusal by the carrier or carriers to enter into an equalization agreement. After hearing the carriers concerned, either orally or in writing, in those cases where it deems such action appropriate, the Board will by order prescribe the method for apportioning the total compensation between such carriers, but in no event shall the carrier or carriers which refuse to enter into an agreement to equalize compensation be required to accept less than the compensation which would have been payable if the services were performed under voluntary equalization agreement.

Accordingly, pursuant to the Federal Aviation Act of 1958, and particularly sections 204(a) and 406 thereof and the Board's rules of practice (14 CFR Part 302):

It is ordered:

1. That all interested parties and particularly Airlift International, Inc., Alaska Airlines, Inc., American Airlines, Inc., Braniff Airways, Inc., Continental Air Lines, Inc., Delta Air Lines, Inc., Eastern Air Lines, Inc., The Flying Tiger Line Inc., National Airlines, Inc., Northeast Airlines, Inc., Northwest Airlines, Inc., Pan American World Airways, Inc., Seaboard World Airlines, Inc., Trans Caribbean Airways, Inc., Trans World Airlines, Inc., United Air Lines, Inc., West Coast Airlines, Inc., Western Air Lines, Inc., the Postmaster General, and the Department of Defense are each directed to show cause why the Board should not issue a final order in these proceedings adopting the foregoing findings and conclusions and fixing, determining, and publishing the rate therein set forth as the fair and reasonable rate of compensation to be paid by the Postmaster General for the mail transportation therein described in the areas therein stated, effective on and after November 4, 1966.

2. That all further procedures herein shall be in accordance with the rules of practice (14 CFR Part 302) and if there is any objection to the rates or other findings specified herein, notice thereof must be filed within eight days, and, if notice is filed, written answer and supporting documents must be filed within 15 days, after the date of service of this order.

3. That, if notice of objection is not filed within eight days, or if notice is filed and answer is not filed within 15 days after service of this order, all parties shall be deemed to have waived all further procedural steps before an order fixing final rates, and the Board may enter an order fixing the rates proposed herein.

4. That, if any answers are filed, the issues involved in determining the fair and reasonable rates shall be limited to those specifically raised thereby, except insofar as other issues are raised in accordance with Rule 307 of the rules of practice.

5. That this order be served upon the parties specifically listed in paragraph 1 above.

This order will be published in the FEDERAL REGISTER.

By the Civil Aeronautics Board.

[1] Although Public Law 89–725 calls for a space-available airlift of the classes of mail covered between Armed Forces post offices within Alaska, the rate established herein is not being made applicable to a space-available mail airlift within Alaska in recognition of the special characteristics of intra-Alaskan services.

[2] The carriers to which this order is being directed are those providing service between points within the 48 contiguous States, on the one hand, and points in Hawaii, Alaska, overseas points, and foreign points, on the other hand. The order is also directed to those carriers providing service within the 48 contiguous States that may participate in the carriage of Public Law 89–725 mail transiting the United States. In this category are all trunkline carriers and West Coast Airlines, Inc. The principal channels for such transit mail are New York-San Francisco, New York-Seattle, and San Francisco-Seattle.

FEDERAL MARITIME COMMISSION

INTER-AMERICAN FREIGHT CONFERENCE

Notice of Agreement Filed for Approval

Notice is hereby given that the following agreement has been filed with the Commission for approval pursuant to section 15 of the Shipping Act, 1916, as amended (39 Stat. 733, 75 Stat. 763, 46 U.S.C. 814).

Interested parties may inspect and obtain a copy of the agreement at the Washington office of the Federal Maritime Commission, 1321 H Street NW., Room 609; or may inspect agreements at the offices of the District Managers, New York, N.Y., New Orleans, La., and San Francisco, Calif. Comments with reference to an agreement including a request for hearing, if desired, may be submitted to the Secretary, Federal Maritime Commission, Washington, D.C. 20573, within 20 days after publication of this notice in the FEDERAL REGISTER. A copy of any such statement should also be forwarded to the party filing the agreement (as indicated hereinafter) and the comments should indicate that this has been done.

Notice of agreement filed for approval by:

Mr. M. Joseph Kelly, 16th Floor, 2 Broadway, New York, N.Y. 10004.

Agreement 9648 proposes to establish the Inter-American Freight Conference to establish and maintain fair and reasonable rates for the promotion of commerce in the trade between U.S. Atlantic and Gulf ports and ports in Brazil, Uruguay, Paraguay, and Argentina, which trade is divided into the following three sections: (A) Outbound from U.S. Atlantic and Gulf ports to ports of Brazil, Uruguay, Paraguay, and Argentina; (B) inbound from Paraguay, Uruguay, and Argentina to U.S. Atlantic and Gulf ports; and, (C) inbound from Brazil to U.S. Atlantic and Gulf ports. The member lines intend to develop the Pan American Nations' respective merchant marines and services to carry a substantial portion of the foreign commerce of the countries served; and, to aid in the development of the commerce of Bolivia and Peru through ports in Brazil, Uruguay, and Argentina.

Agreement 9648 was filed on behalf of the following Lines:

FEDERAL POWER COMMISSION

[Docket No. CP68-24]

ARKANSAS LOUISIANA GAS CO.

Notice of Application

JULY 31, 1967.

Take notice that on July 21, 1967, Arkansas Louisiana Gas Co. (Applicant), Post Office Box 1734, Shreveport, La. 71102, filed in Docket No. CP68-24 an application pursuant to subsection (c) of section 7 of the Natural Gas Act for a certificate of public convenience and necessity authorizing the construction and operation of certain natural gas facilities and the sale and delivery of interruptible volumes of natural gas to an industrial customer, all as more fully set forth in the application which is on file with the Commission and open to public inspection.

Specifically, Applicant seeks authorization to construct and operate approximately 310 feet of 8⅝-inch and 750 feet of 4½-inch market lateral and related natural gas sales facilities, extending from Applicant's existing 12-inch Line "D" to the site of the plant of the Ford Motor Co. now being constructed west of Shreveport, Caddo Parish, La.

Applicant further seeks authorization to sell and deliver a peak daily and annual volume of 3,300 Mcf and 200,000 Mcf, respectively, of interruptible natural gas. Applicant states that the proposed deliveries will be made through the natural gas facilities proposed above. Applicant further states that such proposed service will not affect in any way the service it now renders to existing customers.

Applicant estimates the total cost of the proposed facilities at approximately $20,500, said cost to be financed from cash on hand.

Protests or petitions to intervene may be filed with the Federal Power Commission, Washington, D.C. 20426, in accordance with the rules of practice and procedure (18 CFR 1.8 or 1.10) and the regulations under the Natural Gas Act (157.10) on or before August 28, 1967.

Take further notice, that pursuant to the authority contained in and subject to the jurisdiction conferred upon the Federal Power Commission by sections 7 and 15 of the Natural Gas Act and the Commission's rules of practice and procedure, a hearing will be held without further notice before the Commission on this application if no protest or petition to intervene is filed within the time required herein, if the Commission on its own review of the matter finds that a grant of the certificate is required by the public convenience and necessity. If a protest or petition for leave to intervene is timely filed, or if the Commission on its own motion believes that a formal hearing is required, further notice of such hearing will be duly given.

Under the procedure herein provided for, unless otherwise advised, it will be unnecessary for Applicant to appear or be represented at the hearing.

[Docket No. CP64-37]

CHANDELEUR PIPE LINE CO.

Notice of Petition To Amend

JULY 31, 1967.

Take notice that on July 24, 1967, Chandeleur Pipe Line Co. (Petitioner), Post Office Box 1446, Louisville, Ky. 40201, filed in Docket No. CP64-37 a petition to amend the order issued by the Commission December 16, 1963, as amended August 22, 1966, by authorizing the construction and operation of additional natural gas transportation facilities and the transportation and delivery of volumes of natural gas to a new industrial customer and a corresponding decrease in the transportation and delivery of volumes of natural gas to an existing customer, all as more fully set forth in the petition to amend which is on file with the Commission and open to public inspection.

By the above-mentioned order, as amended, Petitioner was authorized to construct and operate natural gas transportation facilities and to transport and deliver volumes of natural gas to Petitioner's owner, Standard Oil Co., Inc. in Kentucky (Kyso), at the site of Kyso's refinery-chemical plant complex located near Pascagoula, Miss., for a turbine generating plant installed to generate power and steam for said plant's consumption. By the instant filing, Petitioner seeks authorization to construct and operate a pipeline and metering station to supply natural gas to Mississippi Power Co. (MPC) at the above-mentioned site of Kyso's generating plant for use by MPC in providing the same power and steam to Kyso that Kyso now provides itself. Petitioner also seeks authorization to transport and deliver to MPC the volumes of natural gas required to provide such service to Kyso as Kyso has agreed to sell and MPC has agreed to purchase said generating facilities to provide such service. MPC also provides additional generating service to Kyso and Kyso has indicated that it desires MPC to provide its total power requirements.

Specifically, Petitioner seeks authorization to construct and operate the following natural gas transportation and sales facilities:

(1) Approximately 1,800 feet of 8-inch transmission pipeline, to be used to supply MPC with the natural gas required to operate the turbine generating plant purchased by it from Kyso; and

(2) A measuring station located at the plantsite near Pascagoula, Miss.

Petitioner states that the natural gas it now transports and delivers to Kyso, its sole customer, is purchased by Kyso from The California Co., a division of Chevron Oil Co. (Calco), at Calco's offshore platforms. Petitioner further states that both Kyso and Calco are wholly owned subsidiaries of Standard Oil Company of California and that MPC has contracted with Calco for the purchase of its total natural gas requirements for the above-mentioned generating plant and with Petitioner for the transportation of said natural gas. Petitioner also states that MPC has estimated its natural gas requirements for said generating plant at between 12,000 and 15,000 Mcf per day and Kyso has agreed to reduce the volumes which Calco is obligated to sell to Kyso by the like amount since Kyso will no longer need such natural gas as MPC will be providing the same service.

Petitioner estimates the total cost of the proposed facilities at approximately $25,000, said cost to be financed from cash on hand.

Protests or petitions to intervene may be filed with the Federal Power Commission, Washington, D.C. 20426, in accordance with the rules of practice and procedure (18 CFR 1.8 or 1.10) and the regulations under the Natural Gas Act (157.10) on or before August 28, 1967.

[Docket No. CP68-25]

MICHIGAN GAS AND ELECTRIC CO. AND NORTHERN NATURAL GAS CO.

Notice of Application

JULY 31, 1967.

Take notice that on July 24, 1967, Michigan Gas and Electric Co. (Applicant), 100 South Main Street, Three Rivers, Mich. 49663, filed in Docket No. CP68-25 an application pursuant to subsection (a) of section 7 of the Natural Gas Act for an order of the Commission directing Northern Natural Gas Co. (Respondent) to establish physical connection of its transportation facilities with the facilities proposed to be constructed by Applicant and to sell and deliver to Applicant volumes of natural gas for resale and distribution in the villages of Baraga, Chassell, and Palmer, located respectively in the counties of Baraga, Houghton, and Marquette, all in the State of Michigan, all as more fully set forth in the application which is on file with the Commission and open to public inspection.

Applicant proposes to construct and operate municipal natural gas distribution systems in Baraga, Chassell, and Palmer. Applicant also proposes that Respondent construct and operate three transmission laterals from its main transmission lines to supply each of the three communities set forth above.

Applicant estimates the third year peak daily and annual natural gas requirements of the three communities at 872 Mcf and 133,815 Mcf, respectively. Applicant states that service proposed above will be initial natural gas service to the three communities.

Applicant estimates the total cost of the proposed facilities at approximately $257,740, said cost to be financed from funds of its own available to Applicant for construction purposes.

Protests or petitions to intervene may be filed with the Federal Power Commission, Washington, D.C. 20426, in accordance with the rules of practice and procedure (18 CFR 1.8 or 1.10) on or before August 28, 1967.

[Docket No. CP68-23]

OHIO FUEL GAS CO.

Notice of Application

JULY 28, 1967.

Take notice that on July 21, 1967, Ohio Fuel Gas Co. (Applicant), 99 North Front Street, Columbus, Ohio 43215, filed in Docket No. CP68-23 an application pursuant to subsection (c) of section 7 of the Natural Gas Act for a certificate of public convenience and necessity authorizing the construction and operation of certain natural gas facilities, all as more fully set forth in the application which is on file with the Commission and open to public inspection.

Specifically, Applicant seeks authorization to construct and operate the following pipeline loop and replacement facilities, all in the State of Ohio:

(1) Approximately 4.5 miles of 12¾-inch O.D. x.203 wall pipe in Muskingum County, Ohio, looping Line O-731 serving Coshocton and West Lafayette;

(2) Approximately 2 miles of 16-inch O.D. x.219 wall pipe in Clark County, Ohio, replacing a section of 10¾-inch O.D. Line Z-8 serving the Bellefontaine-Urbana market area; and

(3) All valves, fittings, and incidental facilities necessary for practical operation thereof.

Applicant states that the facilities proposed above are a part of a program to enable it to maintain adequate natural gas facilities and service and to provide the increased capacity needed to serve the increasing requirements of existing markets and to insure adequate market service during the winter of 1967-68.

Applicant estimates the total cost of the proposed facilities at approximately $420,000, said cost to be financed by Applicant's parent company, The Columbia Gas System, Inc. Applicant further estimates the cost of removal of the facilities to be replaced at approximately $7,000 and the estimated salvage from the sale of said facilities at approximately $8,000.

Protests or petitions to intervene may be filed with the Federal Power Commission, Washington, D.C. 20426, in accordance with the rules of practice and procedure (18 CFR 1.8 or 1.10) and the regulations under the Natural Gas Act (157.10) on or before August 24, 1967.

Take further notice that, pursuant to the authority contained in and subject to the jurisdiction conferred upon the Federal Power Commission by sections 7 and 15 of the Natural Gas Act and the Commission's rules of practice and procedure, a hearing will be held without further notice before the Commission on this application if no protest or petition to intervene is filed within the time required herein, if the Commission on its own review of the matter finds that a grant of the certificate is required by the public convenience and necessity. If a protest or petition for leave to intervene is timely filed, or if the Commission on its own motion believes that a formal hearing is required, further notice of such hearing will be duly given.

Under the procedure herein provided for, unless otherwise advised, it will be unnecessary for Applicant to appear or be represented at the hearing.

[Project Nos. 2243, 2273]

PACIFIC NORTHWEST POWER CO., AND WASHINGTON PUBLIC POWER SUPPLY SYSTEM

Order Providing for Further Hearing

JULY 31, 1967.

Pursuant to a decision of the Supreme Court in Udall v. FPC and Washington Public Power Supply System v. FPC, decided June 5, 1967, the matter of the applications by Pacific Northwest Power Co. (PNPC) and by Washington Public Power Supply System (WPPSS) for license to construct a hydroelectric power project at the High Mountain Sheep site on the Snake River was remanded to the Commission on July 6, 1967, for further proceedings consistent with the Court's opinion.

In the prior proceeding, the Presiding Examiner issued an initial decision on October 8, 1962, granting a license to PNPC (31 FPC 905). By order issued February 5, 1964, we granted the license to PNPC for Project No. 2243, denying the application for Project No. 2273 and found that the development of the High Mountain Sheep Project should not be undertaken by the United States itself (31 FPC 247). On rehearing, we reaffirmed our previous order with certain modifications (31 FPC 1051). The Court of Appeals affirmed our order in 358 F. 2d 840 (CADC, 1966). The Supreme Court by its decision of June 5, 1967, reversed and remanded to the Commission for further proceedings consistent with its opinion. The Supreme Court's opinion appears at ——— U.S. ———, 18 L. ed 2d 869.

Both Applicants by letters of June 21 and June 27, 1967, have indicated that they wish to pursue their respective applications for license to construct a project at the High Mountain Sheep site, and have requested the Commission to provide for a prehearing conference and further hearing.

One of the areas delineated by the Court for further development at such a hearing is whether "deferral of construction would be more in the public interest than immediate construction and whether preservation of the reaches of the river affected would be more desirable and in the public interest than the proposed development." (18 L ed 2d 869 at 882) [1]

Another area for further factual inquiry is specified by the Court as it notes that the Applicants introduced no evidence (18 L ed 2d at 874) specifically addressed to the question of Federal development under section 7(b) of the Federal Power Act and that the Secretary of Interior has not had an opportunity to do so. Accordingly, the parties, including the Secretary of the Interior, should present their evidence bearing on section 7(b) considerations.

To expedite the orderly conduct and disposition of the further hearing of the issues it is desirable that a prehearing conference be held in Portland, Oreg., on September 28, 1967, for the purposes set forth in section 1.18 of the Commission's rules and regulations.

The Commission finds: A hearing should be held to supplement the record consistent with the Opinion of the U.S. Supreme Court rendered June 5, 1967.

The Commission orders:

(A) Pursuant to the authority contained in and subject to the jurisdiction conferred upon the Federal Power Commission by the Federal Power Act, particularly sections 4(e), 10(a), 308, and 313 thereof, and the Commission's rules of practice and procedure, a further public hearing shall be held respecting the matters involved and the issues presented in this proceeding.

(B) A prehearing conference shall be held in Portland, Oreg., on September 28, 1967 at 10 a.m., P.d.t. at a place to be designated by further notice.

(C) The Presiding Examiner shall, in addition to any of the measures he deems necessary to facilitate the proceedings, issue a schedule for the filing of prepared testimony and commencement of the hearing based upon the estimates of the parties, as expressed at the prehearing conference, of time necessary to prepare their respective cases, and

(D) Notices of intervention or petitions to intervene in the further proceedings may be filed with the Federal Power Commission, Washington, D.C. 20426 in accordance with the rules of practice and procedure of the Commission (18 CFR 1.8 or 1.10). The last day upon which petitions to intervene may be filed is September 1, 1967. Those persons or groups already granted intervention in the course of any of the prior proceedings need not file new petitions.

(E) The Commission Order of December 14, 1962 (28 FPC 1024) granting limited intervention to the Secretary of the Interior is hereby amended to grant the Secretary full intervention.

(F) The prior Commission order of February 5, 1964 (31 FPC Part 247) issuing a license to Pacific Northwest Power Co., and the Commission order of April 30, 1964 (31 FPC 1051) on rehearing are vacated.

By the Commission.

[Docket No. RI68-40]

UNION OIL COMPANY OF CALIFORNIA

Order Providing for Hearing on and Suspension of Proposed Change in Rate

JULY 28, 1967.

Union Oil Company of California (Union) [1] on June 30, 1967 tendered for filing a proposed change in its presently effective rate schedule for sales of natural gas subject to the jurisdiction of the Commission. The proposed change, which constitutes an increased rate and charge, is contained in the following designated filing:

Description: Notice of change, dated June 28, 1967.

Purchaser and producing area: Tennessee Gas Pipeline Co., a division of Tenneco Inc. (Tennessee Gas), Rollover Block 39 Field, Vermilion Parish, Off-shore Louisiana.

Rate schedule designation: Supplement No. 10 to Union's FPC Gas Rate Schedule No. 120.

Effective date: July 31, 1967.[2]

Amount of annual increase in rate: $310,000.

Effective rate: 16.75 cents per Mcf.[3]

Proposed rate: 17.75 cents per Mcf.[3]

Pressure base: 15.025 p.s.i.a.

Jupiter transports the subject gas produced by Union from Union's offshore Rollover platform to an onshore line owned by Tennessee Gas which purchases the gas from Union. Transportation of the gas produced by Union, as successor in interest to The Pure Oil Co. (Pure), is made pursuant to a contract dated January 2, 1957 between Pure and Jupiter which comprises Jupiter's FPC Gas Rate No. 7. Under the terms of this contract, the transportation charge is at a rate not to exceed 4 cents per Mcf for the first 62,500 Mcf per day and 3 cents per Mcf on additional volumes. Such rate averages out to approximately 3.4 cents per Mcf based on the present rate of delivery. However, by order issued June 28, 1966, in The Jupiter Corp. et al., Docket Nos. RI63-212 et al. 35 FPC 1091, the Commission approved Jupiter's settlement proposal whereby Jupiter reduced its transportation charge to Union from approximately 3.4 cents per Mcf under its Rate Schedule No. 7 to 1 cent per Mcf.

Union is presently collecting a rate of 16.75 cents per Mcf for this sale, exclusive of the transportation charge, pursuant to Commission's order issued November 27, 1962, approving a settlement in The Pure Oil Co. et al., 28 FPC 889, under which Union and Tennessee Gas executed a contract amendment which provides for reimbursement by Tennessee Gas in full for all payments made by Union to Jupiter under the aforementioned contract dated January 2, 1957, between Jupiter and Pure.

A disagreement as to the proper amount of transportation charge has resulted from the respective parties interpretations of the Jupiter and Pure settlements. Jupiter, under its Rate Schedule No. 7, has continued to charge Union an average rate of 3.43 cents per Mcf for transportation from the Rollover Field, and Union, therefore, seeks reimbursement from Tennessee Gas at the same rate. Tennessee Gas has petitioned the Commission to issue an order in Docket Nos. RI63-212 et al., directing Jupiter and Union to comply with the 1 cent per Mcf transportation rate which it contends is the proper rate under the Jupiter settlement. Responses have been filed by Jupiter and Union. Jupiter's position is that its settlement did not preclude the collection of additional charges for the transportation of condensates and liquid hydrocarbons and that the 1 cent per Mcf transportation charge reflected in its settlement pertained solely to the transportation of natural gas. Union's response is that it is entitled to reimbursement for all transportation charges actually paid to Jupiter.

Union's proposed increased rate and charge, exclusive of the transportation charge, exceeds the area price level for Offshore Louisiana as announced in the Commission's statement of general policy No. 61-1, as amended (18 CFR, Ch. I, Pt. 2, § 2.56).

The propriety of the 3.43 cents transportation charge, which is reflected in Union's presently effective overall rate as well as in its proposed overall rate, will be determined when the Commission takes action with respect to the dispute noted above in Docket Nos. RI63-212 et al. For this reason the subject suspension order does not purport to include any question as to the proper transportation charge, and is without prejudice to whatever action, if any, may be taken with respect to the dispute as to the proper transportation charge under Union's FPC Gas Rate Schedule No. 120, either for the period prior to the suspension period ordered herein or for the period subsequent thereto.

The proposed 17.75 cents rate may be unjust, unreasonable, unduly discriminatory, or preferential, or otherwise unlawful.

The Commission finds: It is necessary and proper in the public interest and to aid in the enforcement of the provisions of the Natural Gas Act that the Commission enter upon a hearing concerning the lawfulness of the proposed change, and that Supplement No. 10 to Union's FPC Gas Rate Schedule No. 120 be suspended and the use thereof deferred as hereinafter ordered.

The Commission orders:

(A) Pursuant to the authority of the Natural Gas Act, particularly sections 4 and 15 thereof, the Commission's rules of practice and procedure, and the Regulations under the Natural Gas Act (18 CFR Ch. I) a public hearing shall be held upon a date to be fixed by notice from the Secretary concerning the lawfulness of the proposed increased rate and charge contained in Supplement No. 10 to Union's FPC Gas Rate Schedule No. 120.

(B) Pending such hearing and decision thereon, Supplement No. 10 to Union's FPC Gas Rate Schedule No. 120 is hereby suspended and the use thereof deferred until December 31, 1967, and thereafter until such further time as it is made effective in the manner prescribed by the Natural Gas Act.

(C) Neither the supplement hereby suspended, nor the rate schedule sought to be altered thereby, shall be changed until this proceeding has been disposed

"* * * Nor is the test solely whether the region will be able to use the additional power. The test is whether the project will be in the public interest. And that determination can be made only after an exploration of all issues relevant to the "public interest," including future power demand and supply, alternative sources of power, the public interest in preserving reaches of wild rivers and wilderness areas, the preservation of anadromous fish for commercial and recreational purposes, and the protection of wildlife. [2] The stated effective date is the effective date proposed by Respondent.

[3] Both the effective and proposed rates are shown exclusive of a transportation charge, payable to The Jupiter Corporation (Jupiter) by Union. Tennessee Gas under its contract with Union, in turn, reimburses Union for the transportation charge. Union's subject notice of change reflects the transportation charge to be 3.43 cents per Mcf. There is a dispute, however, which is discussed later in this order as to the proper transportation charge.

of or until the period of suspension has expired, unless otherwise ordered by the Commission.

(D) Notices of intervention or petitions to intervene may be filed with the Federal Power Commission, Washington, D.C. 20426, in accordance with the rules of practice and procedure (18 CFR 1.8 and 1.37(f)) on or before September 11, 1967.

(E) The suspension of Union's proposed 17.75 cents per Mcf rate is without prejudice to whatever action, if any, may be taken with respect to the determination in Docket Nos. RI63–212, et al., of the proper transportation charge under Union's FPC Gas Rate Schedule No. 120 either for the period prior to the suspension period ordered herein or for the period subsequent thereto.

[Docket No. RI 61–236 etc.]

UNION TEXAS PETROLEUM ET AL.

Order Approving Settlement Proposals, Requiring Refunds, and Severing and Terminating Proceedings

JULY 28, 1967.

Union Texas Petroleum, a division of Allied Chemical Corp., Docket Nos. RI61–236 and RI62–250; Neches Petroleum Corp., Docket No. RI63–193; Clegg & Hunt (Operator) et al., Docket No. RI60–405; Reserve Oil and Gas Co., Docket Nos. G–18570 and RI64–789; Dixon Management Corp., Docket No. RI64–663; Sparta Oil Co., Docket No. RI67–38; Vernon W. Frost, Docket No. RI67–267.

On July 10, 1967, Union Texas Petroleum, a division of Allied Chemical Corp. (Union Texas) filed an offer of settlement in Docket Nos. RI61–236 and RI62–250, pursuant to § 1.18(e) of the Commission's rules of practice and procedure. The offer relates to a sale of natural gas formerly made by Union Texas in Jefferson County, Tex. (Texas Railroad Commission District No. 3) to Texas Eastern Transmission Corp. (TETC). The gas sold by Union Texas was purchased from the other above-named respondents, among others.

On June 6, 1967, the Commission issued an order permitting Union Texas to abandon its sale to TETC, and the sale is now being made by an affiliate, Texas Gas Pipe Line Corp. In the same order, the Commission approved, prospectively, settlement proposals filed by Neches Petroleum Corp. (Neches), Clegg & Hunt (Operator) et al. (Clegg & Hunt), and Reserve Oil and Gas Co. (Reserve). However, the suspension proceedings in Docket Nos. RI61–236 and RI62–250, relating to Union Texas, were not affected by the June 6th order. Consequently, the Commission provided in the June 6th order that the refund obligations of Neches, Clegg & Hunt, and Reserve in Docket Nos. G–18570, RI60–405, RI63–193, and RI64–789, for the period prior to the issuance of that order, would be determined in Docket No. AR64–2, the Texas Gulf Coast Area Rate Proceeding.

Neches, Clegg & Hunt, and Reserve seek rehearing and reconsideration of the June 6th order insofar as it did not terminate their respective proceedings, and continued their refund obligation for the period each had such obligation prior to the date of issuance of such order. For the reasons set forth below they will be accorded the relief which they seek by our approval of their settlement rates for the refund periods involved.

Union Texas now proposes to refund all monies it charged and collected from TETC, subject to refund, in excess of 14 cents per Mcf of natural gas at 14.65 p.s.i.a. Such refunds will approximate $124,237, exclusive of applicable interest.

Union Texas' proposed settlement rate of 14 cents per Mcf, and the settlement rates of the producers selling to Union, which we approved prospectively by our order of June 6, 1967, are in accord with either the applicable increased rate ceiling set forth in the statement of general policy No. 61–1 (18 CFR 2.56), or the second amendment thereto, and we shall approve the same unconditionally, order refunds, and terminate the proceedings applicable to each. Additionally, the rates which were charged and collected from Union Texas, subject to refund in Docket Nos. RI64–663, RI67–38, and RI67–267, by Dixon Management Corp., Sparta Oil Co., and Vernon W. Frost, do not exceed the applicable area increased rate ceiling. In view of the termination of the rate proceedings relating to the resale rate of Union Texas, it is also appropriate to terminate these proceedings.

We believe that these settlement proposals are in the public interest and shall approve the same. However, we desire to make it clear that acceptance of these offers of settlement shall not be construed as approval of any future increased rate that may be filed by any of the Respondents named above, under the subject rate schedules, and is without prejudice to any findings or order of the Commission in any future proceeding involving their rates and rate schedules. Additionally, for all of the reasons set forth in Humble Oil & Refining Co., Docket Nos. G–9287 et al., 32 FPC 49, we shall require Union Texas to deposit the refund monies in a special escrow account or to commingle the retained refunds with its general assets pending future action of the Commission.

The Commission finds: The proposed settlement of the above-designated proceedings, on the basis described herein, as more fully set forth in the offers of settlement, filed herein with the Commission are consistent with the statement of general policy No. 61–1, as amended, 18 CFR 2.56, and approval thereof as made effective and hereinafter ordered is in the public interest and is appropriate to carry out the provisions of the Natural Gas Act.

The Commission orders:

(A) The offer of settlement filed with the Commission by Union Texas is approved in accordance with the provisions of this order.

(B) Union Texas, Neches, Clegg & Hunt, and Reserve shall each compute the difference between the rates collected subject to refund and the settlement rates for the sales for which they propose to make refunds with applicable interest to the date of this order, and shall within 45 days from the date of issuance of this order submit a report to the Commission, with a copy to the purchaser, setting out the amount of refunds (showing separately the principal and applicable interest) the bases used for such determination, the period covered, and 10 days thereafter shall submit to the Commission a copy of a letter from the purchaser agreeing to the correctness of such amounts.

(C) Union Texas shall retain the amounts shown in its refund report required under paragraph (B) above, subject to further action of the Commission directing the disposition of those amounts.

(D) Union Texas may deposit the retained refunds in a special escrow account, and shall tender for filing within 60 days of the date of issuance of this order an executed escrow agreement, conditioned as set out below, accompanied by a certificate showing service of a copy thereof upon TETC. Unless notified to the contrary by the Secretary within 30 days from the date of filing thereof, the escrow agreement shall be deemed to be satisfactory and to have been accepted for filing. The escrow agreement shall be entered into between Union Texas and any bank or trust company used as a depository of funds of the U.S. Government and the agreement shall be conditioned as follows:

(1) Union Texas, the bank or trust company, and the successors and assigns of each, shall be held and formally bound unto the Federal Power Commission for the use and benefit of those entitled thereto, with respect to all amounts and the interest thereon deposited in the special escrow account, subject to such agreement, and such bank or trust company shall be bound to pay over to such person or persons as may be identified and designated by final order of the Commission and in such manner as may be therein specified, all or any portion of such deposits and the interest thereon.

(2) The bank or trust company may invest and reinvest such deposits in any short-term indebtedness of the United States or any agency thereof, or in any form of obligation guaranteed by the United States which is, respectively, payable within 120 days as the said bank or trust company in the exercise of its sound discretion may select.

(3) Such bank or trust company shall be liable only for such interest as the invested funds described in paragraph (2) above will earn and no other interest may be collected from it.

(4) Such bank or trust company shall be entitled to such compensation as is fair, reasonable, and customary for its services as such, which compensation shall be paid out of the escrow account to such bank or trust company. Said bank or trust company shall likewise be entitled to reimbursement for its reasonable expenses necessarily incurred in the administration of this escrow account, which reimbursement shall be paid out of the escrow account.

(5) Such bank or trust company shall report to the Secretary quarterly, certifying the amount deposited in the bank or trust company for the quarterly period.

(F) If Union Texas elects to commingle the retained refunds with its general assets and use them for business purposes, it shall notify the Secretary of the Commission of its intention so to do within 60 days of the issuance of this order, and shall pay interest on such monies at the rate of 5½ percent per annum from the date of issuance of this order to the date on which they are paid over to the person or persons ultimately determined to be entitled thereto by final order or orders of the Commission.

(G) Upon notification by the Secretary of the Commission that each of the Respondents has complied with the terms and conditions of this order, the proceedings in Docket Nos. RI61–236, RI62–250, RI63–193, RI60–405, G–18570, RI64–789, RI67–38, RI67–267, and RI64–663 shall terminate and Docket Nos. RI61–236, RI62–250, RI63–193, RI60–405, G–1857, and RI64–633 shall be severed from the Texas Gulf Coast Area Rate Proceeding, Docket Nos. AR64–2 et al., all without further order of the Commission.

(H) The acceptance by the Commission of the offers of settlement herein is without prejudice to any findings or determinations that may be made in any proceeding now pending, or hereafter instituted by or against any of the respondents herein and is without prejudice to claims or contentions which may be made by any of the Respondents herein, the Commission staff, or any affected party hereto, in any proceedings.

[Docket No. E–7045]

DEPARTMENT OF THE INTERIOR, BUREAU OF RECLAMATION, EKLUTNA PROJECT, ALASKA

Notice of Request for Approval of Rate Schedules

JULY 28, 1967.

Notice is hereby given that Alaska Power Administration (APA) on behalf of the U.S. Department of the Interior, has filed with the Federal Power Commission, pursuant to the Eklutna Project Act of July 31, 1950 (64 Stat. 382) as amended, a request for the extension of the Commission's confirmation and approval of the rate schedules for the sale of power and energy generated at the Eklutna Project located in the vicinity of Anchorage, Alaska.

The rate schedules for which extended approval is requested are designated A–N2, A–L2, and A–F3, which has been redesignated as Rate Schedule A–F4.

The Commission's current approval of these rate schedules expires August 4, 1967. However, the Commission by order issued July 27, 1967, temporarily extended the approval to November 4, 1967, or to such earlier date as the Commission's final action is taken.

Rate Schedules A–N2, A–L2, and A–F3, redesignated A–F4, are on file with the Commission for public inspection. Any person desiring to make comments and suggestions for Commission consideration with respect to the proposed rate schedules should submit the same in writing on or before August 31, 1967, to the Federal Power Commission, Washington, D.C. 20426.

LANDS WITHDRAWN IN PROJECT NOS. 945 AND 1419

Vacation of Withdrawals Under Section 24 of the Federal Power Act

JULY 31, 1967.

Application has been filed by the U.S. Forest Service for vacation of the power withdrawal under the provision of section 24 of the Federal Power Act pertaining to the following described lands of the United States:

WILLAMETTE MERIDIAN, OREGON

T. 3 S., R. 5½ E.,
Sec. 13, W½SW¼;
Sec. 14, SE¼SE¼.

The lands are located along Camp Creek, a tributary of Zigzag River, a tributary of Sandy River in the vicinity of the Village of Government Camp in Clackamas County, Oreg., and are within the Mount Hood National Forest.

The above-described lands (approximately 120 acres) are withdrawn pursuant to the filing on December 18, 1928, of an application for license for Project No. 945. By letter dated December 20, 1928, the Commission gave notice of the withdrawal to the General Land Office, now Bureau of Land Management. In addition to the above-described lands, portions of the following lands (approximately 0.844 acre) are withdrawn pursuant to the filing on January 19, 1937, of an application for license for Project No. 1419, the notice of withdrawal of which was given to the General Land Office by letter dated October 21, 1937:

WILLAMETTE MERIDIAN, OREGON

Sec. 14, E½SE¼.

Project No. 945 included, among its project works, a small powerhouse containing a waterwheel and generator of about 5 horsepower capacity which furnished power for the licensee's home and restaurant. Pursuant to application therefor, the Commission, by order effective as of December 31, 1962, accepted surrender of the last of the four 10-year licenses for the project. In requesting vacation of the power withdrawal pertaining to the lands occupied by the project, the Forest Service advises that the home and restaurant previously served by the project hydroelectric facilities now receive power from commercial sources, and the project lands have been restored to a condition satisfactory to the Service.

Project No. 1419 included, among other project works, a powerhouse containing hydroelectric facilities having a capacity of 18 horsepower which furnished power for the licensee's hotel. Pursuant to application therefor, in which the licensee requested cancellation of the license because fire had destroyed the powerhouse and hotel, the Commission, by order effective as of December 31, 1950, accepted surrender of the last of two 10-year licenses for the project. The U.S. Forest Service has reported that the lands of the United States occupied by the project have been restored to a condition satisfactory to the Service.

The Commission finds: Inasmuch as the subject lands have insignificant power value, and the power withdrawals pertaining thereto serve no useful purpose, they should be vacated.

The Commission orders: The power withdrawals pertaining to the subject lands pursuant to the applications for Project Nos. 945 and 1419 are hereby vacated.

By the Commission.

[Docket No. CP68–22]

WISCONSIN POWER AND LIGHT CO., AND MICHIGAN WISCONSIN PIPE LINE CO.

Notice of Application

JULY 26, 1967.

Take notice that on July 21, 1967, Wisconsin Power and Light Co. (Applicant), 122 West Washington Avenue, Madison, Wis. 53703, filed in Docket No. CP68–22 an application pursuant to subsection (a) of section 7 of the Natural Gas Act for an order of the Commission directing Michigan Wisconsin Pipe Line Co. (Respondent) to establish physical connection of its transportation facilities with the facilities proposed to be constructed by Applicant and to sell and deliver to Applicant volumes of natural gas for resale and distribution in the communities of Iola and Scandinavia, Wis., all as more fully set forth in the application which is on file with the Commission and open to public inspection.

Applicant proposes to construct and operate municipal natural gas distribution systems in Iola and Scandinavia as well as 1 mile of 6-inch lateral to extend from a proposed delivery point to Scandinavia and approximately 3.5 miles of 4-inch lateral extending from Scandinavia to Ioia. Applicant proposes that Respondent construct and operate approximately 2.72 miles of 4-inch transmission lateral extending generally northeastward from Respondent's transmission line to a gate station which Applicant proposes that Respondent construct approximately 1 mile from Scandinavia.

Applicant estimates its third year peak daily and annual natural gas requirements at 579 Mcf and 81,542 Mcf, respectively.

Applicant estimates the total cost of the facilities proposed to be constructed by it at approximately $280,444, said cost to be financed from cash on hand or funds borrowed from the sales of securities as may be necessary as a part of Applicant's overall construction program.

Protests or petitions to intervene may be filed with the Federal Power Commission, Washington, D.C. 20426, in accordance with the rules of practice and procedure (18 CFR 1.8 or 1.10) on or before August 24, 1967.

[1] "Fractured" rate.
[2] Inclusive of 1.5 cents tax reimbursement.
[3] Pressure base is 15.025 p.s.i.a.
[4] From "fractured" rate to contractually provided for periodic rate.

In Opinion No. 436, the Commission granted a permanent certificate to Forest Oil Corp. (Operator) et al (Forest), in Docket No. CI62-283, conditioned to a total initial price of 20 cents. On August 24, 1964, Forest complied with the requirements of Opinion No. 436, and reduced its initial rate to 20 cents. Since then Forest has filed for two rate increases, prior to the one involved here, which have been suspended and thereafter placed in effect subject to refund.

Forest tendered the subject proposed increased rate on June 30, 1967, 1 day prior to the expiration date of the moratorium imposed in Opinion No. 436, and requests that the proposed 24 cent rate be made effective on July 1, 1967. Good cause has not been shown for such action. Furthermore the proposed increased rate will be deemed to have been filed on July 1, 1967, the expiration date of the moratorium imposed in Opinion No. 436.

Forest's proposed increased rate and charge exceeds the applicable area price level for increased rates as set forth in the Commission's statement of general policy No. 61-1, as amended (18 CFR Ch. I, Part 2, § 2.56).

The proposed changed rate and charge may be unjust, unreasonable, unduly discriminatory, or preferential, or otherwise unlawful.

The Commission finds: It is necessary and proper in the public interest and to aid in the enforcement of the provisions of the Natural Gas Act that the Commission enter upon a hearing concerning the lawfulness of the proposed change, and that Supplement No. 5 to Forest's FPC Gas Rate Schedule No. 16 be suspended and the use thereof deferred as hereinafter ordered.

The Commission orders:

(A) Pursuant to the Natural Gas Act, particularly sections 4 and 15, the regulations pertaining thereto (18 CFR, Ch. I), and the Commission's rules of practice and procedure, a public hearing shall be held concerning the lawfulness of the proposed change.

(B) Pending a hearing and decision thereon, the rate supplement herein is suspended and its use deferred until the date shown in the "Rate Suspended Until" column, and thereafter until made effective as prescribed by the Natural Gas Act.

(C) Unless otherwise ordered by the Commission, neither the supplement, nor the rate schedule sought to be altered, shall be changed until disposition of this proceeding or expiration of the suspension period.

(D) Notices of intervention or petitions to intervene may be filed with the Federal Power Commission, Washington, D.C. 20426, in accordance with the rules of practice and procedure (18 CFR 1.8 and 1.37(f)) on or before September 11, 1967.

By the Commission.

[Docket No. CP64-220]

CASCADE NATURAL GAS CORP.

Notice of Petition To Amend

JULY 28, 1967.

Take notice that on July 20, 1967, Cascade Natural Gas Corp. (Petitioner), 222 Fairview Avenue North, Seattle, Wash. 98109, filed in Docket No. CP64-220 a petition to amend the order issued by the Commission October 21, 1965, by conforming the certificate issued by said order to reflect the actual costs incurred and the actual facilities installed, all as more fully set forth in the petition to amend which is on file with the Commission and open to public inspection.

By the above-mentioned order, Petitioner was authorized to succeed to Garfield Gas Gathering Co. (Garfield) which had originally been certificated herein. Petitioner constructed the facilities originally proposed herein and placed them in operation. By the instant filing, Petitioner seeks to amend the certificate issued herein to conform to the actual facilities and the actual costs incurred.

Petitioner states, therefore, that the following are the actual facilities constructed and the actual costs incurred for same:

Facility constructed	Cost	Total cost
Transmission pipeline:
83.1 miles of 10-inch	$581,309.98
98.3 miles of 14-inch	5,181,602.31
Total		$5,022,712.29
Gathering system:
2.5 miles of 6-inch	33,467.79
7.32 miles—miscellaneous	266,361.65
Total		631,848.93
Other facilities: All		265,467.51
Total cost of project		6,720,028.73

Petitioner states that the actual costs substantially exceeded the estimated costs made by Garfield and upon which Petitioner relied. Petitioner therefore requests that the certificate be amended to conform to the actual costs incurred and the actual facilities installed.

Protests or petitions to intervene may be filed with the Federal Power Commission, Washington, D.C. 20426, in accordance with the rules of practice and procedure (18 CFR 1.8 or 1.10) and the regulations under the Natural Gas Act (157.10) on or before August 24, 1967.

FOREST OIL CORP. ET AL.

Order Providing for Hearing on and Suspension of Proposed Change in Rate

JULY 28, 1967.

Respondent named herein has filed a proposed change in rate and charge of a currently effective rate schedule for the sale of natural gas under Commission jurisdiction, as set forth in Appendix A hereof.

[Docket No. CP66-26]

SOUTHERN NATURAL GAS CO.

Notice of Application

JULY 31, 1967.

Take notice that on July 24, 1967, Southern Natural Gas Co. (Applicant), Post Office Box 2563, Birmingham, Ala. 35202, filed in Docket No. CP66-26 an application pursuant to subsection (c) of section 7 of the Natural Gas Act for a certificate of public convenience and necessity authorizing the sale for resale of natural gas in interstate commerce, all as more fully set forth in the application which is on file with the Commission and open to public inspection.

Specifically, Applicant seeks authorization to render temporary peaking natural gas service to 21 of its resale customers for 1 year beginning November 1, 1967, during which period Applicant expects to have delivery capacity in excess of the firm natural gas requirements of its customers.

Applicant proposes to provide the following peaking service on a temporary basis to the following 21 resale customers:

Customer	Peaking service demand (Mcf)
Atlanta Gas Light Co.	20,000
City of Austrell Natural Gas System	1,000
Carolina Pipeline Co.	5,000
City of Cartersville	250
Chattanooga Gas Co.	1,000
Cullman-Jefferson Counties Gas District	500
The Gas Board of the City of Demopolis	200
City of Dublin	100
City of Graysville	300
City of LaGrange	1,000
City of LaFayette	160
City of Louisville	200
Marshall County Gas District	500
Pickens County Natural Gas District	50
The Gas Board of the city of Pleasant Grove	500
Southeast Alabama Gas District	3,000
South Carolina Natural Gas Co.	13,000
South Georgia Natural Gas Co.	2,000
City of Vicksburg	250
City of Warner Robins	700
City of Wrens	500
Total	50,210

Applicant states that the proposed temporary peaking service is to be rendered for one year beginning November 1, 1967. Applicant also states that the service proposed above will in no way interfere with the service Applicant now renders and it further states that no additional facilities will be required to perform the service as proposed above.

Protests or petitions to intervene may be filed with the Federal Power Commission, Washington, D.C. 20426, in accordance with the rules of practice and procedure (18 CFR 1.8 or 1.10) and the regulations under the Natural Gas Act (157.10) on or before August 28, 1967.

Take further notice that, pursuant to the authority contained in and subject to the jurisdiction conferred upon the Federal Power Commission by sections 7 and 15 of the Natural Gas Act and the Commission's rules of practice and procedure, a hearing will be held without further notice before the Commission on this application if no protest or petition to intervene is filed within the time required herein, if the Commission on its own review of the matter finds that a grant of the certificate is required by the public convenience and necessity. If a protest or petition for leave to intervene is timely filed, or if the Commission on its own motion believes that a formal hearing is required, further notice of such hearing will be duly given.

Under the procedure herein provided for, unless otherwise advised, it will be unnecessary for Applicant to appear or be represented at the hearing.

[Docket Nos. CP66-131, CP66-171]

TRUNKLINE GAS CO.

Notice of Petition To Amend

JULY 28, 1967.

Take notice that on July 19, 1967, Trunkline Gas Co. (Petitioner), Post Office Box 1642, Houston, Tex. 77001, filed in Docket Nos. CP66-131 and CP66-171 a petition to amend the orders issued by the Commission February 11, 1966, as amended August 2, 1966, and March 28, 1967, and July 1, 1966, as amended March 28, 1967, respectively, by authorizing Petitioner to increase the contract demands of five existing resale customers and to modify an existing compressor unit, all as more fully set forth in the petition to amend which is on file with the Commission and open to public inspection.

By the abovementioned orders, as amended, Petitioner was authorized, inter alia, to provide volumes of natural gas to certain resale customers and to construct and operate certain additional natural gas pipeline and compression facilities incident thereto. By the instant filing, Petitioner seeks authorization to increase the contract demands of five of its existing resale customers and to make modifications to an existing compressor unit.

Specifically, Petitioner seeks authorization to increase the contract demands of the following resale customers as set forth below:

Customer	Proposed increase (Mcf)	Proposed contract demand (Mcf)
Greenup, Ill.	678	1,430
Somerville, Tenn.	325	1,525
Toledo, Ill.	80	600
Wayne City, Ill.	860	1,750
Illinois Power Company:
Ogden, Ill.	400	1,400
Royal, Ill.	133	260
Total proposed increase	2,475

Petitioner states that the proposed increases in contract demand can be served from unallocated capacity which will be available upon completion of the additional facilities previously authorized herein and Petitioner therefore states that no additional facilities will be required for the rendition of such service.

Petitioner also seeks authorization to modify its General Electric turbine compressor unit located at its Compressor Station 66, located in Epps, La., which will upgrade said compressor unit from 6,350 horsepower to 8,000 horsepower. Petitioner states that the modifications proposed consist of adding and replacing certain parts and adjusting controls. Petitioner also states that the authorization for the proposed modifications is sought in addition to but not in connection with the increased contract demands proposed above. Petitioner further states that the modifications proposed above will both provide reserve horsepower at said compressor station and enable Petitioner to place its presently installed Solar turbine 1,050 horsepower compressor unit on a standby basis for use in the event of an emergency.

Petitioner estimates the total cost of the proposed modifications at approximately $80,000, said cost to be financed from funds on hand.

Protests or petitions to intervene may be filed with the Federal Power Commission, Washington, D.C. 20426, in accordance with the rules of practice and procedure (18 CFR 1.8 or 1.10) and the regulations under the Natural Gas Act (157.10) on or before August 21, 1967.

GORDON M. GRANT,
Secretary.

Title 3—THE PRESIDENT

Executive Order 11366

ASSIGNING AUTHORITY TO ORDER CERTAIN PERSONS IN THE READY RESERVE TO ACTIVE DUTY

By virtue of the authority vested in me by section 673a of title 10 of the United States Code, and by section 301 of title 3 of the United States Code, and as President of the United States, it is hereby ordered as follows:

SECTION 1. (a) The Secretary of Defense is hereby authorized and empowered to exercise the authority vested in the President by section 673a of title 10 of the United States Code, to order to active duty any member of the Ready Reserve of an armed force (except the Coast Guard when not operating as a service in the Navy) who—

(1) is not assigned to, or participating satisfactorily in, a unit of the Ready Reserve;

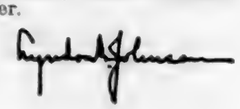
(2) has not fulfilled his statutory reserve obligation; and

(3) has not served on active duty for a total of 24 months.

(b) In pursuance of the provisions of section 673a of title 10 of the United States Code, the Secretary of Defense is hereby authorized to require a member ordered to active duty under the authority of this Order to serve on active duty until his total service on active duty equals 24 months. If the enlistment or period of military service of a member of the Ready Reserve ordered to active duty under this authority would expire before he has served the required period of active duty prescribed herein, his enlistment or period of military service may be extended until he has served the required period.

(c) In pursuance of the provisions of section 673a of title 10 of the United States Code, and in order to achieve fair treatment among members of the Ready Reserve who are being considered for active duty under this authority, appropriate consideration shall be given to—

(1) family responsibilities; and



(2) employment necessary to maintain the national health, safety, or interest.

SEC. 2. The Secretary of Transportation is hereby authorized and empowered to exercise the authority vested in the President by section 673a of title 10 of the United States Code, with respect to any member of the Ready Reserve of the Coast Guard when it is not operating as a service in the Navy, under the same conditions as such authority may be exercised by the Secretary of Defense under this Order with respect to any member of the Ready Reserve of any other armed force.

SEC. 3. (a) The Secretary of Defense may designate any of the Secretaries of the military departments of the Department of Defense to exercise the authority vested in him by section 1 of this Order.

(b) The Secretary of Transportation may designate the Commandant of the United States Coast Guard to exercise the authority vested in him by section 2 of this Order.

SEC. 4. Executive Order No. 11327 of February 15, 1967, is superseded except with respect to members of the Ready Reserve ordered to active duty under the authority of that Order.

Title 7—AGRICULTURE

Chapter VII—Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service (Agricultural Adjustment), Department of Agriculture

SUBCHAPTER B—FARM MARKETING QUOTAS AND ACREAGE ALLOTMENTS

PART 725—FLUE-CURED TOBACCO

Proclamation of Results of Marketing Quota Referendum

Basis and purpose. The purpose of this proclamation is to add § 725.4 to announce the results of the flue-cured tobacco marketing quota referendum for the three marketing years beginning July 1, 1968. Under the provisions of the Agricultural Adjustment Act of 1938, as amended, the Secretary proclaimed national marketing quotas for flue-cured tobacco for the 1968-69, 1969-70, and 1970-71 marketing years, and announced the amount of the national marketing quota for such kind of tobacco for the 1968-69 marketing year (32 F.R. 9817). The Secretary announced (32 F.R. 9849) that a referendum would be held on July 18, 1967, to determine whether flue-cured tobacco producers were in favor of or opposed to marketing quotas for the three marketing years beginning July 1, 1968. Since the only purpose of this proclamation is to announce the results of the referendum, it is hereby found and determined that with respect to this proclamation, application of the notice, public procedure and effective date provisions of 5 U.S.C. 553 is unnecessary.

§ 725.4 Proclamation of the results of the flue-cured tobacco marketing quota referendum for the three-year period beginning July 1, 1968.

In a referendum of farmers engaged in the production of the 1967 crop of flue-cured tobacco held on July 18, 1967, 162,314 farmers voted. Of those voting, 156,601 or 96.5 percent favored quotas for a period of 3 years beginning July 1, 1968; 5,713 or 3.5 percent were opposed to quotas. Therefore, the national marketing quota of 1,126.5 million pounds for flue-cured tobacco proclaimed July 5, 1967 (32 F.R. 9817), for the 1968-69 marketing year, will be in effect for such year, and marketing quotas on such kind of tobacco will be in effect for the three marketing years beginning July 1, 1968.

[Lemon Reg. 278, Amdt. 1]

PART 910—LEMONS GROWN IN CALIFORNIA AND ARIZONA

Limitation of Handling

Findings. (1) Pursuant to the marketing agreement, as amended, and Order No. 910, as amended (7 CFR Part 910), regulating the handling of lemons grown in California and Arizona, effective under the applicable provisions of the Agricultural Marketing Agreement Act of 1937, as amended (7 U.S.C. 601-674), and upon the basis of the recommendations and information submitted by the Lemon Administrative Committee, established under the said amended marketing agreement and order, and upon other available information, it is hereby found that the limitation of handling of such lemons, as hereinafter provided, will tend to effectuate the declared policy of the act.

(2) It is hereby further found that it is impracticable and contrary to the public interest to give preliminary notice, engage in public rule-making procedure, and postpone the effective date of this amendment until 30 days after publication hereof in the FEDERAL REGISTER (5 U.S.C. 553) because the time intervening between the date when information upon which this amendment is based became available and the time when this amendment must become effective in order to effectuate the declared policy of the act is insufficient, and this amendment relieves restriction on the handling of lemons grown in California and Arizona.

Order, as amended. The provisions in paragraph (b)(1)(ii) of § 910.578 (Lemon Regulation 278, 32 F.R. 11073) are hereby amended to read as follows:

[Prune Reg. 5]

PART 925—FRESH PRUNES GROWN IN DESIGNATED COUNTIES IN IDAHO AND IN MALHEUR COUNTY, OREGON

Limitation of Shipments

Findings. (1) Pursuant to the marketing agreement and Order No. 925 (7 CFR Part 925), regulating the handling of fresh prunes grown in designated counties in Idaho and in Malheur County, Oreg., under the applicable provisions of the Agricultural Marketing Agreement Act of 1937, as amended (7 U.S.C. 601-674), and upon the recommendations of the Idaho-Malheur County, Oregon Fresh Prune Marketing Committee, established under the aforesaid marketing agreement and order, and upon other available information, it is hereby found that the limitation of shipments of fresh prunes, in the manner herein provided, will tend to effectuate the declared policy of the act.

(2) It is hereby further found that it is impracticable and contrary to the public interest to give preliminary notice, engage in public rule-making procedure, and postpone the effective date of this regulation until 30 days after publication thereof in the FEDERAL REGISTER (5 U.S.C. 553) in that, as hereinafter set forth, the time intervening between the date when information upon which this regulation is based became available and the time when this regulation must become effective in order to effectuate the declared policy of the act is insufficient; a reasonable time is permitted, under the circumstances, for preparation for such effective time; and good cause exists for making the provisions hereof effective not later than August 14, 1967. A reasonable determination as to the supply of, and the demand for, prunes must await the development of the crop and adequate information thereon was not available to the Idaho-Malheur County, Oregon Fresh Prune Marketing Committee until July 11, 1967; recommendation as to the need for, and the extent of, regulation of shipments of such prunes was made at the meeting of said committee on July 11, 1967, after consideration of all available information relative to the supply and demand conditions for such prunes, at which time the recommendation and supporting information were submitted to the Department; necessary supplemental data for consideration in connection with the specification of the provisions of this regulation were not available until July 28, 1967; shipments of the current crop of such prunes will begin on or about August 15, 1967; and this regulation should be applicable, insofar as practicable, to all shipments of such prunes in order to effectuate the declared policy of the act; and compliance with the provisions of this regulation will not require of handlers any preparation therefor which cannot be completed by the effective time hereof.

§ 925.306 Prune Regulation 5.

(a) Order. During the period August 14, 1967, through December 31, 1967, no handler shall handle any lot of prunes unless such prunes meet the following applicable requirements, or are handled in accordance with subparagraph (4) of this paragraph:

(1) Minimum grade requirement: Such prunes grade at least U.S. No. 1: Provided, That prunes which are affected by healed hail marks may be shipped if they otherwise grade at least U.S. No. 1.

(2) Minimum size requirement: Such prunes shall measure at least 1⅛ inches in diameter: Provided, That any lot of prunes shall be deemed to meet such minimum diameter requirement if (i) not more than 10 percent of the prunes in such lot are smaller than 1⅛ inches in diameter; and (ii) if not more than 15 percent of the prunes contained in any individual container in such lot are smaller than 1⅛ inches in diameter.

(3) Containers: The net weight of prunes in any container, other than the one-half bushel basket shall be either (i) less than 20 pounds, or (ii) more than 30 pounds.

(4) Notwithstanding any other provision of this section, any individual shipment of prunes which, in the aggregate, does not exceed 150 pounds net weight may be handled without regard to the restrictions specified in this paragraph (a), or in §§ 925.41 (Assessment) and 925.55 (Inspection and certification).

(5) The terms "U.S. No. 1," "diameter," and "hail marks" shall have the same meaning as when used in the U.S. Standards for Fresh Plums and Prunes (§§ 51.1520–51.1537 of this title); and terms used in the marketing agreement and order shall, when used herein, have the same meaning as is given to the respective term in the marketing agreement and order.

Chapter X—Consumer and Marketing Service (Marketing Agreements and Orders; Milk), Department of Agriculture

[Milk Order 4]

PART 1004—MILK IN DELAWARE VALLEY MARKETING AREA

Order Suspending Certain Provision

Pursuant to the provisions of the Agricultural Marketing Agreement Act of 1937, as amended (7 U.S.C. 601 et seq.), and of the order regulating the handling of milk in the Delaware Valley marketing area (7 CFR Part 1004), it is hereby found and determined that:

(a) The following provision of the order no longer tends to effectuate the declared policy of the Act for the month of August 1967: In § 1004.8(b) the words "except an 'other order plant' ".

(b) Notice of proposed rule making, public procedure thereon and 30 days notice of the effective date hereof is impractical, unnecessary, and contrary to the public interest in that:

(1) This suspension order does not require of persons affected substantial or extensive preparation prior to the effective date.

(2) This suspension order is necessary to reflect current marketing conditions and to maintain orderly marketing conditions in the marketing area.

(3) This suspension order will continue for one additional month the effect of a suspension order which was issued June 20, 1967 (32 F.R. 9006). Interested parties were afforded opportunity to file written data, views or arguments concerning this earlier suspension (32 F.R. 7976).

The present extension of the earlier suspension will remove for the month of August 1967 the provision which would otherwise preclude the pooling under the Delaware Valley order of a supply plant which has long been associated with that order. The original suspension for June and July was ordered so as to allow this supply plant to continue its regulated status under the Delaware Valley order pending consideration of proposed modifications of this provision which were presented at a public hearing held June 12 and 13, 1967.

A recommended decision was issued July 25, 1967 (32 F.R. 11039) proposing certain modifications of this provision and in view of the fact that final action cannot be taken on these proposed modifications before the end of the temporary suspension it is concluded that the effect of the temporary suspension should be continued for one additional month.

Therefore, good cause exists for making this order effective on publication in the FEDERAL REGISTER.

It is therefore ordered, That the aforesaid provision of the order is hereby suspended for the month of August 1967.

(Secs. 1–19, 48 Stat. 31, as amended; 7 U.S.C. 601–674)

Effective date: On publication in the FEDERAL REGISTER.

Signed at Washington, D.C., on August 3, 1967.

GEORGE L. MEHREN,
Assistant Secretary.

[Milk Order 13]

PART 1013—MILK IN SOUTHEASTERN FLORIDA MARKETING AREA

Order Amending Order

§ 1013.0 Findings and determinations.

The findings and determinations hereinafter set forth are supplementary and in addition to the findings and determinations previously made in connection with the issuance of the aforesaid order and of the previously issued amendments thereto; and all of said previous findings and determinations are hereby ratified and affirmed, except insofar as such findings and determinations may be in conflict with the findings and determinations set forth herein.

(a) Findings upon the basis of the hearing record. Pursuant to the provisions of the Agricultural Marketing Agreement Act of 1937, as amended (7 U.S.C. 601 et seq.), and the applicable rules of practice and procedure governing the formulation of marketing agreements and marketing orders (7 CFR Part 900), a public hearing was held upon certain proposed amendments to the tentative marketing agreement and to the order regulating the handling of milk in the Southeastern Florida marketing area. Upon the basis of the evidence introduced at such hearing and the record thereof, it is found that:

(1) The said order as hereby amended, and all of the terms and conditions thereof, will tend to effectuate the declared policy of the Act;

(2) The parity prices of milk, as determined pursuant to section 2 of the Act, are not reasonable in view of the price of feeds, available supplies of feeds, and other economic conditions which affect market supply and demand for milk in the said marketing area, and the minimum prices specified in the order as hereby amended, are such prices as will reflect the aforesaid factors, insure a sufficient quantity of pure and wholesome milk, and be in the public interest; and

(3) The said order as hereby amended, regulates the handling of milk in the same manner as, and is applicable only to persons in the respective classes of industrial or commercial activity specified in, a marketing agreement upon which a hearing has been held.

(b) Additional findings. It is necessary in the public interest to make this order amending the order effective not later than August 1, 1967. Any delay beyond that date would tend to disrupt the orderly marketing of milk in the marketing area.

The provisions of the said order are known to handlers. The recommended decision of the Deputy Administrator, Regulatory Programs, was issued June 22, 1967, and the decision of the Assistant Secretary containing all amendment provisions of this order, was issued July 19, 1967. The changes effected by this order will not require extensive preparation or substantial alteration in method of operation for handlers. In view of the foregoing, it is hereby found and determined that good cause exists for making this order amending the order effective August 1, 1967, and that it would be contrary to the public interest to delay the effective date of this order for 30 days after its publication in the FEDERAL REGISTER. (Sec. 553(d), Administrative Procedure Act, 5 U.S.C. 551–559).

(c) Determinations. It is hereby determined that:

(1) The refusal or failure of handlers (excluding cooperative associations specified in section 8c(9) of the Act) of more than 50 percent of the milk, which is marketed within the marketing area, to sign a proposed marketing agreement, tends to prevent the effectuation of the declared policy of the Act;

(2) The issuance of this order, amending the order, is the only practical means pursuant to the declared policy of the Act of advancing the interests of producers as defined in the order as herein amended; and

(3) The issuance of the order amending the order is approved or favored by at least two-thirds of the producers who during the determined representative period were engaged in the production of milk for sale in the marketing area.

Order relative to handling. It is therefore ordered, that on and after the effective date thereof, the handling of milk in the Southeastern Florida marketing area shall be in conformity to and in compliance with the terms and conditions of the aforesaid order, as amended and as hereby amended, as follows:

1. In § 1013.41(c), subparagraph (5) is revised to read as follows:

§ 1013.41 Classes of utilization.

* * * * *

(c) * * *

(5) Skim milk and butterfat, respectively, in shrinkage at each pool plant (except in milk diverted to a nonpool plant pursuant to § 1013.16) but not in excess of:

(i) Two percent of producer milk (including that received from a handler pursuant to § 1013.13(d)) if the handler receiving such milk files notice with the market administrator that he is purchasing it on the basis of farm weights. Otherwise, the applicable percentage pursuant to this subdivision shall be 1.5 percent;

(ii) Plus 1.5 percent of bulk fluid milk products received from other pool plants;

(iii) Plus 1.5 percent of bulk fluid milk products received from other order plants exclusive of the quantity for which Class II or Class III utilization was requested by the operators of both plants;

(iv) Plus 1.5 percent of bulk fluid milk products received from unregulated supply plants exclusive of the quantity for which Class II or Class III utilization was requested by the handler; and

(v) Less 1.5 percent of bulk fluid milk products transferred to other plants; and

* * * * *

§ 1013.50 [Amended]

2. In § 1013.50, the last sentence is deleted.

3. In § 1013.51, paragraph (a) is revised to read as follows:

§ 1013.51 Class prices.

* * * * *

(a) Class I price. From the effective date of this order through June 1963, the Class I price shall be the basic formula price for the preceding month plus $3.20, and plus or minus a supply-demand adjustment of not more than 30 cents, computed as follows:

(1) Determine the total hundredweight of producer milk pursuant to this part and Parts 1012 (Tampa Bay) and 1006 (Upper Florida) of this chapter for the 3-month period ending with the second preceding month;

(2) Determine the total hundredweight of producer milk classified as Class I pursuant to this part and Parts 1012 and 1006 of this chapter for the 3-month period ending with the second preceding month;

(3) Determine the "current utilization percentage" by calculating the percentage rounded to the nearest full percent, that the amount obtained in subparagraph (1) of this paragraph is of the amount obtained in subparagraph (2) of this paragraph; and

(4) Add or subtract 3 cents for each percent that the current utilization percentage is, respectively, below the minimum or above the maximum standard utilization percentages for the month in the following table: Provided, That such adjustment shall not vary from that for the preceding month by more than 10 cents:

Month for which price is being computed	Standard utilization percentage
	Minimum	Maximum
January	110	114
February	110	114
March	109	113
April	109	113
May	109	113
June	113	117
July	118	122
August	120	124
September	119	123
October	114	118
November	111	115

[Milk Order 68]

PART 1068—MILK IN MINNEAPOLIS-ST. PAUL, MINN., MARKETING AREA

Order Suspending Certain Provision

Pursuant to the provisions of the Agricultural Marketing Agreement Act of 1937, as amended (7 U.S.C. 601 et seq.), and of the order regulating the handling of milk in the Minneapolis-St. Paul, Minn., marketing area (7 CFR Part 1068), it is hereby found and determined that:

(a) The following provision of the order no longer tends to effectuate the declared policy of the Act for the months of August, September, and October 1967 and is hereby suspended for such months: "not less than 30 percent of the total" as it appears in the second proviso of § 1068.9(b), relating to standards required to qualify a cooperative supply plant for pool status.

(b) Thirty days notice of the effective date hereof is impractical, unnecessary, and contrary to the public interest in that:

(1) This suspension order does not require of persons affected substantial or extensive preparation prior to the effective date.

(2) This suspension order is necessary to reflect current marketing conditions and to maintain orderly marketing conditions in the marketing area.

(3) This suspension will permit all the milk of producer members of a cooperative association which is shipped directly from the farm to bottling plants located in the cities of Minneapolis or St. Paul to be assigned to country plants operated by such association for the purpose of meeting the shipping requirements of a pool supply plant during August, September, and October. The order presently provides that at least 30 percent of the member milk must be direct-shipped to plants in Minneapolis or St. Paul before any of it may be assigned to country plants for this purpose.

(4) This suspension is needed to permit an association of producers supplying the market to continue marketing and pooling milk regularly associated with the market on the most efficient and economical basis, pending a hearing on the matter.

(5) Interested parties were afforded opportunity to file written data, views or arguments concerning this suspension (32 F.R. 10863). None were filed in opposition to the proposed suspension. The petitioner's request for this suspension was supported by seven other cooperative associations on the market.

Therefore, good cause exists for making this order effective upon publication in the FEDERAL REGISTER.

It is therefore ordered, That the aforesaid provision of the order is hereby suspended for the months of August, September, and October 1967.

(Secs. 1–19, 48 Stat. 31, as amended; 7 U.S.C. 601–674)

Effective date: Upon publication in the FEDERAL REGISTER.

PART 1464—TOBACCO

Subpart—Tobacco Loan Program

AVAILABILITY OF PRICE SUPPORT

The regulations issued by Commodity Credit Corporation, published in 31 F.R. 9679 and 32 F.R. 10249, with respect to the tobacco price support loan program are herein amended as follows:

In § 1464.1756 paragraph (d) (1) (iv) is amended to designate that markets located in the type 13 tobacco marketing area shall be considered to be in two belts which is in keeping with historical market practices and the difference in opening dates of tobacco markets in such two belts. The amended subdivision reads as follows:

§ 1464.1756 Availability of price support.

* * * * *

(d) * * *

(1) * * *

(iv) In the case of flue-cured tobacco, price support will be available on flue-cured tobacco markets in the Georgia-Florida belt only if such tobacco is in untied form. During the first 95 hours of scheduled selling time for each flue-cured tobacco belt, other than the Georgia-Florida belt, price support will be available on eligible tobacco of all grades of tied and untied tobacco. Beginning with the 96th hour of scheduled selling time for each such belt, price support will be available only on eligible tobacco offered for sale in tied form. For the purposes of this subsection the markets located in the type 13 area shall be considered two belts as follows: Markets located in the area commonly known as the border North Carolina marketing area shall be considered a belt, and the markets located in the State of South Carolina shall be considered a belt, except that the markets of Loris, S.C. and Mullins, S.C. shall be considered a part of whichever of the two belts that their respective scheduled selling time corresponds.

SUBCHAPTER C—EXPORT PROGRAMS

[Amdt. 2]

PART 1488—FINANCING OF SALES OF AGRICULTURAL COMMODITIES

Subpart A—Financing of Export Sales of Agricultural Commodities From Private Stocks Under CCC Export Credit Sales Program (GSM–4)

MISCELLANEOUS AMENDMENTS

The regulations containing the terms and conditions governing the Commodity Credit Corporation Export Credit Sales Program, published in the FEDERAL REGISTER of April 27, 1967 (32 F.R. 6496–6500), as corrected on May 4, 1967 (32 F.R. 6836), and as amended on May 19, 1967 (32 F.R. 7437), are further amended as follows:

§ 1488.2 [Amended]

1. Paragraph (h) of § 1488.2 Definition of terms is amended to read:

(h) "Eligible commodities" means those agricultural commodities, including eligible cotton, which are produced in the United States and which are designated as eligible for export under CCC's Export Credit Sales Program either in the CCC Monthly Sales List or other announcement by CCC in effect for the calendar month in which the financing approval is issued. Commodities which have been purchased from CCC are eligible for export as private stocks. Commodities shall not be eligible for financing under this program if they are exported under a barter contract or arrangement.

2. Paragraph (k) of § 1488.2 Definition of terms is amended by inserting the words "or other documents" between the words "instruments" and "evidencing the account receivable."

3. Paragraph (n) of § 1488.2 Definition of terms is amended to read:

(n) "Account receivable" means the contractual obligation of the foreign importer to the exporter for the portion of the port value of the commodity exported for which the exporter is extending credit to the importer. The account receivable shall be evidenced by a promissory note or accepted draft in form and substance satisfactory to CCC, except that it may be evidenced by other documents, in form and substance satisfactory to CCC, evidencing the contractual obligation of the foreign importer when the account receivable is assured by an obligation issued by a U.S. bank or when the Vice President, CCC, or his designee, determines under special circumstances that it is in the interest of CCC. All such notes, accepted drafts and other documents evidencing the account receivable shall provide for (1) payment in U.S. dollars in the United States, (2) interest in accordance with § 1488.6, and (3) acceleration of payment thereunder in accordance with the terms and conditions of GSM–4. As used in GSM–4, "instrument" means a promissory note or accepted draft.

4. Paragraph (u) of § 1488.2 Definition of terms is amended to read:

(u) "Bank obligation" means an obligation, acceptable to CCC, of a U.S. bank, agency or branch bank, or foreign bank to pay to CCC in U.S. dollars the amount of the port value which is being financed by CCC, plus interest in accordance with § 1488.6. The bank obligation shall be in the form of an irrevocable letter of credit issued, confirmed or advised by a U.S. bank or an agency or branch bank. The bank obligation shall provide for payment under the terms and conditions of the financing agreement and shall be payable not later than the date of expiration of the financing period or of the bank obligation, whichever occurs first, if payment is not received from other sources.

§ 1488.3 [Amended]

5. Paragraph (c) (6) of § 1488.3 Submission of applications for financing is amended by inserting after the words "if by a foreign bank" the words "or an agency or branch bank."

6. Paragraph (d) (4) of § 1488.3 Submission of applications for financing is amended to read:

(4) Substitute commercial dollar sales for sales for local currencies, sales on long term credits, and barter transactions.

7. The first sentence of paragraph (e) of § 1488.3 Submission of applications for financing is amended by deleting the word "and" after the word "destination", changing the period after the word "commodity" to a comma, and adding the words "the name and address of the foreign importer, and, if the bank obligation assuring payment of the account receivable will be issued by an agency or branch bank, the name and address of such bank."

8. Section 1488.3 Submission of applications for financing is amended by redesignating paragraph (g) as paragraph (h) and including a new paragraph (g) which reads:

(g) The financing approval may contain such terms and conditions as the General Sales Manager or the ASCS office deems in the interest of CCC not inconsistent with GSM–4.

9. Section 1488.4 Coverage of bank obligations is amended by adding a new paragraph (i) which reads:

§ 1488.4 Coverage of bank obligations.

* * * * *

(i) Collection of accounts receivable purchased under this program will be effected through the issuance by CCC of sight drafts against the bank obligations, but this method of collection shall not be exclusive of any other collection procedures or rights available to CCC.

10. The first sentence of § 1488.5 CCC drafts is amended by deleting the words "notes or other" between the words "related" and "instruments."

11. The second sentence of § 1488.5 CCC drafts is amended by substituting for the words "note or other instrument reendorsed to CCC" the word "instrument."

12. The fourth sentence of § 1488.5 CCC drafts is amended by substituting for the words "note or other instrument shall be reendorsed to CCC and returned" the words "instrument shall be returned to CCC."

Section 1488.5 CCC drafts, as amended, will read:

§ 1488.5 CCC drafts.

Under those bank obligations which are partially confirmed, CCC will draw separate drafts for the amounts confirmed and the amounts not confirmed, to which CCC will attach the related instruments evidencing the account receivable, endorsed to the U.S. bank or agency or branch bank. If a CCC draft is dishonored, the U.S. or agency or branch bank shall return the dishonored draft together with the related instrument and its statement of the reasons for nonpayment. For confirmed amounts, a U.S. or agency or branch bank may request refund from CCC of the amount paid if it certifies to CCC that it is unable to recover funds from the foreign bank due to a stipulated political risk which existed on the date payment was made to CCC under the draft. On approval by CCC of such request, the refund shall be promptly made, together with interest at the Federal Reserve Bank of New York discount rate from the date payment was originally made to CCC to but not including the date of refund by CCC, and the related instrument shall be returned to CCC. For unconfirmed amounts, remittance to CCC shall be considered final, and the U.S. bank or agency or branch bank shall not thereafter have recourse to CCC.

§ 1488.8 [Amended]

13. The first sentence of § 1488.8 Advance payment is amended by substituting the word "accepts" for the word "receives."

§ 1488.9 [Amended]

14. The second sentence of paragraph (a) (2) of § 1488.9 Documents required after export is amended to read: "When the account receivable is evidenced by documents other than instruments, in accordance with § 1488.2 (n), such documents shall be submitted with the assignment."

15. The first sentence of paragraph (a) (7) of § 1488.9 Documents required after export is amended by substituting for the words "For a foreign bank obligation confirmed by a United States or agency or branch bank," the words "When the account receivable is evidenced by instruments, in accordance with § 1488.2 (n)".

16. The third sentence of paragraph (a) (7) of § 1488.9 is amended by deleting the words "shall include interest in accordance with § 1488.6 and".

17. Paragraph (d) of § 1488.9 Documents required after export is amended by adding the following second sentence: "However, if the use of a weighted average delivery date has been approved for starting the financing period, the 45 days will begin with the date of the last delivery."

§ 1488.10 [Amended]

18. Paragraph (b) of § 1488.10 Evidence of export and warranty is amended by inserting the words "or photocopy or other type of copy" between the words "nonnegotiable copy" and "of either (1)" in the first sentence thereof.

§ 1488.11 [Amended]

19. The fourth sentence of § 1488.11 Evidence of entry into country of destination is amended by inserting the word "nonnegotiable" between the words "General Sales Manager" and "copies," and including immediately after the word "copies" and before the words "of all applicable bills of lading" the words "or photocopies or other types of copies."

§ 1488.12 [Amended]

20. Section 1488.12 Liability for payment is amended by inserting the words "or other documents" between the words "instruments" and "evidencing the account receivable" in the two places where they appear in the first sentence thereof.

AUTHORITY: The provisions of this Subpart F issued under 5 U.S.C. 301; sec. 5, 68 Stat. 667, sec. 1, 70 Stat. 1089; 16 U.S.C. 1005; E.O. 10584, 19 F.R. 8725; E. O. 10913, 26 F.R. 510; Orders of Secretary of Agriculture, 29 F.R. 16210, 32 F.R. 6650.

This subpart sets forth the general policies and authorizations for making Watershed loans and advances to local organizations under the Watershed Protection and Flood Prevention Act (16 U.S.C. 1001), hereafter referred to as the Act. Technical and financial assistance will be given to local organizations in planning and carrying out works of improvement for protecting and developing the land and water resources in small watershed or subwatershed project areas, including recreation, wildlife, and storage of water for future use. Local people acting through their local organizations must take the initiative and full responsibility for starting small watershed projects.

(a) Definitions. (1) For purposes of this subpart, the term "local organization" means a State or a department, agency, or political subdivision thereof, soil or water conservation district, irrigation district, drainage district, flood prevention or control district, municipal corporation, or similar agency having authority under State law to carry out, maintain, and operate works of improvement, and to borrow and repay loans for the installation thereof; or any irrigation or reservoir company, water users' association, or similar organization having such authority, whether organized and chartered under special law, general nonprofit corporation law, or general profit corporation law, if it is operated on a nonprofit basis under adequate charter, bylaw, mortgage or supplementary agreement provisions which will assure continued operation in that manner.

(2) "Works of improvement" are defined as structural and land treatment measures needed in small watershed or subwatershed areas and included in a watershed work plan for flood prevention to reduce floodwater, sediment, and erosion damage, and for the conservation, development, utilization, and disposal of water, including public recreation and fish and wildlife developments which must be an integral part of a watershed project.

(3) A "watershed work plan" is a plan agreed upon by a local organization and the Soil Conservation Service for carrying out, operating, and maintaining works of improvement for protecting and developing land and water resources in a particular watershed or subwatershed area. It describes the watershed and its problems and needs. It contains estimates of costs, proposed cost-sharing arrangements, responsibilities, and economic justification for specific works of improvement desired by local people for protection and improvement of that watershed. When approved, it is the basis for extending Federal, technical, and cost-sharing assistance. It will be used by the Farmers Home Administration (FHA) when considering an application for a Watershed loan or advance.

(4) A "watershed project" is a system of works of improvement in a watershed or subwatershed area of not more than 250,000 acres for flood prevention, irrigation, drainage, municipal water supply, recreation, fish and wildlife, or other water management purposes; except, that in the 11 watershed improvement programs authorized by Public Law 534, 78th Cong. (58 Stat. 887), there are no legal restrictions on the maximum storage capacity for a single structure, or upon the size of the watershed.

(5) The term "loan" means Watershed loans made by the FHA.

(6) The term "advance" means advances made by the Soil Conservation Service from construction funds to local organizations for future water supply or preservation of sites.

(7) "Future water supply" means the capacity authorized in a watershed work plan to be installed in a reservoir with related facilities for the release or withdrawal of water therefrom to meet anticipated future demand for municipal or industrial use.

(8) "Preservation of sites" means that immediate purchase of land, easements, or rights-of-way is essential to preserve sites for works of improvements from encroachment by other developments that would interfere with the use of the sites for project purposes.

(9) "Local share of watershed project costs" means that part of the total project costs set out in the watershed work plan to be paid by local organizations. The estimated amount of local share will be set out in Table I of the watershed work plan.

(b) Effects of State law. (1) Local organizations within a State may be subject to restrictions of State law which will not permit them to take full advantage of the FHA authorizations. FHA officials should become familiar with applicable statutory requirements in applying FHA policies, making administrative decisions, and preparing instructions for processing a Watershed loan. Applicants for loans or advances must comply with State and local laws pertaining to, among other things:

(i) Organization and authority to install, acquire, operate, and maintain the proposed facilities.

(ii) Obtaining loans and giving security therefor and levying taxes, making assessments, or raising revenues for the repayment thereof.

(iii) Land use zoning.

(iv) Permission to construct facilities and approval of construction plans and specifications by appropriate State officials.

(v) Health and sanitation standards.

(vi) Public service commission or similar State public body rules and regulations, where applicable.

(c) Coordination between Soil Conservation Service and FHA. The Secretary of Agriculture assigned to the FHA responsibility for administering section 8 of the Act relative to loans and for obligations for repayment of advances authorized under section 4 of the Act. The Soil Conservation Service is responsible for administering the other provisions of the Act. A memorandum of understanding has been entered into by the Soil Conservation Service and the FHA covering policies and methods coordinating these assigned responsibilities.

(d) Cost sharing. Certain costs of installing works of improvement are shared by the Federal Government and by local organizations. Under prescribed conditions, cost sharing and engineering services are available for the items listed under § 1823.145(a) (1), (3), and (4). No cost sharing is available to pay installation costs allocated to water storage for the purposes listed in § 1823.145(a)(2). An estimate of the local organization's share of the watershed project costs will be included in the watershed work plan.

§ 1823.142 Applications.

(a) Loans. Each local organization requesting a Watershed loan will make preliminary application on Form FHA 410-3, "Preliminary Application (Association Assistance—EO Cooperative Loan—Watershed Loan)," at the County Office.

(1) The State Director will consult with the State Conservationist of the Soil Conservation Service on each application to ascertain the status of the watershed plan, the estimated cost of the proposed works to be installed with the loan, any cost sharing which may be available to the organization, and other available pertinent information.

(2) If the State Director determines that favorable consideration should be given to the application, he will provide further loan forms, instructions, and assistance for the development and submission of a loan docket. If it is determined that no further consideration should be given to the application, the State Director will advise the County Supervisor why favorable action cannot be taken who will then notify the applicant.

(b) Advance. (1) If the applicant requires an advance, the request will be made to the State Conservationist of the Soil Conservation Service who will advise FHA of the application for the advance. The State Director will then assemble the following information and submit his written recommendation on the advance to the State Conservationist.

(i) Economic feasibility of the proposed obligation for the advance.

(ii) Legal authority of the local organization to incur the obligation and provide for its repayment.

(iii) Limitations on the issuance of additional bonds or notes which may be imposed by the provisions of bond ordinances or resolutions which authorized the issue of outstanding obligations of the local organization.

(2) As soon as FHA and the Soil Conservation Service concur in the application for the advance, instructions can be prepared for the development of the advance docket.

(c) Combination of loans and advances. If an applicant requests both an advance and a loan, the application for the loan will be made to the FHA County Supervisor and the request for the advance to the State Conservationist of Soil Conservation Service. The application for the loan should indicate the amount of the advance needed and whether a request for it has been made to the Soil Conservation Service.

§ 1823.143 Eligibility for loans or advances.

To be eligible for a Watershed loan or advance, the local organization must:

(a) Be a local organization as defined in § 1823.141(a).

(b) Have the legal capacity and organizational arrangements necessary for obtaining, giving security for, and raising revenues for repaying the loan or advance, and for operating and maintaining planned facilities.

(c) Sponsor or cosponsor a watershed work plan which provides for the installation, operation, and maintenance of works of improvement.

§ 1823.144 County Committee recommendations and comments.

County Committee recommendations and comments will be obtained on each application for a Watershed loan or advance.

(a) Comments will be obtained from the County Committee in the county in which the applicant's principal place of business is located. When the watershed covers more than one county, recommendations and comments may be obtained from such of the other County Committees as the State Director deems desirable to have on issues such as the local sentiment and the need for the project.

(b) The recommendations will cover, but need not be limited to, the community need for and interest in the proposed works of improvement, local issues, and other items of a similar character which will be helpful to the approving official.

(c) When adequate information has been assembled about the application and the development of the watershed plan is well along, the application and pertinent information related to it will be presented to the County Committee. Following the discussions, the County Committee will make its recommendations in narrative form which will be signed by at least two members of the Committee. The recommendations will be included in the loan docket.

§ 1823.145 Loan purposes and limitations.

(a) Purposes. Watershed loans may be made for the following purposes:

(1) Installing, repairing, or improving works of improvement in the following categories:

(i) Facilities for the storage and conveyance of water to farms for irrigation.

(ii) Drainage facilities in farm areas.

(iii) Facilities for the storage or development, treatment, and distribution of water where the major portion of the water will be used on farms for farmstead, livestock, and orchard and crop spraying purposes.

(iv) Other agricultural water management measures and practices for such purposes as the stabilization of annual streamflow, increasing the recharge of ground water reservoirs, and the conservation of existing water supplies by the control of undesirable vegetation such as salt cedars and willows.

(v) Special land treatment measures, structures, or equipment which are primarily, though not exclusively, for flood prevention but which produce community benefits sufficient to justify the use of taxes or other revenues available to the local organization to install and maintain such measures, structures, or equipment, and to repay loans for that purpose. These include:

(a) Observation towers, dwelling for fire guard personnel, tank trucks, and other equipment for fire prevention and control.

(b) Tree plantings and the establishment of other vegetative cover needed for the stabilization of critical runoff and sediment producing areas.

(c) Minor structural and vegetative measures to stabilize stream channels and gullies.

(d) On-farm measures such as level water retention terraces used to control runoff and sediment in lieu of downstream flood prevention structures.

(2) Installing, repairing, or improving water storage facilities, including outlet works for such purposes as immediate and future municipal and industrial water supply, and pollution abatement by streamflow regulation and saline water intrusion control. A Watershed loan for this purpose may include funds for pipelines and any necessary pumping facilities to convey the water from the reservoir to the existing or proposed municipal treatment facilities or the nearest practicable point on a water distribution system.

(3) For recreational developments and facilities. The use of loan funds will be limited to the recreational purposes and amount allocated to the local organization in the watershed work plan. When a local organization desires to install facilities greater in number or more elaborate than those included in the plan, it may do so but a Watershed loan will not be made for such purpose. Authorized recreational developments and facilities may include one or more of the following:

(i) Construction of water resource improvements such as a reservoir, a lake level control structure, stream or channel rectification, or a similar improvement which makes possible the creation of a recreational development.

(ii) Acquiring fee simple title to land or perpetual easements for sites for direct resource improvements; for removals, relocations, and modification of existing improvements; and for access roads parking lots, sanitary facilities, picnicking, beach areas, and so forth.

(iii) Engineering, legal, and administrative costs for planning approved types of recreational developments and acquiring land, easements, and rights-of-way.

(iv) Minimum basic facilities such as roads and trails providing access from public highways and between different parts of the recreational development; parking lots; water supply, sanitary facilities, and garbage disposal for public use area; power facilities; beach development; boat docks and ramps; plantings and other shoreline or area improvements; picnic shelters, tables, and fireplaces; and other similar or related facilities needed for public health and safety, and access to and use of, the recreational development.

(4) For fish and wildlife development. The use of loan funds will be limited to the local share of the cost of construction of water resource improvements, land, easements and rights-of-way, and minimum basic facilities need for the creation or improvement of fish and wildlife habitat as set out in the watershed work plan.

(i) Water resource improvements may include:

(a) Storage capacity in multiple-purpose reservoirs, construction of single-purpose reservoirs, modification of existing reservoirs, or modification of existing reservoirs solely for fish and wildlife development or for regulation of water levels or streamflow conducive to improved fish and wildlife development. Included are related facilities such as fish ladders, site clearing, and fish shelters.

(b) Stream channel improvements including practices for the improvement of fish and wildlife habitat and environment along streams.

(c) Marsh and pit development for breeding and nesting areas.

(ii) Land, easements and rights-of-way for the water resource improvements, and such additional land as is required to meet the planned need for fish and wildlife management.

(iii) Minimum basic facilities may include:

(a) Roads and trails providing access from public highways which are needed for the management of the fish and wildlife development.

(b) Planting and other shoreline or area improvements.

(c) Fences, cattle guards, and other facilities for protecting the fish and wildlife development.

(d) Shelters, equipment sheds, and other similar facilities needed for proper management of the development.

(5) The purchase of land or an interest therein for sites or rights-of-way upon which works of improvement will be located and associated costs such as the removal, relocation, or replacement of bridges, roads, railroads, pipelines, utility lines, buildings, and fences.

(i) The use of loan funds and advances for land acquisition must be limited to costs that are reasonably necessary to carry out the works of improvement. When final construction plans for the works of improvement are completed, they will indicate the lands and rights-of-way which must be acquired for project needs. However, local organizations may request authority to acquire lands in excess of actual project needs. Reasons for such requests might include, but not be limited to, cases in which severance damages would be excessive if a part of an ownership tract were to be acquired by purchase or condemnation, the local organization lacks legal condemnation authority and is unable to negotiate for a part of the tract, the additional cost to purchase the remainder of a tract would be less than the probable cost in time and money if condemnation proceedings on that portion of the tract needed for construction were resorted to, or other conditions exist which would justify the acquisition of excess land. Such requests should be considered by State Directors on an individual basis after thorough review of the facts in each case. If the State Director determines that a proposal for acquisition of excess land is necessary for the orderly development of the works of improvement, he may approve the proposal if the following conditions are made:

(a) That the local organization agrees to sell the excess land as soon as practicable and apply the proceeds on its indebtedness.

(b) That the local organization furnish a legal opinion supporting its authority to acquire the additional land and to dispose of it as agreed.

(c) That satisfactory evidence is submitted showing that the particular circumstances justify the acquisition of the additional land.

(d) That arrangements are made to assure that sales proceeds or other income from the additional land are applied on the loan.

(ii) Easements for watershed protection structures must be perpetual and cannot include clauses whereby the easement will terminate with the dissolution or abandonment of the local organization. No easement on a form which deviates in any way from the standard Soil Conservation Service form will be paid for from loan funds unless the modifications thereto are approved by Soil Conservation Service and FHA.

(6) The acquisition of a water supply or a water right. This may be acquired by purchase or by appropriation pursuant to local, State, and Federal laws. The loan may include funds for the purchase of land on which the water supply or water right is presently being used when the water supply or water right cannot be purchased without the land.

(7) The hiring of, or contracting for, personal services such as the services of engineers, attorneys, auditors, construction foremen, and clerks needed for organizing the group, making engineering surveys, developing construction plans, administering construction contracts, and supervising the construction of works of improvement. Funds to pay costs incidental to loan closing, such as those incurred to obtain title evidence, clear titles, and to file or record lien instruments may be included in a loan.

(8) The purchase of equipment and machinery needed by the local organization for construction or installation of planned works of improvement in the categories under subparagraph (1) of this paragraph, provided the equipment is not available at reasonable rental cost or the cost of works of improvement will be lower as the result of such purchase.

(9) To refinance debts of a local organization when all of the following conditions exist:

(i) The indebtedness being refinanced was incurred in the installation or rehabilitation of works of improvement of the types for which loan funds could be advanced and is a valid obligation of the local organization.

(ii) The creditors are unwilling to extend, subordinate, or modify the terms of the debts and any security instruments to provide a satisfactory basis for the loan.

(iii) The amount to be refinanced will not exceed 50 percent of the total loan unless the prior approval of the Administrator is obtained and the debts to be refinanced were incurred either for expenses classified by law as preliminary expenses of the organization or for expenses classified as construction expenses which were incurred prior to the actual initiation of construction and are repayable within not more than 5 years from the date they were incurred.

(10) The repayment of the unpaid portion of any advance by the Soil Conservation Service for the preservation of sites.

(b) Limitations. The proceeds of loans may not be used for:

(1) Bringing new land into agricultural production. Any land which has not been used for agricultural production for at least two of the five years preceding the approval of the watershed for planning will be considered as new land. Agricultural production is defined as cultivated crops and tame hay. No Federal financial or technical assistance will be provided for projects in which the monetary benefits accrue primarily from bringing new land into agricultural production through drainage or irrigation measures. No Federal financial or technical assistance or loans will be provided within projects for separate or independent parts of drainage or irrigation systems, the primary purpose of which is to bring new land into agricultural production.

(2) Land treatment measures on individual farms except as provided in paragraph (a) (1) (v) of this section. Other FHA loans may be made to eligible individual applicants for these purposes.

(3) Recreational facilities such as boat houses, lunch stands, cabins, motels, community buildings, dance pavilions, golf courses, and other facilities of a similar character as determined by the Soil Conservation Service.

(4) Facilities for the artificial propagation, harvesting, and enjoyment of fish and wildlife resources such as hatcheries, rearing ponds, and related facilities.

(5) Water treatment plants and pipelines or other facilities, for treating and distributing water for residential, municipal, industrial, commercial, and other nonagricultural uses, when such facilities will be needed to make use of the stored water, and loan repayments will depend upon income derived from such use, the applicant must present evidence, before loan closing, that these facilities can be financed and installed as needed.

(6) Electric generating, transmission, and distribution facilities, except as provided as a part of the minimum basic facilities for recreational and fish and wildlife developments.

(7) Paying costs allocated in a watershed work plan to structural measures for flood prevention.

(8) Storm and sanitary sewers.

(9) Drainage facilities primarily for nonrural areas.

(10) Payment for any tract of land, easement, or rights-of-way on which the Soil Conservation Service will cost share if the amount proposed to be paid from loan proceeds exceeds the difference between the Soil Conservation Service's share and the value on which the Soil Conservation Service's share was based.

(c) Limitations on amount of loans. The total amount of principal outstanding for all Watershed loans for any one watershed project, whether made to one or more borrowers, shall not exceed $5 million. However, a local organization sponsoring, cosponsoring, or participating in more than one watershed project may receive a separate Watershed loan for each watershed project, provided the amount of each such separate Watershed loan to the local organization together with the amount of Watershed loans to other borrowers does not exceed $5 million for any one watershed project.

§ 1823.146 Advance purposes and limitations.

(a) Purposes. Advances may be made from Soil Conservation Service construction funds for the following purposes included in a watershed work plan agreement:

(1) The payment of the construction cost, including cost of engineering and related services, of reservoir capacity including intake and outlet structures for future water supply. If an advance for this purpose is not consistent with State law or is impractical for other reasons, funds for the future water supply may be provided instead through a loan.

(2) The preservation of sites for authorized types of works of improvements by immediate purchase of land, easements, and rights-of-way to prevent encroachment by other developments which would interfere with the use of such sites for project purposes.

(b) Limitations. (1) The maximum amount that can be included in an advance for reservoir capacity for future water supply will be 30 percent of the estimated total installation cost of each structure in which capacity for future water supply is to be provided. Costs for future water supply in excess of, or not included in, the advance may be paid with the proceeds of a Watershed loan.

(2) The amount of an advance for preservation of sites may not exceed that determined by the Soil Conservation Service to be necessary. However, subject to the provisions of § 1823.145(a) (5) (i), an advance may include funds to purchase land in excess of the amount actually needed if necessary to acquire a particular site or right-of-way.

(3) Advances for future water supply may not be used for acquisition of land, easements and rights-of-way, water rights, administration of contracts, storage capacity for immediate municipal use, pipelines from the reservoir to place of use, or for other uses such as for irrigation, fish and wildlife, and recreation. However, a Watershed loan may be made for such purposes.

§ 1823.147 Special requirements.

(a) Water rights. Applicants under this program will be required to comply with applicable State and local laws and regulations governing appropriating, diverting, storing and using water, changing the place and manner of use of water, and in disposing of water. All of the rights of any landowner, appropriator, or user of water from any source will be fully honored in all respects as they may be affected by facilities installed with Watershed loans. If, under the provisions of State law, notice of the proposed diversion or storage of water by the applicant may be filed, the applicant will be required to file such a notice. Even though such filing may be optional under State law, the record might be of value at some future time to protect the borrower's rights or priority to the use of water. An applicant must furnish evidence to provide reasonable assurance that its water rights will be or have been properly established, will not interfere with prior vested rights, will likely not be contested or enjoined by other water users or riparian owners, and will be within the provisions of any applicable interstate compact.

(b) Water pollution. When repayment of a Watershed loan or advance will be dependent upon income from the use of sale of water, FHA approval will be contingent upon a determination that the proposed utilization of water will not be impaired by pollution. For example, full utilization of stored water for recreation or municipal supply might not be permitted by a State health department because the water was receiving pollution from some upstream source.

(c) Title requirements. (1) Except as provided in subparagraph (2) of this paragraph, title evidence for lands, easements, and rights-of-way to be acquired with proceeds of loans or advances will be furnished by the local organization in accordance with Soil Conservation Service policies and procedures.

(2) The FHA will specify and give approval to the form and content of instruments for conveying title to real estate and interests in real estate upon which a lien will be taken to secure a loan or an advance, or which will provide sites for facilities producing revenue for loan payments. The State Director will notify the Soil Conservation Service in writing and thereafter title clearance will be completed under Soil Conservation Service regulations except that a marketable title must be obtained on any tract of land, a part of which will be sold as excess land in compliance with § 1823.145(a) (5) (i). In addition to the title evidence required by the Soil Conservation Service, applicants will furnish an opinion of counsel on all land and interests in land acquired pursuant to this paragraph.

(d) Insurance. The applicant will obtain insurance coverage in the amounts and types specified by the Administrator of the FHA in his loan approval memorandum.

(e) Bonding. (1) Prior to the execution of construction contracts by the local organization, contractors shall furnish surety bonds to guarantee both performance and payment.

(2) The local organization will provide fidelity bond coverage for the officials entrusted with the receipt and disbursement of its funds and the custody of any property. The amount of the bond will be at least equal to the maximum amount of money that the local organization will have on hand at any one time exclusive of loan funds deposited in a supervised bank account, unless the income of the local organization is required by State statute to be deposited with a designated public official whose bond is fixed by the statute. Form FHA 440-34, "Position Fidelity Schedule Bond," may be used if permitted by State law.

(3) The amount of coverage required by the FHA in surety and fidelity bonds will be specified in the loan approval memorandum.

(f) Technical assistance. When pipelines from reservoirs to treatment plants are included in watershed work plans, the Soil Conservation Service will not furnish engineering services for their design or installation. When such pipelines are to be financed by Watershed loans, FHA will supervise the activities of the private engineers retained for the purpose. Such FHA supervision will include approval of private engineer's contracts, approval of plans and specifications, authorization of contract awards, spot checks of engineering inspection and final inspection and acceptance.

§ 1823.148 Terms and interest rates of loans and advances.

The following terms are subject to State constitutional and statutory requirements under which an applicant is organized and derives its authority to obligate itself to repay and give security for money borrowed or advanced. Also, there must be evidence that income will be sufficient and adequate to meet scheduled payments including required debt service reserves.

(a) Repayment period.—(1) Loans. (i) The repayment period on loans may not exceed:

(a) The statutory limitation on the local organization's borrowing authority.

(b) Fifty years from the date when the principal benefits from works of improvement first become available.

(c) The useful life of the works of improvement to be installed under the watershed work plan.

(ii) When practicable, installments will be scheduled annually on January 1, starting with the first January 1 following the date of loan closing or the end of any approved deferment period. However, a due date other than January 1 is permissable when better suited to the borrower's needs, statutory requirements, or if necessary to coordinate the repayment date with the collection of revenues or taxes.

(2) Advances for future water supply. Advances will be repaid within the life of the reservoir structure but in no event to exceed 50 years after the reservoir structure is built. Installments will be scheduled in accordance with subparagraph (1) (ii) of this paragraph.

(3) Advances for preservation of sites. Advances for site acquisition must be fully repaid prior to beginning construction of the works of improvement for which such sites will be acquired.

(b) Deferred or partial payments.—(1) Loans. Deferred or partial payments on loans will be permitted only when:

(i) Repayments need to be delayed until the receipt of income from taxes or other revenues are sufficient to meet a regular installment.

(ii) Repayment will be dependent upon the increased returns expected from planned works of improvement, or from the installation on individual farms of land development or other soil and water improvements essential for obtaining benefits from works of improvement to be installed with loan funds.

(iii) The deferment or partial payment will not be used to permit the accelerated repayment of other debts, to make capital improvements, or to create operating reserves.

(2) Advances for future water supply. (i) The principal amount of an advance may be deferred until 1 year after water is first used from the storage capacity installed with the advance or until the end of 10 years from the scheduled completion date of a structure, whichever date shall occur earlier.

(ii) No interest will be charged on these advances until water is first used or the end of 10 years from scheduled completion date of the facility, whichever be the sooner and regardless of the principal repayment schedule. If the State law requires that interest be charged and paid before water is first used or earlier than 10 years from the completion date of the structure, interest payments will be scheduled to comply with the State law even though principal payments may be deferred as authorized above. Before a project agreement is entered into, there must be satisfactory evidence that the borrower will use the water from such capacity and that revenue will be sufficient to meet all scheduled installments. The borrower should be encouraged to begin repayments as soon as practicable after the reservoir is built even though this liberal deferment policy exists.

(3) Advances for preservation of sites. (i) Unless an advance is to be paid with a Watershed loan, installments will be scheduled at the earliest practicable date following the date of closing the advance and the date and amount of each such installment will be fixed to coincide with the receipt of income from taxes or other revenue.

(ii) Payments of both principal and interest may be scheduled for payment in one installment to become due on the date of the closing of a loan for the repayment of the advance.

(c) Interest. The interest rate on loans and advances will be the average rate, as determined by the Secretary of the Treasury, payable by the U.S. Treasury upon its marketable public obligations outstanding at the beginning of the fiscal year in which an obligating agreement is executed, which are neither due nor callable for redemption for 15 years from date of issue. The rate will be announced at the beginning of each fiscal year, and this rate will prevail throughout the fiscal year. When a loan is approved, the interest rate for that particular loan will be the interest rate in effect for the fiscal year in which the loan is obligated and will not change during the life of the loan.

(1) Unless otherwise required by State law, interest on loans will begin with the date of the delivery of the note, bond, or loan disbursement, except that if a loan is made in multiple loan disbursements, interest on the first disbursement will begin with the date of the delivery of the note or bond and interest will begin on each subsequent disbursement on the date of the check.

(2) Interest on an advance for future water supply will begin as required in State law, when water is first used from the future water storage capacity installed with advance, or 10 years from the scheduled date of the completion of the facility, whichever date is the earlier.

(3) Interest on an advance for preservation of sites will begin on the date the advance is closed.

(d) Payments. (1) Each borrower may make prepayments in any amount at any time.

(2) Except as provided below, payments will be applied first to interest accrued on the note to the date of the receipt of payment, and second to the principal balance on the note. If the regular payments plus any prepayments exceed the cumulative amount due on the note, the excess payments will be applied on next due installments, except that loan refunds and proceeds from the sale of security property will be applied on the final unpaid installments.

(3) Payments will be applied on principal for all advances for future water supply with provisions for nonpayment of interest until water is first used or the end of 10 years. However, when interest begins to run, payments will thereafter be applied in the same manner as any other Watershed loan.

(e) Reserves. Each borrower will be required to establish and maintain reserves for delinquent accounts sufficient to assure that loan installments will be paid on time and that provisions are made for emergency repairs and extensions to facilities. For those cases in which statutes provide for extinguishing assessment liens of public bodies when properties subject to such liens are sold for delinquent State and county taxes, special reserves will be established and maintained for the protection of the borrower's lien of assessment. Provision for the accumulation of necessary reserves over a reasonable period of time will be included in loan resolutions or bond ordinances and in assessments, tax levies, or rates charged for services. Reserves may be invested in time deposits, savings accounts, or obligations of the United States which may be converted readily into cash. Investments and income therefrom will always be a part of the particular reserve fund from which they were made.

(1) The amount of reserves for delinquencies will be determined by the State Director after careful consideration of the repayment ability of the association's members or patrons. The reserve for this purpose should ultimately be accumulated in an amount at least equal to any anticipated delinquency in any 1 year.

(2) Reserves for emergency repairs and extensions will be determined by the State Director after consultation between the borrower's officials and the County Supervisor.

(3) Reserves for the protection of borrowers' lien of assessments will be maintained at a level equivalent to the estimated average annual amount of State and county taxes for which property subject to such liens might be sold, as determined by the State Director.

§ 1823.149 Security requirements.

Watershed loans and advances will be secured in a manner which will adequately protect the interests of the Government and comply with the State statutes governing the particular local organization receiving a Watershed loan or advance. Loans and advances will be evidenced by notes, bonds, warrants, or other contractual obligations as may be authorized in corporate documents, resolutions, ordinances, and relevant State statutes. All corporate or statutory requirements pertaining to the authorization, sale, and acceptance of evidences of debt to be offered to FHA, must be met before closing. The FHA does not require that a transcript of proceedings for bond issues be prepared for examination and opinion by bond counsel as is usually required by private investors. The FHA does not object, however, to the employment of bond counsel by the applicant to assist in such proceedings. Neither does the FHA require that bonds or note be printed when the FHA note form is not appropriate. Whenever possible, the evidence of debt should be in the form of an installment note or bond. If serial bonds are required by statute, the bond form should omit interest coupons if permissable under State law. State statutes may also specify the security that may be given by the local organization. This security may generally be one or more of the following:

(a) Pledges of the revenues to be derived from operation of the local organization's facilities including cash reserves for debt service as may be agreed upon.

(b) Pledges of taxes or assessments which will be liens upon lands served by the local organization.

(c) Liens on real and personal property including facilities to be acquired by the local organization if the giving of such liens is not prohibited by State law.

(d) For membership or stock companies, a pledge or assignment of promissory notes, stock or membership subscription agreements, individual member's liability agreements, or other evidences of debt, as well as security instruments mortgaging the private property of members of the local organization, if it appears there will not be adequate security under one or more of the above types of security.

§ 1823.150 Approval of loans and advances.

(a) State Directors are authorized to approve Watershed loans and obligations to repay advances in accordance with this subpart. No loan or obligation to repay an advance may be approved without prior authorization of the National Office which would result in a total outstanding principal indebtedness for Watershed loans and advances in excess of $100,000.

(b) Except as provided in paragraph (a) of this section, State Directors will be authorized to approve Watershed loans and obligations to repay advances to local organizations on an individual case basis after review by the National Office of loan dockets and related watershed work plans and State Directors' recommendations. Following the review, the Administrator will issue a memorandum to the State Director authorizing the approval of the loan or the obligation to repay an advance, specifying conditions that must be met by the local organization, and containing any special closing instructions. When the State Director approves a loan or an obligation to repay an advance, he will send a memorandum of approval to the County Supervisor. The memorandum will include the conditions specified by the Administrator or State Director that must be met. Two copies of the memorandum will be delivered to the applicant by the County Supervisor.

(c) The FHA will not approve a Watershed loan or an obligation to repay an advance unless and until the applicant becomes a sponsor or cosponsor of a watershed work plan approved by the Soil Conservation Service. If there will be an urgent need for funds immediately after approval of the watershed work plan, the loan docket may be prepared and submitted prior to the final approval of the watershed work plan by the Soil Conservation Service. The FHA will advise the local organization of steps that need to be taken prior to loan closing; however, no commitment will be made until the watershed work plan has been approved for operations.

§ 1823.151 Miscellaneous policies and procedures applicable to advances.

(a) Future water supply. (1) Capacity may be included in a reservoir for the storage of both immediate and future water supply and for other multiple uses such as flood prevention, irrigation, fish and wildlife, recreation, or combination of such uses.

(2) Proposals for including storage capacity in reservoirs for future water supply must be approved by the Administrator of Soil Conservation Service.

(3) Local organizations will be responsible for preparing proposals. Proposals may be in the form of a preliminary report of the kind usually prepared by consulting engineers showing project features, costs, and feasibility. A proposal will include estimates of installation costs, projections of need, use, income, expenditures, and debt service, and coverage ratio; need for and cost of other future facilities essential to the use of the future water supply; plan of financing the future facilities; and a statement by the counsel for the applicant giving citations to statutes under which the plan of financing will be carried out. It may be necessary to revise, expand, or update such data when the docket for the advance is compiled.

(b) Preservation of sites. (1) The local organization must present evidence satisfactory to Soil Conservation Service of the necessity to preserve a proposed site for works of improvement from encroachment by other developments.

(2) The amount of funds advanced for acquisition of the land rights may not exceed the amount needed as determined by the Soil Conservation Service and the local organization subject to the provisions of § 1823.145(a)(5).

(3) Repayment of advances with interest are required by law to be credited to the Soil Conservation Service watershed construction funds. If a loan is made to repay the advance, the FHA will transfer loan funds in the amount of the advance plus interest to the Soil Conservation Service.

§ 1823.152 Multiple loan disbursements.

A Watershed loan may be made in multiple disbursements in accordance with the need of the local organization for funds as shown by the budget prepared for the docket. When an additional check is needed, it will be requested by the County Supervisor.

§ 1823.153 Closing loans and advances.

(a) Except for a loan for planning purposes, no Watershed loan will be closed until:

(1) The Soil Conservation Service has scheduled the construction of works of improvement for which a loan, or any part thereof, is to be made.

(2) The local organization is ready to use the loan funds and has either met or will comply with those loan approval conditions and requirements in closing instruction which are to be completed on or before the day of loan closing.

(3) The local organization can, with the loan, meet all requirements of the Soil Conservation Service for entering into a project agreement for installing such scheduled works of improvement.

(b) No funds will be paid out by the Soil Conservation Service on an advance without the concurrence of the FHA.

§ 1823.154 Use of, and accountability for, loan and advance proceeds.

Each local organization will be required to use the proceeds of loans in accordance with its agreements with the Government. Proceeds of loans and any funds furnished by the local organization to supplement the loan will be deposited in a supervised or special bank account and will not be commingled with other funds of the local organization. When an advance will be made from funds transferred by the Soil Conservation Service to FHA for obligation and disbursement, the proceeds of such an advance will be deposited and handled the same as a Watershed loan.

(a) Watershed loan funds to be placed in a supervised bank account or special bank account will be deposited and handled in accordance with § 1823.24(k) (1) and (2).

(b) Payments to contractors or for other expenses incurred in the planning and construction of works of improvement will be made by checks drawn on a supervised or special bank account. Payments may be made in a lumpsum at the completion of a job, or partial payments may be made as work progresses in accordance with partial payment provisions of construction contracts or other prearranged agreements with suppliers of materials or services. All payments for construction items will be based upon Form SCS–49a, "Contract Payment Estimate and Construction Progress Report," prepared by the borrower and approved by the Soil Conservation Service. Payments for personal services will be based upon periodic payrolls, and payments for other purposes such as title clearance and miscellaneous supplies will be based upon invoices or bills.

(1) If payments are to be made from a supervised bank account, the borrower will present Form SCS–49a, a periodic payroll, and an invoice or a bill, as appropriate, to the County Supervisor before checks are countersigned.

(2) If payments are to be made from a special bank account, the borrower will make a report to the County Supervisor covering such period as agreed upon by the borrower and the FHA, showing the payee, amount, and purpose of each check drawn during the period. The borrower will attach to the report a copy of the payroll, Form SCS–49a, receipts, or receipted bills or invoices for the checks issued. The receipts and receipted bills or invoices will be returned to the borrower.

(c) Before loan funds are disbursed for the acquisition of a particular right-of-way, easement, or other land rights, the Soil Conservation Service will furnish the County Supervisor the name of the party to whom payment will be made. If the title to a particular right-of-way, easement, or other land rights will be obtained pursuant to § 1823.147(c)(2), the local organization's attorney will furnish the County Supervisor a written opinion that the local organization will acquire a valid title to the land rights to be purchased.

§ 1823.155 Accounts and records of local organization.

Borrowers will establish and maintain such accounts and other records pertaining to transactions related to the installation, operation, and maintenance of works of improvement as may be required by the FHA. These accounts and records will be kept in a form and manner satisfactory to the FHA and will be open to inspection and audits by representatives of the FHA during the borrower's regular business hours. The borrower will prepare and furnish to the County Supervisor at intervals designated by the State Director such written reports as may be required by the FHA. The records the FHA may require the borrower to keep will be held by such borrower until the records retention period specified by State statute has been met. If no records retention period is specified by State statute, such required records will be held by the borrower for FHA inspection and review for a period of at least 1 year after the year to which they pertain. After the above applicable records retention requirement has been met by the borrower, the disposition of the records involved will not be a matter of business to the FHA.

§ 1823.156 Preparation of loan docket.

(a) Preliminary actions. Loan docket preparation may commence as soon as a preliminary draft of the watershed work plan, together with an estimate of costs and benefits, has been prepared with the assistance of Soil Conservation Service and approved by the local organization. The State Director will send to the County Supervisor a memorandum giving complete instructions for preparation of the docket. The docket should be planned so that it will be reviewed by FHA before final actions by the governing board of the local organization, or by any court or other agency having legal jurisdiction, are taken on loan resolutions, bond ordinances, and referendum elections, and orders levying assessments or confirming the borrowing of money are executed or adopted. This review procedure is designed to avoid the necessity for additional meetings, amended court petitions, or supplemental elections due to failure to comply with applicable statutory procedure or other insufficiencies in the proceedings.

(b) Development of loan docket. The docket will provide information evidencing that the local organization is or will be so organized that it has the requisite legal powers to construct and operate the works proposed, borrow money, give security therefor, and provide revenue for repayment thereof, it is or will become a sponsor or cosponsor of the watershed work plan and is otherwise eligible for a Watershed loan, that loan funds will be used for specific authorized purposes, the source of income to be pledged for repayment and the security proposed are adequate and the remaining actions to be taken in closing the loan will be administratively satisfactory and legally sufficient. In addition to the requirements outlined in the memorandum of the State Director, the following forms and information will be prepared and made a part of the docket:

FHA 440–8 Record of Actions.
County Committee recommendations.
FHA 440–1 Payment Authorization.
FHA 442–14 Association Project Fund Analysis.
FHA 447–1 Application for Watershed Loan.
FHA 447–2 Resolution of Governing Body of Applicant (or similar form of resolution approved by State Director).
FHA 447–3 Tax and Assessment Data (where applicable).
Narrative Report by County Supervisor.
FHA 447–4 Budget for Watershed Loans and Advances.
Complete transcript of organizational proceedings including notices and advertisements. If not completed, include proposed documents.
Watershed Work Plan Agreement.
Operation and Maintenance Agreement.
Draft of Project Agreement and any supplemental agreements, including those for engineering services.
Draft of Benefit Assessment Roll (if such assessments are to be pledged for loan repayment).
Report by engineer or financial advisor on expected project revenues (if repayment will be from utility or recreation revenues).
Draft of Referendum or Election Proposition and Notice (if used).
Draft of Bond Ordinance, or Petition and Order, authorizing borrowing of money, including form of bond or note complying with State Law.
Draft of Loan Resolution (if not included in other documents).
Certificate of Secretary showing names and terms of officers of local organization.
Latest and most accurate estimates of the probable cost of easements, rights-of-way, and land rights which must be acquired, regardless of estimate in the watershed work plan when it was prepared.

§ 1823.157 State Office loan processing.

The County Supervisor will forward the docket with his recommendations to the State Office. When the State Director determines that the loan can be approved, he will draft a proposed memorandum of loan approval, setting out the conditions under which the loan will be made. The complete docket and his proposed memorandum will then be forwarded to the Office of General Counsel for review and the preparation of additional legal requirements combined, if practicable, with loan closing instructions.

§ 1823.158 Loan approval.

(a) Time of approval. The loan may be approved when all the following conditions exist:

(1) The watershed work plan has been approved for operations by Soil Conservation Service, and the applicant has become an official sponsor or cosponsor of the plan.

(2) Legal requirements and any necessary closing instructions have been prepared by the Office of General Counsel.

(3) The governing body of the applicant local organization has formally passed the loan resolution or it has been approved in final draft form.

(4) The State Director has determined that all subsequent actions can be carried out as proposed in the docket.

(b) Procedures for approval. When the State Director has determined that the loan is ready for approval and the loan resolution has been passed by the applicant, he will:

(1) Forward his memorandum of loan approval to the County Supervisor and return the loan docket. A copy of the memorandum and a project summary similar to those used for Association loans will be sent to the National Office.

(2) Execute Form FHA 440–1 after it has been signed by the officials of the applicant's governing body.

(c) Scheduling multiple advances. There is no limitation on the number of years over which Watershed loan funds may be scheduled for disbursement, so long as multiple disbursements are planned in accordance with § 1823.152.

(d) Special procedure when bonds are to be offered at public sale. If the loan is to be evidenced by bonds which must be offered at public sale, the State Director will forward his approval letter and the closing instructions to the County Supervisor. If the County Supervisor determines that the loan approval and closing conditions can be met within the time required by the bid invitation, the State Director will submit a bid for the bonds at the interest rate in effect at that time for Watershed loans. Generally, any bid deposit will be waived by the appropriate public officials for a bid by the Government. If a deposit must be made, the State Director will write the National Office for further instructions. As soon as it has been determined that the Government is the successful bidder for the bonds, the loan will be approved and funds obligated.

(e) Loan rejection or cancellation. When favorable action is not taken on a Watershed loan application, the State Director will notify the applicant in writing, and, if possible, send a representative to explain such action to the applicant. Watershed loans may be canceled before loan closing in accordance with § 1823.21.

§ 1823.159 Loan closing.

(a) Time of loan closing. The loan should not be closed until:

(1) All loan closing conditions can be met.

(2) The project agreemnet has been executed or the Soil Conservation Service has advised the State Director in writing that a project agreement will be executed and Soil Conservation Service funds made available for project construction.

(3) The State Director has reviewed the project agreement or proposed project agreement and determined that it is consistent in all respects with loan requirements.

(4) All statutory periods for appeals, objections, advertisements, or payment of assessments in full have passed and the local organization is ready to execute the note or deliver the bonds evidencing the loan.

(5) A loan closing date has been determined in consultation with the FHA County Supervisor, the applicant, and Soil Conservation Service. If loan funds are to be used for acquisition of land rights and easements the loan may be closed before these rights are acquired. However, the probable costs of such acquisition should be carefully estimated before the final amount of the loan is determined.

(b) Loan closing procedures. Loans will be closed in accordance with the closing instructions issued by the Office of General Counsel. Checks will be ordered in the same manner as direct loan checks for loans under Subpart A of this part. Loan funds will be handled in accordance with § 1823.154. Bonds should be registered wherever possible. At the time of loan closing, the applicant's attorney must submit a certificate that no suits, appeals, or judgments are pending against it. The note or bond will be dated the date of loan closing.

§ 1823.160 Processing advances.

(a) Preparation of docket. (1) When the FHA has concurred in the inclusion of an advance in a watershed work plan as outlined in § 1823.142(b), preparation of the advance docket can be initiated. The State Director will send the County Supervisor a memorandum giving complete instructions for preparation of the advance docket following the same procedures and policies as those outlined for loans in § 1823.156.

(2) The processing routine applies only to advances for future municipal and industrial water supply. Applications for advances for the preservation of sites should be sent to the National Office with requests for advice on processing.

(b) Review of the advance docket. After the County Supervisor, with the District Supervisor, has checked the advance docket for accuracy and completeness, he will forward it to the State Office with his recommendations. If the State Director determines that the advance can be made, he will send the docket to the Office of General Counsel for review and preparation of closing instructions, together with a proposed memorandum to the Soil Conservation Service State Conservationist concurring in the execution of a project agreement which will obligate advance funds by Soil Conservation Service and setting out specifically the conditions that must be met by the applicant. The memorandum will be signed and delivered to Soil Conservation Service when the State Director and the State Conservationist determine that all conditions can be met by the applicant.

(c) Closing advances. Advances may be closed when all the requirements of FHA and Soil Conservation Service have been met and funds are needed to meet project schedules. Advances will ordinarily be evidenced by bonds or notes. Since Soil Conservation Service will make the advances in increments, the notes or bonds must provide for multiple advances with the total payment obligation of the recipient limited to the total amount actually advanced.

(1) The note or bond and a certified copy of the resolution for the advance will be sent to the Finance Office as soon as it is delivered to FHA. A copy of the note or bond will be placed in the County Office file.

(2) Advances for future water supply will be made periodically by Soil Conservation Service directly to the recipient of the advance and use of these funds is covered by the project agreement, the engineering services agreement or such other supplementary agreements as may be necessary. It is therefore not necessary to deposit advance funds in a supervised or special account of the types used for loan funds.

(3) Advances for construction costs will be set out each month on Form SCS–49a, "Contract Payment Estimate and Construction Progress Report." The State Director should make arrangements with the State Conservationist to be supplied each month with a copy of Form SCS–49a where advance funds are included together with an official statement from the Soil Conservation Service State Administrative Officer giving the date of the check and the exact amount of each advance of funds made under the advance provisions of the project agreement or of any engineering services agreement or other supplementary agreement which further implements the proposal for the advance in the project agreement. The original will be sent immediately to the Finance Office and a copy provided for the County Office file.

§ 1823.161 Actions subsequent to closing of loans or advances.

(a) Any mortgages taken on security property should be placed on record with the appropriate County Office official. Bonds and notes should be registered if permitted by State laws.

(b) After a loan or advance is closed the docket should be sent to the Office of General Counsel for post review and a written statement as to whether or not all legal requirements have been met.

(c) The State Director should provide the County Supervisor with specific requirements which should be noted for servicing the loan. Such requirements may include bonds for officers of the borrower organization, the levy of annual taxes or assessments, or the preparation of certain periodic reports. Where advances for future water supply are made, a followup should be established to check each year with Soil Conservation Service concerning the actual use of storage financed by the advance. These requirements may be included in the approval memorandum.

AUTHORITY: The provisions of this Subpart H issued under 5 U.S.C. 301; Orders of Secretary of Agriculture, 29 F.R. 16210, 32 F.R. 6650.

§ 1823.221 General.

This subpart sets forth the general policies and authorizations for making Resource Conservation and Development loans for project measures directly related to the development, conservation, and utilization of natural resources to local public agencies in designated Resource Conservation and Development project areas, and to nonprofit corporations in rural areas within Resource Conservation and Development project areas. However, loans for recreational purposes and loans to nonprofit corporations may be made only in rural areas within Resource Conservation and Development project areas.

§ 1823.222 Responsibilities.

(a) Soil Conservation Service responsibilities. The Soil Conservation Service has been assigned the overall leadership for developing and carrying out Resource Conservation and Development projects. This includes handling the designation of the area, assignment of a Soil Conservation Service Project Coordinator, leadership in developing the project work plan, and assistance in initiating individual project measures, including those for which Resource Conservation and Development loans will be made.

(b) FHA responsibilities. The Farmers Home Administration (FHA) has been assigned responsibility for establishing policies and procedures for making and servicing Resource Conservation and Development loans, for cooperating with Soil Conservation Service and other Federal and State agencies in carrying out these responsibilities, and for taking such other actions as is necessary to carry out these provisions.

(c) Memorandum of understanding. A memorandum of understanding has been entered into by the Soil Conservation Service and the FHA covering policies and methods for carrying out responsibilities under this program.

§ 1823.223 Definitions.

(a) Public agency. A public agency is a State, State agency or instrumentality, county, municipality, or other subdivision or instrumentality of the State. This includes public agencies created by, or pursuant to, State law for making improvements of a public nature even though some of the improvements may be on privately owned land.

(b) Nonprofit corporation. The term "nonprofit corporation" includes mutual and other irrigation, water supply, drainage and waste disposal companies or associations, ditch companies, grazing, recreation, and forestry associations and similar organizations generally designated as private corporations operating on a nonprofit basis and authority having power to make available services and facilities of the types authorized in this subpart.

(1) A private corporation even though organized under the general profit corporation laws may come within this definition if it actually will be operated on a nonprofit basis under such charter, bylaw, mortgage, or supplementary agreement provisions as may be required as a condition of loan approval.

(2) A nonprofit corporation may receive assistance for more than one of the major purposes listed in this subpart when it is organized with the necessary powers conferred by State law to engage in multiple purpose activities.

(3) Nonprofit corporations which do not come within the above definition include cooperative or other service-type organizations engaged primarily in selling supplies, processing, or marketing agricultural and forest products.

(c) Rural area. The term "rural area" is an area as defined in § 1823.2(c).

(d) Resource Conservation and Development project plan. A plan for the project area developed by the project sponsor with the assistance of the U.S. Department of Agriculture and other Federal and State agencies providing for the development of the resources of the area and which has been approved by the Governor or his designated agency and by the Secretary of Agriculture or his delegate.

(e) Resource Conservation and Development loan. Is an FHA loan to a local public agency or nonprofit corporation to carry out project measures consistent with the Resources Conservation and Development project plan for the development of the area.

§ 1823.224 Eligibility.

(a) General. Any local public agency or nonprofit corporation is eligible for a Resource Conservation and Development loan for authorized purposes provided it is unable to obtain needed credit from other sources; can provide security in accordance with § 1823.229; has reasonable prospects of repaying the loan; has authority under State and local laws to borrow funds, acquire necessary land rights, improve, develop, operate, and maintain property, and raise revenues to repay loans and meet other obligations; and is financially sound and so organized and managed that it will be able to provide efficient service. The local public agency or nonprofit corporation must have the authority under State statutes to obtain the type of loan being requested. Questions on eligibility will be referred to the Office of the General Counsel for advice prior to development of a loan docket.

(b) Nonprofit corporations—(1) Membership. The membership of nonprofit corporations should be broadly based and representative of the rural area benefiting from the facility. Membership on the governing board of the corporation will be limited to those living in the area to be benefited unless for justifiable reasons the State Director gives prior approval for other than local rural residents to serve on the board of directors.

(2) Eligibility for assistance. To be eligible for financial assistance a nonprofit corporation must propose a facility which will be primarily used by the corporation or which will generate other substantial, tangible benefits primarily for farmers and other residents of the rural area, and be located in the rural area to be served and controlled by farmers and others living in the rural area. In the case of a recreational project measure at least two-thirds of the membership must be farmers and others residing in the rural area.

(c) Existing authority. Nonprofit corporations will not be formed to serve an area which could be served by a public agency which has adequate authority to provide the needed service unless prior approval of the National Office is obtained.

§ 1823.225 Loan purposes.

Generally, loans may be made for project measures that bear directly upon land conservation and land utilization. Project measures for which loans are made must also be for community benefit and contribute to the economic improvement of the area. Except as otherwise indicated, loans may be made to eligible local public agencies or nonprofit corporations for the following purposes:

(a) Recreational facilities (rural areas only). Install or improve rural community outdoor-oriented recreational facilities such as:

(1) Ponds, lakes, and streams for fishing, boating and basic minimum related facilities.

(2) Sports areas, including little league fields, athletic fields, golf courses, target ranges, swimming pools and swimming areas, and ski slopes.

(3) Recreational areas, including rodeo and horse show facilities, for the use of participants and performers who are primarily local residents using livestock from the immediate area.

(4) Picnic areas and parks.

(5) Camping facilities, such as tent platforms, dining halls, and cabins, including utility connections for trailers and sanitation facilities and roadways.

(6) Forest trails, caves, and other natural scenic attractions.

(7) Hunting and fishing areas and preserves.

(8) Access roads necessary to connect recreational areas with public roadways.

(9) Domestic water, irrigation, drainage, or waste disposal facilities, and parking areas in connection with recreational development.

(10) Historical sites and areas.

(b) Soil and water development, conservation, control, and use facilities. Install or improve:

(1) Works of improvement for flood prevention, sediment control, erosion control, and other water management purposes.

(2) Irrigation facilities including storage reservoirs, diversion dams, wells, pumping plants, canals, canal lining, pipelines, sprinklers, and other such items.

(3) Open or closed drainage facilities in farm areas otherwise too wet for sustained agricultural production. Facilities will not be installed primarily to bring into production land which has not been previously in agricultural production. Land in agricultural production will be construed to mean all land which is or has been used for any farm crop, including pasture. It does not include woodland, brush, swampland, or marshland unless such land was formerly in agricultural production and has since reverted to a condition of nonuse or lesser use.

(4) Soil conservation and water control facilities such as dikes, terraces, detention reservoirs, stream channels, ditches, and other special land treatment and stabilization measures or structures needed to protect farms and rural residences from water damage, provided such facilities cannot be installed or improved under, or will not conflict with, other public programs such as those administered by the Corps of Engineers.

(c) Shift-in-land-use facilities. Develop shift-in-land-use project measures including association grazing, forestry, and other facilities through:

(1) The conversion of land to pasture, forest, wildlife areas, and preserves.

(2) Reorganization or reconstitution of farm management units, grazing areas or districts, or irrigation areas.

(3) Substantial reorganization of an existing land use through a system of controlled grazing or sustained yield forestry management practices.

(4) Conversion of land to uses which promote better conservation of soil and water resources.

(5) The conversion of land to uses such as parks, greenbelts, and other open spaces which better serve a rural community.

(d) Community water storage facilities. Install, repair, or improve water storage facilities, including outlet works for such purposes as immediate and future water supply and pollution abatement by streamflow regulation and saline water intrusion control. A loan for this purpose may include funds for pipelines and any necessary pumping facilities to convey the water from the reservoir to the existing or proposed municipal treatment facilities or the nearest practicable point on a water distribution system.

(e) Purchase existing facilities. Purchase existing facilities for recreation (rural areas only), shift-in-land use, soil and water development, conservation, control and use when it is determined that purchase is necessary to provide efficient service through a facility owned and operated by a public agency (or a nonprofit corporation in a rural area), or that the owner is either unwilling or unable to make improvements, enlargement, or extensions needed to provide significant additional or improved service for present users or for a new group of users at reasonable rates.

(f) Special-purpose equipment. Purchase or rent special-purpose equipment to install or maintain any community facility in the above categories or to establish on farms soil and water conservation measures such as terraces, ponds, land leveling for irrigation or drainage, subsoiling, seeding, tree planting, and removal of brush, scattered trees, and stumps, provided:

(1) Such equipment is not otherwise available when needed.

(2) There is sufficient need and local demand to justify ownership or rental.

(3) Rates to be charged include, among other things, an allowance for depreciation, obsolescence, and replacement based upon the recommendations of the equipment manufacturer or the experience of contractors engaged in providing services for similar types of work.

(g) Forestry equipment and services (other than shift-in-land use). Purchase or rent basic special-purpose equipment, facilities, certain land or land rights, and supplies needed for furnishing services for the establishment, improvement, protection, and harvesting of timber (not processing) suitable for lumber, pulp, poles or posts; providing that the forest program and forest practices benefiting from such service are in accordance with accepted forestry management and are directly related to and will promote approved conservation practices for the development, use, and control of water resources on farms and in forests. Special-purpose equipment will include such items as tractors, dozers, plows, planters, trucks, loaders, firefighting equipment, and sprayers. Facilities will include such items as ponds and reservoirs, pipelines, buildings for storage of equipment and supplies, nurseries, access roads, fire lanes, and lookout towers. Supplies will include such things as seed, seedlings, fertilizers, fencing, and pesticides. Land or land-rights acquisition will be limited to that necessary for sites for facilities listed above which are directly related to the forestry program. Loans for these purposes may be made only when the equipment, supplies, and facilities to be provided:

(1) Are not readily available when needed.

(2) Will be justified by the local need and demand.

(3) Will be made available to users at rates which will cover loan amortization, obsolescence, replacement, operation, and in the case of supplies, at least their cost.

(4) Will more efficiently serve the group through cooperative effort.

(h) Acquisition of land and rights. Acquire land, interests in land, and rights such as water rights, leases, permits, rights-of-way, and other evidence of control when acquisition of such land and rights is necessary to the development of the facility. When it is necessary to acquire a water supply or water rights, the land on which the water supply or water right is presently being used may be purchased when:

(1) The water supply or water right cannot be purchased without the land and permission can be obtained from State officials for the transfer of the water right from the land.

(2) The value of the land is only an incidental part of the total purchase price.

(i) Refinancing. Refinancing debts incurred by or on behalf of the applicant prior to an application for a loan when all of the following conditions exist:

(1) The debts were incurred for the facility or service to be installed or improved with the loan.

(2) Arrangements cannot be made with the creditors to extend or modify the terms of the debt so that a sound basis will exist for making a loan.

(3) The prior approval of the National Office will be obtained when it is proposed that the amount to be advanced for refinancing will exceed 50 percent of the total loan.

(j) Buildings, fences, roads, secondary facilities, and relocation. (1) Construct buildings of modest design, size, and cost, essential to the successful operation or protection of authorized facilities or project measures.

(2) Install secondary facilities such as gas or electric service lines to convey fuel or energy for, or utilities for the control of, primary facilities.

(3) Build or relocate roads, bridges, utilities, fences, and other improvements when necessary to acquire rights-of-way or to construct or operate the facility.

(k) Services and fees. Pay costs incidental to facilities or services accomplishing any of the above purposes including, but not limited to:

(1) Paying fees or other legal expenses of establishing a water right through appropriation, agreement, permit, or court decree.

(2) Acquiring a water supply by the purchase of water stock or membership in an incorporated water users association.

(3) Paying for hired labor, technical or professional services, and fees to be incurred in obtaining the loan, and in planning and completing the facilities or services to be financed with loan funds.

(l) Site acquisition. To enable local public agencies to acquire sites for works of improvement in advance of construction for the purpose of reserving such sites for natural resources development and use.

(m) Public use areas. Acquire and develop land for public use, including forest areas, areas for reforestation, wildlife and fishing areas, natural areas, parks, conservation areas, lakes, streams, natural springs, and campsites.

§ 1823.226 Loan limitations.

Resource Conservation and Development loans will not be made for:

(a) Building industrial parks or to construct facilities thereon or to establish private industrial or commercial enterprises or to purchase land to be used primarily for industrial purposes. However, this does not prohibit advances for the purchase of land, a portion of which might be set aside for an industrial park.

(b) Purchase of tracts of land primarily for later resale to private developers or individuals for agricultural or nonagricultural use.

(c) Motels, housing developments, farm dwellings, and dance pavilions.

(d) Land treatment on private or individual land units.

(e) Payment of that part of the cost of facilities, improvements, and practices which could be earned by participation in agricultural conservation programs unless such cost cannot be covered by purchase orders or assignments to material suppliers or contractors. If advances are made for this purpose and the portion of the payment for which the funds are advanced are likely to exceed $500, the applicant will assign payment to the Farmers Home Administration.

(f) Payment of obligations incurred before loan closing, except with the prior written permission of the State Director upon his finding that a necessity exists for incurring obligations before loan closing, the obligations will be incurred for authorized loan purposes, contracts and construction plans meet FHA and Soil Conservation Service standards, and the applicant has the legal authority to incur the obligations at the time proposed. The State Director's letter will specifically state that the permission granted is on the condition that the Government is not committed to make a loan and assumes no responsibility for any obligation incurred by the applicant because of the permission granted, and that the applicant must subsequently meet all FHA requirements for a loan.

(g) Primarily for bringing new land into agricultural production.

(h) Primarily for treatment plants and distribution systems.

(i) Drainage facilities primarily for the benefit of other than rural areas.

§ 1823.227 Rates and terms.

The interest rate for Resource Conservation and Development loans is the average rate paid by the U.S. Treasury on obligations of a similar maturity outstanding at the beginning of the fiscal year in which the loan is made. Resource Conservation and Development loans will be scheduled for repayment in amortized annual installments of principal and interest over periods not to exceed 30 years except that annual principal and interest payments may be deferred up to five years when there will not be sufficient income to make earlier payments.

§ 1823.228 Amount of loans.

The amount of a Resource Conservation and Development loan will be based on the applicant's resources, the proposed cost of the project measure being financed, and the applicant's ability to repay but not in excess of $250,000. In determining repayment ability, consideration will be given to all available sources of income such as taxes, assessments, fees, leases, rentals, and the sale of securities or property.

§ 1823.229 Security.

Resource Conservation and Development loans will be secured in such manner, depending on the nature of the project and the authority of the local public agency, or nonprofit corporation, as will protect the interest of the Government. Security will usually be contract liens on property, tax or assessment liens, or project revenues pledged for repayment of the loans.

§ 1823.230 Loan approval.

State Directors are authorized hereby to determine the eligibility of applicants and approve Resource Conservation and Development loans in accordance with the requirements of this subpart, and with the prior concurrence of the Administrator.

§ 1823.231 Coordination of loan making actions.

(a) The FHA County Supervisor will be notified by the Project Coordinator when it is known that an applicant desires to apply for a Resource Conservation and Development loan.

(b) The County Supervisor with assistance from the Project Coordinator will consult with the project sponsors on organizational arrangements and plans for financing and operating the project measure for which a Resource Conservation and Development loan is needed.

(c) The approved project work plan and the related executed project measure agreement will not bind FHA to make a Resource Conservation and Development loan to the applicant.

(d) The County Supervisor and the Project Coordinator will work closely with the applicant during development of plans including cost estimates to assure that Resource Conservation and Development loans are in accordance with FHA policies.

(e) The County Supervisor and the Project Coordinator will determine the technical assistance to be provided by the Soil Conservation Service in connection with the Resource Conservation and Development loan.

§ 1823.232 Loan application.

(a) Action by local groups. The applicant will submit a letter of application addressed to the State Director to the County Supervisor. The letter will be prepared with the assistance of the Project Coordinator and County Supervisor and will contain the following:

(1) A brief statement of the purpose and estimated cost of the proposed development, the amount of loan needed, and the contributions, if any, to be made by the applicant or Federal or State agencies.

(2) Justification for such loan.

(3) A cost estimate which will show the estimated construction cost, broken down by major items, the amount of engineering, legal, and supervision costs, the option price of the land to be acquired with the cost of rights-of-way and the amount of other costs. Detailed specifications, designs, drawings, and material lists which will be used in actual construction work need not be complete at this point. However, if such data are complete and available, they should be included.

(4) A map of the area being developed, giving principal features of the area and its relationship to, and distances to, nearby towns with a clearly defined outline of the proposed improvements to be installed with loan funds. A legal description of the land to be acquired should be provided.

(5) Basic documents reflecting the powers or authorities of the applicant for borrowing money, giving security, raising revenues, and for installing and operating the proposed project measure.

(6) The plans of the applicant for levying taxes, making assessments, charging of fees, and otherwise providing for the orderly repayment of the loan.

(7) A statement that the applicant is unable to obtain the credit they need from private and cooperative sources at reasonable rates and terms.

(b) Action by County Supervisor. The County Supervisor will determine if the application has been properly completed and is consistent with the Resource Conservation and Development project work plan objectives. When such determinations are made, he will submit the application along with his recommendations to the State Director.

(c) Actions by State Director. (1) Upon receipt of the application, the State Director will consult with the State Conservationist to ascertain the status of the Resource Conservation Development project work plan, the estimated cost of the proposed works to be installed with the Resource Conservation Development loan, any cost sharing which may be available to the applicant, and other pertinent information.

(2) If the State Director and the State Conservationist determine that favorable consideration should be given to the application and find it to be consistent with loan policies and objectives, they will instruct the County Supervisor and Project Coordinator to assist the applicant in preparing a loan docket. If, however, they determine that no further consideration should be given to the application, the State Director will advise the County Supervisor why favorable action cannot be taken.

(3) The State Director will work closely with the State Conservationist and the Office of the General Counsel in acting upon applications. Consideration will be given to the total credit needs of the applicant, the purposes of the loan, the statutory authorities and procedures under which the applicant may incur and repay indebtedness, and preparation of recommendations on whether or not the circumstances would justify the requested financial assistance.

§ 1823.233 Real estate appraisals.

When the purchase of real estate is involved, an appraisal will be prepared by the FHA employee authorized to make real estate appraisals. Such appraisals will be made to determine the present market value in accordance with the policy outlined in Part 1809 of this chapter.

§ 1823.234 Preparation of loan docket.

The loan docket will consist of the following documents completed and executed, as appropriate, and assembled by the County Supervisors:

(a) Form FHA 440–3, "Record of Actions."

(b) Form FHA 422–1, "Appraisal Report (Farm Tract)."

(c) County Committee recommendation in the form of a narrative. The recommendation will be signed by at least two members.

(d) Form FHA 440–1, "Payment Authorization."

(e) Form FHA 442–7, "Operating Budget (Association)."

(f) Form FHA 443–1, "Option to Purchase Real Property," if required.

(g) Agreement between the applicant and the FHA. This agreement will be prepared with the assistance of the County Supervisor and advice of the Office of the General Counsel. It will be prepared in an original and three copies. One copy will be retained by the applicant. Form FHA 442–9, "Association Loan Resolution," may be used as a guide. The agreement will contain the following information:

(1) Statutory authority under which the applicant is authorized to act.

(2) The purpose of the project measure.

(3) Evidence of the vote or action of the agency to engage in such an undertaking.

(4) The amount of the loan and terms, including repayment schedule, interest rate, and date of payment of first installment.

(5) Statement of the security to be given and its value.

(6) The statutory authorization or designation of the authority to sign the note and other legal instruments.

(7) Sources of revenues, how revenues are to be utilized, and how allowances for operating and maintenance cost can be made.

(8) Authority for the Treasurer or other designated officials to deposit funds, secure bonds, and incur obligations.

(9) Authority of the Treasurer to establish a construction account and revenue fund account, including debt service, operating and maintenance, and reserve accounts.

(h) The complete loan docket will be forwarded to the State Director for review. The State Director will forward the docket to the National Office with his comments.

§ 1823.235 Loan approval and loan closing.

If the Administrator concurs in making the loan, he will inform the State Director by memorandum and return the docket to him. The State Director will approve the loan and forward the docket, loan closing instructions issued by the Office of the General Counsel, and any additional instructions to the County Supervisor. The County Supervisor will notify the applicant of the approval, furnish him with a copy of the loan closing instructions and any additional instructions to be followed. The County Supervisor will order the loan check. The loan check will be delivered as soon as loan approval conditions and loan closing instructions are met. It will be deposited in a supervised bank account but disbursements will not be made until the County Supervisor receives the final opinion of the Office of the General Counsel. Banks in which accounts in excess of $15,000 are maintained will provide collateral security for balances in excess of that amount.

§ 1823.236 Actions following loan closing.

(a) Filing security instruments. Security instruments will be filed or recorded as soon as the loan is closed. A copy will be delivered to the applicant.

(b) Promissory note or bond. The executed promissory note, or bond, or other legally acceptable documentary evidence of indebtedness created by the loan will be forwarded to the Finance Office as soon as the loan can be closed. A copy will be delivered to the applicant. The note or bond will be dated the date of loan closing.

(c) Final opinion. As soon as advice is received from the County Supervisor of the manner in which loan approval conditions and loan closing instructions have been met, the State Director will refer the matter to the Office of the General Counsel for final opinion after loan closing. The final opinion will be forwarded to the County Supervisor as soon as it is received from the Office of the General Counsel.

§ 1823.237 Requirements before starting construction when financial assistance is provided by Soil Conservation Service.

(a) Authorization for starting construction will not be given until the State Director has:

(1) Been notified by the State Conservationist that the local organization has met all requirements.

(2) Been furnished a schedule for the beginning, carrying out, and completion of project measures.

(3) Received a copy of the project agreement setting forth the mutual understanding, responsibility, working relationship, and cost sharing arrangements of the applicant and contracting local organization and the Soil Conservation Service.

(4) Made a determination that the loan has been properly closed and is consistent with FHA loan policies.

(5) Received evidence that all necessary land rights have been acquired.

(b) When the requirements of paragraph (a) of this section have been complied with, the FHA State Director will advise the State Conservationist by memorandum that the loan has been closed properly, that loan funds are available, and the conditions which must be met before loan funds can be released. A copy of this memorandum will be sent to the borrower. This memorandum will provide that:

(1) All engineering, plans, specifications, and drawings for works of improvement to be installed with loan funds must be approved by the State Director.

(2) The contract entered into by the applicant for materials, labor, or construction of works of improvement to be financed by loan funds must be approved in writing by the State Director.

(c) Change orders: Minor changes during construction which do not appreciably affect the size, cost, or function of a structure may be approved by Soil Conservation Service. The County Supervisor should be kept informed of such changes. The County Supervisor will submit requests for major changes to the State Director for prior approval.

(d) Inspections and deficiencies: (1) The FHA County Supervisor will make inspections as necessary to assure compliance with FHA loan policies and to protect the Government's interests.

(2) The FHA State Director will collaborate with the State Conservationist in arranging for correction of deficiencies.

§ 1823.238 Performing development where financial assistance (cost-sharing) is not provided by Soil Conservation Service.

Upon receipt of the final opinion the County Supervisor will proceed with development in accordance with the policies and procedures contained in Subpart B, Part 1804 of this chapter.

§ 1823.239 Nondiscrimination and equal opportunity.

All applicants and borrowers must comply with all nondiscrimination and equal opportunity requirements under Title VI of the Civil Rights Act of 1964 and the Executive order on equal opportunity in employment under federally assisted construction contracts.

(a) Loan resolution. The loan resolution required to be adopted by the applicant will contain the following:

Equal employment opportunity under construction contracts and nondiscrimination in benefits of the Resource Conservation and Development loan. The chairman and the Secretary of the Resource Conservation and Development Authority are hereby authorized and directed to execute on behalf of the authority (a) Farmers Home Administration Form FHA 400–1 entitled "Equal Opportunity Agreement," to which is attached and made a part hereof Farmers Home Administration Form FHA 400–2 entitled "Equal Opportunity Clause," to be incorporated in or attached as rider to each construction contract the amount of which exceeds $10,000 and any part of which is paid for with funds from the loan; and (b) Farmers Home Administration Form FHA 400–4 entitled "Nondiscrimination Agreement (Under Title VI, Civil Rights Act of 1964)," a copy of which is attached hereto and made a part hereof.

(b) Mortgage or other security instrument. The mortgage or other security instrument will include a provision to read as follows:

This instrument also secures the obligations and covenants of Borrower set forth in Borrower's Loan Resolution of (Date), which is hereby incorporated herein by reference.

Dated: July 27, 1967.

HOWARD BERTSCH,
Administrator,
Farmers Home Administration.

Title 14—AERONAUTICS AND SPACE

Chapter I—Federal Aviation Administration, Department of Transportation

SUBCHAPTER E—AIRSPACE

[Airspace Docket No. 67–WE–35]

PART 71—DESIGNATION OF FEDERAL AIRWAYS, CONTROLLED AIRSPACE, AND REPORTING POINTS

Designation of Transition Area

On June 28, 1967, a notice of proposed rule making was published in the FEDERAL REGISTER (32 F.R. 9173) which would amend Part 71 of the Federal Aviation Regulations by designating a transition area in the Douglas, Wyo., area. Interested persons were given 30 days in which to submit written comments, suggestions, or objections regarding the proposed action.

No objections have been received and the proposed regulation is hereby adopted subject to the following change: Delete "§ 71.171" and substitute "§ 71.181" therefor.

Effective date. This amendment shall be effective 0001 e.s.t., October 12, 1967.

Issued in Los Angeles, Calif., on July 31, 1967.

LEE E. WARREN,
Acting Director, Western Region.

In § 71.181 (32 F.R. 2148) the following transition area is added:

DOUGLAS, WYO.

That airspace extending upward from 8,500 feet MSL, bounded on the north by latitude 42°44'00" N., and the east by V–169, on the southeast by V–89, on the south by V–624, on the west by V–19E and on the southwest by V–19E and V–247.

[Airspace Docket No. 66–CE–104]

PART 71—DESIGNATION OF FEDERAL AIRWAYS, CONTROLLED AIRSPACE, AND REPORTING POINTS

Alteration of Federal Airways

On July 11, 1967, F.R. Doc. 67–7943 was published in the FEDERAL REGISTER (32 F.R. 10192) which amended Part 71 of the Federal Aviation Regulations by realigning VOR Federal airways Nos. 15 and 120 via the Mitchell, S. Dak., VOR to become effective October 12, 1967.

The Mitchell VOR has been certified for use by IFR traffic. A request has been made by the scheduled air carrier serving Mitchell to advance the effective date of the amendments contained in Airspace Docket No. 66–CE–104 to 0001 e.s.t., September 14, 1967. The Administrator has determined that this minor action would be in the interest of safety and efficient utilization of airspace, and that compliance with the notice requirements of the Administrative Procedure Act is unnecessary.

In consideration of the foregoing, effective immediately, F.R. Doc. 67–7943 (32 F.R. 10192) is amended as follows: "effective 0001 e.s.t., October 12, 1967" is deleted and "effective 0001 e.s.t., September 14, 1967" is substituted therefor.

(Sec. 307(a), Federal Aviation Act of 1958; 49 U.S.C. 1348)

Issued in Washington, D.C., on August 1, 1967.

T. MCCORMACK,
Acting Chief, Airspace and Air Traffic Rules Division.

SUBCHAPER F—AIR TRAFFIC AND GENERAL OPERATING RULES

[Reg. Docket No. 8314; Amdt. 95–157]

PART 95—IFR ALTITUDES

Miscellaneous Amendments

The purpose of this amendment to Part 95 of the Federal Aviation Regulations is to make changes in the IFR altitudes at which all aircraft shall be flown over a specified route or portion thereof. These altitudes, when used in conjunction with the current changeover points for the routes or portions thereof, also assure navigational coverage that is adequate and free of frequency interference for that route or portion thereof.

As a situation exists which demands immediate action in the interest of safety, I find that compliance with the notice and procedure provisions of the Administrative Procedure Act is impracticable and that good cause exists for making this amendment effective within less than 30 days from publication.

In consideration of the foregoing and pursuant to the authority delegated to me by the Administrator (24 F.R. 5662), Part 95 of the Federal Aviation Regulations is amended, effective September 14, 1967 as follows:

1. By amending Subpart C as follows:

Chapter I—Federal Trade Commission

[Docket No. 8701]

PART 13—PROHIBITED TRADE PRACTICES

Cole National Corp.

Subpart—Acquiring corporate stock or assets:

§ 13.5 Acquiring corporate stock or assets:

(Sec. 6, 38 Stat. 721; 15 U.S.C. 46. Interpret or apply sec. 7, 38 Stat. 731, as amended; 15 U.S.C. 18) [Cease and desist order, Cole National Corp., Cleveland, Ohio, Docket 8701, June 30, 1967]

Consent order prohibiting a Cleveland, Ohio, wholesaler of replacement keys, key blanks, and key duplicating machines from acquiring any competitor for a period of 10 years without prior Commission approval.

The order to cease and desist, including further order requiring report of compliance therewith, is as follows:

I. It is ordered, That respondent Cole National Corp., its subsidiaries and affiliates and any successor to substantially all of its assets, for a period of ten (10) years from the effective date of this order, cease and desist from acquiring, directly or indirectly, without the prior approval of the Federal Trade Commission, the whole, or any part, of the assets, stock, or other share capital of any firm engaged in the manufacture, production, or wholesale distribution of replacement key blanks, replacements keys, and key duplicating machines, except for purchases in the ordinary course of business.

II. It is further ordered, That Cole National, within sixty (60) days from the effective date of this order and at other times as the Commission may require, file with the Commission a report, in writing, setting forth the manner and form in which it has complied with paragraph I of this order.

Issued: June 30, 1967.

PART 13—PROHIBITED TRADE PRACTICES

National Dairy Products Corp.

Subpart—Discriminating in price under section 2, Clayton Act—Price discrimination under 2(a): § 13.737 Localized price cutting.

(Sec. 6, 38 Stat. 721; 15 U.S.C. 46. Interpret or apply sec. 2, 49 Stat. 1526; 15 U.S.C. 13) [Cease and desist order, National Dairy Products Corp., New York, N.Y., Docket 8548, June 28, 1967]

Order requiring a major food distributing corporation with headquarters in New York City to cease discriminating in price on a regional basis in the sale of its jellies, preserves, and other food products.

The order to cease and desist, including further order requiring report of compliance therewith, is as follows:

It is ordered, That respondent National Dairy Products Corp., a corporation, and its officers, representatives, agents, and employees, directly or through any corporate device, in connection with the sale or offering for sale of jellies, preserves, and any other food product in the product line of its Kraft Foods Division, in commerce, as "commerce" is defined in the Clayton Act, do forthwith cease and desist from: Discriminating, directly or indirectly, in the price of such products of like grade and quality by selling such products to any purchaser for resale at a price which is less than the price charged any other purchaser for resale at the same level of distribution when such lower price is either the result of a reduction from the regular list price of the products or is the result of a promotional offer involving a concession from regular list price: Provided, however, That in addition to the defenses set forth in sections 2(a) and 2(b) of the statute it shall be a defense in any enforcement proceeding instituted hereunder for respondent (1) to establish that its lower price was the result of a promotional offer involving a price concession which does not undercut the lowest net price and/or the terms and conditions resulting from a promotional offer made to the purchaser receiving the lower price by any seller of a competitive product within the previous 12 months or (2) to establish that such lower price does not undercut the lowest price concurrently offered generally throughout the same trading area by any other seller of a competitive product having a substantially smaller annual volume of sales of such products than respondent's annual volume of sales of the product on which the discriminatory price was granted.

It is further ordered, That Count II and Count III of the complaint be, and they hereby are, dismissed.

It is further ordered, That respondent, National Dairy Products Corp., shall, within sixty (60) days after service upon it of this order, file with the Commission a report, in writing, setting forth in detail the manner and form in which it has complied with the order to cease and desist set forth herein.

Issued: June 28, 1967.

Title 21—FOOD AND DRUGS

Chapter I—Food and Drug Administration, Department of Health, Education, and Welfare

SUBCHAPTER B—FOOD AND FOOD PRODUCTS

PART 121—FOOD ADDITIVES

Subpart D—Food Additives Permitted in Food for Human Consumption

FATTY ACIDS

No comments were received in response to the notice published in the FEDERAL REGISTER of May 27, 1967 (32 F.R. 7777), proposing that the food additive regulation regarding fatty acids (21 CFR 121.1070) be amended (1) to provide for the use of an electron capture method as a screening method in lieu of the bioassay method prescribed for determining the presence of chick-edema factor in the identified fatty acids and (2) to delete reference to the gas chromatographic-microcoulometric method heretofore prescribed as a substitute for the bioassay method within certain limitations. The Commissioner of Food and Drugs concludes that the amendments should be adopted as proposed.

Accordingly, pursuant to the provisions of the Federal Food, Drug, and Cosmetic Act (sec. 409(d), 72 Stat. 1787; 21 U.S.C. 348(d)) and under the authority delegated to the Commissioner by the Secretary of Health, Education, and Welfare (21 CFR 2.120), § 121.1070(b)(2)(ii) and (c)(3) is revised to read as follows:

§ 121.1070 Fatty acids.

* * * * * *

(b) * * *

(2) * * *

(ii) As evidenced by the absence of chromatographic peaks with a retention time relative to aldrin (RA) between 10 and 25, using the gas chromatographic-electron capture method prescribed in paragraph (c)(3) of this section. If chromatographic peaks are found with RA values between 10 and 25, the food additive shall meet the requirements of the bioassay method prescribed in paragraph (c)(2) of this section for determining chick-edema factor.

(c) * * *

(3) The gas chromatographic-electron capture method for testing fatty acids for chick-edema shall be the method described in the Journal of the Association of Official Analytical Chemists, Volume 50 (No. 1), pages 216–218 (1967).

* * * * * *

Any person who will be adversely affected by the foregoing order may at any time within 30 days from the date of its publication in the FEDERAL REGISTER file with the Hearing Clerk, Department of Health, Education, and Welfare, Room 5440, 330 Independence Avenue SW., Washington, D.C. 20201, written objections thereto, preferably in quintuplicate. Objections shall show wherein the person filing will be adversely affected by the order and specify with particularity the provisions of the order deemed objectionable and the grounds for the objections.

If a hearing is requested, the objections must state the issues for the hearing. A hearing will be granted if the objections are supported by grounds legally sufficient to justify the relief sought. Objections may be accompanied by a memorandum or brief in support thereof.

Effective date. This order shall become effective on the date of its publication in the FEDERAL REGISTER.

(Sec. 409(d), 72 Stat. 1787; 21 U.S.C. 348(d))

Dated: August 1, 1967.

J. K. KIRK,
Associate Commissioner for Compliance.

Title 29—LABOR

Chapter IV—Office of Labor-Management and Welfare-Pension Reports, Department of Labor

SUBCHAPTER B—WELFARE-PENSION REPORTS

PART 462—VARIATION FROM PUBLICATION REQUIREMENTS

Subpart B—Variations

RULE AND CONDITIONS OF VARIATION

Pursuant to section 5(a) of the Welfare and Pension Plans Disclosure Act (hereinafter, the Act) (72 Stat. 997, as amended; 29 U.S.C. 304(a)) and the provisions of 29 CFR Part 462, the American Life Convention, 230 North Michigan Avenue, Chicago, Ill., and the Life Insurance Association of America, 488 Madison Avenue, New York, N.Y., submitted a petition on behalf of certain insurance carriers required to certify information in Part III, section C of Annual Report Form D-2 (Revised 1965) pursuant to section 7(g) of the Act (29 U.S.C. 306(g)) and 29 CFR Part 461, and on behalf of administrators of pension benefit plans which utilize such carriers and are required to publish an Annual Report Form D-2 (Revised 1965) containing a completed Part III, section C, requesting that the Secretary of Labor grant a rule of variation for the period of reporting certain information required to be furnished in Part III, section C. The petition was submitted and considered in accordance with 29 CFR 462 and section 5(a) of the Act which permits the Secretary to grant a rule of variation from the reporting requirements of the Act if he finds, on the record after giving interested persons an opportunity to be heard, that specific information on plans of certain kinds "cannot, in the normal method of operation of such plans be * * * made available * * * for the period prescribed in any provision of [the] Act."

The petition noted that the instructions to Part III, section C of Annual Report Form D-2 (Revised 1965) state that the information required to be furnished in that section "must be furnished by the insurance carrier and should be for the period covered by the annual report. If the information is not available for such period, information for the latest completed policy year ending within the Plan year may be provided." It was further noted that Annual Report Form D-2 (Revised 1965) is required to be filed by all employee pension benefit plans covered under section 7 of the Act (29 U.S.C. 306) with calendar, policy or other fiscal years (i.e., plan years) ending on or after December 31, 1966. (See 29 CFR 460.6.) Moreover, pursuant to section 7(g) of the Act (29 U.S.C. 306(g)) and 29 CFR Part 461, insurance carriers are required to certify to the administrators of such plans, within 120 days after the end of the calendar, policy or other fiscal year (i.e., plan year), the information necessary to complete Part III, section C.

In support of the petition, it was asserted that because of the established practice of a great part of the industry, it is only practicable for many insurance carriers to certify much of the information necessary to complete items 3 through 6 of Part III, section C, on the basis of calendar year calculations. Thus, where plan years are not coincident with calendar years, it is not feasible for such insurance carriers to certify to plan administrators, much of the information necessary to complete the above-enumerated items of Part III, section C, on the basis of the period covered by the annual report or for the latest completed policy year ending within the plan year. Where a plan year is coincident with the calendar year or where a plan year overlaps calendar years but ends on or prior to June 30, a further difficulty arises. The insurance carriers involved do not customarily complete calculations for a given calendar year until sometime in the latter part of the succeeding calendar year. As a result, it was asserted that it is not feasible for such insurance carriers to certify within 120 days after the end of the plan year, information necessary to complete the above-enumerated items of Part III, section C, on the basis of the previous calendar year.

On April 26, 1967, notice was published in the FEDERAL REGISTER (32 F.R. 6460) of a proposed variation with respect to the period for the reporting and certification of certain information in Part III, section C of Annual Report Form D-2 (Revised 1965). Interested persons were invited to submit objections with respect to the proposal within 15 days from the date of its publication in the FEDERAL REGISTER. The period for filing objections having elapsed and no objections having been received, and upon consideration of the petition filed, I find that authorization of the variation is necessary and appropriate to carry out the purposes of the Act.

Therefore, pursuant to section 5(a) of the Welfare and Pension Plans Disclosure Act (72 Stat. 997, as amended; 29 U.S.C. 304(a)) and 29 CFR 462, Secretary's Order No. 24-63 (28 F.R. 9172), Secretary's Order No. 25-63 (28 F.R. 9173), Title 29 CFR, Chapter IV, Part 462 is hereby amended by adding new §§ 462.27 and 462.28 to Subpart B, to read as follows:

PERIOD FOR THE REPORTING AND CERTIFICATION OF CERTAIN INFORMATION IN PART III, SECTION C OF ANNUAL REPORT FORM D-2 (REVISED 1965)

§ 462.27 Rule of variation.

Administrators of employee pension benefit plans will no longer be required to report, nor will insurance carriers be required to certify to such administrators, the information necessary to complete items 3 through 6 of Part III, section C of Annual Report Form D-2 (Revised 1965) on the basis of the period covered by the annual report or for the latest completed policy year ending within the Plan year. Instead, the foregoing items of information may be furnished on the following basis:

(a) If the plan year is coincident with the calendar year or ends on or prior to

June 30 of the calendar year, items 3 through 6 of Part III, section C, shall be provided on the basis of the calendar year ending during the immediately preceding plan year;

(b) If the plan year ends on or after July 1 but on or prior to December 30, items 3 through 6 of Part III, section C, shall be provided on the basis of the calendar year ending within the plan year.

§ 462.28 Conditions of variation.

The foregoing variation shall apply:

(a) Only to reporting by plan administrators and certification by carriers of information necessary to complete items 3 through 6 of Part III, section C;

(b) Only where certain data required from the carrier, which is necessary to complete items 3 through 6 of Part III, section C, is calculated on the basis of the line experience for a calendar year, and is not available for certification as otherwise required by Part 461;

(c) Only if all of the information required in items 3 through 6 of Part III, section C, is provided on the basis of the appropriate calendar year and the calendar year for which these items are completed is identified clearly in a footnote on the page containing this information;

(d) Only if all the other information required to be furnished in Part III, section C (including item 2) is furnished on the basis of the period covered by the annual report or for the latest completed policy year ending within the plan year.

This amendment shall take effect on publication in the FEDERAL REGISTER.

Signed at Washington, D.C. this 2d day of August, 1967.

THOMAS R. DONAHUE,
Assistant Secretary of Labor for Labor-Management Relations.

Subpart A—Definitions

§ 121.1 Definitions.

As used in this part:

(a) "Acquisition" includes purchase, lease, or lease-purchase.

(b) "Act" means the Elementary and Secondary Education Act of 1965 (Public Law 89-10), as amended.

(c) "Commissioner" means the U.S. Commissioner of Education.

(d) "Construction" means (1) erection of new or expansion of existing school facilities, and the acquisition and installation of initial equipment therefor; or (2) acquisition of existing school facilities not owned by any agency or institution making application for assistance under Title VI of the Act; or (3) remodeling and alteration (including the acquisition, installation, modernization, or replacement of equipment) of existing school facilities; or (4) a combination of any two or more of the foregoing.

(e) "Elementary school level" means the educational level at which elementary school education is provided under State law.

(f) "Equipment" includes machinery, utilities, and built-in equipment and any necessary enclosures or structures to house them, and includes all other items necessary for the functioning of a particular facility as a facility for the provision of educational and related services, including items such as instructional equipment and necessary furniture, printed, published, and audiovisual instructional materials, and books, periodicals, documents, and other related materials. Equipment does not include supplies which are consumed in use or which may not reasonably be expected to last longer than 1 year.

(g) "Fiscal year" means a period beginning on July 1 and ending on the following June 30. (A fiscal year is designated in accordance with the calendar year in which the ending date of the fiscal year occurs.)

(h) "Handicapped children" includes mentally retarded, hard of hearing, deaf, speech impaired, visually handicapped, seriously emotionally disturbed, crippled or other health impaired children who by reason thereof require special education and related services.

(i) "Local educational agency" means a public board of education or other public authority legally constituted within a State for either administrative control or direction of, or to perform a service function for, public elementary or secondary schools in a city, county, township, school district, or other political subdivision of a State, or such combination of school districts or counties as are recognized in a State as an administrative agency for its public elementary or secondary schools. The term also includes any other public institution or agency having administrative control and direction of a public elementary or secondary school.

(j) "Preschool level" means the educational level below that at which elementary education is provided under State law.

(k) "Private elementary or secondary schools" means schools which provide elementary or secondary education as determined under State law, but not including any education provided beyond grade 12, and which are controlled by other than a public authority.

(l) "Public agency" means a legally constituted organization of government under public administrative control and direction.

(m) "School facilities" means classrooms and related facilities (including initial equipment) for the provision of educational services and interests in land (including site grading and improvements) on which such facilities are constructed, except that such term does not mean gymnasiums or similar facilities intended primarily for use for exhibitions for which admission is to be charged to the general public.

(n) "Secondary school level" means the educational level, not beyond grade 12, at which secondary school education is provided under State law.

(o) "State" means, in addition to the several States of the Union, the District of Columbia, the Commonwealth of Puerto Rico, Guam, American Samoa, the Virgin Islands, and the Trust Territory of the Pacific Islands.

(p) "State educational agency" means the State board of education or other agency or officer primarily responsible for the State supervision of public elementary and secondary schools, or, if there is no such agency or officer, an agency or officer designated by the Governor or by State law.

Subpart B—State Plan—General Provisions

§ 121.2 State plan.

(a) Purpose. The basic conditions for the payment of Federal funds to a State under Title VI of the Act are (1) a State plan meeting the requirements of Title VI of the Act by providing a program under which funds paid to the State will be expended solely for initiation, expansion, or improvement of programs and projects (including the acquisition of equipment and where necessary the construction of school facilities) for the education of handicapped children at the preschool and elementary and secondary school levels, for administration of the State plan (including State leadership activities and consultative services), and for planning on the State and local level and (2) an annual description of the projected activities to be carried out under the State plan during the forthcoming fiscal year.

(b) Effect of State plan. Each State plan, when approved by the Commissioner, shall constitute the basis on which Federal grants will be made to that State, and the basis for determining the propriety of expenditures of those grant funds.

(c) Amendments. The administration of the program carried out under Title VI of the Act shall be kept in conformity with the approved State plan. Whenever there is any material change in the content or administration of the program or when there has been any change in pertinent State law or in the organization, policies, or operations of the State educational agency affecting the program under the plan, the plan shall be appropriately amended.

(d) Submission. Each State plan and all amendments thereto shall be submitted to the Commissioner by a duly authorized officer of the State educational agency. Each State plan shall indicate the official authorized to submit plan materials.

(e) Certificate by the State educational agency. Each State plan and each amendment thereto shall include as an attachment a certificate by the officer of the State educational agency authorized to submit the plan to the effect that the plan or amendment has been adopted by the State educational agency and that the plan, or plan as amended, will constitute the basis for operation and administration of the activities to be carried out in that State under Title VI of the Act.

(f) Certificate by the State Attorney General or other appropriate State legal officer. Each State plan shall also include, as an attachment, a certificate by the State Attorney General or other appropriate State legal officer to the effect that the State educational agency has authority under State law to submit the plan and to administer or to supervise the administration of the plan; that such agency has authority under State law to carry out, directly or through local educational agencies, the activities described therein; and that all plan provisions are consistent with State law.

(g) Approval by the Commissioner. The Commissioner will approve each State plan, or amendment thereof, which he determines meets the requirements of Title VI of the Act and the regulations in this part, and will notify the State educational agency of the granting, conditioning, or withholding of approval in each such case. No final action with respect thereto, other than one of approval, will be taken by the Commissioner, however, unless he first notifies the State educational agency of his proposed action and, in connection therewith, affords such agency a reasonable opportunity for a hearing on whether the affected plan or amendment meets such requirements.

(h) Withholding. Whenever the Commissioner, after reasonable notice and opportunity for a hearing, finds (1) that the State plan fails to comply with the requirements of Title VI of the Act and the regulations in this part, or (2) that in the administration of the plan there is a failure to comply substantially with any such requirements, the Commissioner will notify the State educational agency that the State will not be regarded as eligible to participate in activities under Title VI of the Act until he is satisfied that there is no longer any such failure to comply.

(i) Effective date of State plan. The State plan shall indicate the date on which it shall become effective, which shall in no event be earlier than the date on which the State plan is received in substantially approvable form by the Commissioner.

§ 121.3 Administration by the State educational agency.

(a) Designation of State educational agency as sole agency. Each state plan shall give the official name of the State educational agency and provide that the State educational agency will be the sole agency for administering of supervising the administration of the plan.

(b) Authority and organization. Each State plan shall set forth the authority of the State educational agency under State law to submit the plan and to administer or supervise the administration of the plan and shall describe both the legal and functional relationships between and among the State educational agency, other State agencies, and local educational agencies for the purpose of carrying out the State plan. Citations to, or copies of, all directly pertinent statutes and interpretations of law made by appropriate State officials, whether done by regulation, policy statement, opinion of an appropriate State legal officer, or a court decision, shall be furnished as part of the plan or in the appendix thereto. All copies shall be certified as correct copies by an appropriate official.

(c) Staff for administration. The State plan shall describe, by chart or otherwise, the organization of the State educational agency for administration of the State plan. The lines of authority within the administrative unit or units responsible for the programs under the plan shall be shown, together with pertinent administrative arrangements or relationships of such unit or units to the rest of the State educational agency, and to other State and local public agencies utilized to carry out the State plan.

(d) Duties and qualifications of professional personnel. Each State plan shall describe the duties of State administrative and supervisory positions, existing and proposed, under the State plan. The plan shall also set forth the required qualifications for all professional administrative and supervisory positions under the State plan. If State statutes or regulations establish such positions and give such information, the plan shall so state.

(e) Advisory committees. If State advisory committees are used with respect to one or more aspects of the State plan, the plan shall describe the membership, method of establishment, and duties of such advisory committees.

(f) Administration and supervision of programs and projects. Each State plan shall provide that programs and projects initiated, expanded or improved under Title VI of the Act will be administered either (1) directly by the State educational agency to the extent consistent with he limitations in § 121.25, or (2) by local educational agencies with the approval and under the supervision of the State educational agency. These include interdistrict, intercounty, regional, State-local, and interstate projects or programs. The State plan shall describe the policies and procedures to be followed by the State educational agency in initiating, approving, and conducting its own programs and projects; in initiating, reviewing, and approving programs and projects to be administered by local educational agencies; and in assisting and supervising the administration of approved programs and projects. The State plan shall indicate the extent to which two or more local educational agencies may enter into agreements and submit applications for carrying out jointly operated programs and projects under Title VI of the Act.

§ 121.4 Needs of handicapped children.

(a) Each State plan shall provide that the programs and projects initiated, expanded, and improved with funds under Title VI of the Act will be designed to meet the special educational and related needs of handicapped children throughout the State.

(b) In order to meet the special educational and related needs of handicapped children, programs and projects under Title VI of the Act must provide (1) educational services to handicapped children which are in addition to, or distinct from, educational services provided to children who are not handicapped, or (2) other services which are directly related to the provision of educational services and are designed to overcome or ameliorate the handicaps of handicapped children, but only to the extent such other services are necessary to enable handicapped children to benefit from the educational services available to them, or (3) both.

§ 121.5 Description of present program.

Each State plan shall include (a) a quantitative and qualitative description of present programs and projects for the education of handicapped children in the State, and (b) a quantitative and qualitative description of programs and projects which require initiation, expansion, and improvement in order to meet the special educational and related needs of all handicapped children in the State.

§ 121.6 Standards.

(a) Each State plan shall provide that the programs or projects initiated, expanded, and improved with Federal funds under Title VI of the Act will be of sufficient size, scope, and quality (taking into consideration the special educational and related needs of such children described in §§ 121.4 and 121.5) as to give reasonable promise of substantial progress toward meeting those needs.

(b) Each State plan shall set forth standards relating to the size, scope, and quality of programs and projects conducted in the State under Title VI of the Act and shall provide that all such programs and projects meet those standards.

§ 121.7 Provision of services to handicapped children enrolled in private schools.

(a) Each State plan shall contain an assurance that, to the extent consistent with the number and location of handicapped children in the State who are enrolled in private elementary and secondary schools, provision will be made for participation by such children in programs and projects assisted or carried out under Title VI of the Act.

(b) The special educational and related needs of handicapped children enrolled in private elementary and secondary schools, the number of such children who will participate in the programs and projects, and the types of services which will be provided for them shall be determined, after consultation with persons knowledgeable of the needs of those children, on a basis comparable to that used in providing for the participation in programs and projects assisted or carried out under Title VI of the Act by handicapped children enrolled in public elementary and secondary schools.

(c) Programs and projects assisted or carried out under Title VI of the Act shall be designed to include, to the extent consistent with the number of eligible handicapped children enrolled in private elementary and secondary schools in the geographical area served by the program or project, services which will aid in meeting the special educational and related needs of such children; those services may be provided through such arrangements as dual enrollment, educational radio and television, and mobile equipment, and may include professional and subprofessional services.

(d) Public school personnel may be made available in other than public school facilities only to the extent necessary to provide the special educational and related services required by the handicapped children for whose needs such services were designed, and only when such services are not normally provided at the private school. The State or local educational agency providing educational and related services to children in private schools shall maintain administrative control and direction over such services. The special educational and related services provided with funds under Title VI of the Act for eligible handicapped children enrolled in private schools shall not include the payment of salaries of teachers or other employees of private schools, except for services performed outside their regular hours of duty and under public supervision and control, nor shall they include the use of equipment, other than mobile or portable equipment, on private school premises or the construction of private school facilities. Subject to the provisions of § 121.23, mobile or portable equipment may be used on private school premises for such period of time within the life of the current program or project for which the equipment is intended to be used as is necessary for the successful participation in that program or project by eligible handicapped children enrolled in private schools.

(e) Any program or project to be carried out in public facilities and involving joint participation by eligible handicapped children enrolled in private schools and handicapped children enrolled in public schools shall include such provisions as are necessary to avoid classes that are separated by the school enrollment or religious affiliations of such children.

§ 121.8 Measurement of educational achievement and evaluation of programs.

(a) General. Each State plan shall describe the procedures and techniques to be used in making at least annually an evaluation of the effectiveness of programs carried out under the State plan in meeting the special educational and related needs of handicapped children, including appropriate measurements of educational achievement.

(b) Measurement of educational achievement and improvement. The annual evaluation of the effectiveness of programs shall be made by measuring or estimating the educational achievement of the children who participated in the programs or projects. The type of measurement used should be based on some objective standard or norm and should give particular regard to the requirement that each State report to the Commissioner on the effectiveness of the programs in improving the educational achievement of handicapped children. This means that objective measurements shall be used wherever such measurements are appropriate. Where such measurements are not appropriate with respect to the specific goals of a given program, estimates of achievement and improvement shall be made.

(c) Evaluation of effectiveness of programs. The evaluation of the effectiveness of a program shall include an evaluation at the State level, as well as at the local level, of the increase in educational opportunities afforded handicapped children throughout the State, and shall, consistent with the nature and extent of participation by children enrolled in private schools, be extended to such children.

§ 121.9 Dissemination and utilization of results of educational research and demonstrations.

Each State plan shall describe the methods to be used by State and local educational agencies in reviewing, selecting, and disseminating to teachers and administrators of handicapped children significant information derived from educational research, demonstration, and similar projects, and for adopting, where appropriate, promising educational practices developed through such projects.

§ 121.10 Coordination with other public and private programs and projects.

(a) State level coordination: Each State plan shall demonstrate that it was developed by the State educational agency so as to be in coordination with other public and private programs for the education of handicapped children or for similar purposes; and shall assure that the State educational agency will continue to coordinate its activities under the State plan with such other programs. Such other programs shall include, but not be limited to, those of State agencies which are directly responsible for providing free public education for handicapped children and, to the extent practicable, other programs such as community action programs under Title II of the Economic Opportunity Act of 1964.

(b) Local level coordination: Each State plan shall assure that the State educational agency will, before approving programs and projects of local educational agencies under Title VI of the Act, (1) determine that the local educational agency has developed its program or project in coordination with other public and private programs for the education of handicapped children or for similar purposes in the areas served by such local educational agencies, and (2) require that local educational agencies will, in the conduct of approved programs and projects, coordinate their activities under the State plan with such other programs.

(c) Interagency cooperation: Each State plan may provide that State and local educational agencies may enter into cooperative arrangements with other State and local educational agencies, including those in another State, to carry out joint programs, projects, or activities necessary and appropriate to carrying out the purposes of Title VI of the Act.

(d) In the coordination with other programs the commingling of funds under Title VI of the Act with funds under such other programs is not authorized, but the simultaneous use of funds under those programs to finance identifiable portions of a single project is permitted.

§ 121.11 Reports and records.

(a) Each State plan shall provide that the State educational agency will make such reports, in such form, and containing such information, as the Commissioner may reasonably require to carry out his functions under Title VI of the Act. Such reports shall include, but not necessarily be limited to, reports of the objective measurements required in § 121.8, the annual description of the projected activities of the State educational agency and local educational agencies required in § 121.2(a), and the financial reports required in § 121.41.

(b) Each State plan shall provide that the State educational agency and the local educational agencies will keep such records and afford such access thereto as the Commissioner may find necessary to assure the correctness and verification of such reports. Such records shall include, but not necessarily be limited to, those required in §§ 121.33, 121.27, 121.31, 121.33, and 121.34.

Subpart C—Federal Financial Participation

§ 121.21 General.

The State plan shall provide that funds allotted to a State pursuant to section 603 of the Act may be used only for the initiation, expansion, and improvement of programs and projects for the education of handicapped children at the preschool and elementary and secondary schools levels by State educational agencies pursuant to § 121.22(a)(1) and local educational agencies pursuant to § 121.22(b)(1), except that not more than 5 percent of the amount allotted to a State for any fiscal year or $75,000 ($25,000 in the case of the Commonwealth of Puerto Rico, Guam, American Samoa, the Virgin Islands, and the Trust Territory of the Pacific Islands), whichever is greater, may be expended by the State educational agency for planning and for proper and efficient administration of the State plan pursuant to § 121.22(a)(2) and by local educational agencies for planning at the local level pursuant to § 121.22(b)(2).

§ 121.22 Allowable expenditures.

(a) Funds under Title VI of the Act may be used by the State educational agency for such expenditures as are reasonably necessary (1) for the conduct by it of programs or projects for the education of handicapped children (including evaluation and dissemination of the results thereof), and (2), subject to the limitations in § 121.21, for administration of the State plan and for planning at the State level, including planning or assisting in the planning of programs or projects for the education of handicapped children; approval, supervision, and evaluation of local programs and projects for the education of handicapped children; technical assistance to local educational agencies with respect to the measurements of educational achievement and evaluation of the effectiveness of programs and projects pursuant to § 121.8; dissemination and utilization of the results of educational research and demonstrations pursuant to § 121.9; and other State leadership activities and consultative services.

(b) Funds made available under Title VI of the Act to local educational agencies may be used by those agencies for such expenditures as are reasonably necessary for activities directly related to (1) the conduct of programs and projects for the education of handicapped children which are approved by the State educational agency (including the evaluation and dissemination of the results thereof), and (2) the planning of such programs and projects.

(c) Categories of allowable expenditures referred to in paragraphs (a) and (b) of this section include the following:

(1) Salaries, wages, and other personal service costs of permanent and temporary staff employees and consultants for the performance of services reasonably necessary for the program under Title VI of the Act, including the costs of regular contributions of employers to retirement, workmen's compensation, and welfare funds, and payments for leave earned with respect to time so spent;

(2) Communications;

(3) Utilities;

(4) The purchase of consumable supplies, including stationery;

(5) Printing and acquisition of printed and published materials;

(6) Travel and transportation expenses;

(7) Acquisition (by purchase, lease or lease-purchase) and maintenance and repair of necessary equipment;

(8) Minor alterations in previously completed building space used or to be used in the program under Title VI of the Act when such alterations are needed to make effective use of equipment;

(9) The rental of space in privately and publicly owned buildings to the extent such space is in fact used for activities under Title VI of the Act, subject to the following provisions:

(i) The expenditures for the space are necessary and properly related to the activities of the programs;

(ii) The State or local educational agency will, during the period of occupancy, receive the benefits of the expenditures commensurate with such expenditures;

(iii) The amounts paid are not in excess of comparable rental in the particular locality;

(iv) Expenditures represent a current cost;

(v) In the case of publicly owned buildings, like charges are made to other State or local agencies occupying similar space for similar purposes;

(10) Subject to the limitations in § 121.24, the construction of school facilities essential to the successful carrying out of approved programs or projects.

(d) None of the funds under Title VI of the Act may be used for religious worship or instruction.

§ 121.23 Title to and control over property and funds.

(a) The State plan shall provide that control over the use of funds provided under Title VI of the Act, and title to and administrative control over property acquired with such funds, shall be in a public agency which will exercise such control. Such funds and property shall be used for the purposes of Title VI of the Act, and such a use shall not inure to the benefit of any private school. The incidental use of such property for other purposes is permitted only for related educational purposes on public premises and only so long as such a use does not interfere with the carrying out of a program or project under Title VI of the Act.

(b) The State plan shall provide that equipment acquired with funds under Title VI of the Act may be placed on private school premises for a limited period of time, but the title to and administrative control over such equipment must be retained and exercised by a public agency. In exercising that administrative control, the public agency shall not only keep records of, and account for, the equipment but shall also assure itself that the equipment is being used solely for the purposes of the program or project, and remove the equipment from the private school premises when necessary to avoid its being used for other purposes or when it is no longer needed for the purposes of the program or project.

(c) The State plan shall provide that the State educational agency will obtain from a local educational agency administering a program or project under Title VI of the Act a satisfactory assurance that the funds provided under Title VI of the Act, and property derived therefrom, will at all times be under the control of, and be administered by, a public agency in accordance with the provisions of the Act and the regulations in this part.

§ 121.24 Construction.

(a) General. Each State plan shall provide that a program or project for the education of handicapped children may not include the construction of school facilities unless such construction is demonstrated as being essential in order to assure the success of that program or project. If the construction of school facilities is so demonstrated as being essential for a program or project, that program or project must nevertheless comply with other requirements of Title VI of the Act and the regulations in this part, such as the requirements in this section with regard to labor standards and overall State construction planning and, in relation to the overall program, the requirements in § 121.7 with regard to participation by children enrolled in private schools.

(b) Manner of construction. Each State plan shall provide that the State educational agency will not approve or carry out a program or project involving the construction of school facilities unless the construction is functional, undertaken in an economical manner, and not elaborate in design or extravagant in the use of materials in comparison with school facilities of a similar type constructed in the State within recent years.

(c) Consistency with overall State construction. Each State plan shall provide that the State educational agency will not approve or carry out a program or project involving the construction of school facilities unless it determines that the construction is consistent with overall State plans for construction. It shall not approve such a program or project involving construction, other than minor remodeling, altering, or improving of school facilities, unless the approval is conditioned upon approval of the construction plans and specifications by the State educational agency, and further conditioned upon the award of a construction contract within a reasonable period of time taking into consideration the nature of the program or project to be served by the construction of the school facilities and the magnitude of the construction to be undertaken, which date shall in no event be later than June 30 of the following fiscal year. Such plans and specifications shall be approved only after due consideration has been given to the accessibility of the facilities to, and the usability of them by, handicapped persons and of their compliance with the minimum standards contained in "American Standard Specifications for Making Buildings and Facilities Accessible to, and Usable by, the Physically Handicapped" approved by the American Standards Association, Inc., with appropriate usable segments of "Building Standards of the University of Illinois Rehabilitation Center" and "Occupancy Guide-Department of Veterans Benefits, Regional Offices, Veterans Administration," and with such other standards in that regard as the Secretary of Health, Education, and Welfare may prescribe or approve.

(d) Labor standards. Each State plan shall provide that the State educational agency shall not approve a program or project involving the construction of school facilities, unless it assures that all laborers and mechanics employed by contractors or subcontractors on such construction will be paid wages at rates not less than those determined by the Secretary of Labor to be prevailing on similar construction in the locality in accordance with the Davis-Bacon Act, as amended (40 U.S.C. 276a—276a–5); that such contractors and subcontractors will comply with the regulations in 29 CFR Part 3, and include all clauses required by 29 CFR 5.5 (a) and (c) and that the nondiscrimination clause prescribed by Executive Order No. 11246 of September 24, 1965 (30 F.R. 12319), will be incorporated in any contract for construction work, or modification thereof, as defined in said Executive order.

(e) Avoidance of flood hazards. Each State plan shall provide that, in the planning of the construction of school facilities involving the use of funds under Title VI of the Act, each State and local educational agency will, in accordance with the provisions of Executive Order No. 11296 of August 10, 1966 (31 F.R. 10663) and such rules and regulations as may be issued by the Department of Health, Education, and Welfare to carry out those provisions, evaluate flood hazards in connection with such school facilities and, as far as practicable, avoid the uneconomic, hazardous, or unnecessary use of flood plains in connection with such construction.

(f) Competitive bidding. Each State plan shall provide that all contracts for construction shall be awarded to the lowest qualified bidder on the basis of open competitive bidding except that, if one or more items of construction are covered by an established alternate procedure, consistent with State and local laws and regulations, which is approved by the State educational agency as designed to assure construction in an economical manner consistent with sound business practice, such alternate procedure may be set forth in the State plan as the one to be followed.

§ 121.25 State-supported or State-operated schools for handicapped children.

The State plan shall contain an assurance that funds paid to the State under Title VI of the Act shall not be made available with respect to handicapped children who are eligible for assistance under section 203(a)(5) of Title II of Public Law 874, 81st Congress. Such handicapped children are all children who are in schools operated by a State agency which is directly responsible for providing free public education for handicapped children and those who are in other schools and for whom the schools receive support for their education from such a State agency.

§ 121.26 Use of Federal funds and liquidation of obligations by State or local educational agencies.

(a) Federal funds under Title VI of the Act made available to State and local educational agencies for programs and projects during a fiscal year shall remain available for use by such State and local educational agencies in accordance with paragraph (c) from September 1 of that fiscal year until August 31 following that fiscal year. Grants for construction of school facilities shall remain available for use for that purpose for a reasonable period of time as determined pursuant to § 121.24(c).

(b) Federal funds under Title VI of the Act made available to State and local educational agencies for administration of the State plan and for planning at the State and local levels will remain available for such use from September 1 of that fiscal year until August 31 following that fiscal year, except that fiscal year 1967 funds shall remain available for the term specified in the grant award documents.

(c) For the purposes of this section a use of funds under Title VI of the Act by a State or local educational agency will be determined on the basis of documentary evidence of binding commitments for the acquisition of goods or property, for the construction of school facilities, or for the performance of work. However, the use of funds for personal services, for services performed by public utilities, for travel, and for the rental of equipment and facilities shall be determined on the basis of the time such services were rendered, such travel was performed, and such rented equipment and facilities were used, respectively.

(d) Federal funds under Title VI of the Act, except funds made available expressly for the development of State plans, shall not be available for use with respect to binding commitments (other than those relating to personal services, utility services, travel, or the rental of equipment or facilities) entered into, or with respect to personal services, utility services, travel, or the rental of equipment or facilities rendered or performed, by a State educational agency prior to the effective date of the State plan.

(e) Obligations entered into by State and local educational agencies and payable out of funds under Title VI of the Act shall be liquidated during the fiscal year following the fiscal year in which such funds are appropriated unless prior to the end of that following fiscal year the State educational agency reports to the Commissioner the reasons why certain obligations cannot be timely liquidated and, on the basis thereof, the Commissioner extends the time for so liquidating those obligations.

§ 121.27 State fiscal control and audit.

(a) Each State plan shall provide that the State educational agency will, for that agency and local educational agencies, provide for such fiscal control and fund accounting procedures as may be necessary for the proper disbursement of funds paid to the State, and by the State to local educational agencies, under Title VI of the Act.

(b) All expenditures by State and local educational agencies of Federal funds under Title VI of the Act shall be audited either by State auditors or by other appropriate auditors. The State educational agency shall, with due regard for Federal auditing requirements, provide for appropriate audit standards for that purpose. The results of such audits will be used to substantiate State agency records and shall be made available to Federal auditors. Federal auditors shall be given access to such records or other documents as may be necessary to substantiate the results of such audits.

§ 121.28 Custody and expenditures of funds.

Each State plan shall designate the officer or officers who will receive and have custody of funds granted to the State under Title VI of the Act, who will pay to State and local educational agencies the amounts due them, and who will pay out the amounts expended by the State educational agency for the performance of its duties.

§ 121.29 Transfer of funds to local agencies.

Each State plan shall set forth the policies and procedures to be used in the payment of funds by the State educational agency to local educational agencies, either as reimbursement for actual expenditures or as an advance prior to expenditures, for programs and projects for the education of handicapped children or for planning at the local level.

§ 121.30 Proration of costs.

Funds under Title VI of the Act are available only with respect to that portion of any expenditure which is attributable to an activity under the State plan. The State plan shall specify the basis for identifying and the method to be used in prorating expenditures in determining those attributable solely to State plan activities. The State agency shall include in the description of its projected program activities submitted to the Commissioner for each fiscal year its projected expenditures for salaries attributable to State plan activities. The State agency must also maintain records (documented on an after-the-fact basis) to substantiate the proration of expenditures for applicable items such as salaries, travel, rent, and equipment.

§ 121.31 Maintenance of level of support.

The State plan shall set forth policies and procedures which provide satisfactory assurance that funds made available under Title VI of the Act for any fiscal year will be so used as to supplement and, to the extent practical, increase the level of State, local, and private funds expended for the education of handicapped children, and in no case supplant such State, local, and private funds. In developing such policies and procedures, the State educational agency shall take into consideration the total or per capita amount of State, local, and private school funds budgeted for expenditures in the current fiscal year for the education of handicapped children as compared with the total or per capita average amount of State, local, and private school funds actually expended for the education of handicapped children in the two most recent fiscal years for which the information is available, with allowances made for decreases in enrollment of handicapped children, contributions of large sums of money from outside sources on a short-term basis, and unusually large amounts of funds expended for such long-term purposes as the acquisition of equipment and the construction of school facilities.

§ 121.32 Retention of records.

(a) General rule. Each State and local educational agency receiving funds under Title VI of the Act shall provide for keeping accessible and intact all records supporting claims for Federal funds under Title VI of the Act or relating to the accountability of the grantee for the expenditure of such funds:

(1) For 3 years after the close of the fiscal year in which the expenditure was made; or

(2) Until the State educational agency is notified that such records are not needed for administrative review, whichever is the later.

(b) Questioned expenditure. The records involved in any claim or expenditure which has been questioned shall be further maintained until necessary adjustments have been made and such adjustments have been reviewed and approved by the Department of Health, Education, and Welfare.

§ 121.33 Inventories of equipment.

(a) Each State and local educational agency shall maintain an inventory of all equipment acquired with funds under Title VI of the Act and placed in the temporary custody of persons in a private school. Such inventories shall be maintained until the equipment is discharged from such custody, and, if costing $100 or more per unit, for the expected useful life of the equipment or until its disposition.

(b) Each State educational agency and each local educational agency shall maintain inventories of all other equipment acquired by it with funds under Title VI of the Act, and costing $100 or more per unit, for the expected useful life of the equipment or until its disposition.

(c) The records of inventories required by this section shall be subject to the retention requirements of § 121.32.

(d) All proceeds from the sale of property for which an inventory is being maintained pursuant to the provisions of this section, and the net proceeds from the rental of such property, shall be credited to the Federal Government.

§ 121.34 Adjustments.

The State agency in its maintenance of program expenditure accounts, records, and reports shall promptly make any necessary adjustments in its records to reflect refunds, credits, underpayments, or overpayments, as well as any adjustments resulting from Federal or State administrative reviews and audits. Such adjustments shall be set forth in the State agency's financial reports filed with the Commissioner.

§ 121.35 Financial interest of officials.

No board or staff member of a State or local educational agency may participate in an administrative decision with respect to a program or project under Title VI of the Act if such a decision can be expected to result in any benefit or remuneration, such as a royalty, commission, contingent fee, brokerage fee, or other benefit, to him or any member of his immediate family.

§ 121.36 Copyrights and patents.

(a) Any material of a copyrightable nature produced with financial assistance under Title VI of the Act shall be subject to such copyright policy of the U.S. Office of Education as is in effect at the time.

(b) Any materials of a patentable nature produced through a project with financial assistance under Title VI of the Act shall be subject to the provisions of 45 CFR Parts 6 and 8.

Subpart D—Payment Procedures

§ 121.41 Financial reports.

Each State agency shall submit, in accordance with procedures established by the Commissioner:

(a) Following the end of the fiscal year, a report of the total expenditures made under the State plan during the fiscal year; and

(b) Such other reports as are needed.

§ 121.42 Payments of funds under Title VI of the Act.

Funds paid under Title VI of the Act for amounts expended by a State to carry out its State plan will be limited to the amount necessary to meet current needs for disbursement.

§ 121.43 Withholding of funds.

Neither the approval of the State plan nor any payment to the State pursuant thereto shall be deemed to waive the right or duty of the Commissioner to withhold funds by reason of the failure of the State to observe, before or after such administrative action, any Federal requirements.

§ 121.44 Reallotment.

(a) General. The amount of any State's allotment under Title VI of the Act for any fiscal year which the Commissioner determines will not be required for such fiscal year shall be available for reallotment, from time to time, on such dates during such year as the Commissioner may fix, to other States in proportion to the original allotments to such States under Title VI of the Act for that year but with such proportionate amount for any of such other States being reduced to the extent it exceeds the sum the Commissioner estimates such State needs and will be able to use for such years and the total of such reductions shall be similarly reallotted among the States whose proportionate amounts were not so reduced.

(b) Statements of anticipated need. In order to provide a basis for reallotment by the Commissioner under Title VI of the Act, each State agency administering a program under Title VI of the Act shall, if requested, submit to the Commissioner by such date or dates as he may specify a statement or statements showing the anticipated need during the current fiscal year for the amount previously allotted, or any amount needed to be added thereto. The statement or statements shall contain such further information as the Commissioner may request for the purpose of making reallotments.

Chapter I—Bureau of Sport Fisheries and Wildlife, Fish and Wildlife Service, Department of the Interior

PART 32—HUNTING

Piedmont National Wildlife Refuge, Ga., and Chincoteague National Wildlife Refuge, Va.

The following special regulations are issued and are effective on date of publication in the FEDERAL REGISTER.

§ 32.22 Special regulations; upland game; for individual wildlife refuge areas.

GEORGIA

PIEDMONT NATIONAL WILDLIFE REFUGE

Public hunting of wild turkey on the Piedmont National Wildlife Refuge, Georgia, is permitted only on the area designated by signs as open to hunting. This open area, comprising 31,500 acres, is delineated on a map available at the refuge headquarters and from the Regional Director, Bureau of Sport Fisheries and Wildlife, 809 Peachtree-Seventh Building, Atlanta, Ga. 30323. Hunting shall be in accordance with all applicable State regulations covering the hunting of wild turkey subject to the following special conditions:

(1) Turkeys of either sex may be taken during the open period October 21, 23, and 24, 1967.

(2) Bag limits: Only one turkey per hunter may be taken during the 3-day hunt.

(3) Dogs are prohibited.

(4) Hunters will be allowed on the portions of the refuge open for turkey hunting from 6:30 a.m. to 3 p.m., e.d.t. on hunting days only.

(5) Camping and fires are restricted to the designated camping area in Compartment 19. The camping area will be open October 20 through 25.

(6) Turkeys killed must be checked out at refuge headquarters before hunters leave the area.

(7) Hunters not having reached their 18th birthday must be accompanied by an adult.

(8) Submission of an individual's name more than one time for this hunt shall be cause for rejecting all his applications and is also a violation of these regulations.

(9) Hunt permits are nontransferable.

(10) Apprehension of permittee for any infraction of refuge regulations shall be cause for immediate revocation of this hunt permit by any officer authorized to enforce refuge regulations.

A Federal permit is required to enter the public hunting area. Permits will be limited to 1,000 for the hunt and shall be issued to hunters selected by an impartial drawing from applications received. Applications must be on the form obtainable from Piedmont Refuge Headquarters, Round Oak, Ga. 31080. Each application must bear the signature of the applicant.

Applications must be in office of the Piedmont National Wildlife Refuge, Round Oak, Ga. 31080 by 4:30 p.m. on September 11, 1967.

The provisions of this special regulation supplement the regulations which govern hunting on wildlife refuge areas generally which are set forth in Title 50, Code of Federal Regulations, Part 32, and are effective through October 25, 1967.

§ 32.32 Special regulations; big game; for individual wildlife refuge areas.

GEORGIA

PIEDMONT NATIONAL WILDLIFE REFUGE

Public hunting of deer on the Piedmont National Wildlife Refuge, Ga., is permitted only on the area designated by signs as open to hunting. This open area, comprising 31,500 acres, is delineated on a map available at the refuge headquarters and from the Regional Director, Bureau of Sport Fisheries and Wildlife, 809 Peachtree-Seventh Building, Atlanta, Ga. 30323. Hunting shall be in accordance with all applicable State regulations covering the hunting of deer subject to the following special conditions:

(1) Season—(a) Bow and arrow—September 30 through October 11, 1967. (b) Gun and archery—November 4, 6, 7, and 27, 1967.

(2) Species and season limit—(a) Bow and arrow; two deer, either sex. (b) Gun and archery; two deer, bucks with antlers, except the season on November 27 is one deer of either sex.

(3) Weapons—Sidearms and buckshot may not be used or possessed.

(4) Additional species—Bobcats, foxes, and raccoons may be taken on the bow and arrow hunt September 30 through October 11, 1967.

(5) Dogs on leash may be used to track wounded game only on the bow and arrow hunt. Advance permission in writing must be obtained from the Refuge Manager prior to bringing a dog on the refuge. Dogs are not permitted on the gun and archery hunt.

(6) Camping and fires are restricted to the designated area in Compartment 19 during the period of September 22–25, September 29–October 12, October 27–November 9, and November 26–28, 1967.

(7) Hunters are allowed on the refuge only on hunting days from 6 a.m. to 7:30 p.m., e.d.t., during the archery hunt, September 30–October 11, 1967 and from 5:30 a.m. to 7 p.m., e.s.t., during the gun and archery hunt, November 4, 6, 7, and 27, 1967.

(8) All deer killed must be checked out at refuge headquarters on the day killed.

(9) Loaded firearms are prohibited in vehicles on refuge roads.

(10) Hunters not having reached their 18th birthday must be accompanied by an adult.

(11) Hunters shall furnish and wear red, orange, or yellow caps, coats, or hats while hunting on the refuge November 4, 6, 7, and 27, 1967.

(12) Apprehension for infraction of refuge regulations shall be cause for immediate revocation of refuge hunting privileges by any officer authorized to enforce these regulations.

(13) A Federal permit is required to enter the public hunting area on November 4, 6, 7, and 27, 1967. Permits will be limited to 4,000 for the hunt and will be issued to hunters selected by an impartial public drawing from applications received. Applications must be on form obtainable from Piedmont Refuge Headquarters, Round Oak, Ga. 31080. Each application must bear the signature of the applicant. Permits are nontransferable. Submission of an individual's name more than one time for this hunt shall be cause for rejecting all his applications and is also a violation of these regulations. Application must be in the office of the Piedmont National Wildlife Refuge, Round Oak, Ga. 31080 by 4:30 p.m., e.d.t., on October 9, 1967.

The provisions of these special regulations supplement the regulations which govern hunting on wildlife refuge areas generally which are set forth in Title 50, Code of Federal Regulations, Part 32, and are effective through November 28, 1967.

VIRGINIA

CHINCOTEAGUE NATIONAL WILDLIFE REFUGE

Public hunting of Sika deer on the Chincoteague National Wildlife Refuge, Va., is permitted only on the area designated by signs as open to hunting. This open area, comprising 8,496 acres, is delineated on maps available at refuge headquarters, Chincoteague, Va., and from the Regional Director, Bureau of Sport Fisheries and Wildlife, 809 Peachtree-Seventh Building, Atlanta, Ga. 30323. Hunting shall be in accordance with all applicable State regulations governing the hunting of Sika deer subject to the following conditions:

(1) Species to be taken: (a) Sika deer, either sex; (b) free ranging goats.

(2) Bag limits: (a) Sika deer, one per license year, either sex; (b) goats, no limit, except that goat hunting prohibited after hunter takes his deer.

PART 32—HUNTING

Wheeler National Wildlife Refuge, Ala.

The following special regulations are issued and are effective on date of publication in the FEDERAL REGISTER.

§ 32.22 Special regulations; upland game; for individual wildlife refuge areas.

ALABAMA

WHEELER NATIONAL WILDLIFE REFUGE

Public hunting of raccoons, opossums, and foxes only is permitted on the entire land area of the refuge. This open area comprising approximately 13,850 acres is delineated on a map available at the refuge headquarters and from the Regional Director, Bureau of Sport Fisheries and Wildlife, 809 Peachtree-Seventh Building, Atlanta, Ga. 30323. Hunting shall be in accordance with all applicable State regulations governing the hunting of raccoons, opossums, and foxes subject to the following conditions:

(1) The open season for hunting the game listed above extends from February 1, 1968 through February 10, 1968, Sunday excluded.

(2) Hunting during the above period shall be between the hours 7 p.m. and 5 a.m. each day only.

(3) A Federal permit is required to enter the refuge with firearms. Only the party leader of each hunting party will be allowed to carry a firearm. Five-Hundred permits will be issued on a first come, first serve basis. These may be obtained by writing the Wheeler National Wildlife Refuge Office, Post Office Box 1643, Decatur, Ala. 35601, prior to February 1 or by applying in person on or after February 1. Only one permit will be required per hunting party and the permittee may take with him as many others as he chooses.

(4) Shotguns only will be used and will be limited to one per hunting party. Gage size may not exceed 28.

(5) Axes, saws, and shotgun shells loaded with larger than No. 8 shot may not be brought on the area during this hunt. No live timber may be cut.

The provisions of this special regulation supplement the regulations which govern hunting on wildlife refuge areas generally which are set forth in Title 50, Code of Federal Regulations, Part 32, and are effective through February 10, 1968.

ALABAMA

WHEELER NATIONAL WILDLIFE REFUGE

Public hunting of quail, crows, and foxes only is permitted on the entire land area of the refuge. This open area comprising approximately 13,850 acres is delineated on a map available at the refuge headquarters and from the Regional Director, Bureau of Sport Fisheries and Wildlife, 809 Peachtree-Seventh Building Atlanta, Ga. 30323. Hunting shall be in accordance with all applicable State regulations governing the hunting of quail, crows, and foxes subject to the following conditions:

(1) The open season for hunting this game will be February 17 and 19, 1968 only.

(2) During the above open season, hunting may take place only between the hours of 8 a.m. and 5 p.m.

(3) No shooting is allowed within 100 yards of private residences adjoining the refuge boundary.

(4) A Federal permit is required to enter the refuge with firearms. Three-hundred permits will be issued and a drawing will be held February 8 to determine successful applicants. To apply for a permit, write a single postcard requesting quail hunt permit and addressed to Wheeler National Wildlife Refuge, Post Office Box 1643, Decatur, Ala. 35601. To be eligible for drawing, postcard requests must be received by February 7. A single permit covers both hunt dates.

(5) Only shotguns may be used and these may be loaded with not larger than No. 7½ shot and no shells containing larger shot sizes will be permitted on the refuge area during this hunt.

The provisions of this special regulation supplement the regulations which govern hunting on wildlife refuge areas generally which are set forth in Title 50, Code of Federal Regulations, Part 32, and are effective through February 20, 1968.

ALABAMA

WHEELER NATIONAL WILDLIFE REFUGE

Public hunting of rabbits, foxes, and crows is permitted on the entire land area of the refuge. This open area comprising approximately 13,850 acres is delineated on a map available at the refuge headquarters and from the Regional Director, Bureau of Sport Fisheries and Wildlife, 809 Peachtree-Seventh Building, Atlanta, Ga. 30323. Hunting shall be in accordance with all applicable State regulations governing the hunting of rabbits, foxes, and crows subject to the following conditions:

(1) The open season for hunting the game listed above extends from February 20, 1968 through February 24, 1968.

(2) Hunting during the above period shall be between the hours of 8 a.m. and 5 p.m. only.

(3) A Federal permit is required to enter the refuge with firearms. A maximum of 600 permits will be issued. A drawing will be held on February 12 to determine successful applicants. To obtain permits, a single postcard requesting a rabbit hunt permit should be addressed to Wheeler National Wildlife Refuge, Post Office Box 1643, Decatur, Ala. 35601. To be included in the drawing, cards must be received by February 10. A single permit covers the entire hunt period.

(4) Only shotguns may be used and these must not be loaded with larger than No. 6 shot nor shells containing larger than No. 6 shot brought on the refuge during the hunt.

(5) No shooting is permitted within at least 100 yards of private homes adjoining the refuge boundary.

The provisions of this special regulation supplement the regulations which govern hunting on wildlife refuge areas generally which are set forth in Title 50, Code of Federal Regulations, Part 32, and are effective through February 24, 1968.

ALABAMA

WHEELER NATIONAL WILDLIFE REFUGE

Public hunting of gray squirrels, foxes, and crows is permitted on the entire land area of the refuge. This open area comprising approximately 13,850 acres is delineated on a map available at the refuge headquarters and from the Regional Director, Bureau of Sport Fisheries and Wildlife, 809 Peachtree-Seventh Building, Atlanta, Ga. 30323. Regulations governing the hunting of squirrels, foxes, and crows shall be in accordance with all applicable State regulations subject to the following conditions:

(1) The open season for hunting the game listed above extends from October 16 through October 21, 1967.

(2) The use of dogs is not permitted.

(3) No shooting is allowed within 100 yards of private residences adjoining the refuge boundary.

(4) A Federal permit is required to enter the refuge with firearms. One-thousand permits will be issued, each covering the entire hunt period. Applications for these permits must be by postcard and must be received prior to October 4. A drawing will be held to determine successful applicants. Applications must be addressed to the Wheeler National Wildlife Refuge, Post Office Box 1643, Decatur, Ala. 35601.

(5) Shotgun shells loaded with larger than No. 6 shot may not be brought on the refuge during the hunt.

(6) Only gray squirrels, foxes, and crows may be shot on this hunt. The provisions of this special regulation supplement the regulations which govern hunting on wildlife refuge areas generally which are set forth in Title 50, Code of Federal Regulations, Part 32, and are effective through October 21, 1967.

JAMES R. FIELDING,
Acting Regional Director, Bureau of Sport Fisheries and Wildlife.

Proposed Rule Making

DEPARTMENT OF HEALTH, EDUCATION, AND WELFARE

Food and Drug Administration

[21 CFR Part 121]

FOOD ADDITIVES

Procedural Regulations

The Commissioner of Food and Drugs proposes that the procedural food additive regulations be revised as set forth below to obtain improvement in the quality and organization of food additive petitions submitted and to expedite their scientific review by the Food and Drug Administration. The need for such revision is based on the following:

A. Almost half of the food additive petitions as originally submitted to the Food and Drug Administration have been incomplete or have not adequately supported the regulation requested and, therefore, have required subsequent supplementation, amendment, withdrawal, or denial.

B. Scientific review of deficient and poorly organized petitions is an unnecessary burden that wastes the time and efforts of both Administration and industry scientists.

Therefore, pursuant to the provisions of the Federal Food, Drug, and Cosmetic Act (secs. 409, 701(a), 52 Stat. 1055, 72 Stat. 1786; 21 U.S.C. 348, 371(a)) and under the authority delegated to the Commissioner by the Secretary of Health, Education, and Welfare (21 CFR 2.120), it is proposed that Part 121 be amended by revising §§ 121.7, 121.9, and 121.51 and by adding § 121.50, as follows:

§ 121.7 Food additives for use in feed and drinking water of animals and food additives that are also new drugs, certifiable antibiotic drugs, and/or pesticides.

(a) (1) A substance that is a new drug within the meaning of section 201(p) of the act or an antibiotic drug subject to the certification requirements of sections 502(l) and 507 of the act may also be a food additive within the meaning of section 201(s) of the act because the substance is to be used in the feed of an animal or because its intended use in or on the animal results or may reasonably be expected to result directly or indirectly in it or its conversion product(s) becoming a component of or otherwise affecting the characteristics of a food derived from the animal.

(2) An application for a new drug or an antibiotic drug which substance is also a food additive shall be submitted in the form prescribed by § 130.4 of this chapter (Form FD 356V) and processed in accordance with Parts 130 (new drug) or 146 (antibiotic drug) of this chapter, and the food additive aspects of such applications shall be processed simultaneously.

(3) An application for a new drug or an antibiotic drug which substance is also a food additive shall include a practical, chemical assay method for enforcement of any tolerance provided and, if edible products of food-producing animals are involved, data establishing the residues of the substance or its metabolites in such edible products.

(b) Petitions for food additives that are nondrug substances for use in the drinking water or feed of animals shall be submitted in the form described in § 121.50 and shall be processed in accordance with the procedures prescribed in this Part 121.

(c) Any pesticide chemical added to processed feed for animals for the purpose of affecting such animals will be considered a food additive and new drug subject to approval under sections 409 and 505 of the act. Petitions for such pesticide chemicals shall be submitted and processed in accordance with paragraph (a)(2) of this section.

(d) A new-drug application will not be approved for a use that results in the substance becoming a food additive until a regulation therefor is established under section 409 of the act. A food additive regulation under section 409 of the act will not be established if the additive results from the use of a new drug for which a new-drug application cannot be approved. The new-drug application and the establishment of a regulation regarding the food additive aspects will be acted on simultaneously.

(e) Applications for use of any drug substance in feed or for a drug or antibiotic substance intended to be administered to a food-producing animal shall be submitted to the Bureau of Veterinary Medicine of the Food and Drug Administration for evaluation.

§ 121.9 Food additive master files.

(a) Any person submitting or intending to submit a food additive petition may submit confidential information or information entitled to protection as a trade secret in the form of a "food additive master file." Such master file will be assigned a number and will be retained as available material that may be incorporated in any food additive petition upon request from the person submitting such file.

(b) The material in the master file shall be arranged and indexed by page numbers as if it were a portion of a petition so that specific material may be precisely referenced in any separate subsequent petition.

(c) The analytical methods and a summary of the toxicological basis on which a food additive regulation is based are not considered confidential or entitled to protection as trade secrets.

§ 121.50 Content and form of food additive petitions.

(a) Petitions to be filed under the provisions of section 409(b) of the act shall be submitted in triplicate, in the form described in paragraphs (c) and (d) of this section. Any material submitted in a foreign language shall be accompanied by an accurate English translation. Any published information used in support of the petition shall be submitted in reprint form. The petition must be signed by the petitioner or by an authorized attorney, agent, or official. If the petitioner or such authorized representative does not reside or have a place of business within the United States, the petition must also furnish the name and post office address of and must be countersigned by an authorized attorney, agent, or official residing or maintaining a place of business within the United States. All original, unpublished scientific studies supplied in the petition shall include identification of the scientists who did the work and their pertinent qualifications. The omission of any material required by this section shall be noted and the reasons therefor stated.

(b) Information previously submitted by the petitioner to the Food and Drug Administration may be incorporated in subsequent submissions provided specific reference to such information is made by giving the type of submission and the volume, page, and date submitted, and provided that the submission is in a food additive master file kept current by the petitioner, or is in another form of submission not over 10 years old. Confidential material entitled to protection as a trade secret, such as method of manufacture or process information, in food additive petitions or food additive master files furnished by a person other than the petitioner may also be incorporated provided use of such information is authorized in a written statement signed by the person who submitted the information or his successor in interest.

(d) Petitions shall be transmitted by a cover letter in triplicate in the following form:

Petitions Control Branch,
Food and Drug Administration,
Department of Health, Education, and Welfare,
Washington, D.C. 20204.

GENTLEMEN: The undersigned, _____, _____, submits this petition pursuant to section 409(b)(1) of the Federal Food, Drug, and Cosmetic Act with respect to _____ (Name of food additive and proposed use)

The petition is attached and is submitted in the form described in § 121.50 (21 CFR 121.50) of the food additive regulations.

Sincerely yours,

Petitioner

(c) The food additive petition shall contain:

I. Introduction (on section tab).

A. A detailed table of contents listing all items contained in the petition and the page numbers where located.

B. A well-organized and coherent general summary of the data in the petition and the petitioner's conclusions, presenting a sound basis for the regulation requested and including the following information with references to the pages on which the detailed data in the petition may be found.

1. Identity and composition. The name of the additive and the specifications proposed to assure that the substance is of appropriate grade for the intended use and that it is of reproducible composition.

2. Use. The purpose which the additive is to serve including an estimate of the maximum as well as the average quantity of the food additive to be expected in the total daily diet of the consumer and including the basis on which the estimate is made.

3. Technical effect. Highlights of the data that have been developed to establish that the additive accomplishes the intended technical effect and that the amount sought to be used is no higher than that reasonably necessary to accomplish such intended technical effect.

4. Methods. Highlights of the data that establish that the analytical methods provided are practicable regulatory ones adequate to enforce the limitations considered necessary on the use of the additive.

5. Toxicology. Highlights of the studies provided to establish the safety of the proposed uses of the additive with an explanation of how the petitioner concludes that the proposed uses are safe, including summaries of any unfavorable results as well as the favorable. The highlights shall include the no-effect levels found in the several species of test animals and the maximum safe level in the diet of the consumer. The margins of safety between the no-effect level in the most sensitive species of test animals and the average level as well as the maximum level likely to occur in the total diet of the consumer should be stated, taking into consideration previously approved food additive uses for the substance and any comparable substances. Also included shall be a summary of the published literature dealing with the safety of the compound. If safety depends upon virtual lack of migration, the rationale shall be explained briefly.

II. Body of the petition.

A. Identity (on section tab).

This section shall identify the additive and the general use or combination of uses for which it is intended (i.e., direct additive, indirect additive, pesticide for food additive application, or radiation) and shall provide the following information, as applicable:

i. Direct additive—a. Nomenclature and formulas. i. Common or usual name: Unless the name is being proposed as the common or usual name, cite references to compendia that recognize the name as common or usual.

ii. Chemical name in accordance with the nomenclature rules of the Chemical Abstracts Service.

iii. Trade name(s) and other names used for the compound, including those used during experimental testing.

iv. Empirical formula(s).

v. Structural formula(s), if known or proposed.

vi. Molecular weight.

b. Description of the additive. i. Complete quantitative composition.

ii. Physical state at room temperature.

iii. Organoleptic characteristics.

iv. Manufacturing process(es), including raw materials and their specifications and the analytical techniques used to check the specifications.

v. Food grade specifications for the additive, including identity, minimum content of the desired component(s), and limitations on reaction byproducts and other impurities including specifically total heavy metals, as to, and lead. Each specification and limitation shall be supported by a description of the analytical methods used, including data establishing the accuracy and reliability of these methods. Data from a suitable number of representative production batches of the additive shall be included to establish the range of impurities and byproducts to be expected and so show that the proposed specifications can be met.

vi. Reproducibility of the additive, including the production controls and assays employed to assure that a reproducible product will be manufactured.

vii. Stability data and, if indicated thereby, any expiration date to be shown on the labeling to assure the identity, strength, quality, or purity of the additive.

2. Indirect additive—a. Nomenclature and formulas. Indirect additives include substances incidentally present in a final product because of addition for functional use elsewhere in the production operation and substances that may reasonably be expected to become a component of food because of their presence in food-contact surfaces. The following shall be provided for each substance or its reaction product(s) incidentally present in the food from production use and for each substance in the food-contact surface, including polymeric materials, whether present because of addition in the manufacturing or as a result of a chemical reaction during the manufacturing, unless adequate reasons for omission are advanced for particular components.

i. Common or usual name: Unless the name is being proposed as the common or usual name, cite references to compendia that recognize the name as common or usual.

ii. Chemical name(s) in accordance with the nomenclature rules of the Chemical Abstracts Service.

iii. Trade name(s) and other names used for the compound, including those used during experimental testing.

iv. Empirical formula(s).

v. Structural formula(s), if known or proposed.

vi. Molecular weight, including for polymeric substances the molecular weight distribution in the basic resin and the average molecular weights and the methods used in making these determinations.

b. Description of the additive. i. Composition of the food-contact surface of packaging material or food-processing equipment.

ii. Physical description of the food-contact surface, packaging, or equipment material.

iii. Manufacturing process, including for food-contact surfaces the raw materials and their specifications that encompass the basic resin polymers and the adjuvants (such as plasticizers, stabilizers, preservatives, fillers, colorants, catalysts, etc.), along with the analytical technique used to check the specifications and including for other incidental additives where, how, and why the additive or its precursor has been incorporated into the process.

iv. Specifications for the additive(s) in food-contact surfaces, including their identities, the minimum content of the desired component(s), and limitations or impurities including total heavy metals, monomers, catalyst residues, etc. Each specification and limitation shall be supported by a description of the appropriate analytical methods used, including data establishing the accuracy and reliability of these methods. Data from a suitable number of representative production batches of the food-contact surfaces shall be included to establish the range of impurities and byproducts to be expected and to show that the proposed specifications can be met.

v. Reproducibility of the food-contact surfaces, including the production controls and tests employed to assure that a reproducible product will be manufactured.

3. Radiation. This may include radiation of any wavelength in the electromagnetic spectrum.

a. Radiation and radiation source(s) proposed:

i. If an isotope, its identity and the type of encapsulation used.

ii. If a machine source (including source tubes), its complete description.

b. Furnish engineering data providing complete information on the geometry of the radiating mechanism, including the speed of movement by the radiating head, the radioisotope, and the number of curies in the source used (if isotopes), the voltage and amperage used (if machine), and the total time of exposure. A statement of the radiation flux calculated therefrom shall be included.

c. Furnish data providing complete information on the means to be used to control the exposure.

i. In the case of machines, furnish data showing the sensitivity of the means of controlling the power sources and the way in which recorders are coupled to produce records of the operating voltages and amperages.

ii. In the case of isotopes and machines, describe the nature of dosimeter and the frequency of the dosimetry and furnish data showing the dosimetry and phantoms to be used, including those data that show that the dosimeter readings adequately reflect the dose absorbed by the food during exposure.

B. Use (on section tab).

This section shall include information on the amount of the food additive proposed for use and the purposes for which it is proposed together with all directions, recommendations, and suggestions regarding the proposed use. The petitioner shall furnish an estimate of the maximum as well as the average quantity of the food additive to be expected in the total daily diet of the consumer. Supporting assumptions and calculations shall be included. The petitioner shall describe the conditions of use that he concludes are in accordance with good manufacturing practice in any instance wherein he proposes no stricter limitation. If the usage level is alleged to be without specific limitation, the levels of use under good manufacturing practice shall be supplied.

1. Direct additives. In the case of the additives intended to produce an effect in the food, data obtained by adequate methodology shall be submitted showing the fate of the food additive in the food, whether the food additive remains unchanged in such food, or whether it is converted to another substance by reason of oxidation, degradation, or reaction with components of the food or otherwise, and the degree of any such conversion. This section shall include specimens of all labels and labeling proposed for the direct food additive.

2. Indirect additives. If transfer to food results or may be reasonably expected to result from the use of a food additive in processing, in packaging material, or in food-processing and handling equipment, the petitioner shall describe the conditions of use in detail with respect to the individual foods or classes of foods contacted. Information on the conditions of use shall include such things as the temperature and period of contact and the ratio of weight of food to contact surface area. The petitioner shall furnish an estimate of the maximum as well as the average quantity of the food additive and its conversion products to be expected in the total daily diet of the consumer. This estimate shall be based on experimental migration data using the food itself or on extraction data using solvents that simulate various types of food. These data shall reflect the most severe conditions as well as the more usual conditions of the proposed usage. The food or the extracts are to be analyzed by methods of adequate sensitivity and reliability for the food additive components of the food-contact surface. Details of the analytical procedure must be furnished including sufficient data to verify the claimed sensitivity and reliability of the methods.

3. Radiation. In the case of radiation, this section shall include information on the dose ranges to be used and the purpose for which the radiation is proposed together with all directions, recommendations, and suggestions regarding the proposed use, including information on the Atomic Energy Commission licenses under which any isotopes are used. This section should also include specimens of labeling to be used on the radiation sources and any labeling to be used on the treated food.

C. Technical effect (on section tab).

This section shall be divided into the following subsections:

1. A detailed table of contents for this section. This may be reproduced from the original complete table of contents if the latter is sufficiently detailed.

2. A summary (an explanation) of what the petitioner claims this section shows.

3. An analysis and interpretation of the data provided by the use of tables, charts, graphs, pictures, statistical evaluation, or by whatever means is appropriate, including references to the page numbers of the raw data analyzed and interpreted.

4. The raw data as follows:

a. Direct additives. The raw data developed to establish that the food additive will have the intended physical or other technical effect for which it is being added to the food and to establish that the amount requested is not higher than the amount reasonably required to accomplish the intended physical or other technical effect. These data shall include control data in sufficient detail to permit an accurate evaluation of the technical effect of graduated levels of the additive when tested experimentally.

b. Indirect additives. If the food additive is a component of a food-contact article (food-packaging material or food-processing and handling equipment), data shall be furnished showing the level of migration. If its migration to food is a function of the concentration of the component in such food-contact article, data shall also be furnished showing that the proposed usage level of the substance in the food-contact article is the level reasonably required to accomplish the intended effect in such article. If residues of a food additive are present in processed food because the additive has been used in the production or processing of food and the residues do not accomplish an intended effect in such processed food, data shall be furnished showing that the proposed tolerance level reflects a reduction of such residues to the extent possible in good manufacturing practice.

c. Radiation. In the case of radiation, experimental data shall be submitted showing that the radiation dose proposed accomplishes the intended technical effect and does not exceed the amount reasonably required to accomplish the intended effect.

i. Information shall be included showing that there is no induced radioactivity in the food or packaging material or in the extractants therefrom. This can include a theoretical discussion, but some actual experimental data should be provided to support the theory advanced in the case of packaging materials, and in all cases where radiant energies exceed 10 million electron volts. If different radiation fluxes are to be used, those materials subject to the highest flux and dose contemplated shall be selected for testing for induced radioactivity. A description of the methodology and the sensitivity of the methods used to establish the absence of induced radioactivity in the treated foods or packaging materials shall be furnished.

ii. Data shall be provided to establish the extent, if any, to which the nutritive composition of the irradiated food has been altered by exposure of the food to the highest dose and under the highest fluxes expected. If any such changes are considered insignificant, they should be so designated and the reasons detailed for their claimed insignificance. The methodology employed shall be fully described, including data establishing the sensitivity and reliability of the methods.

iii. Data shall be provided to establish that the irradiated food has not been significantly altered in organoleptic or other physical characteristics so as to render the material otherwise unfit for food. In the case of a food ordinarily stored for a period of time at particular temperatures, data shall be included reflecting the results when the irradiated food is appropriately stored and/or shipped.

iv. Whenever the effect produced is related to a given dose of radiation, the basis upon which that dose is measured shall be included. If no actual dosimetry can be described, a full explanation shall be included detailing the way in which the reported dose has been calculated.

D. Methods (on section tab).

This section shall be divided into the following subsections:

1. The petitioner's evaluation of the analytical method(s) with respect to reliability, accuracy, precision, and practicability as a regulatory method shall be furnished.

2. If usage of the food additive requires a tolerance for the food additive or for a conversion product in order to protect the public health, a practicable regulatory method shall be furnished to enforce the tolerance. A practicable regulatory results within a reasonable period of time considering the rate at which the material sampled may be consumed or otherwise disposed of. It must be satisfactory for application to the raw, processed, and/or finished food; i.e., give consistent results when used by properly equipped and trained laboratory personnel. The method must be capable of quantitatively determining the food additive or the conversion product in the presence of the normal components of the food in which it is to be used and in the presence of any other chemicals, including food additives, that can be reasonably expected to be present in such food. Validation data must be included; i.e., blanks (untreated food) and recoveries (food with additive at various levels, including level of usage). The analytical method shall be written up in stepwise fashion with any critical steps indicated and explained.

3. In the case of an additive that is to be limited only to good manufacturing practice, the petitioner shall provide data on an analytical method suitable for determining the amount that has been added to the food, or provide information purporting to show that the good manufacturing practice level is not likely to be exceeded.

4. In the case of food-contact surfaces, the petitioner shall provide the tests to be used in checking the specifications proposed for the purpose of limiting to safe amounts the migration to food of the components of the food-contact surface.

E. Safety (on section tab).

This section shall contain the following subsections:

1. A detailed table of contents for this section. This may be reproduced from the original complete table of contents if the latter is sufficiently detailed.

2. An explanation of what the petitioner claims this section shows, including:

a. The petitioner's appraisal of the safety data.

b. The no-effect levels found in the several species of test animals.

c. The petitioner's conclusion on the maximum safe level in the diet of the consumer, stating the margin of safety.

3. An analysis and interpretation of the provided data by the use of tables, charts, graphs, statistical review, or any appropriate means. This shall include summaries of both the favorable and unfavorable data, with references to the page numbers of the raw data analyzed and interpreted.

4. The raw data upon which the safety conclusions are based. This section may be regarded as incomplete unless it includes full reports of adequate tests reasonably applicable to establish whether or not the food additive is safe for its intended use. The reports ordinarily shall include detailed data derived from appropriate animal and other biological experiments in which the methods used and the results obtained are clearly set forth. The petition shall not omit without explanation any reports of investigations conducted including any that would bias an evaluation of the safety of the additive.

F. Tolerances-regulation (on section tab).

This section shall contain a proposed regulation in the format established by the Food and Drug Administration, including proposed tolerances, if tolerances are required to assure that the contemplated use of the additive is safe.

G. Amendment (on section tab).

Full information on each proposed change of existing regulations shall be submitted with the changes to be made indicated by bracketing proposed deletions and italicizing revised or added material. Italics may be indicated by underlining.

(f) Data in a petition regarding any method or process entitled to protection as a trade secret will be held confidential and will not be revealed unless it is necessary to do so in a regulation, or in an administrative hearing preliminary to any judicial proceedings under the act. The scientific bases of safety on which any food additive regulation rests including food additive analytical methods and a summary of the toxicological data are not considered confidential.

§ 121.51 Processing of food additive petitions.

(a) Within 15 days after receipt of three copies of the petition by Petitions Control Branch of the Food and Drug Administration, the petitioner will be notified of the assigned petition number and of the fact that his petition has been filed for scientific review, or will be notified that his petition has not been filed and why. During this period of 15 days, the new petition will be reviewed only for determining that data are present and suitably arranged for an efficient scientific evaluation. Unless otherwise indicated in the filing letter, the date of this notification letter becomes the date of filing of the petition for the purposes of section 409(b)(5) of the act.

(1) If the petition cannot be filed, two of the three copies of it will be returned to the petitioner. One copy of the submitted material will be retained as an official record. The extra copies of the unfiled petition are returned so that if the petitioner supplements the original material, the supplemented petition can be submitted as a completely rearranged and indexed document in triplicate for reconsideration by the Food and Drug Administration.

(2) The petitioner may, after receiving a letter refusing the filing of his petition, return the two copies to the Petitions Control Branch and state in writing that he is resubmitting the petition to be filed over protest. In this case, it will be filed and the petitioner so notified. The fact that the petition has been filed over the Food and Drug Administration's protest will be included in the published notice of filing.

(b) A notice of filing will be published in the FEDERAL REGISTER within 30 days following the petition's filing date. The notice of filing shall contain the name and post office address of the petitioner, the name of the additive(s), and a description of the proposed use(s) in general terms or as appropriate. A copy of the notice will be mailed to the petitioner when the original is signed and forwarded for publicaton in the FEDERAL REGISTER. The publication of the notice of filing is to give notice to interested parties and is required by section 409(b)(5) of the act. The notice of filing is not to be construed as the promulgation of a regulation or amendment to a regulation.

(c) If upon a complete evaluation of the petition the Commissioner determines that additional information or an examination of samples or both are required to resolve questions regarding safety of the use of the additive, or the physical or other technical effect it produces, he may request such information or samples of the food additive, including the food-contact article containing the food additive, substances used as components of the food additive, and the food with which the food additive is used or contacts. The Commissioner will specify in the requests for samples a quantity deemed adequate for any study or investigation reasonably required with respect to the safety of the use of the food additive, or the physical or other technical effect it produces. The date used for computing the 90- or 180-day limit for the purpose of section 409(c)(2) of the act shall be moved forward one day for each day taken by the petitioner to submit the samples requested, beginning with the mailing date of the request. If the information or sample is requested a reasonable time in advance of the 180 days, but is not submitted within such 180 days after filing of the petition, the petition will be considered withdrawn without prejudice. A copy of the notice of withdrawal will be mailed to the petitioner when the original is signed and forwarded for publication in the FEDERAL REGISTER.

(d) If upon completion of the scientific reviews the petition and other relevant data have been found to support a regulation, the Commissioner will forward for publication in the FEDERAL REGISTER, within 90 days of the filing of the petition (or 180 days if the time was extended pursuant to sec. 409(c)(2) of the act), a regulation or amendment to a regulation prescribing the conditions under which the food additive may be safely used including, but not limited to, identification of the particular food or class(es) of food in which or in contact with which such additive may be used, the maximum quantity that may be used or permitted to remain in such food, the manner in which such additive may be added to or used in contact with such food, and any directions or other labeling or packaging requirements for such additive deemed necessary by him to assure the safety of such use, and the Commissioner shall notify the petitioner of such order.

(e) If upon completion of the scientific reviews the petition and other relevant data have not been found to support a regulation, the petitioner will be so informed and given the reason therefor and will be offered an opportunity to withdraw the petition without prejudice to a future filing. If the petitioner does not withdraw the petition within 30 days of such notification, an order denying the regulation may be published in the FEDERAL REGISTER.

(f) If the Commissioner determines within 90 days of filing that additional time is needed to study and investigate the petition, he shall by written notice to the petitioner extend the original evaluation period for not more than 180 days after the filing of the petition.

Any interested person may, within 60 days from the date of publication of this notice in the FEDERAL REGISTER, file with the Hearing Clerk, Department of Health, Education, and Welfare, Room 5440, 330 Independence Avenue SW, Washington, D.C. 20201, written comments, preferably in quintuplicate, on this proposal. Comments may be accompanied by a memorandum or brief in support thereof.

Dated: August 1, 1967.

JAMES L. GODDARD,
Commissioner of Food and Drugs.

DEPARTMENT OF THE INTERIOR

Bureau of Land Management

[AR 032224]

ARIZONA

Notice of Classification of Public Lands for Multiple Use Management

1. Pursuant to section 2 of the Act of September 19, 1964 (43 U.S.C. 1412), the public lands described below are hereby classified for multiple use management. These public lands will be managed primarily for their resource values which would be lost if they passed from federal ownership. Publication of this notice has the effect of segregating all the described lands from appropriation under the agricultural land laws (43 U.S.C. Parts 7 and 9; 25 U.S.C. sec. 334); from sale under section 2455 of Revised Statues (43 U.S.C. 1171); from sale under the Act of September 19, 1964 (43 U.S.C. 1421–1427); from private exchange (43 U.S.C. 315g(b)); from state exchange (43 U.S.C. 315g(c)); from state selection (43 U.S.C. 851, 852); from Small Tracts (43 U.S.C. 682a) and from appropriation under the mining and mineral leasing laws. As used in this order, "public lands" mean any lands (1) withdrawn or reserved by Executive Order No. 6910 of November 26, 1934, as amended, or (2) within a grazing district established pursuant to the Act of June 28, 1934 (48 Stat. 1269), as amended, which are not otherwise withdrawn or reserved for a Federal use or purpose.

2. No protests or objections have been received as a result of the Notice of Proposed Classification (32 F.R. 5707). Therefore, no changes have been made in the list of lands included in this classification.

3. The lands in T. 11 N., R. 28 E., situated in Apache County, lie within the proposed Lyman Lake State Park and have an elevation of approximately 6,000 feet above sea level. The Arizona State Parks have evaluated these lands as having excellent recreation potential.

The remaining parcels are within the immediate vicinity of the Tucson urban area and have been identified by the city of Tucson and Pima County as needed to supplement their proposed park and school system. The lands affected by this classification are located in Pima and Apache Counties and are described as follows:

GILA AND SALT RIVER MERIDIAN

T. 12 S., R. 13 E.,

Packers and Stockyards Administration

ROBERTSON'S LIVESTOCK MARKET ET AL.

Deposting of Stockyards

It has been ascertained, and notice is hereby given, that the livestock markets named herein, originally posted on the respective dates specified below as being subject to the Packers and Stockyards Act, 1921, as amended (7 U.S.C. 181 et seq.), no longer come within the definition of a stockyard under said Act and are, therefore, no longer subject to the provisions of the Act.

Name, Location of stockyard, and date of posting
Robertson's Livestock Market, Bethany, Missouri, June 16, 1959.
Harris Auction Company, Henderson, North Carolina, August 26, 1963.
Clinton Cattle Commission Co., Clinton, Oklahoma, April 9, 1959.
Aberdeen Livestock Sales Company, Inc., Aberdeen, South Dakota, November 30, 1949.
Hub City Livestock Sales, Inc., Aberdeen, South Dakota, November 29, 1949.

Notice or other public procedure has not preceded promulgation of the foregoing rule since it is found that the giving of such notice would prevent the due and timely administration of the Packers and Stockyards Act and would, therefore, be impracticable and contrary to the public interest. There is no legal warrant or justification for not deposting promptly a stockyard which is no longer within the definition of that term contained in the Act.

The foregoing is in the nature of a rule granting an exception or relieving a restriction and, therefore, may be made effective in less than 30 days after publication in the FEDERAL REGISTER. This notice shall become effective upon publication in the FEDERAL REGISTER.

Notice of Filing of Petition Regarding Pesticides

Pursuant to the provisions of the Federal Food, Drug, and Cosmetic Act (sec. 408(d)(1), 68 Stat. 512; 21 U.S.C. 346a(d)(1)), notice is given that a petition (PP 7F0619) has been filed by Hercules Inc., Wilmington, Del. 19899, proposing the establishment of a tolerance of 0.5 part per million for residues of the of 0.5 part per million for residues of the herbicide norea (3-(hexahydro-4,7-methanoindan-5-yl)-1, 1-dimethylurea) in or on the raw agricultural commodities cottonseed, sorghum (cane, forage and grain), sugarcane, soybeans, and spinach.

The analytical method proposed for determining residues of the herbicide is a colorimetric procedure based on the formation of hexahydro-4,7-methanoindan-5-amine by alkaline hydrolysis of the extracted residue. This amine is then reacted with 1-fluoro-2,4-dinitrobenzene to yield the corresponding 2,4-dinitrophenyl derivative of the amine, which is then determined colorimetrically by measuring the absorbance of the orange-red color produced in alkaline dimethylformamide.

ELECTRO-SCIENCE INVESTORS, INC.

Notice of Application for Order Declaring That Company Is No Longer Investment Company

AUGUST 2, 1967.

Notice is hereby given that Electro-Science Investors, Inc. ("ESI"), Post Office Box 30385, Dallas, Tex. 75230, a closed-end nondiversified investment company registered under the Investment Company Act of 1940 ("Act"), has filed an application pursuant to section 8(f) of the Act for an order of the Commission declaring that ESI has ceased to be an investment company. All interested persons are referred to the application on file with the Commission for a statement of the representations contained therein which are summarized below.

ESI was organized in August 1960, as a registered closed-end investment company and a licensee under the Small Business Investment Act of 1958. Since September 1962, when it relinquished its license as a Small Business Investment Company, ESI operated as a venture capital company concentrating on the development of its portfolio companies. The application states that as of May 31, 1967, approximately 79 percent of the value of ESI's assets, excluding cash items, was composed of investment in majority-owned or wholly owned subsidiaries. The remaining 21 percent of its assets is comprised of investment securities, some of which ESI has represented will be disposed of in orderly fashion.

Of the 79 percent of ESI's assets comprised of a majority and wholly owned subsidiaries, 70 percent is represented by 52.3 percent of the voting stock and a $250,000 convertible debenture of Whitehall Electronics Corp., which is a manufacturer of electronic equipment and is engaged in aircraft remanufacture. The bulk of the remaining 9 percent is represented by approximately 64 percent of the voting stock of Staco, Inc., which is engaged in the manufacturing of electric equipment.

ESI's major investment security holding is 46.9 percent of the voting stock and $940,000 of notes of Tamar Electronics Industries, Inc., which manufactures electronic and radio equipment. ESI holdings in Tamar amount to 18.5 percent of ESI's assets at May 31, 1967.

At a special meeting held on March 28, 1967, shareholders of ESI voted 3,459,907 to 41,033, of a total of 4,500,000 shares, to approve a proposal to change the nature of ESI's business from that of an investment company to that of an operating company engaged through its majority-owned subsidiaries and controlled companies in manufacturing and other industrial activities.

Section 3(a)(3) of the Act defines an investment company as any issuer which is engaged or proposes to engage in the business of investing, reinvesting, owning, holding, or trading in securities, and owns or proposes to acquire investment securities having a value exceeding 40 per centum of the value of such issuer's total assets (exclusive of Government securities and cash items) on an unconsolidated basis.

Section 8(f) of the Act provides that when the Commission, upon application, finds that a registered investment company has ceased to be an investment company, it shall so declare by order, and that upon the effectiveness of such order, the registration of such company shall cease to be in effect.

Notice is further given that any interested person may, not later than August 23, 1967, at 5:30 p.m., submit to the Commission in writing a request for a hearing on the matter accompanied by a statement as to the nature of his interest, the reason for such request, and the issues of fact or law proposed to be controverted, or he may request that he be notified if the Commission shall order a hearing thereon. Any such communication should be addressed: Secretary, Securities and Exchange Commission, Washington, D.C. 20549. A copy of such request shall be served personally or by mail (air mail if the person being served is located more than 500 miles from the point of mailing) upon ESI at the address set forth above. Proof of such service (by affidavit or in the case of an attorney at law by certificate) shall be filed contemporaneously with the request. At any time after said date, as provided by Rule 0-5 of the rules and regulations promulgated under the Act, an order disposing of the application herein may be issued by the Commission upon the basis of the information stated in said application, unless an order for hearing upon said application shall be issued upon request or upon the Commission's own motion. Persons who request a hearing or advice as to whether a hearing is ordered will receive notice of further developments in this matter, including the date of the hearing (if ordered) and any postponements thereof.

For the Commission (pursuant to delegated authority).

Order Terminating Summary Suspension of Trading

AUGUST 1, 1967.

The 50 cents par value common stock and the 6½ percent convertible subordinated debentures due January 1, 1979, with or without warrants attached, listed and registered on the Pacific Coast Stock Exchange pursuant to provisions of the Securities Exchange Act of 1934 and all other securities of Jade Oil & Gas Co., being traded otherwise than on a national securities exchange; and

The Commission having, on July 28, 1967, issued an order pursuant to sections 15(c)(5) and 19(a)(4) of the Securities Exchange Act of 1934 summarily suspending trading in said securities effective for the period July 29, 1967, through August 7, 1967, both dates inclusive; and

The Commission being of the opinion that the public interest does not require the continuance of said suspension of trading after August 2, 1967;

It is ordered, Pursuant to sections 15(c)(5) and 19(a)(4) of the Securities Exchange Act of 1934, that the suspension of trading pursuant to said order of February 7, 1966, shall terminate effective at the opening of business on August 3, 1967.

MASSACHUSETTS INVESTORS GROWTH STOCK FUND, INC.

Notice of Filing of Application for an Order Exempting Sale by Open-End Company of Its Shares at Price Other Than Public Offering Price

AUGUST 2, 1967.

Notice is hereby given that Massachusetts Investors Growth Stock Fund, Inc. ("Applicant"), 200 Berkeley Street, Boston, Mass. 02116, a management open-end diversified investment company registered under the Investment Company Act of 1940, 15 U.S.C. section 80a-1, et seq., ("Act") has filed an application pursuant to section 6(c) of the Act requesting an order of the Commission exempting from the provisions of section 22(d) of the Act the proposed issuance and delivery of its redeemable securities to Lloyd S. Thornton Co. ("Thornton"), a Michigan corporation, in exchange for substantially all the assets of Thornton, pursuant to a certain Agreement and Plan of Reorganization ("Plan"). Section 22(d) of the Act provides, in pertinent part, that no registered investment company shall sell any redeemable security issued by it to any person except at a current public offering price described in its prospectus. Shares of Applicant are offered to the public at a price which includes a sales commission in addition to their net asset value. Since shares of Applicant will be issued to Thornton at net asset value, without a sales commission, an exemption is requested. Under section 6(c) of the Act the Commission may exempt any transaction from the provisions of the Act if such exemption is necessary or appropriate in the public interest and consistent with the protection of investors and the purposes fairly intended by the policy and provisions of the Act. All interested persons are referred to the application on file with the Commission for a statement of the representations which are summarized below.

Thornton is a personal holding company having two shareholders. It is not making and does not intend to make a public offering of its stock and is excepted from the Act by reason of the provisions of section 3(c)(1) thereof. There is no connection between Thornton and Applicant and no officer or shareholder of Thornton is an affiliated person of the Applicant.

Pursuant to the Plan, substantially all the assets of Thornton will be transferred to Applicant in exchange for shares of Applicant which will be distributed to Thornton's shareholders upon liquidation. Neither Thornton nor its shareholders have any present intention of redeeming shares of Applicant which will be received. The number of shares of Applicant to be delivered to Thornton will be determined on the basis of the net value of Applicant's shares and the value of Thornton's assets to be transferred, subject to certain adjustments set forth in the Plan, as of the close of business on the New York Stock Exchange on the day preceding the date of closing. If the valuation under the Plan had taken place on May 11, 1967, no adjustment would have been necessary and the value of Thornton's total assets of $946,652 to be exchanged would have equaled 73,371 of Applicant's shares at a net asset value per share of $12.90.

Applicant represents that the price was arrived at by arms-length bargaining and that the consummation of the transaction will be beneficial to its shareholders in that certain of its expenses, which will not rise proportionately with an increase in size of its portfolio, will be spread over a larger number of shares and it will be able to acquire a large block of securities without paying brokerage commissions or affecting the market in such securities.

Notice is further given that any interested person may, not later than August 22, 1967, at 5:30 p.m., submit to the Commission in writing a request for a hearing on the matter accompanied by a statement as to the nature of his interest, the reason for such request and the issues of fact or law proposed to be controverted, or he may request that he be notified if the Commission shall order a hearing thereon. Any such communication should be addressed: Secretary, Securities and Exchange Commission, Washington, D.C. 20549. A copy of such request shall be served personally or by mail (airmail if the person being served is located more than 500 miles from the point of mailing) upon Applicant at the address stated above. Proof of such service (by affidavit or in case of an attorney at law by certificate) shall be filed contemporaneously with the request. At any time after said date, as provided by Rule 0-5 of the rules and regulations promulgated under the Act, an order disposing of the application herein may be issued by the Commission upon the basis of the information stated in said application unless an order for hearing upon said application shall be issued upon request or upon the Commission's own motion. Persons who request a hearing or advice as to whether a hearing is ordered will receive notice of further developments in this matter including the date of the hearing (if ordered) and any postponents thereof.

For the Commission (pursuant to delegated authority).

UNDERWATER STORAGE, INC.

Order Terminating Summary Suspension of Trading

AUGUST 2, 1967.

The common stock of Underwater Storage, Inc., being traded otherwise than on a national securities exchange; and

The Commission having, on July 31, 1967, issued an order pursuant to sections 15(c)(5) and 19(a)(4) of the Securities Exchange Act of 1934 summarily suspending trading in said security in the over-the-counter market effective for the period August 1, 1967, through August 10, 1967, inclusive; and

The Commission being of the opinion that the public interest does not require the continuance of said suspension of trading after August 2, 1967;

It is ordered, Pursuant to section 19(a)(4) of the Securities Exchange Act of 1934, that the suspension of trading pursuant to said order of June 9, 1967, including the applicability to said security of section 15(c)(5) under the Securities Exchange Act of 1934, shall terminate at the close of business on August 3, 1967.

By the Commission.

FEDERAL POWER COMMISSION

[Docket Nos. RI68-37 etc.]

ATLANTIC RICHFIELD CO. ET AL.

Order Providing for Hearings on and Suspension of Proposed Changes in Rates[1]

JULY 28, 1967.

The Respondents named herein have filed proposed increased rates and charges of currently effective rate schedules for sales of natural gas under Commission jurisdiction, as set forth in Appendix A below.

The proposed changed rates and charges may be unjust, unreasonable, unduly discriminatory, or preferential, or otherwise unlawful.

The Commission finds: It is in the public interest and consistent with the Natural Gas Act that the Commission enter upon hearings regarding the lawfulness of the proposed changes, and that the supplements herein be suspended and their use be deferred as ordered below.

[1] Does not consolidate for hearing or dispose of the several matters herein.

The Commission orders: (A) Under the Natural Gas Act, particularly sections 4 and 15, the regulations pertaining thereto (18 CFR Ch. I), and the Commission's rules of practice and procedure, public hearings shall be held concerning the lawfulness of the proposed changes.

(B) Pending hearings and decisions thereon, the rate supplements herein are suspended and their use deferred until date shown in the "Date Suspended Until" column, and thereafter until made effective as prescribed by the Natural Gas Act.

(C) Until otherwise ordered by the Commission, neither the suspended supplements, nor the rate schedules sought to be altered, shall be changed until disposition of these proceedings or expiration of the suspension period.

(D) Notices of intervention or petitions to intervene may be filed with the Federal Power Commission, Washington, D.C. 20426, in accordance with the rules of practice and procedure (18 CFR 1.8 and 1.37(f)) on or before September 15, 1967.

By the Commission.

[40] As to production from acreage not covered under footnote 38 above (that is, gas produced within the taxing jurisdiction of the State of Louisiana.

All of the Respondents herein request effective dates for which adequate notice has not been given. Atlantic and Shell also request waiver of the 30-day notice requirements to permit their rates to become effective July 1, 1967. In support, Atlantic states that since its increases are based on periodic not indefinite pricing provisions and three of its increases are fractured rate filings, it should be allowed a July 1, 1967, effective date. Atlantic also contends, in the alternative, that a one day suspension would be appropriate. Shell claims that in view of the moratorium contained in its settlement precluding it from filing its rate increase such increase should become effective July 1, 1967, and if suspended, it should be suspended for only 1 day. Good cause has not been shown for authorizing the requested effective dates, or for waiving the 30-day notice period, or for limiting the suspension period to 1 day, and such requests are therefore denied.

All of the proposed increased rates and charges exceed the applicable area price levels for increased rates as set forth in the Commission's Statement of General Policy No. 61-1, as amended (18 CFR 2.56)

PARKER & PARSLEY ET AL.

Findings and Order After Statutory Hearing

JULY 28, 1967.

Findings and order after statutory hearing issuing small producer certificates of public convenience and necessity, terminating certificates, severing, and terminating rate proceeding,[1] canceling FPC gas rate schedules, granting relief, and requiring filing of refund assurance.

Each Applicant herein has filed an application pursuant to section 7(c) of the Natural Gas Act and § 157.40 of the regulations thereunder for a small producer certificate of public convenience and necessity authorizing the sale and delivery of natural gas in interstate commerce from the Permian Basin area of Texas and New Mexico, as more fully set forth in the applications.

Each Applicant is presently authorized to make sales from the Permian Basin area. Therefore, all certificates issued herein shall be effective as of the date of this order.

The certificates heretofore issued to Applicants for sales of natural gas from the Permian Basin area will be terminated, and, where appropriate, the related rate schedules will be canceled. The suspension proceeding in Docket No. RI64-304 will also be terminated inasmuch as it involves a below ceiling rate.

Applicants in many instances are presently authorized to collect rates in excess of the applicable area base rates, which are effective subject to refund in outstanding suspension proceedings. Applicant in Docket No. CS67-95 has filed for an increased rate of 14.69575 cents per Mcf which was suspended in Docket No. RI60-83, but has not made such rate effective subject to refund.

[1] Docket No. RI64-304 is to be severed from the show cause order in Docket No. AR51-1 et al., and terminated.

Some of the Applicants have not indicated whether they wish to continue the collection of above ceiling rates in accordance with the principles set forth in the Rodman and Late, et al., Docket No. CS66-48 et al., order issued February 6, 1967. It has been our experience, however, that most small producers desire such relief. Accordingly, Applicants who have above-ceiling rates on file will be allowed to continue collection of rates in excess of the applicable area base rate prescribed in Opinion No. 468, 34 FPC 159, subject to the provisions of this order.[2] Applicant in Docket No. CS67-95 will be allowed to collect the suspended 14.69575-cent rate in Docket No. RI60-83 effective as of the date of this order if Applicant files appropriate refund assurance as hereinafter ordered. However, Applicants are advised that in lieu of their above-ceiling rates, they may collect, upon notification to the Commission within 30 days of this order, a rate not in excess of the applicable area base rate as provided in the small producer certificates.

The above-ceiling rates mentioned above will be subject to rejection as of the date of this order in the event the Permian court stay is dissolved or the moratorium provisions in Opinion Nos. 468 and 468-A are upheld ultimately upon judicial review. The collection of such rates will also be subject to the refund provisions of paragraph (D) of Opinion No. 468, as well as the refund provisions of the applicable suspension proceeding.

The Commission staff has reviewed each application and recommends each action ordered as consistent with all substantive Commission policies and required by the public convenience and necessity.

After due notice no petition to intervene, notice of intervention, or protest to the granting of the application has been received.

At a hearing held on July 20, 1967, the Commission on its own motion received and made a part of the record in this proceeding all evidence, including the applications, submitted in support of the authorizations sought herein, and upon consideration of the record.

The Commission finds:

(1) Applicants are engaged in the sale of natural gas in interstate commerce for resale for ultimate public consumption, subject to the jurisdiction of the Commission, and each is, therefore, a "natural-gas company" within the meaning of the Natural Gas Act.

(2) The sales of natural gas hereinbefore described, as more fully described in the applications herein will be made in interstate commerce subject to the jurisdiction of the Commission, and such sales by Applicants, together with the construction and operation of any facilities necessary therefor will be subject to the requirements of subsections (c) and (e) of section 7 of the Natural Gas Act.

(3) Applicants are able and willing properly to do the acts and to perform the service proposed and to conform to the provisions of the Natural Gas Act and the requirements, rules, and regulations of the Commission thereunder.

(4) Each Applicant is an independent producer of natural gas who is not affiliated with a natural gas pipeline company and whose total jurisdictional sales on a nationwide basis, together with the sales of affiliated producers, were not in excess of 10 million Mcf of natural gas at 14.65 p.s.i.a. during the preceding calendar year.

(5) The sales of natural gas by Applicants, together with the construction and operation of any facilities necessary therefor, are required by the public convenience and necessity, and small producer certificates of public convenience and necessity therefor should be issued as hereinafter ordered and conditioned.

(6) It is necessary and appropriate in carrying out the provisions of the Natural Gas Act that the certificates heretofore issued to Applicants be terminated and, where appropriate, the related rate schedules canceled.

The Commission orders:

(A) Small producer certificates of public convenience and necessity are issued upon the terms and conditions of this order authorizing the sale for resale and the delivery of natural gas in interstate commerce by Applicants from the Permian Basin area of Texas and New Mexico, together with the construction and operation of any facilities subject to the jurisdiction of the Commission necessary therefor, all as more fully described in the applications in this proceeding.

(B) The certificates granted in paragraph (A) above are not transferable and shall be effective only so long as the Applicants continue the acts or operations hereby authorized in accordance with the provisions of the Natural Gas Act and the applicable rules, regulations, and orders of the Commission and particularly:

(a) The subject certificates shall be applicable only to all present and future "small producer sales", as defined in § 157.40(a)(3) of the regulations under the Natural Gas Act, from the Permian Basin area;

(b) Except where otherwise stated herein, sales shall not be at rates in excess of those set forth in § 157.40(b)(1) of the regulations under the Natural Gas Act; however, Applicants may collect the rates set forth in paragraphs (G) and (I) and for sales authorized prior to September 1, 1965, may file notices of changes in rate for any contractually authorized rates in excess of the ceiling rates, which increased rates shall be subject to suspension pursuant to section 4(e) of the Natural Gas Act and subsequently may be rejected as of the date of filing as provided by the Order Granting Relief, issued February 6, 1967, in Docket No. CS66-48 et al.;

[2] All of the suspension proceedings listed in the appendix with the exception of Docket No. RI64-304, involve above-ceiling rates.

(c) Applicants shall file annual statements pursuant to § 154.104 of the regulations under the Natural Gas Act.

(C) The certificates granted in paragraph (A) above shall remain in effect for small producer sales until the Commission on its own motion or on application terminates said certificates because Applicants no longer qualify as small producers or fail to comply with the requirements of the Natural Gas Act, the regulations thereunder, or the terms of the certificates. Upon such termination Applicants will be required to file separate certificate applications and individual rate schedules for future sales. To the extent compliance with the terms of this order is observed, the small producer certificates will still be effective as to those sales already included thereunder.

(D) The grant of the certificates issued in paragraph (A) above shall not be construed as a waiver of the requirements of section 7 of the Natural Gas Act or Part 157 of the Commission's Regulations thereunder, and is without prejudice to any findings or orders which have been or may hereafter be made by the Commission in any proceedings now pending or hereafter instituted by or against the Applicants. Further, our action in this proceeding shall not foreclose nor prejudice any future proceedings or objections relating to the operation of any price or related provisions in the gas purchase contracts herein involved. Nor shall the grant of the certificates aforesaid for service to the particular producers involved imply approval of all of the terms of the contracts, particularly as to the cessation of service upon termination of said contracts as provided by section 7(b) of the Natural Gas Act. Nor shall the grant of the certificates aforesaid be construed to preclude the imposition of any sanctions pursuant to the provision of the Natural Gas Act for the unauthorized commencement of any sales subject to said certificates.

(E) The certificates issued in paragraph (A) above are effective as of the date of this order.

(F) The certificates heretofore issued to Applicants for sales of natural gas from the Permian Basin area are terminated, Docket No. RI64-304 is severed from the show cause order issued August 5, 1965, in Docket No. AR61-1 et al. and terminated, and, where appropriate, the related FPC gas rate schedules are cancelled as set forth in the appendix below.

(G) Applicant in Docket No. CS67-95 may charge and collect a rate of 14.69575 cents per Mcf under his FPC Gas Rate Schedule No. 1 effective as of the date of this order, subject to refund in Docket No. RI60-83 and to the provisions of paragraph (J), upon compliance with paragraph (H) hereof.

(H) Applicant in Docket No. CS67-95 shall file within 30 days of the issuance of this order in the attached form as refund assurance an agreement and undertaking in Docket No. RI60-83 to assure the refund of any amounts collected by it, together with interest at the rate of 7 percent per annum, in excess of the amount determined to be just and reasonable in said proceeding. Unless notified to the contrary by the Secretary of the Commission within 30 days from the date of submission, such agreement and undertaking shall be deemed to have been accepted for filing. Applicant shall also comply with the refunding and reporting procedures set forth in § 157.102 of the regulations under the Natural Gas Act.

(I) Applicants in Docket Nos. CS67-25, CS67-79, CS67-92, and CS67-94 shall continue to charge and collect the above ceiling rates involved in the suspension proceedings listed in the appendix subject to refund in such proceedings and to the provisions in paragraph (J) herein.

(J) The rates allowed to be collected under paragraphs (G) and (I) above are subject to rejection as of the date of the issuance of this order in the event the Permian court stay is dissolved or the moratorium provision in Opinion Nos. 468 and 468-A is upheld ultimately upon judicial review. The collection of such rates is also subject to the refund provisions of paragraph (D) of Opinion No. 468 as well as the refund provisions of the appropriate suspension proceedings.

(K) Applicants may collect, in lieu of the rates authorized in paragraphs (G) and (I) upon notification to the Commission within 30 days of this order, a rate not in excess of the applicable area base rates as provided in the small producer certificates.

By the Commission.

Findings and Order After Statutory Hearing

JULY 28, 1967.

Findings and order after statutory hearing issuing small producer certificates of public convenience and necessity, terminating certificates, amending order issuing certificates, terminating proceedings, and canceling FPC Gas Rate Schedules.

Each Applicant herein has filed an application pursuant to section 7(c) of the Natural Gas Act and § 157.40 of the regulations thereunder for a small producer certificate of public convenience and necessity authorizing the sale and delivery of natural gas in interstate commerce from the Permian Basin area of Texas and New Mexico, all as more fully set forth in the applications.

All Applicants, except those in Docket Nos. CS67-98, CS67-100, and CS67-101, are presently authorized to sell natural gas from the Permian Basin area. The small producer certificates issued to presently authorized Applicants will be effective as of the date of this order. Applicant in Docket No. CS67-100 has filed for future sales to be made from the Permian Basin area but has requested that his interest in sales presently being made under Alexander G. Kasper & Frank Kell Cahoon (Operator), et al., FPC Gas Rate Schedule No. 1 and related certificate, Docket No. CI62-36, be excluded from the small producer authorization. The certificate issued to Applicant in Docket No. CS67-100 will be effective on the date of initial delivery and Applicant's interest in Docket No. CI62-36 will be excluded from the small producer authorization. The small producer certificates issued to Applicants in Docket Nos. CS67-98 and CS67-101 will also be effective on the date of initial delivery. Applicant in Docket No. CS67-21 has succeeded to the interest of W. C. Tyrrell, Trust. The certificate heretofore issued in Docket No. CS67-21 will be amended to designate W. C. Tyrell, Jr. as certificate holder with the effective date of that designation the date of the transfer of the interest involved.

In accordance with the principles set forth in the order issued February 6, 1967, in Rodman and Late, et al., Docket No. CS66-48 et al., Applicants herein, pending judicial review of Opinion No. 468, 34 FPC 159, will be permitted to file for above-ceiling rates for sales authorized under permanent or temporary certificates prior to September 1, 1965. However, before collecting an above-ceiling rate each Applicant contractually authorized to do such will be required to file a notice of change in rate relating to such sale, as well as requesting reinstatement of the related rate schedule. Any such notice of change in rate will be subject to suspension pursuant to section 4(e) of the Natural Gas Act.

Applicants in Docket Nos. CS67-78, CS67-80, CS67-81, CS67-86, CS67-87, and CS67-88 are presently effecting sales through their (operator's, Pan American Petroleum Corp.) Docket No. G-11564, which docket will be amended to delete the "et al." interest of Applicants and the related rate schedules will be canceled. These Applicants are presently collecting without refund 14.5 cents per Mcf which is equal to the applicable area base rate. Two underlying rates of 13.0504 cents and 14.0552 cents per Mcf were, however, collected subject to refund in Pan American Docket Nos. G-17059 and RI64-293, respectively. Since the present rate is equal to the area base rate, the above-mentioned rate proceedings will be terminated insofar as they pertain to the "et al." interests of the subject applications and the Applicants will be relieved of any refund obligations pertaining thereto.

The Commission staff has reviewed each application and recommends each action ordered as consistent with all substantive Commission policies and required by the public convenience and necessity.

After due notice no petition to intervene, notice of intervention, or protest to the granting of the applications has been received.

At a hearing held on July 20, 1967, the Commission on its own motion received and made a part of the record in this proceeding all evidence, including the applications and exhibits thereto, submitted in support of the authorizations sought herein, and upon consideration of the record,

The Commission finds:

(1) Each Applicant is engaged in the sale of natural gas in interstate commence for resale for ultimate public consumption, subject to the jurisdiction of the Commission, and each is, therefore, a "natural-gas company" within the meaning of the Natural Gas Act as heretofore found by the Commission.

(2) The sales of natural gas hereinbefore described, as more fully described in the applications herein, will be made in interstate commerce subject to the jurisdiction of the Commission, and such sales by Applicants, together with the construction and operation of any facilities necessary therefor will be subject to the requirements of subsections (c) and (e) of section 7 of the Natural Gas Act.

(3) Applicants are able and willing properly to do the acts and to perform the service proposed and to conform to the provisions of the Natural Gas Act and the requirements, rules, and regulations of the Commission thereunder.

(4) Applicants are independent producers of natural gas who are not affiliated with natural gas pipeline companies and whose total jurisdictional sales on a nationwide basis, together with the sales of affiliated producers, were not in excess of 10,000,000 Mcf of natural gas at 14.65 p.s.i.a. during the preceding calendar year.

(5) The sales of natural gas by Applicants, together with the construction and operation of any facilities subject to the jurisdiction of the Commission necessary therefor, are required by the public convenience and necessity, and small producer certificates of public convenience and necessity therefor should be issued as hereinafter ordered and conditioned.

(6) It is necessary and appropriate in carrying out the provisions of the Natural Gas Act that the certificates heretofore issued in Docket Nos. G-3697, G-7228, and G-10363 to Applicants in Docket Nos. CS67-89, CS67-90, and CS67-97, respectively, should be terminated and the related rate schedules canceled.

(7) It is necessary and appropriate in carrying out the provisions of the Natural Gas Act and the public convenience and necessity require that the certificate heretofore issued in Docket No. CS67-21 should be amended to show W. C. Tyrrell, Jr., et al., as the certificate holder.

(8) It is necessary and appropriate in carrying out the provisions of the Natural Gas Act and the public convenience and necessity require that the certificate heretofore issued in Docket No. G-11564 should be amended to delete the interests of Applicants in Docket Nos. CS67-78, CS67-80, CS67-81, CS67-86, CS67-87, and CS67-88, and the related rate schedules should be canceled.

The Commission orders:

(A) Small producer certificates of public convenience and necessity are issued upon the terms and conditions of this order authorizing the sale for resale and delivery of natural gas in interstate commerce by Applicants from the Permian Basin area of Texas and New Mexico, together with the construction and operation of any facilities subject to the jurisdiction of the Commission necessary therefor, all as more fully described in the applications in this proceeding.

(B) The certificates granted in paragraph (A) above are not transferable and shall be effective only so long as Applicants continue the acts or operations hereby authorized in accordance with the provisions of the Natural Gas Act and the applicable rules, regulations, and orders of the Commission, and particularly:

(a) The subject certificates shall be applicable only to all previous and all future "small producer sales", as defined in § 157.40(a)(3) of the regulations under the Natural Gas Act, from the Permian Basin area.

(b) Sales shall not be at rates in excess of those set forth in § 157.40(b)(1) of the regulations under the Natural Gas Act; however, for sales authorized under permanent or temporary certificates prior to September 1, 1965, Applicants may file notices of changes in rate for any contractually authorized rates in excess of the ceiling rates, which increased rates shall be subject to suspension pursuant to section 4(e) of the Natural Gas Act and subsequently may be rejected as of the date of filing, as provided by the order granting relief issued February 6, 1967, in Docket No. CS66-48, et al.

(c) Applicants shall file annual statements pursuant to § 154.104 of the regulations under the Natural Gas Act.

(C) The certificates granted in paragraph (A) above shall remain in effect for small producer sales until the Commission on its own motion or on application terminates said certificates because Applicants no longer qualify as small producers or fail to comply with the requirements of the Natural Gas Act, the regulations thereunder, or the terms of the certificates. Upon such termination, Applicants will be required to file separate certificate applications and individual rate schedules for future sales. To the extent compliance with the terms of this order is observed, the small producer certificates will still be effective as to those sales already included thereunder.

(D) The grant of the certificates issued in paragraph (A) above shall not be construed as a waiver of the requirements of section 7 of the Natural Gas Act or Part 157 of the Commission's regulations thereunder, and is without prejudice to any findings or orders which have been or may hereafter be made by the Commission in any proceedings now pending or hereafter instituted by or against Applicants. Further, our action in this proceeding shall not foreclose nor prejudice any future proceedings or objections relating to the operation of any price or related provisions in the gas purchase contracts herein involved. Nor shall the grant of the certificates aforesaid for service to the particular customers involved imply approval of all of the terms of the contracts, particular as to the cessation of service upon termination of said contracts as provided by section 7(b) of the Natural Gas Act. Nor shall the grant of the certificates aforesaid to be construed to preclude the imposition of any sanction pursuant to the provisions of the Natural Gas Act for the unauthorized commencement of any sales subject to said certificates.

(E) The certificates issued to Applicants in Docket Nos. CS67–67, CS67–80, CS67–81, CS67–86, CS67–87, CS67–88, CS67–89, CS67–90, and CS67–97 are effective as of the date of this order; the certificates issued to Applicants in Docket Nos. CS67–98, CS67–100, and CS67–101 are effective as of the date of initial delivery. The certificate issued to Applicant in Docket No. CS67–100 does not cover Applicants interest in sales presently being made under Alexander G. Kasper & Frank Kell Cahoon (Operator), et al., FPC Gas Rate Schedule No. 1 and the related certificate, Docket No. CI62–36.

(F) The certificate heretofore issued in Docket No. CS67–21 is amended to show W. C. Tyrrell, Jr., et al., as the certificate holder, effective the date of the transfer of the interest from W. C. Tyrrell, Trust.

(G) The certificates heretofore issued in Docket Nos. G–3697, G–7228, and G–10363 to Applicants in Docket Nos. CS67–89, CS67–90, and CS67–97, respectively, are terminated and the related rate schedules as set forth in the appendix below, are canceled.

(H) The certificate heretofore issued in Docket No. G–11564 is amended to delete the interests of Applicants in Docket Nos. CS67–78, CS67–80, CS67–81, CS67–86, CS67–87, and CS67–88, and the related rate schedules, as set forth in the appendix, are canceled.

(I) Inasmuch as Applicants in paragraph (H) above are collecting a rate which is equal to the applicable area base rate, the suspension proceedings of their operator, Pan American Petroleum Corp., in Docket Nos. G–17059 and RI64–293 are terminated insofar as they pertain to the "et al." interests of said Applicants.

By the Commission.

[Docket No. CP68–27]

FLORIDA GAS TRANSMISSION CO.

Notice of Application

JULY 31, 1967.

Take notice that on July 24, 1967, Florida Gas Transmission Co. (Applicant), Post Office Box 44, Winter Park, Fla. 32789, filed in Docket No. CP68–27 an application pursuant to subsection (c) of section 7 of the Natural Gas Act for a certificate of public convenience and necessity authorizing the construction and operation of certain natural gas facilities and the sale and delivery of volumes of natural gas in interstate commerce for resale and distribution, all as more fully set forth in the application which is on file with the Commission and open to public inspection.

Specifically, Applicant seeks authorization to construct and operate a line tap and meter station, together with necessary appurtenances, at a point adjacent to its 16-inch Jacksonville Lateral pipeline near Marietta, Duval County, Fla. Applicant also seeks authorization to sell and deliver, through the facilities proposed above, volumes of natural gas to Ocean Highway and Port Authority (Authority) for resale and distribution in the communities of city of Fernandina Beach, Yulee, Callahan, Hilliard, Oceanway, San Mateo Subdivision, Garden City, Highlands Subdivision, Dinsmore, Marietta, and their environs, all in the State of Florida, and the city of Folkston, Ga.

Applicant estimates the third year peak daily and annual natural gas requirements of Authority at 6,069 Mcf and 425,395 Mcf, respectively.

Applicant estimates the total cost of the proposed facilities at approximately $32,500, said cost to be financed from cash on hand.

Protests or petitions to intervene may be filed with the Federal Power Commission, Washington, D.C. 20426, in accordance with the rules of practice and procedure (18 CFR 1.8 or 1.10) and the regulations under the Natural Gas Act (157.10) on or before August 28, 1967.

Take further notice that, pursuant to the authority contained in and subject to the jurisdiction conferred upon the Federal Power Commission by sections 7 and 15 of the Natural Gas Act and the Commission's rules of practice and procedure, a hearing will be held without further notice before the Commission on this application if no protest or petition to intervene is filed within the time required herein, if the Commission on its own review of the matter finds that a grant of the certificate is required by the public convenience and necessity. If a protest or petition for leave to intervene is timely filed, or if the Commission on its own motion believes that a formal hearing is required, further notice of such hearing will be duly given.

Under the procedure herein provided for, unless otherwise advised, it will be unnecessary for Applicant to appear or be represented at the hearing.

MOTOR CARRIER TEMPORARY AUTHORITY APPLICATIONS

AUGUST 3, 1967.

The following are notices of filing of applications for temporary authority under section 210a(a) of the Interstate Commerce Act provided for under the new rules of Ex Parte No. MC 67 (49 CFR Part 340) published in the FEDERAL REGISTER, issue of April 27, 1965, effective July 1, 1965. These rules provide that protests to the granting of an application must be filed with the field official named in the FEDERAL REGISTER publication, within 15 calendar days after the date of notice of the filing of the application is published in the FEDERAL REGISTER. One copy of such protest must be served on the applicant, or its authorized representative, if any, and the protests must certify that such service has been made. The protest must be specific as to the service which such protestant can and will offer, and must consist of a signed original and six copies.

A copy of the application is on file, and can be examined at the Office of the Secretary, Interstate Commerce Commission, Washington, D.C., and also in the field office to which protests are to be transmitted.

Guide to Record Retention Requirements

[Revised as of January 1, 1967]

This useful reference tool is designed to keep businessmen and the general public informed concerning published requirements in laws and regulations relating to record retention. It contains over 900 digests detailing the retention periods for the many types of records required to be kept under Federal laws and rules.

The "Guide" tells the user (1) what records must be kept, (2) who must keep them, and (3) how long they must be kept. Each digest also includes a reference to the full text of the basic law or regulation providing for such retention.

The booklet's index, numbering over 2,000 items, lists for ready reference the categories of persons, companies, and products affected by Federal record retention requirements.

Price: 40 cents

PART 52—PROCESSED FRUITS AND VEGETABLES, PROCESSED PRODUCTS THEREOF, AND CERTAIN OTHER PROCESSED FOOD PRODUCTS

Subpart—United States Standards For Grades of Green Olives [1]

UNIFORMITY OF SIZE

A proposal to amend the United States Standards for Grades of Green Olives was published in the FEDERAL REGISTER of June 17, 1967 (32 F.R. 8719). Interested persons were given 30 days to submit written data, views, or arguments.

Statement of consideration leading to the amendment. Only one recommendation was received in response to the notice of proposed rule making. The recommendation was not adopted because it would have made the provisions of the proposed amendment applicable only to green olives that had been grown in California. After considering the submitted recommendation and the proposal set forth herein, the following amendment to the United States Standards for Grades of Green Olives is hereby promulgated pursuant to the authority contained in the Agricultural Marketing Act of 1946 (Secs. 202-208, 60 Stat. 1087, as amended; 7 U.S.C. 1621–1627).

The amendment is:

Section 52.5452(d) is changed to read:

§ 52.5452 Uniformity of size.

* * * * *

(d) (C) Classification. Whole, pitted, and stuffed style green olives of a single size that are fairly uniform in size may be given a score of 14 or 15 points. Green olives that fall into this classification shall not be graded above U.S. Grade C, regardless of the total score for the product (this is a limiting rule). "Fairly uniform in size" means that of all the olives, in 60 percent, by count, that are most uniform in diameter the olive with the largest diameter does not exceed the olive with the smallest diameter by more than 1/16 inch. Olives of whole style that count 221 to 275 per pound shall not be graded above U.S. Grade C or U.S. Standard, regardless of the total score for the product.

* * * * *

[1] Compliance with the provisions of these standards shall not excuse failure to comply with the provisions of the Federal Food, Drug, and Cosmetic Act or with applicable state laws and regulations.

The amendment to the United States Standards for Grades of Green Olives, contained in this subpart, shall become effective 30 days after publication hereof in the FEDERAL REGISTER, and will thereupon supersede the applicable section of the United States Standards for Grades of Green Olives which have been in effect since January 3, 1967.

(Secs. 202–208, 60 Stat. 1087, as amended; 7 U.S.C. 1621–1627)

[Valencia Orange Reg. 213, Amdt. 1]

PART 908—VALENCIA ORANGES GROWN IN ARIZONA AND DESIGNATED PART OF CALIFORNIA

Limitation of Handling

Findings. (1) Pursuant to the marketing agreement, as amended, and Order No. 908, as amended (7 CFR Part 908), regulating the handling of Valencia oranges grown in Arizona and designated part of California, effective under the applicable provisions of the Agricultural Marketing Agreement Act of 1937, as amended (7 U.S.C. 601–674), and upon the basis of the recommendation and information submitted by the Valencia Orange Administrative Committee, established under the said amended marketing agreement and order, and upon other available information, it is hereby found that the limitation of handling of such Valencia oranges, as hereinafter provided, will tend to effectuate the declared policy of the act.

(2) It is hereby further found that it is impracticable and contrary to the public interest to give preliminary notice, engage in public rule-making procedure, and postpone the effective date of this amendment until 30 days after publication thereof in the FEDERAL REGISTER (5 U.S.C. 553) because the time intervening between the date when information upon which this amendment is based became available and the time when this amendment must become effective in order to effectuate the declared policy of the act is insufficient, and this amendment relieves restriction on the handling of Valencia oranges grown in Arizona and designated part of California.

Order, as amended. The provisions in paragraph (b) (1) (i) and (ii) of § 908.513 (Valencia Orange Regulation 213, 32 F.R. 11073) are hereby amended to read as follows:

PART 13—PROHIBITED TRADE PRACTICES

Coran Bros. Corp. and John and Charles Coran

Subpart—Misrepresenting oneself and goods—Goods: § 13.1590 Composition; § 13.1685 Nature; § 13.1715 Quality.

(Sec. 6, 38 Stat. 721; 15 U.S.C. 46. Interpret or apply sec. 5, 38 Stat. 719, as amended; 15 U.S.C. 45) [Cease and desist order, Coran Bros. Corporation et al., Boston, Mass., Docket 8697, July 11, 1967]

In the Matter of Coran Bros. Corporation, a Corporation, and John Coran and Charles Coran, Individually and as Officers of said Corporation

Order requiring a Boston, Mass., distributor of commercial solders to cease misrepresenting the nature, quality or composition of any of its solder products.

The order to cease and desist is as follows:

It is ordered, That respondents, Coran Bros. Corp., a corporation, and its officers, and John Coran, individually and as an officer of said corporation, and respondents' agents, representatives and employees, directly or through any corporate or other device, in connection with the offering for sale, sale or distribution of solders, in commerce, as "commerce" is defined in the Federal Trade Commission Act, do forthwith cease and desist from:

(1) Using the designation 50/50 alone or in conjunction with the words "by volume" to designate, describe or refer to a commercial solder which does not contain 50 percent tin by weight: Provided, however, That it shall be a defense in any enforcement proceeding hereunder for respondent to establish that the tin content of a solder is within the permissible variations in composition allowed in the sampling procedures set forth in the then existing Specifications for Solder Metal as published by the American Society for Testing and Materials.

(2) Using the designation 40/60 alone or in conjunction with the words "by volume" to designate, describe or refer to a commercial solder which does not contain 40 percent tin by weight: Provided, however, That it shall be a defense in any enforcement proceeding hereunder for respondent to establish that the tin content of a solder is within the permissible variations in composition allowed in the sampling procedures set forth in the then existing Specifications for Solder Metal as published by the American Society for Testing and Materials.

(3) Misrepresenting by any numerical designation or in any other manner the nature, quality or composition of any of their solders.

It is further ordered that the complaint be, and the same hereby is, dismissed as to Charles Coran in his individual capacity.

By "Final Order" further order requiring report of compliance is as follows:

It is further ordered, That respondents shall, within 60 days after service upon them of this order, file with the Commission a report, in writing, setting forth in detail the manner and form in which they have complied with the order to cease and desist.

Issued: July 11, 1967.

By the Commission. In view of the unusual circumstances presented by this record, Commissioners Elman and Jones do not believe it is necessary to hold individual respondent John Coran.

Title 26—INTERNAL REVENUE

Chapter I—Internal Revenue Service, Department of the Treasury

SUBCHAPTER A—INCOME TAX

[T.D. 6926]

PART 1—INCOME TAX; TAXABLE YEARS BEGINNING AFTER DECEMBER 31, 1953

Date of Sale in the Case of Short Sales of Stock or Securities at a Loss

On May 2, 1967, notice of proposed rule making with respect to the amendment of the Income Tax Regulations (26 CFR Part 1) under sections 1091 (relating to wash sales of stock or securities) and 1233 (relating to gains and losses from short sales) of the Internal Revenue Code of 1954 was published in the FEDERAL REGISTER (32 F.R. 6891). After consideration of all such relevant matter as was presented by interested persons regarding the rules proposed, the amendment of the regulations as proposed is hereby adopted.

(Sec. 7805 of the Internal Revenue Code of 1954; 68A Stat. 917; 26 U.S.C. 7805)

[SEAL] SHELDON S. COHEN, Commissioner of Internal Revenue.

Approved: August 4, 1967.

STANLEY S. SURREY, Assistant Secretary of the Treasury.

PARAGRAPH 1. Section 1.1091–1 is amended by redesignating paragraph (g) as paragraph (h) and by adding a new paragraph (g). This added provision reads as follows:

§ 1.1091–1 Losses from wash sales of stock or securities.

* * * * * *

(g) For purposes of determining under this section the 61-day period applicable to a short sale of stock or securities, the principles of paragraph (a) of § 1.1233–1 for determining the consummation of a short sale shall generally apply except that the date of entering into the short sale shall be deemed to be the date of sale if, on the date of entering into the short sale, the taxpayer owns (or on or before such date has entered into a contract or option to acquire) stock or securities identical to those sold short and subsequently delivers such stock or securities to close the short sale.

* * * * * *

PAR. 2. Paragraph (a) of § 1.1233–1 is amended by adding a new subparagraph (5). This added provision reads as follows:

§ 1.1233–1 Gains and losses from short sales.

(a) General. * * *

(5) For rules for determining the date of sale for purposes of applying under section 1091 the 61-day period applicable to a short sale of stock or securities at a loss, see paragraph (g) of § 1.1091–1.

* * * * * *

PAR. 3. The amendment is effective for taxable years beginning after December 31, 1953, and ending after August 16, 1954, except that the special rule treating the date of entering into a short sale as the date of sale shall be applied only in the case of short sales entered into after the date on which this notice is published in the FEDERAL REGISTER.

SUBCHAPTER A—GENERAL

PART 200—INTRODUCTION

Subpart D—Delegations of Basic Authority and Functions

ASSISTANT COMMISSIONER FOR ADMINISTRATION AND DEPUTY AND DIRECTOR OF MANAGEMENT DIVISION AND DEPUTY

In § 200.68 new paragraphs (l) and (m) are added to read as follows:

§ 200.68 Assistant Commissioner for Administration and Deputy.

* * * * * *

(l) To approve for payment travel and other expenses incidental to the transfer of an employee to a new duty station, as provided in the Administrative Expenses Act.

(m) To authorize the issuance of Consolidated Travel Authorizations and the procurement of automobiles from the GSA Interagency Motor Pool, and to approve the use of Government owned or leased motor vehicles between the employee's residence and place of employment, in those cases in which it is determined that such use is necessary for the proper performance of the official duties of the employee involved, and the interests of the Government are best served.

In § 200.72 the introductory text is amended and a new paragraph (k) is added to read as follows:

§ 200.72 Director of the Management Division and Deputy.

To the position of Director of the Management Division and under his general supervision to the Deputy Director of the Management Division, and with respect to paragraphs (g), (h), and (l) of this section to the Chief of the Contracting Section there is delegated the following basic authority and functions:

* * * * * *

(k) To authorize the issuance of Consolidated Travel Authorizations and the procurement of automobiles from the GSA Interagency Motor Pool, and to approve the use of Government owned or leased motor vehicles between the employee's residence and place of employment, in those cases in which it is determined that such use is necessary for the proper performance of the official duties of the employee involved, and the interests of the Government are best served.

SUBCHAPTER B—CLAIMS AND ACCOUNTS

PART 536—CLAIMS AGAINST THE UNITED STATES

Claims Arising in Foreign Countries

In § 536.26, paragraphs (i) (1) (iv), (k) (3), (n) (4), (5), (6), and (7), and (p) (2) (iv) are revised, as follows:

§ 536.26 Claims arising in foreign countries.

* * * * * *

(i) Causation. (1) * * *

(iv) Civilian employees who are not U.S. citizens, and who were hired in the country in which they are employed and in which the incident occurred while acting within the scope of employment. Claims arising from the operation of U.S. Armed Forces vehicles or other equipment by the employees described in the preceding paragraph may be paid, even though the employees are not acting within the scope of their employment, provided the employer and owner of the vehicle or other equipment would be liable under local law in the circumstances involved.

* * * * * *

(k) Claims not payable. * * *

(3) Falls under the Federal Employees' Compensation Act (5 U.S.C. 8101–8150); the Longshoremen's and Harbor workers' Compensation Act (44 Stat. 1424, 33 U.S.C. 901), as made applicable to civilian employees of nonappropriated fund instrumentalities of the U.S. Armed Forces. See 5 U.S.C. 8171–8175; or other workmen's compensation laws or regulations, including local laws or custom, concerning which contribution is made or insurance premiums paid, directly or indirectly, on behalf of the injured employee of the United States, unless—

(i) The injuries did not result from a normal risk of employment,

(ii) Compensation is not payable under any of the above, and

(iii) Consideration of the claim under this section is authorized by the Chief, U.S. Army Claims Service.

* * * * * *

(n) Foreign claims commissions. * * *

(4) Monetary jurisdiction. A one-member foreign claims commission who is an officer of The Judge Advocate General's Corps may approve in full, in part, or disapprove claims presented in, or amended to, an amount not in excess of $1,000. The monetary jurisdiction of all other one-member foreign claims commissions is limited to $250. A three-member commission is authorized to settle claims which, as presented or amended, are for not more than $15,000, and claims in excess of $15,000 which the Secretary of the Army or his designee has determined to be meritorious in an amount not in excess of $15,000. Any allowance exceeding $5,000 requires the approval of the appointing authority, or his staff judge advocate. The execution of a settlement agreement in an amount less than the amount originally claimed constitutes an amendment of the claim. Thus, a commission may consider and settle a claim regardless of the amount originally claimed provided a settlement agreement is executed for an amount within its jurisdiction. Similarly, a claim may be amended by an unequivocal statement in writing from claimant to the effect that he will accept in settlement less than the amount originally claimed.

(5) Consideration. After it receives a claim, a foreign claims commission may initiate or request any further investigation considered necessary for proper consideration of the claim. If considered necessary, hearings may be conducted. It may confer with the claimant to determine pertinent facts or, in an appropriate case (e.g., a claim filed for an amount in excess of the commission's jurisdiction but considered meritorious in an amount within its jurisdiction), point out to claimant that early settlement could be facilitated by amending the claim to an amount within the jurisdiction of the commission. The commission's action will be in the form of a seven-paragraph memorandum or a small claims certificate, DA Form 1668.

(6) Settlement authority—(i) Claims not in excess of $1,000. A one-member foreign claims commission who is an officer of The Judge Advocate General's Corps may approve in full, in part, or disapprove, claims presented in, or amended to, an amount not in excess of $1,000. Any other one-member foreign claims commission may approve in full, in part, or disapprove, claims presented in, or amended to, an amount not in excess of $250.

(ii) Claims not in excess of $5,000. A three-member foreign claims commission has authority to approve in full, in part, or disapprove, claims presented for, or amended to, an amount not in excess of $5,000.

(iii) Claims not in excess of $15,000. A three-member foreign claims commission may approve in full, in part, or disapprove, claims presented in, or amended to, an amount not in excess of $15,000; however, an award in excess of $5,000 is subject to approval by the appointing authority. When a commission recommends payment of an amount in excess of $5,000, but not in excess of $15,000, the appointing authority may:

(a) Approve the recommended award, or any lesser amount over $5,000,

(b) Disapprove any award over $5,000 and return the claim to the commission, which may, after giving consideration to whatever amount is considered payable by the appointing authority, pay any amount not to exceed $5,000, or

(c) Inform the commission that the claim is not considered meritorious in any amount and request that it reconsider its action. After considering the determination of the appointing authority, the commission may disapprove the claim or pay any amount not exceeding $5,000.

An appointing authority may designate his staff judge advocate to act for him on all claims matters.

(iv) Claims in excess of $15,000. Claims in excess of $15,000 which are not amended to an amount within the monetary jurisdiction of a three-member foreign claims commission will be forwarded through the appointing authority to the Chief, U.S. Army Claims Service for action by the Secretary of the Army. The claim file will contain a seven-paragraph memorandum prepared by a three-member foreign claims commission recommending the action to be taken by the Secretary of the Army. If the claim is cognizable under the Foreign Claims Act, the Secretary of the Army, or his designee, may:

(a) Disapprove the claim;

(b) Determine the claim is meritorious in an amount not in excess of $15,000 and refer it to an appropriate three-member foreign claims commission for settlement; or

(c) Approve the claim in an amount in excess of $15,000, and after receipt of an agreement by claimant to accept the award in full satisfaction of the entire claim, refer it to Congress for its consideration.

Foreign claims commissions should, in appropriate cases, consult with claimants with a view to obtaining a reduction of the claim to $15,000, or less in order to obviate the need for Secretarial action.

(7) Reconsideration. (i) While there is no appeal from the action of a foreign claims commission, any request from a claimant, or someone acting in his behalf, which in effect asks for a change in the commission's action, will be treated as a request for reconsideration and referred to the commission which acted on the claim, if it is still in existence. If that commission is no longer in existence, a different commission will be designated by the Chief, U.S. Army Claims Service to act as a successor commission.

(ii) A foreign claims commission may, upon request, or upon its own initiative, reconsider a claim which it previously disapproved in whole or in part (even though a settlement agreement has been executed) when it appears that the original action was incorrect in law or fact based on the evidence of record at the time of the action or subsequently received. If it determines that the original action was incorrect, it will modify the action and, if appropriate, make a supplemental payment. The basis for a change in action will be stated in a memorandum included in the file.

(iii) A different commission, or the same commission after there has been a change in its membership, may reconsider the original action on a claim but only on the basis of fraud or collusion, new and material evidence, or manifest error of fact such as errors in calculation or factual misinterpretation of local law.

(iv) A request for reconsideration should indicate fully the legal or factual basis asserted as grounds for relief. Following completion of any investigation or other action deemed necessary for an informed disposition of the request, the commission will reconsider the claim and attempt to settle it by granting such relief as may appear warranted. When further settlement efforts appear unwarranted, the commission will refer the entire file with a memorandum of opinion through the appointing authority to the Chief, U.S. Army Claims Service, Office of The Judge Advocate General, Fort Holabird, Md. 21219, and inform the claimant of such reference.

* * * * *

(p) Cross-servicing of claims. * * *

(3) Cross-servicing (Departments of Defense Directive 5515.3, June 27, 1963). * * *

(iv) Coast Guard generated claims. Claims resulting from activities, or generated by members or employees, of the Coast Guard while operating as a service in the Department of Transportation may, upon request, be settled under this section by an Army foreign claims commission, but shall be paid from appropriations for the operating expenses of the Coast Guard (10 U.S.C. 2734(g)).

Chapter 11—Coast Guard, Department of Transportation

[OCPR 67-12]

PART 11-3—PROCUREMENT BY NEGOTIATION

Subpart 11-3.6—Small Purchases

FAST PAYMENT PROCEDURE

Pursuant to authority vested in me as Commandant, U.S. Coast Guard, by 49 CFR 1.4:

Section 11-3.652 is added, reading as follows:

§ 11-3.652 Fast payment procedure.

§ 11-3.652-1 General.

The fast payment procedure is designed to reduce lead time to consignees and to improve supplier relations by expediting payment for small purchases. Title to the supplies vests in the Government upon delivery to the post office or carrier for mailing or shipment to the receiving activity, although the supplier agrees to replace or correct supplies not received at destination, damaged in transit, or not conforming to purchase requirements. Payment for the supplies and cost of transportation will be made on the basis of the supplier's certification on the invoice as to conformance with purchase requirements and delivery. Purchase orders may be issued as priced or unpriced. Suppliers will be furnished the military post office address for parcel post shipments, or appropriate consignment instructions for shipments via other modes of transportation.

§ 11-3.652-2 Conditions for use.

When the conditions set forth below are present, the fast payment procedure should be used to the maximum extent possible, provided such use is consistent with the other conditions of the procurement. Use of the fast payment procedure would not be indicated, for example, in small purchases by vessels, air stations and bases when material being purchased is destined for use at such activities and contract administration will be performed by the purchasing office of such activities.

(a) Individual orders do not exceed $2,500.

(b) Title to the supplies will vest in the Government (1) upon delivery to a post office or common carrier for mailing or shipment to destination, or (2) upon receipt by the Government when the shipment is by means other than the post office or common carrier.

(c) Supplier agrees to replace, repair, or correct supplies not received at destination, damaged in transit, or not conforming to purchase requirements.

(d) Supplier will execute a certificate of mailing or shipment, or a certificate of delivery to the point of first receipt by the Government.

§ 11-3.652-3 Preparation and execution of orders.

(a) Orders shall be issued on Order for Supplies or Services/Request for Quotations (DD Form 1155), except that calls against blanket purchase agreements shall be issued in accordance with § 11-3.651-3. Orders may be either priced or unpriced.

(b) Special data to be included on purchase orders or in blanket purchase agreements using fast payment procedures are:

(1) A requirement for the supplies to be shipped transportation or postage prepaid;

(2) A requirement that invoices be submitted direct to the contracting officer. In the case of unpriced purchase orders see § 11-3.650-3(c).

(3) The following clause:

FAST PAYMENT PROCEDURE (APRIL 1966)

(a) General. This is a fast payment order. Invoices will be paid on the basis of the Contractor's certification thereon that articles listed in the order were delivered on a specified date to a post office, common carrier, or, in shipment by other means, to the point of first receipt by the Government.

(b) Responsibility for Supplies. Title to supplies shall vest in the Government upon delivery to a post office or common carrier for shipment to the specified destination. If shipment is by means other than post office or common carrier, title to the supplies shall vest in the Government upon delivery to the point of first receipt by the Government. Notwithstanding any other provision of the purchase order, the Contractor shall assume all responsibility and risk of loss for supplies (i) not received at destination, (ii) damaged in transit, or (iii) not conforming to purchase requirements. The Contractor shall either replace, repair, or correct such supplies promptly at his expense, provided instructions to do so are furnished by the Contracting Officer within 90 days from the date these supplies were delivered by the Contractor to a post office or common carrier. For supplies delivered by means other than post office or common carrier, such 90-day period shall commence from the date these supplies were delivered to the point of first receipt by the Government.

(c) Preparation of Invoice. (1) Upon delivery of supplies to a post office, common carrier, or in shipments by other means, the point of first receipt by the Government, the Contractor shall prepare an invoice in accordance with Clause 5 of the General Provisions of Purchase Order, except that invoices under a blanket purchase agreement shall be prepared in accordance with the provisions of the agreement. In shipments by either post office or common carrier, the Contractor shall either (A) cite on his invoice the date of shipment, name and address of post office or carrier, bill of lading number or other shipment document number, or (B) attach copies of such documents to his invoices as evidence of shipment. In the case of delivery by other than post office or common carrier, a receipted copy of the Contractor's delivery document shall be attached to the invoice as evidence of delivery. Regardless of delivery method the invoice shall include the following signed certification:

I hereby certify that I did ship on _____ (date) _____ via the _____ (method of shipment) _____ or deliver on _____ (date) _____ in accordance with shipping instructions issued by the ordering officer, supplies in the quantities shown hereon and that such supplies are in the quantity and of the quality designated by the cited purchase order. This statement is furnished to support payment of invoice.

(2) If the purchase price excludes the cost of transportation, the Contractor shall enter the prepaid shipping cost on the invoice as a separate item. The cost of parcel post insurance will not be paid by the Government.

(4) A requirement that outer shipping containers shall be marked "FAST PAY".

§ 11-3.652-4 Payment.

(a) Acceptance of supplies. For payment purposes, the supplier's certificate of conformance with purchase requirements will be considered a proper element incident to acceptance of supplies. A Materiel Inspection and Receiving Report (DD Form 250) will not be executed to support the supplier's invoice nor will a certification from the receiving activity be obtained as to receipt and acceptance of supplies except as provided in § 11-1.652-5. In lieu thereof, the supplier will be required to certify his invoice as stated in paragraph (c) of the Fast Payment Procedure clause (See § 11-3.652-3(b)(3)).

(b) Certification of supplier's invoice by contracting officer.—(1) Priced order. Upon receipt, the invoice will be reviewed to insure that the description of the supplies, quantity, unit prices, and total price conform with the purchase order. If approved for payment, the following certification will be placed thereon:

I certify that the supplies listed hereon have been delivered and accepted in accordance with the "Fast Payment Procedure" clause of this purchase order.

(Contracting officer)

(2) Unpriced order. If an unpriced order was issued, the following certification will be used:

I certify that the unit prices on this invoice including preservation, packaging and packing charges, if any, are reasonable and supplies listed hereon have been delivered and accepted in accordance with the "Fast Payment Procedure" clause of this purchase order.

(Contracting officer)

(c) Transmittal of invoice to cognizant accounting office. The order will provide for payment by the accounting office, which is serving the area in which the purchasing office is located. Upon certification of the invoice, it will be forwarded, with a copy of the purchase order to the cognizant accounting office for payment.

§ 11-3.652-5 Report of nonreceipt, damage, or nonconformance.

The consignee will notify the purchasing activity when supplies are not received within 30 days after the specified date of delivery in the order or if supplies are received damaged or not conforming with the purchase requirements. A "Report of nonreceipt, damage, or nonconformance" card, similar to the illustration below, will be reproduced locally and a copy attached to the consignee's copy of the purchase order to facilitate this notification.

REPORT OF NONRECEIPT, DAMAGE, OR NONCONFORMANCE

Important: Complete and return this card to Commander (f), Fifth CG District if material is not received within 30 days after delivery date specified in order; or upon receipt of damaged or nonconforming supplies.

Title 47—TELECOMMUNICATION

Chapter I—Federal Communications Commission

[FCC 67-920]

PART 73—RADIO BROADCAST SERVICES

Field Strength Contours, FM Broadcast Stations

Order. 1. The Commission has before it for consideration the FM engineering portion of FCC Form 301 (section V-B) and § 73.311 of its rules governing FM Broadcast Stations, requiring the showing of three field strength contours (70 dbu (3.16 mv/m), 60 dbu (1 mv/m) and 34 dbu (50 uv/m)) in applications for FM broadcast station authorizations. Section 73.311 states that these contours indicate only the approximate extent of coverage in the absence of interference. Section 73.209 further points out that stations are protected against interference from other FM stations solely to the extent provided by the minimum spacing separations and the maximum power and antenna heights provided by the rules.

2. At the time the Commission adopted the present FM broadcast rules and the Table of Assignments (see Third Report, Memorandum Opinion and Order, issued on Aug. 1, 1963, in Docket No. 14185, 28 F.R. 8077) the above-mentioned rules were adopted and the then existing propagation curve and contour protection method of making FM assignments were deleted. The minimum separations adopted at the same time and the maximum facilities authorized provided much less protection than to the 50 uv/m contour. These spacings and facilities permitted interference to approximately the 1 mv/m contour for Class A and C stations and about 0.56 mv/m for Class B stations. See footnote 14 of Third Report. In the case of Class B stations, there were in existence so many such stations in Zone I at separations below the new minimums that it was not possible to add many new Class B stations at the newly adopted minimum separations. Thus, most of the existing Class B stations are also limited by interference to about the 1 mv/m contour at least in some directions. There thus does not appear any reason to retain the 50 uv/m contour and to require applicants to make showings based upon it.

3. Therefore, pursuant to authority contained in sections 4(i) and 303(r) of the Communications Act of 1934, as amended: It is ordered, That effective August 11, 1967, § 73.311(a) of the rules is amended to read as follows:

§ 73.311 Field strength contours.

(a) Applications for FM broadcast authorizations must show two field strength contours. These are the 70 dbu (3.16 mv/m) and the 60 dbu (1 mv/m) contours. These contours indicate only the approximate extent of coverage over average terrain in the absence of interference. Under actual conditons, the true coverage may vary greatly from these estimates because the terrain over any specific path is expected to be different from the average terrain on which the field strength chart was based. Because of these factors the estimated contours give no assurance of service to any specific percentage of receiver locations within the distances indicated.

* * * * *

4. FCC Form 301 needs revising in other respects and work on the revision is in progress; until a new form is issued, applicants using it for FM facilities need not submit the data now required in the FM engineering portion (section V-B, p. 2, Ques. 15 & 17) for any contour outside of the 1 mv/m contour. Since these changes are procedural (relating to what is required in an application form), and relieve existing requirements, the provisions of section 4 of the Administrative Procedure Act do not apply and prior notice and proceedings, and the customary waiting period before the effective date of the rule, are unnecessary.

Adopted: August 2, 1967.

PART 73—RADIO BROADCAST SERVICES

Television Broadcast Stations; Table of Assignments, Hastings and Merriman, Nebr.

Report and order. In the matter of amendment of table of assignments, § 73.606(b) of the Commission's rules and regulations (Hastings and Merriman, Nebr.); Docket No. 17475, RM-1096.

[1] Commissioners Bartley, Loevinger, and Wadsworth absent.

1. The notice of proposed rule making, issued in this proceeding on May 26, 1967, FCC 67-630, 32 F.R. 7918, proposed to assign Channel 12 to Merriman, Nebraska, and Channel 29 to Hastings, Nebraska, for noncommercial educational use. No oppositions to the proposal were filed. Supporting comments were filed by the petitioner and the National Association of Educational Broadcasters.

2. Petitioner, Nebraska Educational Television Commission (NETC), an instrumentality of the State of Nebraska charged with the responsibility for inaugurating and operating a statewide educational television network, activated educational television stations at Lexington, Omaha, North Platte, and Alliance and has obtained construction permits for new facilities for Channel 7 at Bassett and 19 at Norfolk. The channels sought here would serve areas in south-central Nebraska (around Hastings) and far northwestern Nebraska (Merriman and west) which cannot be adequately served from stations on presently reserved channels.

3. Petitioner says that assignment and activation of the Merriman and Hastings channels will provide, in conjunction with NETC's other facilities complete and effective coverage of the entire State, thereby bringing important instructional and other educational programing to all Nebraska residents.

4. As stated in the notice, Channel 12 can be allocated to northwest Nebraska in the vicinity of Merriman in a roughly rectangular area between North Platte, Nebr., and the southwestern portion of South Dakota. The only cities of substantial size in the area are North Platte, Nebr., and Rapid City, S. Dak. (1960 U.S. Census populations of about 17,000 and 42,000, respectively), both of which have both VHF commercial and VHF reserved channels (North Platte is over 100 miles from Merriman). Channel 12 can be "dropped in" at Merriman without depriving any community of a needed assignment.

5. Upon examining the assignment possibilities at Hastings, we find that Channel 29 is the most efficient UHF assignment for that community. The supply of available but unassigned UHF channels is considered to be adequate to meet expected needs in this area.

6. Under the above circumstances, we conclude that the public interest would be served by assigning Channel *12 to Merriman, Nebr., and Channel *29 to Hastings, for noncommercial educational use.

7. Accordingly, pursuant to authority contained in sections 4(i), 303 and 307(b) of the Communications Act of 1934, as amended: It is ordered, That, effective September 11, 1967, the Table of Assignments in § 73.606 of the Commission's rules and regulations is amended insofar as the cities listed below are concerned, to read as follows:

City	Channel No.
Hastings, Nebr.	8-, *29
Merriman, Nebr.	*12

NOTE: An appropriate offset for UHF channel *29 will be supplied in a subsequent Order.

8. It is further ordered, That this proceeding is terminated.

(Secs. 4, 303, 307, 48 Stat., as amended, 1066, 1082, 1083; 47 U.S.C. 154, 303, 307)

Adopted: August 2, 1967.

Released: August 4, 1967.

PART 73—RADIO BROADCAST SERVICES

Television Broadcast Stations; Table of Assignments, Eureka, Calif.

Order. In the matter of amendment of § 73.606, Table of Assignments, television broadcast stations (Eureka, Calif.); RM-1145.

1. The Commission has before it for consideration the Petition of Redwood Empire Educational Television, Inc. (REET), filed May 8, 1967, to designate Channel 13, Eureka, Calif., as a noncommercial television reservation. Comments in support of the petition have been filed by National Association of Educational Broadcasters (NAEB), and the State of California Television Advisory Committee (TAC). There are no comments opposing the proposal.

2. On the petition of REET, the Commission previously considered an ETV reservation for this channel in Docket No. 16183, RM-776. We decided against this because T & R Broadcasters, a commercial applicant, had tendered an application for that channel (BPCT-3646). See Report and Order adopted May 11, 1966 (3 FCC 2d 614), and Memorandum Opinion and Order adopted September 21, 1966 (FCC 66-854). The circumstances now, however, are manifestly different: T & R voluntarily dismissed its application in December, 1966, and REET was granted a construction permit for Channel 13 on March 13, 1967.

3. In these circumstances, little purpose would be served by going through the usual procedure of adopting a notice of proposed rule making, awaiting comments, and then acting on the proposal. Section 4(a) of the Administrative Procedure Act provides that a rule may be adopted without prior proceedings where they are unnecessary or would be contrary to the public interest.[2]

We find that where, as here, an educational group holds the authorization for the channel, rule making to reserve it for educational use is unnecessary.

4. Pursuant to the authority contained in sections 4 (i) and (j), 303, and 307(b) of the Communications Act of 1934, as amended: It is ordered, That, effective August 11, 1967, the Television Table of Assignments set forth in § 73.606(b) of the Commission's rules is amended, as concerns the city listed below, to read as follows:

City	Channel No.
Eureka, Calif.	3-, 6-, *13-

5. It is further ordered, That this matter (RM-1145) is terminated.

(Secs. 4, 303, 307, 48 Stat., as amended, 1066, 1082, 1083; 47 U.S.C. 154, 303, 307)

Title 49—TRANSPORTATION

Subtitle A—Office of the Secretary of Transportation

[OST Docket No. 11]

PART 3—OFFICIAL SEAL

This amendment adds a new Part 3 "Official Seal" to the regulations of the Office of the Secretary. The new part describes the official seal of the Department and authorizes its use for the authentication of documents by the Department including its components except for the St. Lawrence Seaway Development Corporation which will continue to use its own corporate seal. In addition, Department of Transportation Order No. 1000.1 (32 F.R. 4180), which prescribes a temporary seal for the Department, is being canceled.

Since this amendment relates to Departmental management, procedures, and practices, notice and public procedure thereon is unnecessary. This amendment is issued under the authority of section 9(k) of the Department of Transportation Act (49 U.S.C. 1657(k)).

In consideration of the foregoing, effective September 1, 1967, Department of Transportation Order No. 1000.1 (32 F.R. 4180) is canceled and Subtitle A of Title 49 of the Code of Federal Regulations is amended by adding the following new Part 3 "Official Seal".

Issued in Washington, D.C., on August 3, 1967.

ALAN S. BOYD, Secretary of Transportation.

Sec.
3.1 Description.
3.3 Authority to affix seal.

AUTHORITY: The provisions of this Part 3 issued under sec. 9(k) of the Department of Transportation Act; 49 U.S.C. 1657(k).

§ 3.1 Description.

The official seal of the Department of Transportation is described as follows:

A white abstract triskelion figure signifying motion appears within a circular red field. The figure is asymmetrical. The three branches of the figure curve outward in a clockwise direction, each tapering to a point at the edge of the field. The broadest branch extends to the right before curving sharply downward. The narrowest branch extends to the left in an even curve. The third branch extends upward in a steep curve. Enclosing the red circle is a broad black circular ring. Within the upper half of that ring appear the words "Department of Transportation" in white letters. Within the lower half of that ring appear the words "United States of America" in white letters together with two white five-pointed stars, one preceding and the other following those words and separating them from the words in the upper half. Two thin rings, the inner white, the outer black, enclose the broad black ring and complete the seal. The official seal of the Department is modified when reproduced in black and white and when embossed. As so modified, it appears below.

§ 3.3 Authority to affix seal.

(a) The following officials of the Department of Transportation are authorized to affix the official seal of the Department of Transportation to appropriate documents and other materials of the Department, for all purposes, including those authorized by 28 U.S.C. 1733(b): The General Counsel, the Assistant Secretary for Administration, the Commandant of the Coast Guard, the Federal Aviation Administrator of the Federal Aviation Administration, the Federal Highway Administrator of the Federal Highway Administration, the Federal Railroad Administrator of the Federal Railroad Administration, the Chairman, National Transportation Safety Board, and the Chairman, Board of Contract Appeals.

(b) The officers named in paragraph (a) of this section may redelegate, and authorize redelegations of, this authority.

[OST Docket No. 4; Amdt. No. 5-1]

PART 5—RULE-MAKING PROCEDURES

Appendix A

This amendment adds an Appendix A to Part 5 "Rule-Making Procedures". The purpose of the appendix is to list the delegations of authority to officials of the Office of the Secretary to conduct certain rule-making proceedings pursuant to that part. The first delegation to be included in the appendix is a delegation to the General Counsel to conduct all proceedings, including the issuance of notices of proposed rule making, but not including final rules, under the Uniform Time Act of 1966; the Act of March 19, 1918; and section 6(e)(5) of the Department of Transportation Act. In addition, this amendment authorizes the General Counsel to issue operating exceptions if he determines that the applicability of standard time to the movements of a common carrier engaged in interstate or foreign commerce is impractical.

In consideration of the foregoing, Title 49 of the Code of Federal Regulations is amended by adding the following new Appendix A to Part 5 "Rule-Making Procedures", effective August 3, 1967.

APPENDIX A

Pursuant to § 5.1(b), the following officials of the Office of the Secretary of Transportation are authorized to conduct rule-making proceedings under this part, as specified in this appendix:

(1) The General Counsel is authorized to conduct all rule-making proceedings, except the issuance of final rules, under the Act of March 19, 1918, ch. 24, as amended (15 U.S.C. 261-264); the Uniform Time Act of 1966 (80 Stat. 107, 15 U.S.C. 260-267); and section 6(e)(5) of the Department of Transportation Act (80 Stat. 939, 49 U.S.C. 1655(e)(5)).

(2) The General Counsel is authorized to determine the practicability of applying the standard time of any standard time zone to the movements of any common carrier engaged in interstate or foreign commerce, and, under section 2 of the Act of March 19, 1918, ch. 24, as amended (15 U.S.C. 262), to issue operating exceptions in any case in which he determines that it is impractical to apply the standard time.

Since this amendment relates to Departmental organization, procedures, and practices, notice and public procedure hereon is unnecessary and it may be made effective in less than 30 days after publication in the FEDERAL REGISTER.

(Sec. 9, Department of Transportation Act (80 Stat. 944, 49 U.S.C. 1657))

Issued in Washington, D.C., on August 3, 1967.

Proposed Rule Making

DEPARTMENT OF AGRICULTURE

Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service

[7 CFR Part 722]

UPLAND AND EXTRA LONG STAPLE COTTON

Notice of Determinations Regarding 1968 Crops

The Secretary of Agriculture is preparing to make determinations with respect to the 1968 crops of upland cotton and extra long staple cotton pursuant to the Agricultural Adjustment Act of 1938, as amended (referred to as the "act") (52 Stat. 38, as amended; 7 U.S.C. 1281 et seq.). The Secretary is preparing to make these determinations for upland cotton in September 1967. These determinations include the following:

(a) Upland cotton. (1) Whether a national marketing quota is required to be proclaimed for the 1968 crop of upland cotton under section 342 of the act;

(2) The number of bales of cotton of the national marketing quota under section 342 of the act;

(3) The national acreage allotment under section 344(a) of the act;

(4) The national reserve for minimum farm allotments under section 344(b) of the act;

(5) The apportionment of the national allotment and national reserve to the States and counties under section 344 (b) and (c) of the act;

(6) The national domestic allotment and farm domestic allotment percentage under section 350 of the act;

(7) The projected national, State and county yields under section 301(b)(13)(L) of the act;

(8) The national export market acreage reserve under section 346 of the act;

(9) The date for holding the national marketing quota referendum under section 343 of the act.

(b) Extra long staple cotton. (1) Whether a national marketing quota is required to be proclaimed for the 1968 crop of extra long staple cotton under section 347 of the act;

(2) The number of bales of extra long staple cotton of the national marketing quota under section 347 of the act;

(3) The national acreage allotment under section 344(a) of the act;

(4) The apportionment of the national allotment to the States and counties under section 344 (b) and (c) of the act;

(5) The date for holding the national marketing quota referendum under section 343 of the act.

Prior to making any of the foregoing determinations, consideration will be given to any data, views, and recommendations which are submitted in writing to the Director, Policy and Program Appraisal Division, Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service, U.S. Department of Agriculture, Washington, D.C. 20250, within 30 days following the publication of this notice in the FEDERAL REGISTER. The date of the postmark will be considered as the date of any submission. All written submissions made pursuant to this notice will be made available for public inspection at such times and places and in a manner convenient to the public business (7 CFR 1.27(b)).

Effective date: Date of publication in the FEDERAL REGISTER.

Signed at Washington, D.C., on August 4, 1967.

HANDLING OF FRESH PRUNES GROWN IN DESIGNATED COUNTIES IN WASHINGTON AND IN UMATILLA COUNTY, OREG.

Approval of Expenses and Fixing of Rate of Assessment for 1967–68 Fiscal Year and Carryover of Unexpended Funds

Consideration is being given to the following proposals submitted by the Washington-Oregon Fresh Prune Marketing Committee, established under the marketing agreement and Order No. 924 (7 CFR Part 924) regulating the handling of fresh prunes grown in designated counties in Washington and in Umatilla County, Oreg., effective under the applicable provisions of the Agricultural Marketing Agreement Act of 1937, as amended (7 U.S.C. 601–674), as the agency to administer the terms and provisions thereof:

(1) Expenses that are reasonable and likely to be incurred by said committee, during the period April 1, 1967, through March 31, 1968, will amount to $15,574.

(2) That there be fixed, at $1 per ton of fresh prunes, the rate of assessment payable by each handler in accordance with § 924.41 of the aforesaid marketing agreement and order.

(3) That unexpended assessment funds, in excess of expenses incurred during the fiscal period ended March 31, 1967, shall be carried over as a reserve in accordance with the applicable provisions of § 924.42 of said marketing agreement and order.

All persons who desire to submit written data, views, or arguments in connection with the aforesaid proposals shall file the same, in quadruplicate, with the Hearing Clerk, U.S. Department of Agriculture, Room 112, Administration Building, Washington, D.C. 20250, not later than the 10th day after the publication of this notice in the FEDERAL REGISTER. All written submissions made pursuant to this notice will be made available for public inspection at the office of the Hearing Clerk during regular business hours (7 CFR 1.27(b)).

Dated: August 3, 1967.

ONIONS GROWN IN CERTAIN DESIGNATED COUNTIES IN IDAHO AND MALHEUR COUNTY, OREG.

Expenses and Rate of Assessment

Consideration is being given to the approval of proposed expenses and a proposed rate of assessment as hereinafter set forth, which were recommended by the Idaho-Eastern Oregon Onion Committee, established pursuant to Marketing Agreement No. 130 and Order No. 958 (7 CFR Part 958).

This marketing order program regulates the handling of onions grown in designated counties in Idaho and Malheur County, Oreg., and is effective under the Agricultural Marketing Agreement Act of 1937, as amended (7 U.S.C. 601 et seq.).

All persons who desire to submit written data, views, or arguments in connection with these proposals may file the same, in quadruplicate, with the Hearing Clerk, Room 112A, U.S. Department of Agriculture, Washington, D.C. 20250, not later than the 15th day after the publication of this notice in the FEDERAL REGISTER. All written submissions made pursuant to this notice will be made available for public inspection at the office of the Hearing Clerk during regular business hours (7 CFR 1.27(b)).

§ 958.211 Expenses and rate of assessment.

(a) The reasonable expenses that are likely to be incurred during the fiscal period beginning July 1, 1967, and ending June 30, 1968, by the Idaho-Eastern Oregon Onion Committee for its maintenance and functioning, and for such purposes as the Secretary determines to be appropriate will amount to $8,275.

(b) The rate of assessment to be paid by each handler in accordance with the Marketing Agreement and this part shall be three-tenths of one cent ($0.003) per hundredweight of onions handled by him as the first handler thereof during said fiscal period.

(c) Unexpended income in excess of expenses for the fiscal period ending June 30, 1968 may be carried over as a reserve.

(d) Terms used in this section have the same meaning as when used in the said marketing agreement and this part.

(Secs. 1–19, 48 Stat. 31, as amended; 7 U.S.C. 601–674)

Dated: August 3, 1967.

HANDLING OF ALMONDS GROWN IN CALIFORNIA

Notice of Proposed Salable and Surplus Percentages for 1967–68 Crop Year

Notice is hereby given of a proposal to establish, for the 1967–68 crop year, which began July 1, 1967, salable and surplus percentages of 75 and 25 percent, respectively, applicable to California almonds. The proposed percentages would be established in accordance with the provisions of the marketing agreement, as amended, and Order No. 981, as amended (7 CFR Part 981), regulating the handling of almonds grown in California, effective under the Agricultural Marketing Agreement Act of 1937, as amended (7 U.S.C. 601–674). The proposal was unanimously recommended by the Almond Control Board.

All persons who desire to submit written data, views, or arguments in connection with the aforesaid proposal should file the same, in quadruplicate, with the Hearing Clerk, U.S. Department of Agriculture, Room 112, Administration Building, Washington, D.C. 20250, not later than 8 days after publication of this notice in the FEDERAL REGISTER. All written submissions made pursuant to this notice will be made available for public inspection at the office of the Hearing Clerk during official hours of business (7 CFR 1.27(b)).

The proposed percentages are based upon the following estimates (kernel weight basis) for the crop year beginning July 1, 1967:

(1) Production of 89 million pounds;

(2) Trade demand for domestic almonds of 63.3 million pounds (which is based on a total demand of 63.8 million pounds less 500,000 pounds of imported almonds);

(3) Handler carryover of 26.5 million pounds on July 1, 1967;

(4) Desirable handler carryover of 30.0 million pounds on June 30, 1968;

(5) Trade demand and desirable handler carryover requirements for 1967 crop almonds of 66.8 million pounds (items 2 plus 4 minus 3); and

(6) 22.2 million pounds of surplus almonds (item 1 minus item 5).

On the basis of the foregoing estimates, salable and surplus percentages of 75 percent and 25 percent, respectively, appear to be appropriate for the 1967–68 season.

The proposal is as follows:

§ 981.217 Salable and surplus percentages for almonds during the crop year beginning July 1, 1967.

The salable and surplus percentages during the crop year beginning July 1, 1967, shall be 75 percent and 25 percent, respectively.

Dated: August 4, 1967.

HANDLING OF DRIED PRUNES PRODUCED IN CALIFORNIA

Notice of Proposed Expenses of Prune Administrative Committee and Rate of Assessment for 1967–68

Notice is hereby given of a proposal regarding expenses of the Prune Administrative Committee for the 1967–68 crop year and rate of assessment for that crop year, pursuant to §§ 993.80 and 993.81 of the marketing agreement, as amended, and Order No. 993, as amended (7 CFR Part 993), regulating the handling of dried prunes produced in California. The amended marketing agreement and order are effective under the Agricultural Marketing Agreement Act of 1937, as amended (7 U.S.C. 601–674).

The Prune Administrative Committee has unanimously recommended for the crop year beginning August 1, 1967, a budget of expenses in the total amount of $97,500 and an assessment rate of 75 cents per ton of assessable prunes. Expenses in that amount and the assessment rate are specified in the proposal hereinafter set forth. The assessable tonnage is estimated by the Committee at 130,000 tons.

All persons who desire to submit written data, views, or arguments in connection with the aforesaid proposal should file the same in quadruplicate, with the Hearing Clerk, United States Department of Agriculture, Room 112, Administration Building, Washington, D.C. 20250, not later than the 8th day after the publication of this notice in the FEDERAL REGISTER. All written submissions made pursuant to this notice will be made available for public inspection at the office of the Hearing Clerk during regular business hours (7 CFR 1.27(b)).

The proposal is as follows:

§ 993.318 Expenses of the Prune Administrative Committee and rate of assessment for the 1967–68 crop year.

(a) Expenses. Expenses in the amount of $97,500 are reasonable and likely to be incurred by the Prune Administrative Committee during the crop year beginning August 1, 1967, for its maintenance and functioning and for such other purposes as the Secretary may, pursuant to the applicable provisions of the marketing agreement, as amended, and this part, determine to be appropriate.

(b) Rate of assessment. The rate of assessment for such crop year which each handler is required, pursuant to § 993.81, to pay to the Prune Administrative Committee as his pro rata share of the said expenses is fixed at 75 cents per ton of salable prunes handled by him as the first handler thereof.

Federal Aviation Administration

[14 CFR Part 71]

[Airspace Docket No. 67-WE-80]

TRANSITION AREA

Proposed Alteration and Designation

The Federal Aviation Administration is considering amendments to Part 71 of the Federal Aviation Regulations which would alter the description of the Hugo, Colo., transition area and designate a new Tobe, Colo., transition area floored at 8,500 feet MSL.

Interested persons may participate in the proposed rule-making by submitting such written data, views, or arguments as they may desire. Communications should be submitted in triplicate to the Director, Western Region, Attention: Chief, Air Traffic Division, Federal Aviation Administration, 5651 West Manchester Avenue, Post Office Box 90007, Airport Station, Los Angeles, Calif. 90009. All communications received within 30 days after publication of this notice in the FEDERAL REGISTER will be considered before action is taken on the proposed amendments. No public hearing is contemplated at this time, but arrangements for informal conferences with Federal Aviation Administration officials may be made by contacting the Regional Air Traffic Division Chief. Any data, views, or arguments presented during such conferences must also be submitted in writing in accordance with this notice in order to become part of the record for consideration. The proposals contained in this notice may be changed in the light of comments received.

A public docket will be available for examination by interested persons in the office of the Regional Counsel, Federal Aviation Administration, 5651 West Manchester Avenue, Los Angeles, Calif. 90045.

The proposed airspace actions are required to provide the Air Traffic Controller with additional controlled airspace for radar vectoring to avoid thunderstorm activity and other traffic on adjacent airways, thus allowing maximum utilization of radar capability and more efficient control of IFR traffic.

Therefore, the FAA proposes to redesignate the Hugo, Colo., transition area in § 71.181 (32 F.R. 2200) as follows:

HUGO, COLO.

That airspace south of Hugo, Colo., VOR, extending upward from 8,500 feet MSL, bounded on the north by V-106S, on the northeast by V-96S, on the south by V-210, and on the west by V-19E; that airspace east of Hugo, extending upward from 8,500 feet MSL, bounded on the north by V-4, on the east by longitude 102°50'00" W., on the southwest by V-96S, and on the west by V-169, excluding the airspace within Federal airways and the Pueblo and Colorado Springs, Colo., transition areas.

In § 71.181 (32 F.R. 2148) the following transition area is added:

TOBE, COLO.

That airspace north of Tobe, Colo., VOR-TAC, extending upward from 8,500 feet MSL, bounded on the north by V-210, on the southeast by V-96S, and on the west by V-19E, excluding the airspace within Federal airways.

These amendments are proposed under the authority of section 307(a) of the Federal Aviation Act of 1958, as amended (72 Stat. 749; 49 U.S.C. 1348).

Issued in Los Angeles, Calif., on July 31, 1967.

LEE E. WARREN,
Acting Director, Western Region.

[Docket No. 8317; Notice 67-35]

CERTIFICATION AND OPERATIONS

Domestic, Flag, and Supplemental Air Carriers and Commercial Operators of Large Aircraft

The Federal Aviation Administration is considering amending Appendix E to Part 121 to provide for programed hours of training in approved training programs for the following aircraft: Douglas DC-9, Nihon YS-11, Lockheed L-1329, and Falcon Fan Jet.

Interested persons are invited to participate in the making of the proposed rule by submitting such written data, views, or arguments as they may desire. Communications should identify the regulatory docket or notice number and be submitted in duplicate to: Federal Aviation Administration, Office of the General Counsel, Attention: Rules Docket, GC-24, 800 Independence Avenue SW., Washington, D.C. 20590. All communications received on or before October 9, 1967, will be considered by the Administrator before taking action on the proposed rule. The proposal contained in this notice may be changed in the light of comments received.

The FAA has convened Flight Standardization Boards on the DC-9, YS-11, L-1329, and Falcon Fan Jet aircraft and recommendations have been made as to programed hours of training for approved training programs under Part 121. These aircraft are similar in complexity or flight characteristics to other aircraft presently covered by Appendix E. Therefore, it has been recommended that the number of training hours required for them be identical to the hours required for those other aircraft.

All of these airplanes are presently in service and a number of training programs for them have already been approved. With respect to any differences between the approved programs and this proposal, it should be noted that the FAA considers the hours of training set forth in Appendix E as a minimum unless there are circumstances as set forth in § 121.414 that would justify a reduction. Consequently, upon adoption of a final rule, any revisions in existing programs that are warranted will be handled in the normal manner under § 121.412.

In consideration of the foregoing and the recommendations of the Flight Standardization Boards, it is proposed to amend Appendix E to Part 121 as follows:

1. By adding the Douglas DC-9 and the Lockheed L-1329 to the group that includes the L-188, CL-44, BAC-111, and Caravelle.

2. By adding the Nihon YS-11 to the group that includes the F-27 and CV-540.

3. By adding the Falcon Fan Jet to the group that includes the Viscount and the Argosy.

These amendment are proposed under the authority of sections 313(a), 601, and 604 of the Federal Aviation Act of 1958 (49 U.S.C. 1354(a), 1421, and 1424).

Issued in Washington, D.C., on August 3, 1967.

JAMES F. RUDOLPH,
Director, Flight Standards Service.

STANDARD TIME ZONE BOUNDARY IN STATE OF NEBRASKA

Proposed Relocation

The Governor and Legislature of Nebraska have petitioned the Department of Transportation to amend Title 49, § 239.5(c) (formerly § 139.5(c)) of the Code of Federal Regulations so as to include in the U.S. central standard time zone certain portions of Nebraska now located in the U.S. mountain standard time zone.

Section 239.5(c) describes the present boundary between the central standard time zone and the mountain standard time zone, in pertinent part, as follows:

From the intersection of the third guide meridian, west, and the north boundary line of the State of Nebraska, running south along said guide meridian to the Niobrara River; thence easterly along said river to the east line of Brown County, Nebr.; thence south along the east line of Brown and Blaine Counties, and along the range line between ranges 20 and 21 west, and detouring to the west to include that portion of the Chicago & North Western Railway which lies east of Long Pine, to the township line between townships 18 and 19 north; thence west along said township line to the range line between townships 30 and 31 west of the sixth principal meridian; thence south along said range line with its offsets to the Chicago, Burlington & Quincy Railroad near Perry, in Red-willow County, detouring to the east in said course to include that portion of the Union Pacific Railroad which lies west of North Platte; thence easterly and immediately north of and parallel with the Chicago, Burlington & Quincy Railroad to the western limits of McCook, there crossing the Chicago, Burlington & Quincy Railroad; thence south to the Republican River; thence following the Republican River to Republican Junction, crossing in said course the St. Francis branch of the Chicago, Burlington & Quincy Railroad at Orleans and the Oberlin branch of said railroad at Republican Junction; thence southerly to the intersection of the township line between townships 17 and 18, west of the sixth principal meridian, to the boundary line between Kansas and Nebraska.

The Governor's petition proposes that the boundary between the mountain standard time zone and the central standard time zone be moved to run:

From the intersection of the third guide meridian, west, and the north boundary line of the State of Nebraska, running south along the east line of Cherry County, Nebraska, to the intersection of the north line of Blaine County; thence west along the north line of Blaine and Thomas Counties to the west line of Thomas County; thence south along the west line of Thomas County to the intersection of the north line of McPherson County; thence west along the north line of McPherson County to the west line of McPherson County; thence south along the west line of McPherson County to the intersection of the north line of Keith County; thence east along the north line of Keith County to the intersection of the west line of Lincoln County; thence south along the west line of Lincoln County to the intersection of the north line of Hayes County; thence west along the north line of Hayes County to the west line of Hayes County; thence south along the west line of Hayes and Hitchcock Counties to the boundary line between Kansas and Nebraska.

The Department is authorized to modify the limits of time zones "having regard for the convenience of commerce and the existing junction points and division points of common carriers engaged in interstate or foreign commerce." Before taking final action to adopt, deny, or modify the proposed boundary which the petition sets forth, the Department will consider the timely comments of all interested persons. Communications should identify the regulatory docket or notice number (see above) and be submitted in duplicate to: Docket Clerk: Office of the General Counsel; Department of Transportation; Washington, D.C. 20590.

Communications received on or before October 20, 1967, and all other petitions and communications received before the date of this notice, will be considered by the Department before taking final action on the petition. All docketed comments will be available for examination by interested persons, both before and after the closing date for comments.

These proceedings will not concern adherence to or exemption from advanced (daylight saving) time during the summer months. The Uniform Time Act requires observance of advanced time within established time zones from the last Sunday in April to the last Sunday in October, but permits an individual State to exempt itself, by law, from observing advanced time within the State.

This proposal is issued under the authority of the Act of March 19, 1918, chapter 24, as amended by the Uniform Time Act of 1966 (15 U.S.C. 260–267); section 6(e)(5) of the Department of Transportation Act (80 Stat. 939, 49 U.S.C. 1655); and 49 CFR Part 5.

Issued in Washington, D.C., on August 3, 1967.

STANDARD TIME ZONE BOUNDARY IN STATE OF INDIANA

Proposed Relocation

The Governor of Indiana has petitioned the Department of Transportation to amend Title 49, § 239.3(b) (formerly § 139.3(b)) of the Code of Federal Regulations so as to include the entire State of Indiana within the central standard time zone.

Section 239.3(b) describes the present boundary between the eastern standard time zone and the central standard time zone, in pertinent part, as follows:

From the juncture of the western boundary of the State of Michigan with the northern boundary of the State of Indiana eastwardly along said northern boundary to the west line of Elkhart County; thence southerly along the west lines of Elkhart, Kosciusko, Wabash, Grant, and Madison Counties to the north line of Hamilton County; thence westerly along the north lines of Hamilton, and Boone Counties to the northwest corner of Boone County; thence southerly along the west lines of Boone, Hendricks, and Morgan Counties to the southwest corner of Morgan County; thence easterly along the south lines of Morgan, Johnson, and Shelby Counties to the west line of Decatur County; thence southerly along the west line of Decatur County to the north line of Jennings County; thence westerly and southerly along the north and west lines of Jennings County and the west lines of Scott and Clark Counties to the north line of Floyd County; thence westerly along the north lines of Floyd and Harrison Counties and southerly along the west line of Harrison County to the Ohio River and the southern boundary of the State; in each case including the various offsets in the named county lines.

The Governor petitions the Department of Transportation "* * * [T]o modify the boundary between the eastern standard time zone and the central standard time zone so as to include the entire State of Indiana in the central standard time zone."

The Department is authorized to modify the limits of time zones "having regard for the convenience of commerce and the existing junction points and division points of common carriers engaged in interstate or foreign commerce." Before taking final action to adopt, deny, or modify the proposed boundary which the petition sets forth, the Department will consider the timely comments of all interested persons. Communications should identify the regulatory docket or notice number (see above) and be submitted in duplicate to: Docket Clerk; Office of the General Counsel; Department of Transportation; Washington, D.C. 20590.

Communications received on or before October 20, 1967, and all other petitions and communications received before the date of this notice, will be considered by the Department before taking final action on the petition. STANDARD TIME ZONE BOUNDARY IN STATE OF NORTH DAKOTA

Proposed Relocation

The Governor of North Dakota has petitioned the Department of Transportation to amend Title 49, § 239.5(a) (formerly § 139.5(a)) of the Code of Federal Regulations to move the boundary between the mountain standard time zone and the central standard time zone in an easterly direction in order to accommodate the historical pattern of time observation in North Dakota.

Section 239.5(a) describes the present boundary between the mountain standard time zone and the central standard time zone, in pertinent part, as follows:

Beginning on the boundary line between the United States and Canada at the intersection of the boundary line between North Dakota and Montana, thence south along the west border of North Dakota to the main line of the Chicago, Milwaukee, St. Paul & Pacific Railway at Montline, thence east and north of, and parallel with said Chicago, Milwaukee, St. Paul & Pacific Railway to the South Dakota State line, thence east along such State line to the main channel of the Missouri River.

The Governor's petition proposes that the boundary between the mountain standard and central standard time zones be moved east to include within the mountain standard time zone those North Dakota counties which have historically observed mountain standard time.

The Department is authorized to modify the limits of time zones "having regard for the convenience of commerce and the existing junction points and division points of common carriers engaged in interstate or foreign commerce." Before taking final action to adopt, deny, or modify the proposed boundary which the petition sets forth, the Department will consider the timely comments of all interested persons. STANDARD TIME ZONE BOUNDARY IN STATE OF KANSAS

Proposed Relocation

The Governor and Legislature of Kansas have petitioned the Department of Transportation to amend Title 49, § 239.5(d) (formerly § 139.5(d)) of the Code of Federal Regulations so as to include the entire State of Kansas within the U.S. central standard time zone.

Section 239.5(d) describes the present boundary between the mountain standard time zone and the central standard time zone, in pertinent part, as follows:

From the point last described (the intersection of the township lines between townships 17 and 18, west of the sixth principal meridian on the boundary line of Kansas and Nebraska), in a southerly direction through Phillipsburg, Stockton, and Plainville to Ellis, crossing in said course the Chicago, Rock Island & Pacific Railway at Phillipsburg, the Missouri Pacific Railroad near Glade, and the Union Pacific Railroad at Plainville and Ellis; thence south along the west line of Ellis County and the east line of Ness County to the northeast corner of Hodgeman County, crossing in said course the Missouri Pacific Railroad near McCracken and the Santa Fe near Alexander; thence west along the north line of Hodgeman County to the 100° meridian, west; thence south along said meridian to a point north of Dodge City; thence along the north and west boundary of Dodge City to the fifth standard parallel, south; thence westerly along said parallel and the southern boundary lines of Finney, Kearney, and Hamilton Counties to the Kansas-Colorado border; thence south along the border between Kansas and Colorado to the intersection of the boundary between such States with the boundary line of Oklahoma.

The petition would require amendment of § 239.5(d) to move the boundary between the mountain standard time zone and the central standard time zone west, and make it coincide with the western boundary of the State of Kansas.

The Department is authorized to modify the limits of time zones "having regard for the convenience of commerce and the existing junction points and division points of common carriers engaged in interstate or foreign commerce." Before taking final action to adopt, deny, or modify the proposed boundary which the petition sets forth, the Department will consider the timely comments of all interested persons. Communications should identify the regulatory docket or notice number (see above) and be submitted in duplicate to: Docket Clerk: Office of the General Counsel; Department of Transportation; Washington, D.C. 20590.

All docketed comments will be available for examination by interested persons, both before and after the closing date for comments.

These proceedings will not concern adherence to or exemption from advanced (daylight saving) time during the summer months. The Uniform Time Act requires observance of advanced time within established time zones from the last Sunday in April to the last Sunday in October, but permits an individual State to exempt itself, by law, from observing advanced time within the State.

This proposal is issued under the authority of the Act of March 19, 1918, chapter 24, as amended by the Uniform Time Act of 1966 (15 U.S.C. 260–267); section 6(e)(5) of the Department of Transportation Act (80 Stat. 939, 49 U.S.C. 1655); and 49 CFR Part 5.

[OST Docket No. 9; Notice No. 5]

NEW STANDARD TIME ZONE BOUNDARIES GOVERNING STATES OF ALASKA AND HAWAII

Proposed Establishment

The Department of Transportation is undertaking the establishment of new standard time zone boundaries in accordance with authority vested in it under the Uniform Time Act of 1966 (80 Stat. 107) and section 6(e)(5) of the Department of Transportation Act of 1966 (80 Stat. 939). In the former Act, Congress provided for the establishment of four new standard time zones (Atlantic, Yukon, Alaska-Hawaii, and Bering), the last three of which are described within this notice.

Present regulations relating to time zones are set forth in Part 239 (formerly Part 139) of Title 49 of the Code of Federal Regulations and establish a first, second, third, and fourth time zones. They are designated as the eastern, central, mountain, and Pacific zones, respectively.

Section 4(c) of the Uniform Time Act states in part: "The standard time * * * of the sixth zone shall be known and designated as Yukon standard time; that of the seventh zone shall be known and designated as Alaska-Hawaii standard time; and that of the eighth zone shall be known and designated as Bering standard time." Section 4(a) of the Act states in part: "* * * [T]he standard time of the sixth zone (shall be based on the mean solar time of) the one hundred and thirty-fifth degree (of longitude west from Greenwich); that of the seventh zone on the one hundred and fiftieth degree; and that of the eighth zone on the one hundred and sixty-fifth degree."

In accordance with this direction it is proposed to amend Part 239 as follows:

§ 239.1 [Amended]

(1) Section 239.1 would be amended to reflect the addition of the new zones.

(2) New §§ 239.11, 239.13, and 239.15 would be added to describe the new zones, as follows:

§ 239.11 Yukon standard time.

The sixth standard time zone, the Yukon Time Zone, includes all territory of the United States between 127°30′ W. longitude and 141° W. longitude.

§ 239.13 Alaska-Hawaii standard time.

The seventh standard time zone, the Alaska-Hawaii time zone, includes all territory of the United States located between 141° W. longitude and 157°-30′ W. longitude, and the entire State of Hawaii.

§ 239.15 Bering standard time.

The eighth standard time zone, the Bering time zone, includes all territory of the United States between 157°30′ W. longitude and 172°30′ W. longitude, and all of the Aleutian Islands which lie west of 172°30′ W. longitude, but does not include any part of the State of Hawaii.

Interested persons are invited to participate in the making of this proposed rule by submitting such written data, views, and arguments as they may desire. Communications should identify the regulatory docket or notice number (see above) and be submitted in duplicate to Docket Clerk: Office of the General Counsel; Department of Transportation; Washington, D.C. 20590.

Communications received on or before October 30, 1967, and all other communications received before the date of this notice, will be considered by the Department before taking final action. All docketed comments will be available for examination by interested persons, both before and after the closing date for comments.

These proceedings will not concern adherence to or exemption from advanced (daylight saving) time during the summer months. The Uniform Time Act requires observance of advanced time within established time zones from the last Sunday in April to the last Sunday in October, but permits an individual State to exempt itself, by law, from observing advanced time within the State.

This proposal is issued under the authority of the Act of March 19, 1918, chapter 24, as amended by the Uniform Time Act of 1966 (15 U.S.C. 260–267); section 6(e)(5) of the Department of Transportation Act (80 Stat. 939, 49 U.S.C. 1655); and 49 CFR Part 5.

Issued in Washington, D.C., on August 3, 1967.

[OST Docket No. 10; Notice No. 6]

NEW STANDARD TIME ZONE BOUNDARIES GOVERNING PUERTO RICO AND VIRGIN ISLANDS

Proposed Establishment

The Department of Transportation is undertaking the establishment of new standard time zone boundaries in accordance with authority vested in it under the Uniform Time Act of 1966 (80 Stat. 107) and section 6(e)(5) of the Department of Transportation Act of 1966 (80 Stat. 939). In the former Act, Congress provided for the establishment of four new standard time zones (Atlantic, Yukon, Alaska-Hawaii, and Bering) the first of which is described within this notice.

Present regulations relating to time zones are set forth in Part 239 (formerly Part 139) of Title 49 of the Code of Federal Regulations and establish a first, second, third, and fourth time zone. They are designated as the eastern, central, mountain, and Pacific zones, respectively.

Section 4(c) of the Uniform Time Act states in part: "The standard time of the first zone shall be known and designated as Atlantic standard time * * ." Section 4(a) of the Act states in part: " * * [T]he standard time of the first zone shall be based on the mean solar time of the sixtieth degree of longitude west from Greenwich * * *."

In accordance with this direction, it is proposed to amend Part 239 as follows:

§§ 239.1, 239.2, 239.4, 239.6, 239.8 [Amended]

(1) Sections 239.1, 239.2, 239.4, 239.6, 239.8 would be amended to reflect the renumbering of the present first, second, third, and fourth zones, to reflect the new first zone (Atlantic), and to reflect the name of the new zone as an addition to to names of the present zones.

(2) A new § 239.1a would be added to describe the new zone, reading as follows:

§ 239.1a Atlantic standard time.

The first standard time zone, the Atlantic time zone, includes all territory of the United States between 52°30′ W. longitude and 67°30′ W. longitude except that it does not include any part of the State of Maine. In addition, the zone includes that portion of the Commonwealth of Puerto Rico lying west of 67°30′ W. longitude.

Interested persons are invited to participate in the making of this proposed rule by submitting such written data, views, and arguments as they may desire. Communications should identify the regulatory docket or notice number (see above) and be submitted in duplicate to: Docket Clerk: Office of the General Counsel; Department of Transportation; Washington, D.C. 20590.

Communications received on or before October 20, 1967, and all other communications received before the date of this notice, will be considered by the Department before taking final action. All docketed comments will be available for examination by interested persons in the Docket Section of the Board, Room 710, Universal Building, 1825 Connecticut Avenue NW., Washington, D.C., upon receipt thereof.

CIVIL AERONAUTICS BOARD

[14 CFR Parts 216, 375]

[Docket No. 19827; EDR-121, SPDR-9]

FOREIGN AIR CARRIERS

Commingling of Blind Sector Traffic

JULY 27, 1967.

Notice is hereby given that the Civil Aeronautics Board has under consideration the adoption of a new Part 216 of the Economic Regulations, applicable to foreign air carriers, which will prohibit the commingling of blind sector traffic on a flight operating in foreign air transportation, unless the carriage of such traffic has been specifically authorized by the Board. Procedures for issuance of a Special Authorization, authorizing such carriage, are also set forth. It is also proposed to amend § 375.35(a)(2) of the Special Regulations, permitting certain free transportation to authorized blind sector points, to reflect that blind sector operations will be authorized pursuant to Part 216. The basis and purpose of the proposed rules are set forth in the Explanatory Statement below and the proposed new part and amendment are set forth in the Proposed Rules below. The rules are proposed under the authority of section 204(a), in interpretation and application of sections 402, and 1108(b) of the Federal Aviation Act of 1958, as amended (72 Stat. 743, 757, 798; 49 U.S.C. 1324, 1372, 1508(b)), and of 3 U.S.C. 301–303 (65 Stat. 712).

Interested persons may participate in the proposed rule making through submission of ten (10) copies of written data, views, or arguments pertaining thereto, addressed to the Docket Section, Civil Aeronautics Board, Washington, D.C. 20428. All relevant matter in communications received on or before September 25, 1967, will be available for examination by interested persons in the Docket Section of the Board, Room 710, Universal Building, 1825 Connecticut Avenue NW., Washington, D.C., upon receipt thereof.

By the Civil Aeronautics Board.

[SEAL] HAROLD R. SANDERSON,
Secretary.

Explanatory statement. The proposed rules set forth the regulatory requirements, applicable to foreign air carriers, for the carriage on a flight operating to and from the United States of traffic which is not moving in foreign air transportation because carried solely between two foreign points, where one or both of such points are not authorized for service in the carrier's permit. An operation via an unauthorized point, where no traffic rights are exercised between such point and the United States, has been commonly referred to as a "blind sector" operation, the non-traffic segment being referred to as a "blind sector." For convenience we shall refer to traffic which is picked up or discharged at an unauthorized foreign point for carriage to another foreign point in the course of such a blind sector operation, as "blind sector traffic." Such traffic might be carried between two foreign points wholly outside the United States, or in transit across the United States to an unauthorized foreign point beyond.[1] For example, "blind sector traffic" might consist of the carriage on an authorized Europe-New York flight of Europe-Canada or Europe-Mexico (beyond New York) traffic, where no traffic is carried between New York and Canada or Mexico.

The rules provide that such blind sector traffic shall be carried on a flight operating in air transportation (i.e., to and from the United States) only if the combined carriage of such traffic has been specifically authorized by the Board. In addition, the regulation sets forth procedural requirements for issuance of a Special Authorization pursuant to which such carriage may be authorized.

It has been the Board's view that a foreign carrier is prohibited from engaging in blind sector operations, unless such an operation has been specifically authorized by the Board. Such authorization has typically been granted pursuant to a foreign flight permit issued pursuant to section 1108(b) of the Act.[2] However, certain foreign carriers have challenged the Board's jurisdiction under section 1108(b) arguing that the commingled blind sector traffic is not moving in air transportation.[3] On the other hand, it has been suggested that by reason of the substantial effect that the carriage of such blind sector traffic has on the air transportation services authorized by the permit, such operations should be authorized only by amendment of the section 402 foreign air carrier permit.

The Board cannot accept the view that blind sector operations should not be subject to its regulations simply because the additional traffic which is carried on such flights is not itself moving in air transportation. The commingling of such blind sector traffic with traffic carried to and from the United States may have a very substantial effect on the operation which has been authorized by a foreign air carrier permit. To the extent that a foreign air carrier is authorized to carry blind sector traffic on a route servin the United States, it may be able to significantly increase the frequency and capacity of service on the authorized route. Thus, a blind sector traffic stop constitutes a valuable economic right, the regulation of which very much concerns the United States, and which, in appropriate cases, could be the subject of an exchange of rights derived from intergovernmental negotiations.

While the Board is of the view that blind sector operations by foreign carriers are presently prohibited unless prior authorization to conduct such operations has been obtained, we believe that adoption of specific regulatory requirements applicable to such operations provides the best means of resolving the legal questions which have been raised and clarifying the situation for the future. Accordingly, the Board tentatively finds that it is in the public interest to adopt a regulation in the form set forth below. The regulation is proposed pursuant to the Board's general rulemaking powers under section 204(a) of the Act.[4]

The Board recognizes that unauthorized blind sector operations may be currently operated by certain carriers, and that these may have been undertaken in the good faith belief that no Board authorization was required. In order to provide an orderly procedure for consideration of applications for authorization to continue such operations, the proposed rules provide that upon the filing of a timely application, blind sector operations which have been regularly conducted prior to the date of publication of this rule-making notice may be continued pending final decision by the Board on such application.

The proposed rules are applicable only to combined carriage of blind sector traffic as defined in this part. Deviation from the authorized route by foreign air carriers for the purpose of combined carriage of other traffic which is not moving in air transportation will continue to be governed by the provisions of Part 375 of the Special Regulations applicable to foreign flight permits issued under section 1108(b) of the Act. Such operations would include the carriage to or from the United States of nonrevenue,[5] emergency, or other traffic, the carriage of which does not constitute engaging in air transportation, which has been enplaned or deplaned at an unauthorized point (either U.S. or foreign).

Proposed rules. Accordingly, the Board proposes to adopt a new Part 216 of the Economic Regulations and to amend Part 375 of the Special Regulations, as follows:

1. Amend Chapter II of Title 14 of the Code of Federal Regulations (14 CFR) by adding a new Part 216 to Subchapter A—Economic Regulations to read as follows:

PART 216—COMMINGLING OF BLIND SECTOR TRAFFIC BY FOREIGN AIR CARRIERS

Sec.
216.1 Definitions.
216.2 Applicability.
216.3 Prohibition.
216.4 Special authorization.
216.5 Existing permits.
216.6 Existing unauthorized operations.

§ 216.1 Definitions.

As used in this part, unless the context otherwise requires:

"Act" means the Federal Aviation Act of 1958, as amended.

"Blind sector traffic" means revenue traffic, carried by a foreign air carrier on a flight operating in air transportation, which is enplaned at one foreign point and deplaned at another foreign point, where at least one of such points is not named as a terminal or intermediate point in the carrier's applicable foreign air carrier permit: Provided, That this definition shall not include traffic carried by a foreign air carrier between a point named in such carrier's foreign air carrier permit and a point beyond the carrier's homeland, where the flight is operated via, and lands at, a homeland terminal point authorized under such permit.

"Revenue traffic" means persons, property or mail carried for compensation or hire.

Terms defined in section 101 of the Act have the meaning expressed in such definitions.

§ 216.2 Applicability.

This part sets forth the requirements applicable to foreign air carriers for obtaining a Special Authorization from the Board with respect to any deviation from an authorized foreign air transportation route for the purpose of commingling blind sector traffic with air transportation traffic carried pursuant to a foreign air carrier permit issued by the Board. The deviation by a foreign air carrier from its authorized route for the purpose of combined carriage to or from the United States of nonrevenue or other traffic, the carriage of which does not constitute engaging in foreign air transportation, is governed by the provisions of Part 375 of the Special Regulations in this chapter.

§ 216.3 Prohibition.

No foreign air carrier shall carry any blind sector traffic, as defined in this part, on any flight operating in air transportation pursuant to the authority of a foreign air carrier permit issued under section 402 of the Act, unless the combined carriage of such traffic has been specifically authorized by such permit, or

[1] A beyond homeland point would not, however, be considered as unauthorized.

[3] To the extent that the Board's decisions in certain early cases may have indicated that the Board would not assert jurisdiction over such operations, these decisions no longer represent the views of the Board. See, TAN, Foreign Permit, 18 CAB 377, 378 (1954); Airwork, Ltd., Foreign Permit, 18 CAB 542 (1954); LACSA, Foreign Permit, 18 CAB 552, 557–558 (1954); Lufthansa, Foreign Permit, 23 CAB 396, 398 (1956); Eagle Airways, Foreign Permit, 30 CAB 458, 462 (1959); TAN, Foreign Permit, Order E-20017, n. 10, July 23, 1963. It may be noted that these cases were decided in the context of section 402 permit applications, and the requirement for an additional authorization pursuant to section 1108(b) was not focused upon.

[4] See, American Airlines v. C.A.B., 359 F. 2d 624 (C.A.D.C., 1966).

[5] Section 375.35 provides blanket authority for certain free transportation between specified non-traffic segments, including carriage between the United States and an offroute foreign point from which blind sector operations have been authorized (§ 375.35(a)(2)). The proposed rules would amend this provision to reflect that the blind sector authorization will be issued pursuant to this part.

by a Special Authorization issued under § 216.4

§ 216.4 Special authorization.

(a) Applications. Any foreign air carrier may apply to the Board for a Special Authorization, as required by this part, for the carriage of blind sector traffic on a particular flight, series of flights, or for a specified or indefinite period of time between specified points. Applications shall be submitted directly to the Board, addressed to the attention of the Director, Bureau of Operating Rights. One orignal and seven true copies in conformity with the requirements of §§ 302.3(b) and 302.4 (b) and (c) of this chapter shall be filed. The applications shall contain a proper identification of the applicant; the flight or flights upon which it is proposed to carry such blind sector traffic, including routing, nontraffic stops, and dates or duration of the authority sought; a full description of such traffic, and points between which such traffic will be carried; information or documentation as to whether the country of which the applicant is a national grants reciprocal privileges to U.S. carriers; and the reasons for requesting such authorization together with such additional information as will establish that the grant of such authority will otherwise be in the public interest. Such additional information as may be specifically requested by the Board shall also be furnished.

(b) Service. Applications shall be served upon each direct U.S. air carrier certificated to engage in individually ticketed or waybilled foreign air transportation over any portion of the route to which the application pertains, and on such other persons as the Board may require, and proof of such service shall accompany the application as provided in § 302.8 of this chapter. Notice of such applications shall also be published in the Board's Weekly List of Applications Filed.

(c) Memoranda in support or opposition. Any interested person may file a memorandum in support of or in opposition to the grant of an application. Such memorandum shall set forth in detail the reasons why it is believed that the application should be granted or denied and shall be accompanied by such data, including affidavits, which it is desired that the Board consider. Copies of the memorandum shall be served upon the applicant. Nothing in this subparagraph shall be deemed to preclude the Board from granting or denying an application when the circumstances so warrant without awaiting the filing of memoranda in support of or in opposition to the application.

(d) Time for filing. (1) Applications seeking authority to engage in blind sector operations for a period of 3 months or longer, shall be submitted at least 60 days in advance of the proposed commencement of such operations. Memoranda in response to such an application shall be submitted within 15 days after the date of filing thereof.

(2) Applications seeking authority to engage in blind sector operations for a period of less than three months shall be filed at least 20 days in advance of the proposed commencement of such operations, and memoranda in response thereto within 7 days after the date of filing thereof: Provided, That the Board may consider late filed applications upon a showing of good cause for failure to adhere to this requirement.

(e) General procedural requirements. Except as otherwise provided herein, the provisions of Part 302, Subpart A, of this chapter shall apply to the extent applicable.

(f) Issuance of Special Authorization. A Special Authorization authorizing the carriage of blind sector traffic will be issued only if the Board finds that the proposed carriage is fully consistent with applicable law and this part, and that grant of such authority would be in the public interest. The application may be granted or denied in whole or in part without hearing, and a Special Authorization made subject to any conditions or limitations, to the extent that such action is deemed by the Board to be in the public interest. Special Authorizations are not transferable.

(g) Nature of the privilege conferred. A Special Authorization issued pursuant to this section shall constitute a privilege conferred upon a carrier, which may be enjoyed only to the extent that its continued exercise remains in the interest of the public. Accordingly, any Special Authorization issued pursuant to this section may be revoked, suspended, amended or restricted without hearing.

§ 216.5 Existing permits.

"Foreign aircraft permits" issued by the Board under the provisions of Part 375 of the Board's Special Regulations, authorizing the combined carriage of blind sector traffic as defined in this part, shall continue in effect in accordance with their terms until their expiration date unless sooner terminated, revoked or modified by the Board. Such permits shall, upon the effective date of this part, be deemed to constitute a Special Authorization issued pursuant to § 216.4.

§ 216.6 Existing unauthorized operations.

Notwithstanding the provisions of § 216.3, if within 30 days after the effective date of this part a carrier files an application for a Special Authorization to continue to perform existing blind sector operations which have been regularly performed by such carrier commencing on a date prior to _____, 1967, such carrier may continue to engage in such blind sector operations until final decision by the Board on such application: Provided, That any such application shall, in addition to the requirements of § 216.4(a), contain a statement that the carrier is relying upon this section for continuance of pre-existing blind sector operations, and shall fully describe such operations including the date inaugurated, and the frequency and continuity of performance.

2. Amend § 375.35(a)(2) of Part 375 of the Special Regulations (14 CFR Part 375) to read as follows:

§ 375.35 Free transportation.

(a) * * *

(2) Between a point in the United States named in the carrier's section 402 permit, and a point outside the United States not named in the permit, when authorized in accordance with the provisions of Part 216 of this chapter to carry blind sector traffic to or from such unnamed foreign point; and

POST OFFICE DEPARTMENT

NATIONWIDE RAILROAD STRIKES

Standby Instructions for Guidance

The following is an excerpt from Regional Instructions No. 66–0–13, signed by the Assistant Postmaster General, Bureau of Operations on July 18, 1967, relative to the above-mentioned subject:

I. Purpose. To include in one issuance standby instructions for guidance in accepting both domestic and international mail during any nationwide railroad strike.

II. Domestic mail—A. General instructions. Shipments of second-, third-, and fourth-class mail addressed for delivery beyond the second parcel-post zone from the post office of origin will not be accepted. This restriction does not apply to the items which are given airlift service to or from military post offices overseas under the provisions of section 127.15, Postal Manual and § 127.1(e) of Title 39, Code of Federal Regulations. First-class and airmail will continue to be accepted without restriction as to distance.

B. Special instructions—1. Second-class. Arrangements may be made by publishers of second-class and controlled circulation publications to ship at their own expense and risk copies of their publications for designated areas to other centrally located post offices for acceptance in the mails under the following conditions:

a. The publisher must continue to pay the postage for the full mailing at the post office where the publication officially has original or additional entry. There will be no change in the method of paying postage. The postage will be computed at the regular rates applicable from the official entry office. The mailer will get no rate advantage for transporting the copies at his expense to other mailing points.

b. The publisher will advise the postmaster at the office of entry of the special mailing points to which he desires to transport the publications and the approximate number of sacks for each special mailing point.

c. The special mailing points selected by a publisher must be sectional center post offices which have facilities for handling the mail.

d. The copies transported to special mailing points must be for delivery at post offices not beyond the second parcel post zone from the place of mailing.

e. When the post office of original or additional entry has a request for a publisher with the information specified herein, the arrangement should be approved by the postmaster and notification sent to the other post offices involved. Reports need not be submitted to the Department.

2. Third- and fourth-class. a. Special arrangements will not be made for payment of postage on third- or fourth-class mail at one post office for acceptance at another. Metered or permit imprint mail must be accepted only at the post office shown in the meter postmark or permit imprint.

b. If third- or fourth-class mail is shipped by the mailer at his own expense and risk for mailing at another post office it will be accepted provided the mail is addressed for delivery at a post office not beyond the second parcel post zone from the mailing office and the postage is paid by:

(1) Postage stamps affixed. It is not required that they be purchased at the place of mailing. The use of precanceled stamps of the office where the mailer is located will be permissible. The requirement for overprinting in section 142.25 of the Postal Manual and § 142.2(e) of Title 39, Code of Federal Regulations, is waived.

(2) Permit imprints of the office accepting the mail. If the mailer does not have a permit at that office the required application and fee must be submitted.

(3) Meter stamps showing postmark of the accepting office. Arrangements may be made for setting meters used in paying postage at another office under the procedures in section 143.33 of the Postal Manual and § 143.3(c) of Title 39, Code of Federal Regulations.

3. First-class. If postage is paid at the first-class rate on articles of the second-, third- or fourth-class they will be accepted for mailing without distance limitation.

III. International mail—A. General instructions. Except as provided in B below no international surface mail will be accepted other than surface letters and letter-packages and post cards. Airmail postal union mail and international air parcel post will continue to be accepted.

B. Special instructions. Post offices at port cities from which international surface mail is dispatched may accept all categories of international surface mail provided it is addressed to countries for which vessels leaving from the port city carry mail for the countries concerned. Also, all categories of mail for Canada and Mexico may be accepted at post offices along the Canadian and Mexican borders where absence of rail service will not affect the dispatch of the mail to those countries.

Notice of Proposed Withdrawal and Reservation of Lands

JULY 28, 1967.

The Forest Service, U.S. Department of Agriculture has filed an application, Serial Number S 768 for the withdrawal of the lands described below, from prospecting, location, entry and patenting under the mining laws only, subject to existing valid rights.

The applicant desires the land for a seed production area to provide a source of improved seed for the reforestation program.

For a period of 30 days from the date of publication of this notice, all persons who wish to submit comments, suggestions, or objections in connection with the proposed withdrawal may present their views in writing to the undersigned officer of the Bureau of Land Management, U.S. Department of the Interior, Room 4201, U.S. Courthouse and Federal Building, 650 Capitol Mall, Sacramento, Calif. 95814.

The Department's regulations (43 CFR 2311.1–3(c)) provide that the authorized officer of the Bureau of Land Management will undertake such investigations as are necessary to determine the existing and potential demand for the lands and their resources. He will also undertake negotiations with the applicant agency with the view of adjusting the application to reduce the area to the minimum essential to meet the applicant's needs, to provide for the maximum concurrent utilization of the lands for purposes other than the applicant's, and to reach agreement on the concurrent management of the lands and their resources.

The authorized officer will also prepare a report for consideration by the Secretary of the Interior who will determine whether or not the lands will be withdrawn as requested by the applicant agency.

The determination of the Secretary on the application will be published in the FEDERAL REGISTER. A separate notice will be sent to each interested party of record.

If circumstances warrant, a public hearing will be held at a convenient time and place, which will be announced.

The lands involved in the application are:

ASSISTANT GENERAL COUNSEL FOR MARKETING, REGULATORY LAWS, RESEARCH AND OPERATIONS, ET AL.

Delegation of Authority

Pursuant to the authority of 7 CFR 1.51(c), relating to the consideration, ascertainment, adjustment, determination, settlement, and compromising of claims arising under the Federal Tort Claims Act, 28 U.S.C. 2671–2680, and the authority at 30 F.R. 8722, as amended at 32 F.R. 10938, relating to the determination, settlement, and payment of claims arising under the Military Personnel and Civilian Employees' Claims Act of 1964, as amended, 31 U.S.C. 240–243, the following delegations of authority have been made to certain officials of the Office of the General Counsel.

1. The Assistant General Counsel for Marketing, Regulatory Laws, Research and Operations, or any person acting in his stead, is authorized to consider, ascertain, adjust, determine, compromise, and settle any claim against the United States arising from the activities of the Department of Agriculture pursuant to the Federal Tort Claims Act. This same authority is delegated to each Regional Attorney and Attorney in Charge, or any person acting in his stead, but is limited to claims arising out of activities of the Forest Service and which are not in excess of $5,000.

2. Each Regional Attorney and Attorney in Charge, or any person acting in his stead, is authorized to settle claims against the Forest Service which are not in excess of $5,000 and which arise under the Military Personnel and Civilian Employees' Claims Act.

Done at Washington, D.C., this 3d day of August 1967.

JOHN C. BAGWELL,
General Counsel.

Packers and Stockyards Administration

STUART HORSE SALE ET AL.

Proposed Posting of Stockyards

The Acting Chief, Registrations, Bonds and Reports Branch, Packers and Stockyards Administration, U.S. Department of Agriculture, has information that the livestock markets named below are stockyards as defined in section 302 of the Packers and Stockyards Act, 1921, as amended (7 U.S.C. 302), and should be made subject to the provisions of the Act.

Stuart Horse Sale,
Stuart, Iowa.
Kentwood Livestock Sales, Inc.,
Kentwood, La.
Buttonwood Auction Sales, Inc.,
Shrewsbury, Mass.
Red Bank Auction Sales,
Lexington, S.C.
Direct Market, Inc.,
Tomah, Wis.

Notice is hereby given, therefore, that the said Acting Chief, pursuant to authority delegated under the Packers and Stockyards Act, 1921, as amended (7 U.S.C. et seq.), proposes to issue a rule designating the stockyards named above as posted stockyards subject to the provisions of the Act, as provided in section 302 thereof.

Any person who wishes to submit written data, views, or arguments concerning the proposed rule, may do so by filing them with the Acting Chief, Registrations, Bonds, and Reports Branch, Packers and Stockyards Administration, U.S. Department of Agriculture, Washington, D.C. 20250, within 15 days after publication in the FEDERAL REGISTER.

All written submissions made pursuant to this notice shall be made available for public inspection at such times and places in a manner convenient to the public business (7 CFR 1.27(b)).

Done at Washington, D.C., this 3d day of August 1967.

CHARLES G. CLEVELAND,
Acting Chief, Registrations, Bonds, and Reports Branch, Livestock Marketing Division.

Notice of Applications for Duty-Free Entry of Scientific Articles

The following are notices of the receipt of applications for duty-free entry of scientific articles pursuant to section 6(c) of the Educational, Scientific and Cultural Materials Importation Act of 1966 (Public Law 89-651; 80 Stat. 897). Interested persons may present their views with respect to the question of whether an instrument or apparatus of equivalent scientific value for the purposes for which the article is intended to be used is being manufactured in the United States. Such comments must be filed in triplicate with the Director, Office of Scientific and Technical Equipment, Business and Defense Services Administration, Washington, D.C. 20230, within 20 calendar days after date on which this notice of application is published in the FEDERAL REGISTER.

Regulations issued under cited Act, published in the February 4, 1967 issue of the FEDERAL REGISTER, prescribe the requirements applicable to comments.

A copy of each application is on file, and may be examined during ordinary Commerce Department business hours at the Office of Scientific and Technical Equipment, Department of Commerce, Room 5123, Washington, D.C.

A copy of each comment filed with the Director of the Office of Scientific and Technical Equipment must also be mailed or delivered to the applicant, or its authorized agent, if any, to whose application the comment pertains; and the comment filed with the Director must certify that such copy has been mailed or delivered to the applicant.

This ultramicrotome is intended for preparation of thin sections of a variety of mammalian tissues for electron microscopic examination. It is especially needed for the sectioning of peripheral nervous tissues such as autonomic ganglia, which are very difficult to section, and require the use of a diamond knife and an ultramicrotome with very precise control of section thickness. * * *

Intended use of article: The article will be used in the study of the distribution and biological properties of isoantigens present on the cell surface of erythrocytes, leukocytes, and platlets. Techniques of immunoelectron-microscopy will be used and emphasis will be placed on the use of these techniques in the study of the role of isoantigens in the causation of:

a. "Autoimmune" in comparison with drug induced hemolytic anemia and neutropania.

b. Rejection of homografts.

The relationship of isoantigens on leukocytes with ferritin labeled antibody will be examined. Application received by Commissioner of Customs: July 11, 1967.

SURVEY OF AMERICAN BUSINESS INVESTMENTS IN FOREIGN COUNTRIES

Instructions and Regulations

SECTION I. Introduction. The Survey of American Business Investments in Foreign Countries is being conducted by the Department of Commerce to provide a complete and accurate account of the amount of such investments at the end of 1966, the net increase in investments during the year, the return on these investments, and certain aspects of their contributions to foreign economies as well as to our own.

The need for accurate information of this type has been recognized since the early 1920's when private investment funds from the United States began to flow to foreign countries in considerable volume. As a result of the demand for accurate statistics thus created, the Department of Commerce conducted the first survey of foreign direct investments covering the year 1929. Subsequent surveys were taken by the Commerce Department for the years 1936, 1940, 1950, and 1957.

Since 1957, the volume of foreign investments has been unprecedented, and the need for accurate statistics has been more widespread than ever. Since the last complete survey in 1957 there has been a considerable change in the pattern and distribution of foreign investments. The growing economic significance of foreign investments has further enhanced the demand for these data, both from Federal executive agencies responsible for the administration of various phases of the Government's balance of payments improvement program, for international technical assistance and economic development programs, and from industrial and business groups. In addition, international organizations and others abroad concerned with foreign trade and economic development greatly need accurate information on the extent and impact of private business investments.

The data collected in this survey, in addition to providing complete statistics of American foreign business investments for 1966, will serve as a base from which current data collected in sample surveys can be expanded to reliable total estimates of capital and income movements, of flow of funds statistics, and of intercompany flows of exports. These current statistics constitute an important part of the analysis of the U.S. balance of payments.

The information requested in this survey has been set up on questionnaire BE–10, 1966, Forms A, B, C, E, and E–S, described in detail in Section II, B–1 of these instructions.

Pursuant to Executive Order 10033 of February 8, 1949 (14 F.R. 561), as amended, issued under section 8 of the Bretton Woods Agreements Act (59 Stat. 515, 22 U.S.C. 286f), the National Advisory Council on International Monetary and Financial Policies, having consulted with the Director of the Bureau of the Budget, has determined that data for 1966 on private American investments abroad are essential in order that the U.S. Government may continue to comply with official requests from the International Monetary Fund for balance of payments information.

In accordance with sections 2(b) and 2(c) of Executive Order 10033, as amended, the Director of the Bureau of the Budget has designated the Commerce Department as the Federal executive agency to collect the required data and the Secretary of Commerce has assigned this responsibility to the Office of Business Economics, Department of Commerce.

Replies are therefore mandatory under section 8(b) of the Bretton Woods Agreements Act cited above.

No reporter is required or requested to submit replies to any specific question on these forms, if by so doing the security laws of a foreign country are violated.

This survey has been approved by the Bureau of the Budget under the Federal Reports Act (Public Law No. 831, 77th Congress). All replies will be held in confidence by the Balance of Payments Division, Office of Business Economics, under the provisions of section 4(b) of that act and section 8(c) of the Bretton Woods Agreements Act.

Inasmuch as the reports involve a foreign affairs function of the United States, section 4 of the Administrative Procedure Act does not apply. In any event it is found that because of the nature of the reports, the fact that they are required under the Bretton Woods Agreements Act upon appropriate request, and that, consequently, the Instructions and Forms are merely declaratory of that Act and Executive Order above mentioned, no useful purpose would be served by notice and public procedure thereon, the same being impracticable and unnecessary. Inasmuch as the required reports will not be due for 90 days from publication of these instructions, there is no need for postponement of their effective date, and such instructions are, therefore, effective upon publication in the FEDERAL REGISTER.

Dated: August 3, 1967.

A. B. TROWBRIDGE,
Secretary of Commerce.

SEC. II. General instructions—A. Who must report. 1. Basic requirement: A report is required from every corporation, partnership, estate or trust, individual, or any other person, or closely related group of persons subject to the jurisdiction of the United States, and ordinarily residing within the United States, having at the close of business on December 31, 1966:

a. Control of a foreign business organization (including a foreign branch) owned directly or in conjunction with an affiliated person, foreign or domestic. (For complete description see subsections E–5, E–6, and E–7.)

b. Outright ownership of real property located outside of the United States, except real property held for personal use and not productive of income.

c. Ownership of a sole proprietorship type of business enterprise, located outside of the United States.

d. Ownership of the voting stock of a foreign corporation to the extent of at least 10 percent, but less than 25 percent, or an analogous interest in an unincorporated foreign enterprise (see subsection E–9).

Reports are required covering the above types of property if ownership certificates or the equivalent were legally in existence and held by the reporters on December 31, 1966, even though the assets may have been destroyed or expropriated by Government action prior to that date. Such holdings are to be reported as of the last date that information relating to the foreign organizations is available.

2. Estates and trusts: Direct foreign investments held by a domestic estate or trust, i.e., an estate or trust created under the laws of the United States or any subdivision thereof, shall be reported by the fiduciary and not by a beneficiary. Such property must be reported whether or not any beneficiary is subject to the laws of the United States or any subdivision thereof. Any trust actually created in the United States even though the trust instrument provides that the trust shall be subject to the laws of a foreign country must report.

3. Persons beneficially interested in property: If direct foreign investments beneficially owned by a person subject to the jurisdiction of the United States were held by or in the name of another, only the person having the beneficial interest shall report, except as specifically provided above regarding domestic estates and trusts.

4. More than one person owning an interest in the same foreign organization or foreign property:

a. Form B: Each person is required to report if the aggregate ownership of the affiliated persons in the allied foreign organization totals 25 percent or more of the voting securities unless affiliated through an estate or trust as provided in subsection A–2 above.

b. Form C: Each person owning an interest of 10 percent or more in an associated foreign enterprise is required to report.

5. U.S. branches and offices of foreign persons: A branch or office in the United States of a person within a foreign country shall report with respect to property in foreign countries allocated to, held for the use of, or claimed by such branch or office, but shall not report other property of the foreign person.

B. Forms to be used. 1. Each reporter is required under the law to submit reports on several types of forms. These forms are:

Form A: This form is required to identify the reporter, to give certain financial and statistical detail for the reporter, and to provide a complete list of all foreign organizations allied or associated with the reporter.

Form B: One Form B is required for each allied foreign organization listed by the reporter on Form A. In the case of affiliated persons allied with the same foreign organization, reports on Form B are required from each. However, only one of the affiliated persons is required to complete Part II of Form B in order to eliminate duplicate entries. Part II may be omitted only if the reporter has definite knowledge that one of the affiliates is completing that part of the form, and all reporters remain fully liable for the complete report. In the event that Part II of Form B is omitted, the reporter is required to indicate, in the space provided on the form, the name of the affiliate who is including Part II with its report. Separate reporting forms have been designed for nonfinancial, financial, and insurance organizations.

Form C: One Form C is required for each associated foreign organization listed by the reporter on Form A. In the case of affiliated U.S. persons associated with the same foreign organization, reports on Form C are required from each. However, a consolidated report on Form C may be submitted by one of the affiliated U.S. persons, provided that the names and proportionate interests of all affiliated persons are listed. (Note that Form C is to be used only when the combined interests of affiliated persons totals less than 25 percent; where the combined interest is 25 percent or more a report on Form B is required.)

Form E: This form is required to be filed for each allied foreign organization in which the reporter directly and through domestic affiliates owns 50 percent or more of the voting stock, or an equivalent ownership interest in unincorporated enterprises. No reports are, however, required for foreign financial or insurance affiliates of U.S. reporters, for foreign-controlled organizations regardless of activity if ownership is held by U.S. individuals or by estates or trusts, for foreign enterprises whose total transactions in U.S. exports was less than $100,000 in the period covered, or for foreign enterprises owned through other foreign affiliates (secondary organizations). This form is designed to provide information on export flows from the United States to the foreign affiliates of U.S. reporters. (For complete description see section VI.)

Form E–S: This form is required for each reporter except for financial organizations, insurance firms, estates and trusts and reporters who are individuals.

The form is designed to provide summary data on the reporting company's exports from the United States, both to its own foreign affiliates and to other foreign recipients. (For complete description see section VII.)

C. Property not to be reported. 1. Basic requirements: Properties not specifically included in subsection A–1 are to be excluded from the scope of this survey and are not to be reported. Properties excluded from this survey include:

Real or personal property held for the reporter's personal use, e.g., hunting lodges, homes, automobiles, etc., retained for personal use and not productive of income.

D. Exemptions. 1. Exemption based on value of property: Any person whose property in foreign countries otherwise subject to reporting has an aggregate value of less than $50,000 is not required to report. Value is to be determined by the cost, reporter's estimate of market value, or the book value as carried on the books of the foreign organization converted into U.S. dollars, whichever is the greatest.

2. Certain persons exempted regardless of the amount or kind of property: A report need not be made by any person who is within any of the following categories on or after December 31, 1966, regardless of the amount or kind of property otherwise reportable by such persons: (1) Members of the Armed Forces of the United States serving outside the continental United States; (2) citizens of the United States who permanently reside in a foreign country; (3) officers or employees of foreign governments and members of the immediate families of such persons, provided they are not citizens of the United States; (4) religious bodies, charitable organizations and other nonprofit organizations, except for the interests of such groups in foreign organizations conducting business for profit.

E. Definitions. For the purpose of this survey and any instructions or rulings issued hereunder, the following definitions are prescribed:

1. "Person" shall include an individual, partnership, association, corporation, estate or trust, or other organization.

2. "Person subject to the jurisdiction of the United States" shall mean (1) any citizen of the United States (but only citizens ordinarily resident in the United States are required to report); (2) any corporation or other organization created or organized under the laws of the United States or any State, territory, district, or possession thereof; (3) any individual resident in the United States on December 31, 1966, except as specifically excluded in subsection D–2 above.

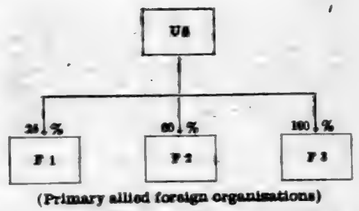
3. "United States" shall mean the 50 States, the District of Columbia, the Commonwealth of Puerto Rico, the Panama Canal Zone, and any territory or possession of the United States.

4. "Affiliates" shall mean (1) (a) individuals married to each other, their direct forebears, and their children, (b) brothers and sisters, (c) estates of persons, or trusts for the benefit of or created by persons, are deemed to be affiliates of such persons and of each other; (2) any group of U.S. persons who ordinarily exercise their voting rights in a foreign organization as a unit; (3) in relation to any corporation or other organization issuing stock or similar securities, any person who, directly or indirectly, owned, controlled, or held with power to vote, 10 percent or more of the outstanding voting securities thereof; (4) as to any other organization, any person who owned or controlled 10 percent or more of the comparable ownership rights therein.

Any corporation or other U.S. organization of which a person was an affiliate also shall be deemed to have been an affiliate of such person, and all persons who were direct affiliates of the same U.S. person shall be deemed to have been affiliates of each other.

5. "Controlled" organization: The ownership of 25 percent or more of the voting securities of a corporation, or of similar certificates of ownership in other types of organizations, including direct branches of U.S. business firms, shall constitute a controlled organization for the purposes of this survey. Such a "controlled" foreign organization shall be refefred to as an allied foreign organization. Reports are required for each such "allied" foreign organization as defined immediately below. Please note that organizations in Canada are foreign organizations and are therefore reportable.

6. "Primary allied foreign organization" shall include the following organizations located in, or under the jurisdiction of, a foreign country:



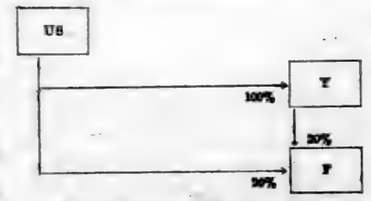
a. Foreign corporation: A foreign corporation shall be said to be a "primary allied foreign organization" if any one of the following conditions is met:

First: The reporting organization owns 25 percent or more of the voting securities of the foreign corporation.

Second: The reporting organization owns less than 25 percent of the voting securities of the foreign corporation; however, affiliates, either domestic or foreign, of the reporting organization own additional voting securities in the foreign corporation which when added to the amount owned by the reporter, total 25 percent or more.

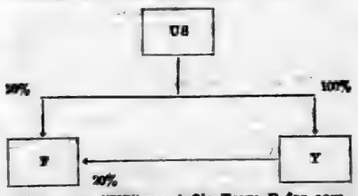
Third: The reporting organization owns none of the voting securities of a foreign corporation, but does own bonds, notes, or other certificates of indebtedness of the foreign corporation, or has direct dealings with the foreign corporation by exchange of merchandise or rendering services, or the foreign organization owns securities or obligations of the reporting company or its affiliates; and 25 percent or more of the voting securities of the foreign corporation are owned by affiliates (domestic or foreign) of the reporter.

Examples: First: A U.S. corporation (company US) owns 25 percent or more of the voting securities of a foreign corporation (company F). Company F must be reported by company US as a "primary allied foreign organization".



(Primary allied foreign organizations)

Company "US" owns directly 25 percent or more of the stock in foreign companies "F1", "F2", and "F3", and must file a Form B for each of these foreign companies (primary allied foreign organizations).

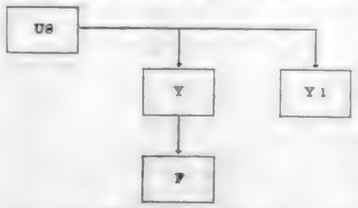


Second. A U.S. corporation (company US) owns some, but less than 25 percent of the voting securities of a foreign corporation (company F). A second corporation (company Y) either domestic or foreign, is affiliated with company US and owns voting securities of the foreign corporation (company F) which when added to the voting securities owned by company US total 25 percent or more of voting interests of company F. Company F must be reported as a "primary allied foreign organization" by the U.S. company US. If the affiliated company Y is a U.S. corporation, the foreign company F must be reported as a "primary allied foreign organization" by both companies US and Y. If the affiliated company Y is a foreign organization, company F must be reported as a "secondary allied foreign organization" as well as a "primary allied foreign organization". (See subsection E–7.)

Company "Y" being domestic:

The combined ownership interest in company "F" by company "US" and its affiliated company "Y" is 40 percent. Both company "US" and "Y" have to report their interest in company "F" on Form B as primary allied foreign organizations.

Company "Y" being foreign:



Company "US" must file Form B for companies "Y" and "F" as primary allied foreign organizations, and a Form B to cover the ownership of company "Y" in company "F" as a secondary allied foreign organization.

Third: A U.S. corporation (company US) owns none of the voting securities of a foreign corporation (company F). Company US owns bonds or notes of indebtedness issued by company F, or has intercompany accounts with company F, or renders services to company F. An affiliate, or a group of affiliates (either domestic or foreign), of company US owns a total of 25 percent or more of the voting securities of the foreign corporation (company F). Company F must then be reported as a "primary allied foreign organization" by company US and by each of the U.S. affiliates who owns certificates of indebtedness or has dealings with the foreign corporation. If any or all of the affiliates of company US are foreign organizations, company F must also be reported as a "secondary allied foreign organization". (See subsection B-7.)

Company "Y" and "Y 1" being domestic:

Company "Y" files complete Form B for company "F".

Companies "US" and "Y 1" file partial reports on Form B to show intercompany transactions with company "F", if any.

Company "Y" being foreign:
Company "Y 1" being domestic:

Company "US" files complete Form B for company "Y" (primary allied foreign organization) and company "F" (secondary allied foreign organization).

Companies "US" and "Y 1" file partial reports on Form B to show intercompany transactions with company "F", if any.

b. Partnership: A partnership in which a person under the jurisdiction of the United States is one of the partners, whether general, special, limited, or otherwise.

c. Branch: The interest of any person subject to the jurisdiction of the United States in property in any foreign country allocated to or held in the name or for the use of any branch, depot, or office outside the United States maintained by such person for the transaction of any of his business. Foreign operations or activities conducted by U.S. corporations in their own names and not through foreign-incorporated companies are to be reported as branch operations. This should include the development of foreign mining claims, and of foreign oil concessions held directly or jointly with others. Unincorporated foreign business of mutual insurance companies should be treated as foreign branch activities of the U.S. business firm and should be reported in this survey.

d. A business enterprise or real property owned outright by a resident of the United States.

7. "Secondary allied foreign organization" shall be defined as follows:

a. A foreign organization allied with the reporter through the ownership of at least 25 percent of its voting securities or other certificates of ownership, through a primary or other secondary allied foreign organization, after giving effect to the proportionate interest of the reporter in the voting securities of the primary or other secondary allied foreign organization. Please note that for the purpose of this survey any combination of ownership which results in the reporter having a proportionate ownership in the secondary organization of at least 25 percent constitutes a reportable secondary organization. (For example: ownership by reporter of 50 percent of the voting stock of a primary allied foreign organization, which in turn owns 50 percent of the voting stock of a second foreign organization, would cause the second foreign organization to be reportable as a secondary allied foreign organization.)

b. A branch of a primary allied foreign organization or of a secondary allied foreign organization engaged in a different type of business or located in a country foreign to the country of the primary (or the secondary) allied foreign organization.

c. If a foreign organization qualifies as a primary allied foreign organization under subsection 6-a, Second and Third above, it must also be reported as a secondary allied foreign organization to each of the reporting organization's foreign affiliates owning any of the voting securities of that foreign organization (see second and third examples under subsection 6-a).

d. Consolidated reports: Branches or subsidiaries of a primary allied foreign organization located in the same country and engaged in the same type of business as the primary organization may be combined and one report submitted covering the activities of all these organizations. The report must be a consolidated report showing the total activities of all organizations and not a report of the primary organization showing only the investment of the primary in the secondary organizations. Provide a list of all organizations included in such consolidations.

8. "Parent" organization: For the purpose of this survey, the parent organization is defined as the organization which owns a direct interest in the allied foreign organization. In the case of a "secondary allied foreign organization", the parent organization is the "primary allied foreign organization" which owns voting securities of the "secondary allied foreign organization." An allied foreign organization may have more than one parent.

9. "Associated" foreign organization: The ownership of at least 10 percent but less than 25 percent of the voting securities of a corporation, or of similar certificates of ownership in an unincorporated foreign organization, held directly by the reporter and its U.S. affiliates, shall constitute association with that organization for the purposes of this survey. Note that separate reports are required for each "associated foreign organization." (When the ownership of the foreign organization is 25 percent or more, either entirely by the reporter or in conjunction with affiliates, the foreign organization is an "allied foreign organization", as defined above, and reports on Form B are required.)

F. Space on form insufficient. When space does not permit a full answer to any question on the form, the information required should be submitted on supplementary sheets appropriately labeled and incorporated by reference under the question. To assist respondents in fulfilling this requirement, continuation sheets have been provided. All supplementary sheets, including continuation sheets, should be attached to the form to which they pertain.

G. Required information not available. All reasonable efforts should be made to obtain information required for reporting. When communication is impossible, or when properties have been expropriated or seized, the latest available information should be used. In case only partial information is available, it should be given with an appropriate indication. If any information not available at the time of reporting is obtained thereafter, a supplementary report should be filed promptly with a full explanation. Reasonable estimates are acceptable for the purposes of this report and should be so marked wherever estimates are used.

Every question on each form which a person is required to use in rendering his report must be answered. However, in property summaries and schedules, space not needed for supplying required information should be left entirely blank. When there is nothing to report under any question or if information is entirely lacking, state "no", or "unknown", as the case may be, with an explanation if requisite to an understanding of the circumstances.

If disclosure of the information required on any form would violate the security regulations of the country in which the foreign allied or associated organization is located, reporters are specifically exempted from the requirement to report that information. If information is omitted for this reason, a note to that effect should be entered on the form.

If certain information cannot be supplied because the accounts of the foreign organization cannot be obtained, indicate this in the appropriate items of the form.

H. Currency conversions and rounding of amounts. In all items requiring financial data from the accounts of foreign allied or associated organizations, the currency customarily used in such accounts shall be used in reporting. If the books of the foreign organization are ordinarily converted to the currency of the parent company, supply accounts in the currency of the latter and indicate exchange rates used. If conversions are not ordinarily made, complete only the columns relating to the books and currency of allied or associated foreign organization.

Amounts may be given to the nearest thousand dollars or units of foreign currency. All amounts reported in this manner must be clearly marked, and the rounding must be done as in the following example:

(Example: $1,033,038.20 would be reported as $1,033).

I. Number of copies. A single original copy shall be filed. In addition, each person reporting should retain a copy of his report.

J. Time and place of filing reports. Reports shall be filed within 90 days after publication of this reporting requirement in the FEDERAL REGISTER with the Department of Commerce, Office of Business Economics, Balance of Payments Division, Washington, D.C. 20230. If the filing of the "Export" schedules, Forms E and E-S, would delay the filing of this report beyond the due date, please file Forms A, B, and C of the report on the requested date and mail in the "Export" data as soon as possible thereafter. You should inform the Balance of Payments Division of the projected date for the submission of these delayed data. If more than an additional 30 days is needed for this deferred filing, a request for an extension of time should be made of the Balance of Payments Division for that purpose.

K. Information regarding preparation of reports. Anyone desiring information concerning this survey, or requiring an extension of the reporting period, should direct inquiries to the United States Department of Commerce, Office of Business Economics, Balance of Payments Division, Washington, D.C. 20230.

L. Forms. Copies of all forms and instructions may be obtained from the U.S. Department of Commerce, Office of Business Economics, Balance of Payments Division, Washington, D.C. 20230.

DEPARTMENT OF TRANSPORTATION

Office of the Secretary

FEDERAL HIGHWAY ADMINISTRATOR

Delegation of Authority

The Federal Highway Administrator is hereby authorized (a) to issue a general notice in the FEDERAL REGISTER, under section 110(a) of the National Traffic and Motor Vehicle Safety Act of 1966 (15 U.S.C. 1381-1425), offering interested parties the opportunity of presenting views, information, and data as to why action should not be taken to restrain violations of section 304(a) of that Act; and (b) to receive such views, information, and data and to conduct such proceedings for the receipt thereof as he deems appropriate. Section 204(a) prohibits any person from selling, offering for sale, or introducing for sale or delivering for introduction in interstate commerce, any tire or motor vehicle equipped with any tire which has been regrooved, except that the Secretary of Transportation may by order permit the sale of regrooved tires and motor vehicles equipped with regrooved tires which he finds are designed and constructed in a manner consistent with the purposes of that Act.

This action is taken under the authority of sections 6(a)(6)(A) and 9 of the Department of Transportation Act (80 Stat. 931-950; 49 U.S.C. 1151-1659).

Issued in Washington, D.C., on August 2, 1967.

ALAN S. BOYD,
Secretary of Transportation.

NATCHEZ BROADCASTING CO. (WMIS)

Order Designating Application for Hearing on Stated Issues

In re application of Natchez Broadcasting Co. (WMIS), Natchez, Miss., Docket No. 17626, File No. BP-16963; Has: 1240 kc, 250 w, U, Class IV; Requests: 1240 kc, 250 w, 1 kw-LS, U; for construction permit.

1. The Commission has before it for consideration the above-captioned application and an informal objection thereto by Broadcast Service, Inc., licensee of Class III Station WHNY, Macomb, Miss.

2. According to the applicant's data, WHNY (1250 kc, 500 w, 5 kw-LS, DA-N, U) presently receives interference from the existing operations of WMIS and WAIL, Baton Rouge, La., affecting 11,642 persons or 6.84 percent of the population within that station's service area. The proposed operation of WMIS would increase the WHNY population loss to 9.9 percent or 16,888 persons. Since this loss would result in an indirect modification of the WHNY license, the licensee thereof is entitled to a hearing under section 316 of the Communications Act of 1934, as amended.

3. Except as indicated by the issues specified below, the applicant is qualified to construct and operate as proposed; however, in view of the foregoing, the Commission is unable to make the statutory finding that a grant of the application would serve the public interest, convenience and necessity and is of the opinion that it must be designated for hearing on the issues set forth below:

Accordingly, it is ordered, That, pursuant to section 309(e) of the Communications Act of 1934, as amended, the application is designated for hearing, at a time and place to be specified in a subsequent order, upon the following issues:

1. To determine the areas and populations which may be expected to gain or lose primary service from the proposed operation of Station WMIS and the availability of other primary service to such areas and populations.

2. To determine whether the proposal of Station WHIS would cause objectionable interference to Station WHNY, Macomb, Miss., and if so, the nature and extent thereof, the areas and populations affected thereby, and the availability of other primary service to such areas and populations.

3. To determine, in the light of the evidence adduced pursuant to the foregoing issues, whether a grant of the application would serve the public interest, convenience and necessity.

It is further ordered, That Broadcast Service, Inc., licensee of Station WHNY, Macomb, Miss., is made a party to the proceeding.

It is further ordered, That the informal objection by Broadcast Service, Inc., is granted to the extent indicated above and is denied in all other respects.

It is further ordered, That in the event of a grant the construction permit shall contain the following condition:

Permittee shall accept such interference as may be imposed by other existing 250 watt Class IV stations in the event they are subsequently authorized to increase power to 1,000 watts.

It is further ordered, That, to avail themselves of the opportunity to be heard, the applicant and party respondent herein, pursuant to § 1.221(c) of the Commission's rules, in person or by attorney, shall, within 20 days of the mailing of this order, file with the Commission in triplicate, a written appearance stating an intention to appear on the date fixed for the hearing and present evidence on the issues specified in this order.

It is further ordered, That the applicant herein shall, pursuant to section 311(a)(2) of the Communications Act of 1934, as amended, and § 1.594 of the Commission's rules, give notice of the hearing, within the time and in the manner prescribed in such rule, and shall advise the Commission of the publication of such notice as required by § 1.594 (g) of the rules.

Adopted: July 26, 1967.

The Hearing Examiner having under consideration a verbal request from counsel for the Greater Philadelphia Council of Churches for a continuance of the date for commencement of hearing;

It appearing that the scheduled date for commencement of hearing is September 11, 1967 in Media, Pa.;

It further appearing that the above-mentioned counsel has been newly employed by the Greater Philadelphia Council and, because of the complexity of the case, requires additional time to become familiar with the issues and the problems of proof; and

It further appearing that other parties have agreed not to oppose the request on the basis of a reasonable expectation that the effect of a delay at this time might be to reach stipulations which would ultimately shorten the hearing and counsel have so represented the situation to the Examiner;

It is ordered, That the date for commencement of hearing is continued from September 11, to October 2, 1967, in Media, Pa.

NEW YORK AIR BRAKE CO., AND WHITE CROSS STORES, INC.

Notice of Applications for Unlisted Trading Privileges and of Opportunity for Hearing

AUGUST 3, 1967.

In the matter of applications of the Boston Stock Exchange for unlisted trading privileges in certain securities.

The above-named national securities exchange has filed applications with the Securities and Exchange Commission pursuant to section 12(f)(1)(B) of the Securities Exchange Act of 1934 and Rule 12f-1 thereunder, for unlisted trading privileges in the common stocks of the following companies, which securities are listed and registered on one or more other national securities exchanges:

	File No.
New York Air Brake Co.	7-2726
White Cross Stores, Inc.	7-2727

Upon receipt of a request, on or before August 18, 1967, from any interested person, the Commission will determine whether the application with respect to any of the companies named shall be set down for hearing. Any such request should state briefly the title of the security in which he is interested, the nature of the interest of the person making the request, and the position he proposes to take at the hearing, if ordered. In addition, any interested person may submit his views or any additional facts bearing on any of the said applications by means of a letter addressed to the Secretary, Securities and Exchange Commission, Washington 25, D.C., not later than the date specified. If no one requests a hearing with respect to any particular application, such application will be determined by order of the Commission on the basis of the facts stated therein and other information contained in the official files of the Commission pertaining thereto.

McAlester Fuel Co. and Forest Oil Corp. (Operator), et al., request that their proposed rate increases be permitted to become effective on July 1, 1967 Mobil Oil Corp. (Mobil) requests an effective date of August 2, 1967, for its rate filing, and Howard C. Roush doing business as Roush Machine Co. (Operator) et al., request a retroactive effective date of February 23, 1965, for their rate increase. Forest Oil Corp. et al., request that Supplement No. 6 to their FPC Gas Rate Schedule No. 30 be permitted to become effective on August 14, 1967, the fifth anniversary date of first deliveries under such rate schedule, and an effective date of July 1, 1967, for Supplement No. 13 to Forest's FPC Gas Rate Schedule No. 27. Criner Processing (Operator) requests an effective date of August 1, 1967; Forest Oil Corp. requests an effective date of July 19, 1967, and Mrs. Mae Lusk et al., request that her proposed rate filing be permitted to become effective on July 1, 1967. Good cause has not been shown for waiving the 30-day notice requirement provided in section 4(d) of the Natural Gas Act to permit earlier effective dates for the aforementioned producers' rate filings and such requests are denied.

Kerr-McGee Corp. (Kerr-McGee) requests that should the Commission suspend its rate filing that the suspension period be shortened to 1 day. Good cause has not been shown for granting Kerr-McGee's request for limiting to 1 day the suspension period with respect to its rate filing and such request is denied.

Concurrently with the filing of its rate increase, Mobil submitted a letter dated August 7, 1963, from the Lone Star Gas Co. notifying Mobil of the increased favored-nation price of 16.0 cents per Mcf applicable to this sale as of July 1, 1963, which has been designated as Supplement No. 4 to Mobil's FPC Gas Rate Schedule No. 190. W. B. Osborn, Jr. (Operator), et al. (Osborn), has submitted a contract amendment dated November 1, 1966, which provides for 13.5 cents per Mcf from February 1, 1967, to January 31, 1972, and 1.0 cent per Mcf increases every 5 years thereafter. We believe that it would be in the public interest to accept for filing the aforementioned letter and contract amendment to become effective on August 3, 1967 (Mobil) and August 1, 1967 (Osborn), but not the proposed rates contained therein which are suspended as herein ordered.

All of the producers' proposed increased rates and charges exceed the applicable price levels for increased rates as set forth in the Commission's Statement of General Policy No. 61-1, as amended (18 CFR 2.56).

The proposed changed rates and charges may be unjust, unreasonable, unduly discriminatory, or preferential, or otherwise unlawful.

The Commission finds:

(1) Good cause has been shown for accepting for filing the letter dated August 7, 1963, filed by Mobil Oil Corp. and designated as Supplement No. 4 to its FPC Gas Rate Schedule No. 190; the contract amendment dated November 1, 1966, filed by Osborn, designated as Supplement No. 2 to their FPC Gas Rate Schedule No. 10, and for permitting such supplements to become effective on August 3, 1967 (Mobil), and August 1, 1967 (Osborn).

(2) It is necessary and proper in the public interest and to aid in the enforcement of the provisions of the Natural Gas Act that the Commission enter upon hearings concerning the lawfulness of the proposed changes, and that the above-designated supplements be suspended and the use thereof deferred as hereinafter ordered (except for the supplements set forth in paragraph (1) above).

The Commission orders:

(A) The letter dated August 7, 1963, filed by Mobil and designated as Supplement No. 4 to its FPC Gas Rate Schedule No. 190, and Osborn's contract amendment dated November 1, 1966, designated as Supplement No. 2 to his FPC Gas Rate Schedule No. 10, are accepted for filing and permitted to become effective on August 3, 1967 (Mobil), and August 1, 1967 (Osborn).

(B) Pursuant to the authority of the Natural Gas Act, particularly sections 4 and 15 thereof, the Commission's rules of practice and procedure, and the regulations under the Natural Gas Act (18 CFR Ch. I), public hearings shall be held upon dates to be fixed by notices from the Secretary concerning the lawfulness of the proposed increased rates and charges contained in the above-designated supplements (except the supplements set forth in paragraph (A) above).

(C) Pending hearings and decisions thereon, the above-designated rate supplements are hereby suspended and the use thereof deferred until the date indicated in the above "Date Suspended Until" column, and thereafter until such further time as they are made effective in the manner prescribed by the Natural Gas Act.

(D) Neither the supplements hereby suspended, nor the rate schedules sought to be altered thereby, shall be changed until these proceedings have been disposed of or until the periods of suspension have expired, unless otherwise ordered by the Commission.

(E) Notices of intervention or petitions to intervene may be filed with the Federal Power Commission, Washington, D.C. 20426, in accordance with the rules of practice and procedure (18 CFR 1.8 and 1.37(f)) on or before September 15, 1967.

By the Commission.

Mobil Oil Corp. et al., and Mobil Oil Corp. (Operator) et al. (both referred to herein as Mobil), request waiver of the statutory notice to permit their proposed tax increases to become effective on July 3, 1967. Oklahoma Natural Gas Co., Oklahoma Natural Gas Co. (Operator), et al., and Oklahoma Natural Gas Co. et al. (all referred to herein as Oklahoma Natural), also request waiver of the statutory notice to permit their tax increases to become effective "immediately" without suspension or refund obligation. Good cause has not been shown for waiving the 30-day notice requirement provided in section 4(d) of the Natural Gas Act to permit earlier effective dates for Mobil and Oklahoma Natural's rate filings and such requests are denied.

Many of the rate increases proposed herein as indicated in the tables relate only to tax reimbursement and should therefore be suspended for only 1 day from the expiration of the statutory notice period. The proposed increased rate of 23.5 cents per Mcf for a sale from the Eastern Kentucky Area should also be suspended for only 1 day from the expiration of the statutory notice period.

Concurrently with the filing of its rate increase, Columbian submitted a contract agreement dated May 19, 1967, which provides for the proposed 23.5 cents per Mcf rate. Such agreement has been designated as Supplement No. 7 to Columbian's FPC Gas Rate Schedule No. 8. We believe that it would be in the public interest to accept for filing Columbian's aforementioned agreement to become effective on August 3, 1967, the proposed effective date, but not the proposed rate contained therein which is suspended as herein ordered.

Texaco, Inc. (Texaco), proposed increased rates contained in Supplement Nos. 13 and 5 to its FPC Gas Rate Schedule Nos. 26 and 197, respectively, exceed the applicable area ceiling by the amount of tax reimbursement and 1.0 cent per Mcf minimum guarantee for liquids. In this situation, we conclude that a 1-day suspension period from July 30, 1967, the date of expiration of the statutory notice, is appropriate.

Supplement No. 13 to Texaco's FPC Gas Rate Schedule No. 26 reflects partial reimbursement for the full 2.55 percent New Mexico Emergency School Tax which was increased from 2.0 percent to 2.55 percent on April 1, 1963. The buyer, El Paso Natural Gas Co. (El Paso), in accordance with its policy of protesting all tax filings proposing reimbursement for the New Mexico Emergency School Tax in excess of 0.55 percent, is expected to file a protest to this rate increase. El Paso questions the right of the producer under the tax reimbursement clause to file a rate increase reflecting tax reimbursement computed on the basis of an increase in tax rate by the New Mexico Legislature in excess of 0.55 percent. While El Paso concedes that the New Mexico tax legislation effected a higher rate of at least 0.55 percent, it claims there is controversy as to whether or not the new legislation effected an increased tax rate in excess of 0.55 percent. Under the circumstances, we shall provide that the hearing herein provided shall concern itself with the contractual basis as well as the statutory lawfulness of Texaco's proposed increased rate and charge.

All of the producers' proposed increased rates and charges exceed the applicable area price levels for increased rates as set forth in the Commission's Statement of General Policy No. 61–1, as amended (18 CFR 2.56), with the exception of the rate increase filed by Columbian for which there is no announced formal ceiling rate for the area involved, but exceeds the informal increased rate ceiling price for Eastern Kentucky.

The proposed changed rates and charges may be unjust, unreasonable, unduly discriminatory, or preferential, or otherwise unlawful.

The Commission finds:

(1) Good cause has been shown for accepting for filing Columbian's proposed contract agreement dated May 19, 1967, and for permitting such supplement to become effective on August 3, 1967, the proposed effective date.

(2) It is necessary and proper in the public interest and to aid in the enforcement of the provisions of the Natural Gas Act that the Commission enter upon hearings concerning the lawfulness of the proposed changes, and that the above-designated supplements be suspended and the use deferred as hereinafter ordered (except for the supplement set forth in paragraph (1) above).

The Commission orders:

(A) Columbian's contract amendment dated May 19, 1967, designated as Supplement No. 7 to its FPC Gas Rate Schedule No. 8, is accepted for filing and permitted to become effective on August 3, 1967, the proposed effective date.

(B) Pursuant to the authority of the Natural Gas Act, particularly sections 4 and 15 thereof, the Commission's rules of practice and procedure, and the regulations under the Natural Gas Act (18 CFR Ch. I), public hearings shall be held upon dates to be fixed by notices from the Secretary concerning the lawfulness of the proposed increased rates and charges contained in the above-designated supplements (except the supplement set forth in paragraph (A) above).

(C) Pending hearings and decisions thereon, the rate supplements herein are suspended and their use deferred until the date shown in the "Date Suspended Until" column, and thereafter until made effective as prescribed by the Natural Gas Act: Provided, however, That the supplements to the rate schedules filed by Respondents, as set forth herein, shall become effective subject to refund on the date and in the manner herein prescribed if within 20 days from the date of the issuance of this order Respondents shall each execute and file under its above-designated docket number with the Secretary of the Commission its agreement and undertaking to comply with the refunding and reporting procedure required by the Natural Gas Act and § 154.102 of the regulations thereunder, accompanied by a certificate showing service of copies thereof upon all purchasers under the rate schedule involved. Unless Respondents are advised to the contrary within 15 days after the filing of their respective agreements and undertakings, such agreements and undertakings shall be deemed to have been accepted.

(D) Until otherwise ordered by the Commission, neither the suspended supplements, nor the rate schedules sought to be altered, shall be changed until disposition of these proceedings or expiration of the suspension period.

(E) Notices of intervention or petitions to intervene may be filed with the Federal Power Commission, Washington, D.C. 20426, in accordance with the rules of practice and procedure (18 CFR 1.8 and 1.37(f)) on or before September 15, 1967.

By the Commission.

[Docket No. E-7311]

IOWA POWER AND LIGHT CO.

Notice of Application

AUGUST 2, 1967.

Take notice that on July 24, 1967, Iowa Power and Light Co. (Applicant), of Des Moines, Iowa, filed an application seeking authority pursuant to section 204 of the Federal Power Act to increase to $19 million, the amount authorized to be issued and to extend to not later than March 31, 1968, the final maturity date of Notes maturing not more than 1 year after date of issue authorized to be issued under the Commission's order of December 9, 1966 in Docket No. E-7311. In that order the Commission authorized Applicant to issue up to $15 million short term Promissory Notes to commercial banking institutions with maturities of not more than 180 days from date of issue and final maturities not later than December 31, 1967.

Applicant represents that at the time of preparation and filing of the original application dated September 1966, its construction budget was $15 million. Due to cost increases and inclusion of additional projects, Applicant's 1967 construction budget is now approximately $19 million. Applicant desires to extend the authority for three months beyond the original date of December 31, 1967, to March 31, 1968, in order to allow it more freedom in selecting the most appropriate time to go into the market with new permanent financing.

Any person desiring to be heard or to make any protest with reference to the application should on or before August 21, 1967, file with the Federal Power Commission, Washington, D.C. 20426, petitions or protests in accordance with the Commission's rules of practice and procedure (18 CFR 1.8 or 1.10). The application is on file with the Commission and available for public inspection.

MERCANTILE NATIONAL BANK AT DALLAS, ET AL.

Notice of Applications for "Small Producer" Certificates [1]

AUGUST 1, 1967.

Take notice that each of the Applicants listed herein has filed an application pursuant to section 7(c) of the Natural Gas Act and § 157.40 of the regulations thereunder for a "small producer" certificate of public convenience and necessity authorizing the sale for resale and delivery of natural gas in interstate commerce from the Permian Basin area of Texas and New Mexico, all as more fully set forth in the applications which are on file with the Commission and open to public inspection.

Protests or petitions to intervene may be filed with the Federal Power Commission, Washington, D.C. 20426, in accordance with the rules of practice and procedure (18 CFR 1.8 or 1.10) on or before August 21, 1967.

Take further notice that, pursuant to the authority contained in and subject to the jurisdiction conferred upon the Federal Power Commission by sections 7 and 15 of the Natural Gas Act and the Commission's Rules of Practice and Procedure, a hearing will be held without further notice before the Commission on all applications in which no protest or petition to intervene is filed within the time required herein, if the Commission on its own review of the matter believes that a grant of the certificates is required by the public convenience and necessity. Where a protest or petition for leave to intervene is timely filed, or where the Commission on its own motion believes that a formal hearing is required, further notice of such hearing will be duly given.

Under the procedure herein provided for, unless otherwise advised, it will be unnecessary for Applicants to appear or be represented at the hearing.

[Docket No. CP67-296]

SOUTHERN NATURAL GAS CO.

Notice of Petition To Amend

AUGUST 2, 1967.

Take notice that on July 25, 1967, Southern Natural Gas Co. (Petitioner), Post Office Box 2563, Birmingham, Ala. 35202, filed in Docket No. CP67-296 a petition to amend the order issued by the Commission June 29, 1967, by authorizing an increase in the maximum cost of facilities constructed pursuant to the "budget-type" authorization originally granted herein, all as more fully set forth in the petition to amend which is on file with the Commission and open to public inspection.

By the abovementioned order, Petitioner was authorized to construct and operate "budget-type" natural gas facilities during the 12-month period August 7, 1967, to August 6, 1968, said facilities not to exceed a total cost of $1 million. By the instant filing, Petitioner seeks authorization to construct said natural gas supply facilities during the same 12-month period with the total cost of said facilities not to exceed $2 million.

Petitioner states that it recently has entered into, or anticipates that it will shortly enter into, natural gas purchase contracts involving construction and operation of "budget-type" natural gas supply facilities estimated to cost approximately $800,000. Petitioner states, therefore, that it seeks authorization to raise the maximum total cost of said "budget-type" facilities to $2 million so that it will be able to consider the purchase of additional natural gas supplies should they become available during the 12-month period.

Protests or petitions to intervene may be filed with the Federal Power Commission, Washington, D.C. 20426, in accordance with the rules of practice and procedure (18 CFR 1.8 or 1.10) and the regulations under the Natural Gas Act (157.10) on or before August 30, 1967.

[Docket No. CP68-28]

SOUTHERN NATURAL GAS CO.

Notice of Application

AUGUST 2, 1967.

Take notice that on July 24, 1967, Southern Natural Gas Co. (Applicant), Post Office Box 2563, Birmingham, Ala. 35202, filed in Docket No. CP68-28 an application pursuant to subsection (c) of section 7 of the Natural Gas Act for a certificate of public convenience and necessity authorizing the construction and operation of certain natural gas facilities and the sale and delivery of additional volumes of natural gas to an existing customer, all as more fully set forth in the application which is on file with the Commission and open to public inspection.

Specifically, Applicant seeks authorization to construct and operate the following natural gas facilities:

(1) Approximately 1.1 miles of 26-inch loop pipeline on its South Louisiana Supply System, to the north of its Lacombe Compressor Station; and

(2) Approximately 4.3 miles of 26-inch loop pipeline on its South Louisiana Supply System, to the north of its Toca Compressor Station.

Applicant also seeks authorization to sell and deliver, through the facilities proposed above, an additional 25,000 Mcf of natural gas per day to Florida Gas Transmission Co. (Florida), an existing customer. Applicant states that it presently sells and delivers 12,600 Mcf of natural gas per day to Florida. Applicant further states that, pursuant to a contract dated April 25, 1967, Applicant and Florida have agreed to increase Florida's Contract Demand to 37,600 Mcf of natural gas per day to be effective November 1, 1968. Applicant also states that Florida has indicated that it requires the additional volumes of natural gas to meet increasing firm requirements in its service area. Applicant also states that the additional service proposed above will not interfere with any service now being rendered.

[1] This notice does not provide for consolidation for hearing of the several matters covered herein, nor should it be so construed.

Applicant estimates the total cost of the facilities proposed at approximately $1,361,500, said cost to be financed from cash on hand or current operations.

Protests or petitions to intervene may be filed with the Federal Power Commission, Washington, D.C. 20426, in accordance with the rules of practice and procedure (18 CFR 1.8 or 1.10) and the regulations under the Natural Gas Act (157.10) on or before August 30, 1967.

Take further notice that, pursuant to the authority contained in and subject to the jurisdiction conferred upon the Federal Power Commission by sections 7 and 15 of the Natural Gas Act and the Commission's rules of practice and procedure, a hearing will be held without further notice before the Commission on this application if no protest or petition to intervene is filed within the time required herein, if the Commission on its own review of the matter finds that a grant of the certificate is required by the public convenience and necessity. If a protest or petition for leave to intervene is timely filed, or if the Commission on its own motion believes that a formal hearing is required, further notice of such hearing will be duly given.

Under the procedure herein provided for, unless otherwise advised, it will be unnecessary for Applicant to appear or be represented at the hearing.

[Docket No. CP68-39]

TENNESSEE GAS PIPELINE CO.

Notice of Application

AUGUST 2, 1967.

Take notice that on July 25, 1967, Tennessee Gas Pipeline Co., a division of Tenneco Inc. (applicant), Post Office Box 2511, Houston, Tex. 77001, filed in Docket No. CP68-39 an application pursuant to subsection (c) of section 7 of the Natural Gas Act for a certificate of public convenience and necessity authorizing the continued sales of natural gas for resale and distribution, together with operation of the facilities necessary therefor, all as more fully set forth in the application which is on file with the Commission and open to public inspection.

Applicant proposes to continue sales of natural gas to the following customers:

Customer	Maximum daily contract quantity (Mcf)
City of Hemphill, Sabine County, Tex.	1,000
Houston Natural Gas Corp. (Cypress-Fairbanks School District), Harris County, Tex.	1,000
City of Kounta, Hardin County, Tex.	2,100
Southwestern Gas Distributors, Inc. (City of Dolen), San Jacinto County, Tex.	1,000
City of Woodville, Tyler County, Tex.	1,000
Town of Grand Isle, Jefferson Parish, La.	1,000

Applicant states that the subject sales were initiated in the belief that Commission authorization was not necessary therefor, that no additional facilities are required to continue the subject sales, and that the continuance of these sales will not affect its ability to render presently authorized service to its other customers.

Protests or petitions to intervene may be filed with the Federal Power Commission, Washington, D.C. 20426, in accordance with the rules of practice and procedure (18 CFR 1.8 or 1.10) and the regulations under the Natural Gas Act (157.10) on or before August 30, 1967.

Take further notice that, pursuant to the authority contained in and subject to the jurisdiction conferred upon the Federal Power Commission by sections 7 and 15 of the Natural Gas Act and the Commission's rules of practice and procedure, a hearing will be held without further notice before the Commission on this application if no protest or petition to intervene is filed within the time required herein, if the Commission on its own review of the matter finds that a grant of the certificate is required by the public convenience and necessity. If a protest or petition for leave to intervene is timely filed, or if the Commission on its own motion believes that a formal hearing is required, further notice of such hearing will be duly given.

Under the procedure herein provided for, unless otherwise advised, it will be unnecessary for Applicant to appear or be represented at the hearing.

MOTOR CARRIER APPLICATIONS AND CERTAIN OTHER PROCEEDINGS

AUGUST 4, 1967.

The following publications are governed by Special Rule 1.247 of the Commission's rules of practice, published in the FEDERAL REGISTER issue of April 20, 1966, which became effective May 20, 1966.

The publications hereinafter set forth reflect the scope of the applications as filed by applicant, and may include descriptions, restrictions, or limitations which are not in a form acceptable to the Commission. Authority which ultimately may be granted as a result of the applications here noticed will not necessarily reflect the phraseology set forth in the application as filed, but also will eliminate any restrictions which are not acceptable to the Commission.

APPLICATIONS ASSIGNED FOR ORAL HEARING

MOTOR CARRIERS OF PROPERTY

NOTICE OF FILING OF PETITIONS

No. MC 78088 (Notice of Filing of Petition To Reopen Grandfather Proceeding), filed July 12, 1967. Petitioner: EASTERN CARRIER CORPORATION, 316 North Apple Street, Dunmore, Pa. Petitioner's representative: Arnold Blackmore (same address as above). Petitioner was granted a certificate on September 9, 1941, which authorized the transportation of: Hosiery, from Washington, N.J., to Philadelphia, Pa., over specified regular routes, serving no intermediate points. Textile products, advertising matter, furnished by the manufacturers of such products for use in the sale of textile products, and commodities, other than machinery, used by textile plants in the manufacture of textiles, over irregular routes, between Waverly, Elmira, and Elmira Heights, N.Y., Athens, Sayre, Towanda, and Philadelphia, Pa., and points and places in that part of Pennsylvania on and bounded by a line beginning at Carbondale and extending through Dickson, Scranton, West Pittston, Forty Fort, Luzerne, and Kingston, to West Nanticoke, thence to Hazleton, thence through Allentown to Coopersburg, thence to Easton, and thence through Pen Argyle to point of beginning, on the one hand, and, on the other, New York, N.Y., Belvidere, Newton, Oxford, Washington, and Dover, N.J., and points and places in that part of New Jersey on and bounded by a line beginning at Midland Park and extending to West New York, thence to Jersey City, thence to Newark, thence through East Orange and Orange to West Orange, and thence through Paterson, Haledon, and North Haledon to point of beginning. Petitioner's operations have been questioned regarding shipments from Camden, N.J., to Corning, Elmira, Waverly, Norwich, and Oneonta, N.Y. Petitioner prays that its "grandfather" case be reopened and that its authority be modified to include the above-referred to points. Any interested person desiring to participate may file an original and six copies of his written representations, views, or argument in support of, or against the petition within 30 days from the date of publication in the FEDERAL REGISTER.

No. MC 126142 (Notice of filing of petition to reopen and modify "Grandfather" Rights), filed July 17, 1967. Petitioner: GLEASON TRANSPORTATION CO., INC., Rockingham Road, Bellows Falls, Vt. Petitioner's representative: Frederick T. O'Sullivan, 372 Granite Avenue, Melton, Mass. 02186. Pursuant to MC-FC-21681 and MC-FC-66191, petitioner acquired the certificate in MC 126142, specifically the portion of such certificate that is the subject to this petition reads as follows: "Irregular routes: Such merchandise as is dealt in by chain grocery stores and in connection therewith supplies used in the conduct of such stores. (1) Between points in Vermont, (2) From Rutland and Burlington, Vt., to points in New York within 150 miles of Rutland, with no transportation for compensation on return except as otherwise authorized." By the instant petition, petitioner prays that the Commission reopen and modify the authority in certificate No. MC 126142 to read: "General commodities, except those of unusual value, classes A and B explosives, household goods as defined by the Commission, commodities in bulk, commodities in tank vehicles, commodities requiring special equipment, and those injurious or contaminating to other lading (1) Between points in Vermont. (2) From Rutland and Burlington, Vt., to points in New York within 150 miles of Rutland, with no transportation for compensation on return as otherwise authorized. (3) Between Vernon, Brattleboro, Dummerston, Putney, Westminster Station, Bellows Falls, Ascutney, Windsor, Hartland, White River Junction, Wilder, Lewiston, Norwich, East Thetford, Ely, Fairlee, Bradford, South Newbury, Newbury, Wells River, Ryegate, McIndoe Falls, Lower Waterford, Gilman, South Lunenburg, Stevens, Maidstone, Brunswick, Bloomfield, Lemington, Canaan, and Beecher Falls, Vt." Any interested person desiring to participate may file an original and six copies of his written representations, views or argument, in support of, or against the petition within 30 days from the date of publication in the FEDERAL REGISTER.

No. MC 128809 (Notice of Filing of Petition for Authority To Add Additional Contract Shipper to Present Permit), filed July 24, 1967. Petitioner: COYLE ENTERPRISES, INC., Tucson, Ariz. Petitioner's representative: Russell S. Bernhard, 1625 K Street NW., Washington, D.C. 20006. Petitioner holds a permit in No. MC 128809 to perform motor carrier transportation, over irregular routes, transporting: Baggage, from the Tucson International Airport to Tucson, Ariz., with no transportation for compensation on return except as otherwise authorized, limited to a transportation service to be performed, under a continuing contract, or contracts, with the following shippers: American Airlines, Inc., Trans-World Airlines, Inc., and Continental Airlines, Inc., and restricted to the transportation of shipments having an immediately prior movement by air. By the instant petition, petitioner requests permission to add an additional shipper, Frontier Airlines, Inc. Any interested person desiring to participate may file an original and six copies of his written representations, views or argument in support of, or against the petition within 30 days from the date of publication in the FEDERAL REGISTER.

[Ex Parte 230 (Sub-No. 1)]

SUBSTITUTED SERVICE—CHARGES AND PRACTICES OF FOR-HIRE MOTOR CARRIERS OF AUTOMOBILES (PIGGYBACK SERVICE)

Present: Rupert L. Murphy, Commissioner, to whom the matter which is the subject of this order has been referred for action thereon.

It appearing, that by order dated November 12, 1963, the Commission reopened for oral hearing at a time and place to be fixed that portion of Ex Parte No. 230—Substituted Service—Charges and Practices of For-Hire Carriers and Freight Forwarders (Piggyback Service), embracing the transportation of motor vehicles by authorized motor carriers and designating such proceeding as Ex Parte No. 230 (Sub-No. 1)—Substituted Service—Charges and Practices of For-Hire Motor Carriers of Automobiles (Piggyback Service);

And it further appearing, that upon consideration of the record in the above-entitled proceeding; the petitions of Convoy Co. and Auto Convoy Co., filed January 24, 1966, requesting the matter be set for hearing; the replies of Kenosha Auto Transport Corp., and National Automobile Transporters Association, filed March 2 and 4, 1966, respectively; and for good cause showing:

It is ordered, That the above-entitled proceeding be, and it is hereby, referred to Hearing Examiner, Harold P. Boss, for hearing commencing September 6, 1967, 9:30 a.m., District of Columbia (d.s.t.), at the Offices of the Interstate Commerce Commission, Washington, D.C., and for recommendation of an appropriate order thereon, accompanied by the reasons therefor.

It is further ordered, That a copy of this order be delivered to the Director, Office of Federal Register, for publication in the FEDERAL REGISTER as notice to all interested persons.

And it is further ordered, That, to avoid future unnecessary service upon interested parties who participated in Ex Parte No. 230, but who may not be interested in the outcome of this proceeding (Ex Parte No. 230 (Sub-No. 1)), subsequent service of notices and orders of the Commission will be limited hereafter to these persons who: Specifically make written request on or before August 25, 1967, to the Secretary of the Commission to be included on the service list.

Dated at Washington, D.C., this 1st day of August 1967.

By the Commission, Commissioner Murphy.

List of CFR Parts Affected

(Codification Guide)

The following numerical guide is a list of the parts of each title of the Code of Federal Regulations affected by documents published in today's issue. A cumulative list of parts affected, covering the current month to date, appears at the end of each issue beginning with the second issue of the month.

A cumulative guide is published separately at the end of each month. The guide lists the parts and sections affected by documents published since January 1, 1967, and specifies how they are affected.

SUBCHAPTER D—PROVISIONS COMMON TO MORE THAN ONE PROGRAM

[Amdt. 2]

PART 792—CONSERVING BASE AND DESIGNATED DIVERTED ACREAGE

Miscellaneous Amendments

The regulations governing conserving base and designated diverted acreage are amended as follows:

1. Section 792.2 is amended by changing paragraph (b)(4), and by adding paragraph (c)(7), to read as follows:

§ 792.2 Farm conserving base.

* * * * * * *

(b) Maintaining the conserving base. * * *

(4) Plantings for wildlife food plots or wildlife habitat. Barley, corn, grain sorghums, oats, rice, rye, soybeans, and wheat will qualify if the area and crop are designated by the operator and approved by the county committee in writing before planting and no grazing or harvesting other than wildlife is permitted.

* * * * * * *

(c) Additional provisions relating to the conserving base. * * *

(7) Acreage not planted because of natural disaster which is deemed to be devoted to cotton, wheat, or feed grains under the provisions of the programs for those commodities shall not be considered as being devoted to a conserving use.

2. Section 792.3 is amended by adding subparagraphs (5), (6), and (7) to paragraph (a) and by adding a new subparagraph (13) to paragraph (b), to read as follows:

§ 792.3 Designation, use, and care of diverted acreage under the feed grain, upland cotton, wheat diversion, and wheat certificate programs; approved conservation uses.

(a) Cropland eligible for designation. * * *

(5) Land on farms which have an old farm cotton allotment. Such acreage shall be eligible only to the extent necessary to enable the producers on the farm to participate in the upland cotton program after all other acreage eligible under this paragraph is designated.

(6) Devoted to a conserving use under an existing GPCP or ALSCP contract provided such land was intensively cultivated during at least one of the four years prior to establishment of the conserving use.

(7) Land on which cotton or feed grains was planted but failed and which was classified as cotton acreage or feed grain acreage for purposes of price support payments: Provided: (i) The cotton or feed grain was planted in a workmanlike manner, (ii) the residue of a chemical used as a weed control makes it impracticable to devote the land to a subsequent crop for harvest in the current year, (iii) the farm operator requests that the land be classified as cotton or feed grain acreage for purposes of price support payments and as diverted acreage, and (iv) the land is treated throughout the remainder of the current year in a manner acceptable for diverted acreage in the area.

(b) Cropland not eligible for designation. * * *

(13) Land which is substantially less productive than the land normally devoted to the crop being diverted.

* * * * * * *

PART 793—RULE OF FRACTIONS

Sec.
793.1 Applicability.
793.2 Basic rule of fractions.
793.3 Payments to producers.

AUTHORITY: The provisions of this Part 793 issued under sec. 4, 49 Stat. 164, 16 U.S.C. 590d; sec. 16(1), 79 Stat. 1190, 16 U.S.C. 590p (1); sec. 105(e), 79 Stat. 1188, as amended, 7 U.S.C. 1441 note; sec. 602(q), 79 Stat. 1210, 7 U.S.C. 1838(q); sec. 124, 70 Stat. 198, 7 U.S.C. 1812; sec. 375, 52 Stat. 66, as amended, 7 U.S.C. 1375; sec. 379j, 76 Stat. 630, 7 U.S.C. 1379j; sec. 103(d), 79 Stat. 1194, 7 U.S.C. 1444(d); sec. 203(g), 79 Stat. 13, 40 U.S.C. App. A; secs. 4 and 5, 62 Stat. 1070, 15 U.S.C. 714 b and c; sec. 401, 63 Stat. 1054, 7 U.S.C. 1421; sec. 706, 68 Stat. 912, 7 U.S.C. 1785; sec. 408, 61 Stat. 932, 7 U.S.C. 1153.

§ 793.1 Applicability.

This part is applicable to the acreage allotment and marketing quota programs and to all other programs set forth in this Title 7 administered by the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service under which price support is extended or payments are made to farmers, except that it does not apply to the pricing and sales of agricultural commodities and it does not apply to the determination of acreage when a different rule is specifically provided in Part 718 of this chapter.

§ 793.2 Basic rule of fractions.

In making mathematical determinations, all computations shall be carried to two decimal places beyond the required number of decimal places as specified in the regulations governing each program. In rounding, digits of 50 or less beyond the required number of decimal places shall be dropped; if the digits beyond the required number of decimal places are 51 or more, the figure at the last required decimal place shall be increased by "1" as follows:

Required Decimal	Computation	Result
Whole numbers	6.50 (or less)	6
	6.51 (or more)	7
Tenths	7.660 (or less)	7.6
	7.661 (or more)	7.7
Hundredths	8.8450 (or less)	8.84
	8.8451 (or more)	8.85
Thousandths	9.63450 (or less)	9.634
	9.63451 (or more)	9.635
Ten thousandths	10.993150 (or less)	10.9931
	10.993151 (or more)	10.9932

§ 793.3 Payments to producers.

Notwithstanding any other provision of this part, if due to the rounding of fractions the sum of the payments or wheat marketing certificates distributed among producers does not equal the total amount earned under the program, the payments or certificates shall be adjusted in order that the sum thereof will equal such total amount.

Effective date: Upon publication in the FEDERAL REGISTER.

Signed at Washington, D.C., on August 4, 1967.

H. D. GODFREY,
Administrator, Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service.

Chapter IX—Consumer and Marketing Service (Marketing Agreements and Orders; Fruits, Vegetables, Nuts), Department of Agriculture

[Plum Reg. 2, Amdt. 1]

PART 917—FRESH PEARS, PLUMS, AND PEACHES GROWN IN CALIFORNIA

Limitation of Shipments

Findings. (1) Pursuant to the marketing agreement, as amended, and Order No. 917, as amended (7 CFR Part 917), regulating the handling of fresh pears, plums, and peaches grown in California, effective under the applicable provisions of the Agricultural Marketing Agreement Act of 1937, as amended (7 U.S.C. 601–674), and upon the basis of the recommendations of the Plum Commodity Committee, and upon other available information, it is hereby found that the limitation of shipments of Queen Ann variety of plums, in the manner herein provided, will tend to effectuate the declared policy of the act.

(2) It is hereby further found that it is impracticable and contrary to the public interest to give preliminary notice, engage in public rule-making procedure, and postpone the effective date of this regulation until 30 days after publication thereof in the FEDERAL REGISTER (5 U.S.C. 553) in that, as hereinafter set forth, the time intervening between the date when information upon which this regulation is based became available and the time when this regulation must become effective in order to effectuate the declared policy of the act is insufficient; compliance with the provisions of this regulation will not require of handlers any preparation therefor which cannot be completed by the effective time hereof; and this amendment relieves restrictions on the handling of Queen Ann variety of plums.

It is, therefore, ordered that the provisions of paragraph (a)(1) of § 917.390 (Plum Reg. 2, 32 F.R. 7741) are hereby amended to read as follows:

§ 917.390 Plum Regulation 2.

(a) Order. (1) During the period August 5, 1967, through October 31, 1967, no handler shall ship any lot of packages or containers of any variety of plums unless such plums grade at least U.S. No. 1: Provided, That plums of the Queen Ann variety may be shipped if they are damaged but not seriously damaged by internal discoloration or dryness.

* * * * *

The provisions of this amendment shall become effective August 5, 1967.

(Secs. 1–19, 48 Stat. 31, as amended; 7 U.S.C. 601–674)

Dated: August 4, 1967.

PAUL A. NICHOLSON,
Deputy Director, Fruit and Vegetable Division, Consumer and Marketing Service.

Title 8—ALIENS AND NATIONALITY

Chapter I—Immigration and Naturalization Service, Department of Justice

MISCELLANEOUS AMENDMENTS TO CHAPTER

Reference is made to the notice of proposed rule making which was published in the FEDERAL REGISTER on July 14, 1967 (32 F.R. 10370) pursuant to section 553 of Title 5 of the United States Code (P.L. 89–554, 80 Stat. 383) and in which there was set out proposed amendments to chapter I of Title 8 of the Code of Federal Regulations pertaining to miscellaneous amendments to Parts 211, 212, 214, 241, and 292. No representations were received. The rules as set out below are adopted.

PART 211—DOCUMENTARY REQUIREMENTS: IMMIGRANTS; WAIVERS

§ 211.1 [Amended]

The third sentence of subparagraph (1) Form I–151, Alien registration receipt card of paragraph (b) Aliens returning to an unrelinquished lawful permanent residence of § 211.1 Visas is amended to read as follows: "An alien regularly serving as a crewman in any capacity required for normal operations and services aboard an aircraft or vessel of American registry who is returning to an unrelinquished lawful permanent residence in the United States after a temporary absence abroad not exceeding one year may, in lieu of an immigrant visa, present Form I–151, duly issued to him, notwithstanding travel to, in, or through any of the restricted places named in this subparagraph pursuant to his employment as a crewman."

PART 212—DOCUMENTARY REQUIREMENTS: NONIMMIGRANTS; WAIVERS; ADMISSION OF CERTAIN INADMISSIBLE ALIENS; PAROLE

§ 212.8 [Amended]

Subparagraph (5) of paragraph (b) Aliens not required to obtain labor certifications of § 212.8 Certification requirement of section 212(a)(14) is amended to read as follows: "(5) an alien who establishes satisfactorily that he has been accepted by an institution of learning in the United States for a full course of study of at least two full consecutive academic years and that he has sufficient financial resources to support himself and will not seek employment during that period. If it will be necessary for the spouse of such a student to accept employment in the United States, the spouse must obtain a labor certification notwithstanding the provisions of item (2) of this paragraph."

PART 214—NONIMMIGRANT CLASSES

§ 214.3 [Amended]

The sixth sentence of paragraph (b) Supporting documents of § 214.3 Petitions for approval of schools is amended to read as follows: "Except in connection with a petition submitted by a school or school system owned and operated as a public educational institution or system by the United States or a State or political subdivision thereof, or by a school listed in the current U.S. Office of Education publication, 'Accredited Higher Institutions' or 'Education Directory, Part 3, Higher Education,' or by a secondary school operated by or as part of a school so listed, a school catalogue, if one is issued, shall also be submitted with each petition."

PART 241—JUDICIAL RECOMMENDATIONS AGAINST DEPORTATION

Section 241.1 is amended to read as follows:

§ 241.1 Notice; recommendation.

For the purposes of clause 2 of section 241(b) of the Act, notice to the district director having administrative jurisdiction over the place in which the court imposing sentence is located shall be regarded as notice to the Service. The notice shall be transmitted to the district director by the court, a court official, or by counsel for the prosecution or the defense, at least 5 days prior to the court hearing on whether a recommendation against deportation shall be made. If less than 5 days' notice is received and sufficient time remains to prepare proper representations, due notice shall be regarded as having been made. When less than 5 days' notice is received and sufficient time is not available to prepare proper representations, but the 30-day statutory period will expire before proper representations can be prepared, an objection shall be interposed to the recommendation against deportation on the ground that due notice was not received. If the notice is received after the running of the 30-day statutory period, it shall be regarded as an invalid notice and whatever Service proceedings are warranted shall be instituted irrespective of the recommendation against deportation. The district director, or an official acting for him, in presenting representations to the court, shall advise the court the effect a favorable recommendation would have upon the alien's present and prospective deportability. A recommendation against deportation by the sentencing court made to the district director receiving the notice shall be regarded as made to the Attorney General.

PART 292—REPRESENTATION AND APPEARANCES

§ 292.5 [Amended]

The last sentence of paragraph (a) Representative capacity of § 292.5 Service upon and action by attorney or representative of record is amended to read as follows: "Except where otherwise specifically provided in this chapter, whenever a notice, decision, or other paper is required to be given or served, it shall be done by personal service or by first class, certified, or registered mail upon the attorney or representative of record or upon the person himself if unrepresented."

(Sec. 103, 66 Stat. 173; 8 U.S.C. 1103)

This order shall be effective on the date of its publication in the FEDERAL REGISTER. Compliance with the provisions of section 553 of Title 5 of the United States Code (P.L. 89–554, 80 Stat. 383) as to delayed effective date is unnecessary because the amendment to § 211.1(b)(1) confers benefits upon persons affected thereby; the amendment to § 212.8(b)(5) is clarifying in nature; the amendment to § 214.3(b) relieves restrictions; and the amendments to § 241.1 and § 292.5(a) relate to agency procedure, and the persons affected thereby will not require additional time to prepare for the effective date of the regulations.

Dated: August 4, 1967.

RAYMOND F. FARRELL,
Commissioner of Immigration and Naturalization.

U.S. CITIZEN PASSENGERS

Manifest Waiver

The following amendments to Chapter I of Title 8 of the Code of Federal Regulations are hereby prescribed:

PART 231—ARRIVAL-DEPARTURE MANIFESTS AND LISTS; SUPPORTING DOCUMENTS

1. Paragraphs (a) and (b) of § 231.1 are amended to read as follows:

§ 231.1 Arrival manifests for passengers.

(a) Vessels. The master or agent of every vessel arriving in the United States from a foreign place or from an outlying possession of the United States, except one arriving directly from Canada on a voyage terminating in that country, must present a manifest of all alien passengers on board to the immigration officer at the first port of arrival. For vessels that are given advance permission to use the procedure, the manifest shall be in the form of a separate arrival-departure card (Form I–94) prepared for and presented by each alien passenger. In addition, a properly completed Form I–92 (Aircraft/Vessel Report) recording the total number of passengers (including U.S. citizens) that embarked at each port en route to the United States shall be presented by the master to the immigrant inspector at the first port of arrival in the United States. For vessels that are not given such advance permission the manifest shall be submitted on a Form I–418, executed in accordance with the instructions on the reverse thereof, with a completely executed set of Forms I–94 prepared for and presented by each alien passenger except an immigrant, a Canadian citizen, or a British subject residing in Canada or Bermuda.

(b) Aircraft. The captain or agent of every aircraft arriving in the United States from a foreign place or from an outlying possession of the United States, except one arriving directly from Canada on a flight originating in that country, must present a manifest in the form of a separate arrival-departure card (Form I–94) prepared for and presented by each alien passenger on board. In addition, a properly completed Form I–92 (Aircraft/Vessel Report) recording the total number of passengers (including U.S. citizens) that embarked at each port en route to the United States shall be presented by the captain to the immigrant inspector at the first port of arrival in the United States. An arrival-departure card is not required for an arriving, through-flight passenger at a U.S. port from which he will depart directly to a foreign place or an outlying possession of the United States on the same flight, provided the number of such through-flight passengers is noted on the Bureau of Customs Form 7507 or on the International Civil Aviation Organization's General Declaration and such passengers remain during the ground time in a separate area under the direction and control of the Service.

* * * * *

2. The second sentence of paragraph (d) Preparation of Arrival-Departure Card, Form I–94 of § 231.1 Arrival manifests for passengers is amended to read as follows: "For an immigrant, a Canadian citizen, or a British subject residing in Canada or Bermuda, only the first four lines of the Form I–94 shall be completed."

3. Paragraphs (a) and (b) of § 231.2 are amended to read as follows:

§ 231.2 Departure manifests for passengers.

(a) Vessels. The master or agent of every vessel departing from the United States for a foreign place or an outlying possession of the United States, except one departing directly to Canada on a voyage terminating in that country, must present a manifest of all alien passengers on board to the immigration officer at the port of departure. For vessels that are given advance permission to use the procedure, the manifest shall be in the form of a separate arrival-departure card (Form I–94) for each alien passenger. In addition, a properly completed Form I–92 (Aircraft/Vessel Report) setting forth each port of disembarkation and the number of passengers (including U.S. citizens) destined thereto shall be submitted by the carrier to the immigration officer at the last port of departure in the United States. For vessels that are not given such advance permission, the manifest shall be submitted on a Form I–418, executed in accordance with the instructions on the reverse thereof, with a fully executed Form I–94 for each alien passenger except an alien permanent resident of the United States, a Canadian citizen, or a British subject residing in Canada or Bermuda. For departing alien nonimmigrants the Form I–94 given the alien at the time of his last admission to the United States should be utilized. Any alien registration receipt card on Form I–151 surrendered pursuant to Part 264 of this chapter shall be attached to the manifest. The presentation of the departure manifest on vessels making regularly scheduled voyages to and from the United States may be deferred as follows: The Forms I–94 of departing nonimmigrant aliens, together with the name of the vessel and the date and place of departure, shall be presented to the immigration officer at the port of departure within 96 hours from the time of departure, exclusive of Saturdays, Sundays, and legal holidays. On those vessels using the Form I–94 manifest, the Forms I–94 of all departing passengers, other than United States citizens and nonimmigrant aliens, shall be presented to the immigration officer at the port of departure within 30 calendar days from date of departure. On vessels using the Form I–418 manifest, the Forms I–418, appropriately noted to show prior submission of Forms I–94, shall be presented to the immigration officer at the port of departure within 30 calendar days from date of departure. In the event a Form I–94 for a departing nonimmigrant alien is not submitted within the aforementioned 96 hour period, a completed Form I–94 for that person shall be attached to and shall be submitted with the departure manifest, accompanied by an explanation as to why timely presentation was not made; for good cause shown, such submission shall not be regarded as lack of compliance with section 231(d) of the Act.

(b) Aircraft. The captain or agent of every aircraft departing from the United States for a foreign place or an outlying possession of the United States, except one departing directly to Canada on a flight terminating in that country, must present a manifest of all alien passengers on board. In addition, a properly completed Form I–92 (Aircraft/Vessel Report) setting forth each port of disembarkation and the number of passengers (including U.S. citizens) destined thereto shall be submitted by the carrier to the immigration officer at the last port of departure in the United States. Aircraft departing on regularly scheduled flights from the United States may defer presentation for a period not in excess of 48 hours. The manifest shall be in the form of a Bureau of Customs Form 7507 or the International Civil Aviation Organization's General Declaration, a Form I–92 and a separate arrival–departure card (Form I–94) for each alien passenger, except a through flight passenger for whom an arrival–departure card was not prepared upon arrival. An alien nonimmigrant departing on an aircraft proceeding directly to Canada on a flight terminating in that country should surrender any Form I–94 in his possession to the airline agent at the port of departure or to the Canadian immigration officer at the port of arrival in that country.

PART 282—FORMS FOR SALE TO PUBLIC

4. Section 282.1 is amended to read as follows:

§ 282.1 Forms printed by the Public Printer.

The Public Printer is authorized to print for sale to the public by the Superintendent of Documents the following forms prescribed by subchapter B of this chapter: G–28, I–20, I–92, I–94, I–95, I–129B, I–130, I–131, I–140, and I–418.

5. The reference to Form I–92 in the listing of forms in § 299.1 Prescribed forms is amended to read as follows:

Form No.	Title and description
I–92	Aircraft/Vessel Report.

PART 299—IMMIGRATION FORMS

§ 299.2 [Amended]

6. The first sentence of § 299.2 Forms available from the Superintendent of Documents is amended to read as follows: "The following forms required for compliance with the provisions of Subchapter B of this chapter may be obtained, upon prepayment, from the Superintendent of Documents, Government Printing Office, Washington, D.C.: G–28, I–20, I–92, I–94, I–95, I–129B, I–130, I–131, I–140, and I–418."

§ 299.3 [Amended]

7. The first sentence of § 299.3 Reproduction of forms by private parties is amended to read as follows: "The following forms required for compliance with the provisions of Subchapter B of this chapter may be printed or otherwise reproduced by an appropriate duplicating process by private parties at their own expense: I–20, I–92, I–94, I–95, and I–418."

(Sec. 103, 66 Stat. 173; 8 U.S.C. 1103)

This order shall become effective on August 21, 1967. Compliance with the provisions of § 553 of Title 5 of the United States Code (P.L. 89–554, 80 Stat. 383) as to notice of proposed rule making is unnecessary in this instance because the amendments relieve restrictions for transportation lines.

Dated: August 4, 1967.

Title 9—ANIMALS AND ANIMAL PRODUCTS

Chapter I—Agricultural Research Service, Department of Agriculture

SUBCHAPTER C—INTERSTATE TRANSPORTATION OF ANIMALS AND POULTRY

PART 72—TEXAS (SPLENETIC) FEVER IN CATTLE

Restrictions on Interstate Movement of Cattle, Other Animals and Certain Materials From Guam

Pursuant to the provisions of sections 1–4 of the Act of March 3, 1905, as amended, sections 1 and 2 of the Act of February 2, 1903, as amended, and sections 4–7 of the Act of May 29, 1884, as amended (21 U.S.C. 111–113, 115, 117, 120, 121, 123–126), §§ 72.2 and 72.3 of Part 72, Title 9, Code of Federal Regulations, which quarantine certain areas because of splenetic or tick fever in cattle, a contagious, infectious, and communicable disease, are hereby amended as follows:

§ 72.2 [Amended]

1. In § 72.2, the section heading is amended to read: "Splenetic or tick fever in cattle in Texas, Puerto Rico, and the Virgin Islands of the United States and vectors of said disease in the Island of Guam; restrictions on movement of cattle"; and the following provisions are substituted for the last sentence of said section: "Notice is also hereby given that ticks which are vectors of said disease exist on the Island of Guam. Therefore, portions of the State of Texas, and Puerto Rico, the Virgin Islands of the United States, and the Island of Guam are hereby quarantined as provided in §§ 72.3, 72.4, and 72.5, and the movement of cattle therefrom into any other State or Territory or the District of Columbia shall be made only in accordance with the provisions of this part and Part 71 of this chapter."

2. Section 72.3 is amended to read:

§ 72.3 Areas quarantined in the Virgin Islands of the United States and the Island of Guam.

The entire Territories of the Virgin Islands of the United States and the Island of Guam are quarantined.

(Secs. 4–7, 23 Stat. 32, as amended, secs. 1 and 2, 32 Stat. 791 and 792, as amended, secs. 1–4, 33 Stat. 1264 and 1265, as amended; 21 U.S.C. 111–113, 115, 117, 120, 121, 123–126; 29 F.R. 16210, as amended, 30 F.R. 5799, as amended)

Effective date. The foregoing amendments shall become effective upon publication in the FEDERAL REGISTER.

The amendments quarantine the Island of Guam because of the existence there of vectors which may disseminate splenetic or tick fever. Hereafter, the restrictions of the regulations in 9 CFR Part 72, pertaining to the interstate movement of cattle from quarantined areas, will apply thereto. Other restrictions of the regulations with respect to the interstate movement of animals and certain materials will also apply to such movements from Guam.

The amendments impose certain restrictions necessary to prevent the interstate spread of splenetic or tick fever, and must be made effective promptly to accomplish their purpose in the public interest. Accordingly, under the administrative procedure provisions in 5 U.S.C. 553, it is found upon good cause that notice and other public procedure with respect to the amendments are impracticable and contrary to the public interest, and good cause is found for making the amendments effective less than 30 days after publication in the FEDERAL REGISTER.

Done at Washington, D.C., this 7th day of August 1967.

E. P. REAGAN,
Acting Deputy Administrator, Agricultural Research Service.

Title 14—AERONAUTICS AND SPACE

Chapter I—Federal Aviation Administration, Department of Transportation

[Airspace Docket No. 67–CE–86]

PART 71—DESIGNATION OF FEDERAL AIRWAYS, CONTROLLED AIRSPACE, AND REPORTING POINTS

Alteration of Control Zone

On pages 7461 and 7462 of the FEDERAL REGISTER dated May 19, 1967, the Federal Aviation Administration published a notice of proposed rule making which would amend § 71.171 of Part 71 of the Federal Aviation Regulations so as to alter the control zone at Oshkosh, Wis.

Interested persons were given 45 days to submit written comments, suggestions, or objections regarding the proposed amendment.

The one comment received was from the Air Transport Association, which offered no objection to the proposal. However, the Association believed that this proposal should give consideration to the construction of a new north/south runway at Winnebago County Airport which they understood would be completed in the near future. The new runway will not be completed for some time and the proposed ILS for this runway is not planned until fiscal year 1969. When the approaches to the new north/south runway are developed, the FAA will consider any airspace changes required by the use of the new runway.

In view of the foregoing, the proposed amendment is hereby adopted without change and is set forth below.

This amendment shall be effective 0001 e.s.t., October 12, 1967.

(Sec. 307(a), Federal Aviation Act of 1958; 49 U.S.C. 1348)

Issued in Kansas City, Mo., on July 21, 1967.

EDWARD C. MARSH,
Director, Central Region.

Redesignate the Oshkosh, Wis., control zone as that airspace within a 5-mile radius of Winnebago County Airport (latitude 43°59'20" N., longitude 88°33'-15" W.); within 2 miles each side of the Oshkosh VOR 175° radial, extending from the 5-mile radius zone to 7 miles S of the VOR; and within 2 miles each side of the Oshkosh ILS localizer W course, extending from the 5-mile radius zone to 5.5 miles W of the W of Runway 9. This control zone is effective during the specific dates and times established in advance by a Notice to Airmen. The effective date and time will thereafter be continuously published in the Airman's Information Manual.

[Airspace Docket No. 67–CE–86]

PART 71—DESIGNATION OF FEDERAL AIRWAYS, CONTROLLED AIRSPACE, AND REPORTING POINTS

Alteration of Control Zone

On page 7461 of the FEDERAL REGISTER dated May 19, 1967, the Federal Aviation Administration published a notice of proposed rule making which would amend § 71.171 of Part 71 of the Federal Aviation Regulations so as to alter the control zone at St. Paul, Minn.

Interested persons were given 45 days to submit written comments, suggestions, or objections regarding the proposed amendment.

No objections have been received and the amendment as so proposed is hereby adopted, subject to the following changes:

(1) The St. Paul Downtown Airport (Holman Field) coordinates recited in the St. Paul, Minn., control zone redesignation as "latitude 44°56'06" N., longitude 93°03'39" W." are changed to read "latitude 44°56'10" N., longitude 93°03'-40" W."

(2) The Fleming Field coordinates recited in the St. Paul, Minn., control zone redesignation as "latitude 44°51'29" N., longitude 93°01'59" W." are changed to read "latitude 44°51'25" N., longitude 93°01'55" W."

This amendment shall be effective 0001 e.s.t., October 12, 1967.

(Sec. 307(a), Federal Aviation Act of 1958; 49 U.S.C. 1348)

Issued in Kansas City, Mo., on July 21, 1967.

EDWARD C. MARSH,
Director, Central Region.

Redesignate the St. Paul, Minn., control zone as that airspace within a 5-mile radius of St. Paul Downtown Airport (Holman Field) (latitude 44°56'10" N., longitude 93°03'40" W.), and within 2 miles each side of the St. Paul VOR 295° radial, extending from the 5-mile radius zone to the VOR, excluding the portion which overlies the Minneapolis, Minn., control zone and excluding the area within a 1-mile radius of Fleming Field (latitude 44°51'25" N., longitude 93°01'55" W.). This control zone is effective during the specific dates and times established in advance by a Notice to Airmen. The effective date and time will thereafter be continuously published in the Airman's Information Manual.

PART 71—DESIGNATION OF FEDERAL AIRWAYS, CONTROLLED AIRSPACE, AND REPORTING POINTS

Designation of Transition Area

On page 7292 of the FEDERAL REGISTER for May 16, 1967, the Federal Aviation Administration published proposed regulations which would designate a 700-foot floor transition area over Morrisville–Stowe State Airport, Morrisville, Vt.

Interested parties were given 30 days after publication in which to submit written data or views. No objections to the proposed regulations have been received.

In view of the foregoing, the proposed regulations are hereby adopted effective 0001 e.s.t., September 14, 1967.

(Sec. 307(a), Federal Aviation Act of 1958; 72 Stat. 749; 49 U.S.C. 1348)

Issued in Jamaica, N.Y., on July 20, 1967.

WAYNE HENDERSHOT,
Acting Director, Eastern Region.

Amend § 71.181 of Part 71 of the Federal Aviation Regulations by adding the following transition area:

MORRISVILLE, VT.

That airspace extending upward from 700 feet above the surface within a 5-mile radius of the center (44°32'10" N., 72°36'55" W.) of Morrisville–Stowe State Airport, Morrisville, Vt., and within 2 miles each side of the Morrisville RBN (44°35'13" N., 72°35'10" W.) 025° bearing extending from the 5-mile radius area to 8 miles northeast of the RBN.

PART 71—DESIGNATION OF FEDERAL AIRWAYS, CONTROLLED AIRSPACE, AND REPORTING POINTS

Alteration of Transition Area

On page 7291 of the FEDERAL REGISTER for May 16, 1967, the Federal Aviation Administration published proposed regulations which would alter the Dublin, Va., 700-foot floor transition area.

Interested parties were given 30 days after publication in which to submit written data or views. No objections to the proposed regulations have been received.

In view of the foregoing, the proposed regulations are hereby adopted effective 0001 e.s.t., September 14, 1967.

(Sec. 307(a), Federal Aviation Act of 1958; 72 Stat. 749; 49 U.S.C. 1348)

Issued in Jamaica, N.Y., on July 20, 1967.

WAYNE HENDERSHOT,
Acting Director, Eastern Region.

Amend § 71.181 of Part 71 of the Federal Aviation Regulations so as to delete the description of the 700-foot floor Dublin, Va., transition area and insert in lieu thereof: "That airspace extending upward from 700 feet above the surface within a 7-mile radius of the center (37°08'10" N., 80°40'50" W.) of New River Valley Airport, Dublin, Va., and within 2 miles each side of Pulaski VOR 208° radial extending from the 7-mile radius area to 8 miles southwest of the VOR."

PART 71—DESIGNATION OF FEDERAL AIRWAYS, CONTROLLED AIRSPACE, AND REPORTING POINTS

Alteration of Transition Area

On page 7599 of the FEDERAL REGISTER dated May 24, 1967, the Federal Aviation Administration published a supplemental notice of proposed rule making which would amend § 71.181 of Part 71 of the Federal Aviation Regulations so as to alter the transition area at Sioux Falls, S. Dak.

Interested persons were given 45 days to submit written comments, suggestions or objections regarding the proposed amendment.

No objections have been received and the proposed amendment is hereby adopted without change and is set forth below.

This amendment shall be effective 0001 e.s.t., October 12, 1967.

(Sec. 307(a), Federal Aviation Act of 1958; 49 U.S.C. 1348)

Issued in Kansas City, Mo., on July 21, 1967.

EDWARD C. MARSH,
Director, Central Region.

That airspace extending upward from 700 feet above the surface within a 17-mile radius of the Sioux Falls VORTAC; that airspace extending upward from 1,200 feet above the surface within a 25-mile radius of Sioux Falls VORTAC extending from a line 5 miles southwest of and parallel to the Sioux Falls VORTAC 336° radial clockwise to the northwest edge of V–148, and extending from the south edge of V–120 east of Sioux Falls clockwise to the south edge of V–120 west of Sioux Falls; and that airspace extending upward from 5,000 feet MSL within a 43-mile radius of Sioux Falls VORTAC, extending from the south edge of V–120 east of Sioux Falls clockwise to the south edge of V–120 west of Sioux Falls, excluding the area which overlies V–15, V–15E, V–148, V–181, and V–181W; and within a 33-mile radius of Sioux Falls VORTAC, extending from a line 5 miles southwest of and parallel to the Sioux Falls VORTAC 336° radial clockwise to the northwest edge of V–148, excluding the portion which overlies V–181.

PART 71—DESIGNATION OF FEDERAL AIRWAYS, CONTROLLED AIRSPACE, AND REPORTING POINTS

Alteration of Transition Area; Correction

On June 28, 1967, a Final Rule was published in the FEDERAL REGISTER (32 F.R. 9156), F.R. Doc. 67–7270, which altered the Columbia, Mo., transition area. In this redesignation, the direction "SE" was erroneously used; the direction "SW" should have been used. Action is taken herein to make this correction.

Since this amendment is editorial in nature and imposes no additional burden on any person, notice and public procedure hereon are unnecessary.

In consideration of the foregoing, the redesignation of the Columbia, Mo., transition area, as set forth in F.R. Doc. 67–7270, is amended effective 0001 e.s.t., August 17, 1967, as follows: "thence SE along a line 5 miles SE of and parallel to the Jefferson City VOR 041° and 221° radials" is deleted and "thence SW along a line 5 miles SE of and parallel to the Jefferson City VOR 041° and 221° radials" is substituted therefor.

(Sec. 307(a), Federal Aviation Act of 1958; 49 U.S.C. 1348)

PART 71—DESIGNATION OF FEDERAL AIRWAYS, CONTROLLED AIRSPACE, AND REPORTING POINTS

Designation of Transition Area

On page 7291 of the FEDERAL REGISTER for May 16, 1967, the Federal Aviation Administration published proposed regulations which would designate a 700-foot floor Transition Area over Miami University Airport, Oxford, Ohio.

Interested parties were given 30 days after publication in which to submit written data or views. No objections to the proposed regulations have been received.

In view of the foregoing, the proposed regulations are hereby adopted effective 0001 e.s.t., September 14, 1967.

(Sec. 307(a), Federal Aviation Act of 1958; 72 Stat. 749; 49 U.S.C. 1348)

Issued in Jamaica, N.Y., on July 20, 1967.

WAYNE HENDERSHOT,
Acting Director, Eastern Region.

Amend § 71.181 of Part 71 of the Federal Aviation Regulations so as to designate a 700-foot floor Oxford, Ohio, transition area described as follows:

OXFORD, OHIO

That airspace extending upward from 700 feet above the surface within a 5-mile radius of the center (39°30'10" N., 84°47'15" W.) of Miami University Airport, Oxford, Ohio, and within 2 miles each side of the Oxford, Ohio, RBN (39°30'27" N., 84°46'50" W.) 225° bearing extending from the 5-mile radius area to 11 miles southwest of the RBN.

[Airspace Docket No. 67–EA–70]

PART 73—SPECIAL USE AIRSPACE

Alteration of Restricted Area

AUGUST 3, 1967.

The purpose of this amendment to Part 73 of the Federal Aviation Regulations is to divide Restricted Area R–3704, Fort Knox, Ky., into two subareas and to reduce the time of designation.

The U.S. Army has concurred in a Federal Aviation Administration proposal that Restricted Area R–3704 be divided into Subarea A extending from the surface to and including 10,000 feet MSL 0600 to 2400 hours, other times by NOTAM 24 hours in advance and Subarea B extending from 10,000 feet MSL to 20,000 feet MSL activated by NOTAM 24 hours in advance.

Since the proposed modification to R–3704 is procedural in nature and reduces the burden on the public, notice and public procedure hereon are unnecessary.

In consideration of the foregoing, Part 73 of the Federal Aviation Regulations is amended, effective upon publication in the FEDERAL REGISTER, as hereinafter set forth.

In § 73.37 (32 F.R. 2310) Restricted Area R–3704 Fort Knox, Ky., is amended as follows:

a. Delete the present description of the designated altitudes and substitute "Subarea A surface to and including 10,000 feet MSL. Subarea B from 10,000 feet MSL to 20,000 feet MSL."

b. Delete the present description of the time of designation and substitute "Subarea A 0600 to 2400; other times by NOTAM 24 hours in advance. Subarea B by NOTAM 24 hours in advance."

(Sec. 307(a), Federal Aviation Act of 1958; 49 U.S.C. 1348)

Issued in Washington, D.C., on August 3, 1967.

WILLIAM E. MORGAN,
Acting Director, Air Traffic Service.

Title 21—FOOD AND DRUGS

Chapter I—Food and Drug Administration, Department of Health, Education, and Welfare

SUBCHAPTER B—FOOD AND FOOD PRODUCTS

PART 19—CHEESES, PROCESSED CHEESES, CHEESE FOODS, CHEESE SPREADS, AND RELATED FOODS

Low Moisture Mozzarella (Scamorza) Cheese and Part-Skim Mozzarella (Scamorza) Cheese; Identity Standards; Confirmation of Effective Date of Order Regarding Optional Ingredients

In the matter of amending the standards of identity for low moisture mozzarella cheese, low moisture scamorza cheese (21 CFR 19.605) and for low moisture part-skim mozzarella cheese, low moisture part-skim scamorza cheese (21 CFR 19.606) to provide for the use or sorbic acid, potassium sorbate, sodium sorbate, or combinations of these as optional ingredients to retard mold growth:

Pursuant to the provisions of the Federal Food, Drug, and Cosmetic Act (secs. 401, 701, 52 Stat. 1046, 1055, as amended 70 Stat. 919, 72 Stat. 948; 21 U.S.C. 341, 371) and in accordance with the authority delegated to the Commissioner of Food and Drugs by the Secretary of Health, Education, and Welfare (21 CFR 2.120), notice is given that no objections are filed to the order in the above-identified matter published in the FEDERAL REGISTER of June 10, 1967 (32 F.R. 8358). Accordingly, the amendments promulgated by that order will become effective August 9, 1967.

(Secs. 401, 701, 52 Stat. 1046, 1055, as amended 70 Stat. 919, 72 Stat. 948; 21 U.S.C. 341, 371)

Dated: August 2, 1967.

J. K. KIRK,
Associate Commissioner for Compliance.

PART 121—FOOD ADDITIVES

Subpart F—Food Additives Resulting From Contact With Containers or Equipment and Food Additives Otherwise Affecting Food

RESINOUS AND POLYMERIC COATINGS, ADHESIVES, COMPONENTS OF PAPER AND PAPERBOARD

The Commissioner of Food and Drugs, having evaluated the data in a petition (FAP 6B1969) filed by The Firestone Tire & Rubber Co., 1200 Firestone Parkway, Akron, Ohio 44317, and other relevant material, has concluded that the food additive regulations should be amended as set forth below to provide for the use of mono-n-butyl ester of 5-norbornene-2,3-dicarboxylic acid and poly [2-(diethylamino) ethyl methacrylate] phosphate as components of food-contact articles. Therefore, pursuant to the provisions of the Federal Food, Drug, and Cosmetic Act (sec. 409(c)(1), 72 Stat. 1786; 21 U.S.C. 348(c)(1)), and under the authority delegated to the Commissioner by the Secretary of Health, Education, and Welfare (21 CFR 2.120), Part 121 is amended in Subpart F as follows:

1. Section 121.2514(b)(3) is amended by alphabetically inserting in subdivision (xv) a new subitem under the item "Vinyl chloride copolymerized with * * *" and by alphabetically inserting in subdivision (xxix) a new item, as follows:

§ 121.2514 Resinous and polymeric coatings.

* * * * * *

(b) * * *
(3) * * *
(xv) * * *

Vinyl chloride copolymerized with one or more of the following substances:
* * *	* * *
5-Norbornene-2, 3-dicarboxylic acid, mono-n-butyl ester; for use such that the finished vinyl chloride copolymers contain not more than 4 weight percent of total polymer units derived from this comonomer.
* * *	* * *

(xxix) * * *

Poly [2-(diethylamino) ethyl methacrylate] phosphate (minimum intrinsic viscosity in water at 25° C. is not less than 9.0 deciliters per gram as determined by ASTM Method D 1243-60), for use only as a suspending agent in the manufacture of vinyl chloride copolymers and limited to use at levels not to exceed 0.1 percent by weight of the copolymers.
* * *	* * *

2. Section 121.2520(c)(5) is amended by alphabetically inserting in the list of components a new item and by alphabetically inserting a new subitem under the item "Polymers: Homopolymers * * *," as follows:

§ 121.2520 Adhesives.

* * * * * *

(c) * * *
(5) * * *

Components of Adhesives
Substances	Limitations
* * *	* * *
Poly [2(diethylamino) ethyl methacrylate] phosphate.	----------
* * *	* * *
Polymers: Homopolymers * * *
* * *	* * *
5-Norbornene-2, 3-dicarboxylic acid, mono-n-butyl ester.	----------
* * *	* * *

3. In § 121.2526(b)(2) the item "Vinyl chloride copolymers * * *" is revised to include a new comonomer "5-norbornene-2,3-dicarboxylic acid, mono-n-butyl ester," as follows:

§ 121.2526 Components of paper and paperboard in contact with aqueous and fatty foods.

* * * * * *

(b) * * *
(2) * * *

List of substances	Limitations
* * *	* * *
Vinyl chloride copolymers produced by copolymerizing vinyl chloride with one or more of the monomers acrylonitrile; fumaric acid and its methyl, ethyl, propyl, butyl, amyl, hexyl, heptyl, or octyl esters; maleic acid and its methyl, ethyl, propyl, butyl, amyl, hexyl, heptyl, or octyl esters; maleic anhydride; 5-norbornene-2, 3-dicarboxylic acid, mono-n-butyl ester; vinyl acetate; and vinylidene chloride. The finished copolymers shall contain at least 50 weight percent of polymer units derived from vinyl chloride; shall contain no more than 5 weight percent of total polymer units derived from fumaric and/or maleic acid and/or their methyl, ethyl, propyl, butyl, amyl, heptyl, or octyl monoesters or from maleic anhydride or from mono-n-butyl ester of 5-norbornene-2, 3-dicarboxylic acid (however, in any case the finished copolymers shall contain no more than 4 weight percent of total polymer units derived from mono-n-butyl ester of 5-norbornene-2,3 - dicarboxylic acid).	----------
* * *	* * *

4. Section 121.2571(b)(2) is amended by alphabetically inserting in the list of substances a new item and by alphabetically inserting a new subitem under the item "Polymers: Homopolymers * * *," as follows:

§ 121.2571 Components of paper and paperboard in contact with dry food.

* * * * * *

(b) * * *
(2) * * *

List of substances	Limitations
* * *	* * *
Poly [2-(diethylamino) ethyl methacrylate] phosphate.	----------
* * *	* * *
Polymers: Homopolymers * * *	Basic polymer.
* * *	* * *
5-Norbornene-2,3 - dicarboxylic acid, mono-n-butyl ester.	----------
* * *	* * *

Any person who will be adversely affected by the foregoing order may at any time within 30 days from the date of its publication in the FEDERAL REGISTER file with the Hearing Clerk, Department of Health, Education, and Welfare, Room 5440, 330 Independence Avenue SW., Washington, D.C. 20201, written objections thereto, preferably in quintuplicate. Objections shall show wherein the person filing will be adversely affected by the order and specify with particularity the provisions of the order deemed objectionable and the grounds for the objections. If a hearing is requested, the objections must state the issues for the hearing. A hearing will be granted if the objections are supported by grounds legally sufficient to justify the relief sought. Objections may be accompanied by a memorandum or brief in support thereof.

Effective date. This order shall become effective on the date of its publication in the FEDERAL REGISTER.

(Sec. 409(c)(1), 72 Stat. 1786; 21 U.S.C. 348(c)(1))

Dated: August 2, 1967.

DOXYCYCLINE ANTIBIOTIC DRUGS

Under the authority vested in the Secretary of Health, Education, and Welfare by the Federal Food, Drug, and Cosmetic Act (sec. 507, 59 Stat. 463, as amended; 21 U.S.C. 357) and delegated by him to the Commissioner of Food and Drugs (21 CFR 2.120), Parts 141, 145, and 147 are amended and Part 148s is established as follows to provide for the certification of specified doxycycline antibiotic drugs:

PART 141—TESTS AND METHODS OF ASSAY OF ANTIBIOTIC AND ANTIBIOTIC CONTAINING DRUGS

1. The following new section is added to Part 141:

§ 141.550 Paper chromatography identity test for tetracyclines.

(a) Equipment—(1) Sheet (chromatographic). Whatman No. 1 filter paper for chromatography, 20 x 20 centimeters.

(2) Chamber (chromatographic). Cylindrical glass chromatographic jar, 25 x 12 x 25 centimeters, with a ground-glass lid.

(3) Preparation of solutions—(i) pH 3.5 buffer. Mix 13.93 volumes of 0.1*M* citric acid with 6.07 volumes of 0.2*M* of disodium phosphate.

(ii) Solvent (organic phase). Mix chloroform, nitromethane, any pyridine in volumetric proportions of 10:20:3, respectively.

(4) Procedure. Fill the chamber to a depth of 0.6 centimeter with freshly prepared solvent. Draw a starting line about 2.5 centimeters from and parallel to the bottom of the sheet. Wet the sheet thoroughly with the pH 3.5 buffer and blot it firmly between sheets of absorbent paper. Starting about 5 centimeters from the edge of the sheet and at 1.5-centimeter intervals, apply to the starting line 2 microliters each of standard solution (1 milligram per milliliter), sample solution (1 milligram per milliliter), and a 1:1 mixture of the standard and sample solutions. Allow a few minutes for the sheet to dry partially, and while still damp place it in the chamber with the bottom edge touching the solvent. When the solvent front has risen about 10 centimeters, remove the sheet from the chamber. Examine the dried sheet under a strong source of ultraviolet light and record the position of any fluorescent spots. Measure the distance the solvent front traveled from the starting line and the distance that the fluorescent spots are from the starting line. Calculate the R_x value by dividing the latter by the former.

PART 145—ANTIBIOTIC DRUGS; DEFINITIONS AND INTERPRETATIVE REGULATIONS

2. Section 145.3 is amended by adding new paragraphs (a)(36) and (b)(36), as follows:

§ 145.3 Definitions of master and working standards.

(a) * * *

(36) Doxycycline. The term "doxycycline master standard" means a specific lot of α-6-deoxyoxytetracycline designated by the Commissioner as the standard of comparison in determining the potency of the doxycycline working standard.

(b) * * *

(36) Doxycycline. The term "doxycycline working standard" means a specific lot of homogeneous preparation of α-6-deoxyoxytetracycline.

3. Section 145.4(b) is amended by adding the following new subparagraph:

§ 145.4 Definitions of the terms "unit" and "microgram" as applied to antibiotic substances.

* * * * * *

(b) * * *

(38) Doxycycline. The term "microgram" applied to doxycycline means the doxycycline activity (potency) contained in 1.155 micrograms of the doxycycline master standard.

PART 147—ANTIBIOTICS INTENDED FOR USE IN THE LABORATORY DIAGNOSIS OF DISEASE

4. Section 147.1. Antibiotic sensitivity discs; tests and methods of assay; potency is amended as follows:

a. In paragraphs (c)(3) and (d), the following new items are alphabetically inserted in the table:

§ 147.1 Antibiotic sensitivity discs; tests and methods of assay; potency.

* * * * * *

(c) * * *
(3) * * *

Antibiotic	Volume of suspension added to each 100 ml. of seed agar used for test	Suspension number	Medium
			Base layer	Seed layer
* * *	Milliliters * * *	* * *	* * *	* * *
Doxycycline	1.5	4	E	A
* * *	* * *	* * *	* * *	* * *

(d) * * *

Antibiotic	Solvent	Standard curve (antibiotic concentration per disc)
* * *	* * *	* * *
Doxycycline	Methyl alcohol	2.3, 6.3, 12.2, 23.4, 45.0 μg.
* * *	* * *	* * *

* * * * * *

5. Section 147.2(a) is amended by adding the following new subparagraph:

§ 147.2 Antibiotic sensitivity discs; certification procedure.

(a) * * *

(30) Doxycycline: Not less than 5 μg. nor more than 30 μg.

* * * * * *

6. The following new part is added:

PART 148s—DOXYCYCLINE

Sec.
148s.1 Doxycycline hyclate.
148s.2 Doxycycline monohydrate.
148s.3 Doxycycline hyclate capsules.
148s.4 Doxycycline monohydrate for oral suspension.

AUTHORITY: The provisions of this Part 148s issued under sec. 507, 59 Stat. 463, as amended; 21 U.S.C. 357.

§ 148s.1 Doxycycline hyclate.

(a) Requirements for certification—(1) Standards of identity, strength, quality, and purity. Doxycycline hyclate is a crystalline hydrochloride hemiethanolate hemihydrate salt of doxycycline. It is so purified and dried that:

(i) Its potency is not less than 800 nor more than 920 micrograms of doxycycline per milligram on an as is basis.

(ii) It passes the toxicity test.

(iii) Its moisture content is not less than 1.4 nor more than 2.75 percent.

(iv) Its pH in an aqueous solution containing 10 milligrams per milliliter is not less than 2.0 nor more than 3.0.

(v) It contains not less than 82 nor more than 90 percent doxycycline on an as is basis.

(vi) It gives a positive identity test for doxycycline hyclate.

(2) Labeling. It shall be labeled in accordance with the requirements of § 148.3 of this chapter. Its expiration date is 12 months.

(3) Requests for certification; samples. In addition to complying with the requirements of § 146.2 of this chapter, each such request shall contain:

(i) Results of tests and assays on the batch for potency, toxicity, moisture, pH, doxycycline content, identity, and crystallinity.

(ii) Samples required: 10 packages, each containing approximately 300 milligrams.

(4) Fees. $5.00 for each package in the sample submitted in accordance with subparagraph (3)(ii) of this paragraph.

(b) Tests and methods of assay—(1) Potency—(i) Culture media. Use ingredients that conform to the standards prescribed by the U.S.P. or N.F.

(a) Make nutrient agar for carrying the test organism as follows:

Peptone	6.0 gm.
Pancreatic digest of casein	4.0 gm.
Yeast extract	3.0 gm.
Beef extract	1.5 gm.
Dextrose	1.0 gm.
Agar	15.0 gm.
Distilled water, q.s.	1,000.0 ml.

pH 6.5 to 6.6 after sterilization.

(b) Make nutrient broth for preparing an inoculum as follows:

Peptone	5.0 gm.
Beef extract	1.5 gm.
Yeast extract	1.5 gm.
Sodium chloride	3.5 gm.
Dextrose	1.0 gm.
Dipotassium phosphate	3.68 gm.
Potassium dihydrogen phosphate	1.32 gm.
Distilled water, q.s.	1,000.0 ml.

pH 7.0 after sterilization.

In lieu of preparing the media from the individual ingredients specified in this subdivision, the media may be made from a dehydrated mixture that, when reconstituted with distilled water, has the same composition as such media. Minor modification of the individual ingredients specified in this subdivision are permissible if the resulting media possess growth-promoting properties at least equal to the media described.

(ii) Working standard. Prepare a stock solution by dissolving an appropriate aliquot of the doxycycline working standard in sufficient 0.1*N* hydrochloric acid to give a concentration of 1,000 micrograms of doxycycline per milliliter. This stock solution should be stored under refrigeration and may be used for 7 days.

(iii) Preparation of sample. Dissolve an appropriate quantity of the sample in sufficient 0.1*N* hydrochloric acid to obtain a concentration of 1,000 micrograms of doxycycline per milliliter (estimated). Further dilute in 0.1*M* potassium phosphate buffer, pH 4.5, to a final concentration of 0.100 microgram of doxycycline per milliliter (estimated).

(iv) Preparation of test organism. The test organism is Staphylococcus aureus (ATCC 6538P), which is maintained on slants of nutrient agar described in subdivision (i)(a) of this subparagraph. From a stock slant, inoculate a Roux bottle containing the same agar and incubate for 24 hours at 32° C.–35° C. Wash the resulting growth from the agar surface with 50 milliliters of sterile U.S.P. saline T.S. Standardize the resulting bulk suspension so that a 1:20 dilution in U.S.P. saline T.S. will give 25-percent light transmission, using a suitable photoelectric colorimeter with a 580-millimicron filter and a 13-millimeter diameter test tube as an absorption cell. For the daily inoculum use approximately 1.0 milliliter of the bulk suspension for each liter of the nutrient broth needed for the assay.

(v) Procedure. Prepare solutions for the daily standard curve by diluting an aliquot of the stock working standard solution prepared as described in subdivision (ii) of this subparagraph in 0.1*M* potassium phosphate buffer, pH 4.5, to the following concentrations: 0.064, 0.080, 0.100, 0.125, and 0.156 microgram of doxycycline per milliliter. Place 1.0 milliliter of each concentration of the standard curve and of the sample solution prepared as described in subdivision (iii) of this subparagraph into each of three replicate test tubes (16 millimeters x 125 millimeters). To each tube add 9 milliliters of the inoculated broth described in subdivision (iv) of this subparagraph and place immediately in a water bath at 37° C. for 3 to 4 hours. Remove the tubes from the water bath and add 0.5 milliliter of a 12 percent formaldehyde solution to each tube. Determine the absorbance values of each tube in a suitable photoelectric colorimeter, using a wavelength of 530 millimicrons. Set the instrument at zero absorbance with clear, uninoculated broth prepared as directed in subdivision (i) (b) of this subparagraph.

(vi) Estimation of potency. Plot the average absorbance values for each concentration of the standard curve on 1-cycle semilogarithmic graph paper with the absorbance values on the arithmetic scale and concentrations on the logarithmic scale. Construct the best straight line through the points either by inspection or by use of the following equations:

$$L=\frac{3a+2b+c-e}{5},$$

$$H=\frac{3e+2d+c-a}{5},$$

where:

L = Calculated absorbance value for the lowest concentration of the standard curve.

H = Calculated absorbance value for the highest concentration of the standard curve.

a, b, c, d, e = Average absorbance values for each concentration of the standard curve, lowest to highest, respectively.

Plot the values obtained for L and H and connect the points with a straight line. Average the absorbance values for the sample and determine the doxycycline concentration from the standard curve. Multiply the concentration by the appropriate dilution factor to obtain the doxycycline content of the sample.

(3) Toxicity. Proceed as directed in § 141a.4 of this chapter, using as a test dose 0.5 milliliter of a solution containing 5.0 milligrams of doxycycline per milliliter of sterile U.S.P. saline T.S.

(3) Moisture. Proceed as directed in § 141a.26(e) of this chapter.

(4) pH. Proceed as directed in § 141a.5 (b) of this chapter, using an aqueous solution containing the equivalent of 10 milligrams of doxycycline per milliliter.

(5) Doxycycline content—(i) Equipment—(a) Sheet (chromatographic). Whatman No. 4 filter paper for chromatography, 22 x 57 centimeters.

(b) Chamber (chromatographic). Square glass chromatography jar, 30 x 30 x 60 centimeters, equipped with 25-centimeter troughs for descending chromatography.

(ii) Preparation of solutions—(a) 0.05N Methanolic hydrochloric acid. Dilute 4.2 milliliters of concentrated hydrochloric acid to 1 liter with methanol.

(b) pH 4.2 buffer. Mix 5.86 volumes of 0.1*M* citric acid with 4.14 volumes of 0.2*M* disodium phosphate.

(c) Chromatographic system. Mix toluene, pyridine, and pH 4.2 buffer in volumetric proportions of 20: 3: 10, respectively. Allow the phases to separate. Place the upper phase in the troughs near the top of the chamber. Place the lower phase in the bottom of the chamber. Saturate the atmosphere of the highly sealed chamber for 24 hours before use by placing white blotters on two opposite sides of the chamber so that their ends are immersed in the lower phase in the bottom of the chamber. Replace the solvent in troughs before the chromatograms are to be developed.

(iii) Preparation of the doxycycline standard solution. Accurately weigh about 50 milligrams of the doxycycline working standard into a 5-milliliter volumetric flask and bring to volume with 0.05*N* methanolic hydrochloric acid. Store in the refrigerator and use within 7 days.

(iv) Preparation of sample. Accurately weigh about 50 milligrams of the sample into a 5-milliliter volumetric flask and bring to volume with 0.05*N* methanolic hydrochloric acid.

(v) Preparation of the chromatogram. Dip the chromatographic sheets into pH 4.2 buffer and lightly blot each sheet between clean nonfluorescing, white blotters. Use separate sheets for the doxycycline standard solution, for each doxycycline sample solution, and for blanks without standard or sample application. Care must be taken so that the moist sheets do not become too dry; a period of 5 to 10 minutes between impregnating the paper and placing it in the chromatographic chamber is usually satisfactory. Evenly apply a 0.100-milliliter aliquot of a doxycycline solution to the origin line of a sheet as a 15-centimeter-long streak. Place the sheets in the chamber and develop them in a descending manner for 2 hours. The doxycycline band should move approximately 12.5 centimeters from the origin line. Remove the sheets from the chamber and air-dry for about 10 minutes.

(vi) Processing the chromatogram. Examine each sheet under 366-millimicron ultraviolet light and outline the main fluorescent doxycycline band with a pencil. The marked area should be approximately 10 x 22 centimeters in size. Outline an area on the blank sheet approximately equal in size and in the same location as those outlined on the standard and sample sheets. Exposure of the sheets to ammonia or other alkaline vapors must be avoided. Cut the marked areas from the sheets and then cut them into approximately 2-centimeter squares. For each sheet, place the squares into a glass-stoppered 125-milliliter Erlenmeyer flask. The time between removing the sheets from the chamber and placing the squares into the Erlenmeyer flasks should be minimal, since excessive drying of the paper can lead to erratic elutions.

(vii) Elution. To each flask add 50 milliliters of 0.05*N* methanolic hydrochloric acid and agitate on a reciprocating shaker for 1 hour. Decant the contents of each flask into another flask by pouring through a small funnel fitted with a glass wool plug.

(viii) Doxycycline standard solution for direct measurement of absorbance. Pipette a 0.100-milliliter aliquot of the doxycycline standard solution into each of three 125-milliliter Erlenmeyer flasks. Add 50 milliliters of 0.05*N* methanolic hydrochloric acid to each of these flasks.

(ix) Absorbance measurement. Using a suitable spectrophotometer and 0.05*N* methanolic hydrochloric acid as the reference solvent, determine the absorbance of each eluate and of each doxycycline standard solution at the absorption maximum at about 349 millimicrons.

(x) Calculation of percent doxycycline in samples. Calculate as follows:

$$\text{Percent doxycycline}=\frac{(A_s-A_b)(W_d)}{(A_d-A_b)(W_s)}\times\text{Doxycycline content of the working standard,}$$

where:

A_s = Absorbance of the eluate from the main doxycycline band of the sample sheet.

A_d = Absorbance of the eluate from the main doxycycline band on the standard sheet.

A_b = Absorbance of the eluate from the area of the blank sheet corresponding to the area of the doxycycline band of the standard sheet.

W_s = Weight in milligrams of sample.

W_d = Weight in milligrams of doxycycline working standard.

(xi) Recovery of the doxycycline standard from the chromatogram. As follows:

$$\text{Percent recovery}=\frac{A_s-A_b}{A_D}\times\frac{100}{F}$$

where:

A_D = Absorbance of the doxycycline standard solution described in subdivision (viii) of this subparagraph.

F = The fractional purity of doxycycline standard solution described in subdivision (xii) of this subparagraph.

If the recovery of the doxycycline standard from the chromatogram is less than 95 percent, repeat the chromatogram.

(xii) Determination of the fractional purity of the doxycycline working standard. Determine F by means of the following equation:

$$F=1-\frac{(A_1-A_{1b})}{(A_s-A_{sb}+A_1-A_b)},$$

where:

A_0 = Absorbance of the eluate from sections of the standard chromatogram containing nondoxycycline 349 millimicron-absorbing contaminants.

A_{0b} = Absorbance of the eluates from the sections of the blank sheets corresponding to those sections of the nondoxycycline absorbing contaminants of the standard sheets.

(6) Identity. The infrared absorption spectrum in the range of 2 to 15 microns for a 0.25-percent mixture of the sample in a potassium bromide pellet compares qualitatively to that of an authentic sample of doxycycline hyclate.

(7) Crystallinity. Mount a few particles of the sample in mineral oil and examine by means of a polarizing microscope. The particles reveal the phenomena of birefringence and extinction positions on revolving the microscope stage.

§ 148z.2 Doxycycline monohydrate.

(a) Requirements for certification—(1) Standards of identity, strength, quality, and purity. Doxycycline monohydrate is a crystalline hydrated compound of doxycycline. It is so purified and dried that:

(i) Its potency is not less than 880 micrograms nor more than 980 micrograms of doxycycline per milligram on an as is basis.

(ii) It passes the toxicity test.

(iii) Its moisture content is not less than 3.6 percent nor more than 4.6 percent.

(iv) Its pH in an aqueous suspension containing the equivalent of 10 milligrams of doxycycline per milliliter is not less than 5.0 nor more than 6.5.

(v) It contains not less than 90 percent nor more than 98 percent doxycycline on an as is basis.

(vi) It gives a positive identity test for doxycycline monohydrate.

(2) Labeling. It shall be labeled in accordance with the requirements of § 148.3 of this chapter. Its expiration date is 12 months.

(3) Requests for certification; samples. In addition to complying with the requirements of § 146.2 of this chapter, each such request shall contain:

(i) Results of tests and assays on the batch for potency, toxicity, moisture, pH, doxycycline content, identity, and crystallinity.

(ii) Samples of the batch: 10 packages, each containing approximately 300 milligrams.

(4) Fees. $5 for each package in the sample submitted in accordance with subparagraph (3) (ii) of this paragraph.

(b) Tests and methods of assay—(1) Potency. Proceed as directed in § 148z.1(b)(1).

(2) Toxicity. Proceed as directed in § 141a.75(b) of this chapter using as a test dose 0.5 milliliter of a suspension containing 100 milligrams of doxycycline per milliliter of sterile distilled water.

(3) Moisture. Proceed as directed in § 141a.26(e) of this chapter.

(4) pH. Proceed as directed in § 141a.5(b) of this chapter, using an aqueous suspension containing the equivalent of 10 milligrams of doxycycline per milliliter.

(5) Doxycycline content. Proceed as directed in § 148z.1(b)(5).

(6) Identity. The infrared absorption spectrum in the range of 2 to 15 microns of a 0.25 percent mixture of doxycycline monohydrate in a potassium bromide pellet compares qualitatively to that of an authentic sample of doxycycline monohydrate.

(7) Crystallinity. Proceed as directed in § 148z.1(b)(7).

§ 148z.3 Doxycycline hyclate capsules.

(a) Requirements for certification—(1) Standards of identity, strength, quality, and purity. Doxycycline hyclate capsules are composed of doxycycline hyclate and one or more suitable and harmless lubricants and diluents enclosed in a gelatin capsule. Each capsule contains doxycycline hyclate equivalent to 50 milligrams of doxycycline. The moisture content is not more than 5.0 percent. It passes the identity test for the presence of the doxycycline moiety. The doxycycline hyclate used conforms to the standards prescribed by § 148z.1. Each other substance used, if its name is recognized in the U.S.P. or N.F., conforms to the standards prescribed therefor by such official compendium.

(2) Labeling. It shall be labeled in accordance with the requirements of § 148.3 of this chapter. Its expiration date is 12 months.

(3) Requests for certification; samples. In addition to the requirements of § 146.2 of this chapter, each such request shall contain:

(i) Results of tests and assays on:

(a) The doxycycline hyclate used in making the batch for potency, toxicity, moisture, pH, doxycycline content, identity, and crystallinity.

(b) The batch for potency, moisture, and identity.

(ii) Samples required:

(a) The doxycycline hyclate used in making the batch: 10 packages, each containing approximately 300 milligrams.

(b) The batch: A minimum of 36 capsules.

(c) In case of an initial request for certification, each other ingredient used in making the batch: One package of each containing approximately 5 grams.

(4) Fees. $0.75 for each capsule in the sample submitted in accordance with subparagraph (3) (ii) (b) of this paragraph; $4 for each immediate container in the sample submitted in accordance with subparagraph (3) (ii) (c) of this paragraph; $5 for each immediate container in the sample submitted in accordance with subparagraph (3) (ii) (a) of this paragraph.

(b) Tests and methods of assay—(1) Potency. Proceed as directed in § 148z.1(b)(1), except prepare the sample for assay as follows: Blend a representative number of capsules in a high-speed glass blender with 0.1*N* hydrochloric acid and further dilute with 0.1*M* potassium phosphate buffer, pH 4.5, to the reference concentration. The potency is satisfactory if it is not less than 90 percent nor more than 120 percent of the number of milligrams of doxycycline that it is represented to contain.

(2) Moisture. Proceed as directed in § 141a.26(e) of this chapter.

(3) Identity. Proceed as directed in § 141.550 of this chapter, except prepare the standard and sample solutions as follows: Dissolve precise amounts of the doxycycline capsule contents and of the doxycycline working standard in methanol and further dilute each solution to a concentration of 1 milligram of doxycycline per milliliter. Prepare the sample-standard mixed solution by mixing equal volumes of the final standard and sample solutions. The standard and sample must each produce a major, yellow fluorescent spot with the same R_f value, and the standard-sample mixed solution must show no separation of major spots.

§ 148z.4 Doxycycline monohydrate for oral suspension.

(a) Requirements for certification—(1) Standards of identity, strength, quality, and purity. Doxycycline monohydrate for oral suspension is doxycycline monohydrate, with one or more suitable and harmless buffer substances, preservatives, diluents, colorings, and flavorings. Its moisture content is not more than 3 percent. It passes the identity test for the presence of the doxycycline moiety. When prepared as directed in the labeling, each milliliter contains the equivalent of 5 milligrams of doxycycline and its pH is not less than 5.0 and not more than 6.0. The doxycycline monohydrate used conforms to the standards prescribed by § 148z.2. Each other substance used, if its name is recognized in the U.S.P. or N.F., conforms to the standards prescribed therefor by such official compendium.

(2) Labeling. It shall be labeled in accordance with the requirements of § 148.3 of this chapter. Its expiration date is 12 months.

(3) Requests for certification; samples. In addition to the requirements of § 146.2 of this chapter, each such request shall contain:

(i) Results of tests and assays on:

(a) The doxycycline monohydrate used in making the batch for potency, toxicity, moisture, pH, doxycycline content, identity, and crystallinity.

(b) The batch for potency, moisture, pH, and identity.

(ii) Samples required:

(a) Doxycycline monohydrate used in making the batch: 10 packages, each containing approximately 300 milligrams.

(b) The batch: A minimum of six immediate containers.

(c) In case of an initial request for certification, each other ingredient used in making the batch: One package of each containing approximately 5 grams.

(4) Fees. $4 for each container in the samples submitted in accordance with subparagraph (3) (ii) (b) and (c); $5 for each container in the sample submitted in accordance with subparagraph (3) (ii) (a) of this paragraph.

(b) Tests and methods of assay—(1) Potency. Proceed as directed in § 148z.1 (b) (1), except prepare the sample for assay as follows: Reconstitute the sample as directed in the labeling. Using a suitable syringe, transfer an appropriate aliquot of the suspension to a volumetric flask and dissolve with 0.1*N* hydrochloric acid. Further dilute with 0.1*M* potassium phosphate buffer, pH 4.5, to the reference concentration. The potency is satisfactory if it is not less than 90 percent nor more than 125 percent of the number of milligrams of doxycycline that it is represented to contain.

(2) Moisture. Proceed as directed in § 141a.26(e) of this chapter.

(3) pH. Reconstitute as directed in the labeling and proceed as directed in § 141a.5(b) of this chapter, using the undiluted sample.

(4) Identity. Proceed as directed in § 141.550 of this chapter, except prepare the standard and sample solutions as follows: Dissolve precise amounts of the doxycycline monohydrate for oral suspension and of the doxycycline working standard in methanol and further dilute each solution to a concentration of 1 milligram of doxycycline per milliliter. Prepare the sample-standard mixed solution by mixing equal volumes of the final concentration of the sample and standard solutions. The sample and standard must each produce a major, yellow fluorescent spot with the same R_f value and the sample-standard mixed solution must show no separation of major spots.

Data supplied by the manufacturer concerning the safety and efficacy of the subject antibiotic drugs have been evaluated. Since the conditions prerequisite to providing for certification of the subject drugs have been complied with and since it is in the public interest not to delay in providing for such certification, notice and public procedure and delayed effective date are not prerequisites to this promulgation.

Effective date. This order shall be effective upon publication in the FEDERAL REGISTER.

REFINANCING TRANSACTIONS AND PREPAYMENT PRIVILEGE, PREPAYMENT AND LATE CHARGES

In § 207.32 the introductory text of paragraph (a) is amended, paragraph (b) is redesignated as paragraph (c), and a new paragraph (b) is added to read as follows:

§ 207.32 Eligibility of refinancing transactions.

* * * * *

(a) Except as provided in paragraph (b), the principal of the new mortgage shall not exceed the lowest of these amounts:

* * * * *

(b) Where the mortgage to be refinanced is one of several insured mortgages covering properties, the income of which is being pooled, and the proceeds of the refinanced mortgage are to be applied to the indebtedness of one or more mortgages in such pool, the principal amount of the new mortgage shall not exceed the original principal amount of the existing insured mortgage.

Section 1100.65 is amended to read as follows:

§ 1100.65 Prepayment privilege, prepayment and late charges.

(a) Prepayment privilege. The mortgage indebtedness shall not be prepaid in full and the Commissioner's controls shall not be terminated unless the Commissioner gives his prior consent to such prepayment.

(b) Prepayment charge. The mortgage may contain a provision for such additional charge, in the event of prepayment of principal, as may be agreed upon between the mortgagor and the mortgagee. However, the mortgagor shall be permitted to prepay up to 15 percent of the original principal amount of the mortgage in any one calendar year without any such additional charge. Any reduction in the original principal amount of the mortgage resulting from the certification of cost requirements shall not be construed as a prepayment of the mortgage.

(c) Late charge. The mortgage may provide for the collection by the mortgagee of a late charge, not to exceed two cents for each dollar of each payment to interest or principal more than 15 days in arrears, to cover the expense involved in handling delinquent payments. Late charges shall be separately charged to and collected from the mortgagor and shall not be deducted from any aggregate monthly payment.

MISCELLANEOUS AMENDMENTS

In § 221.510 the introductory text of paragraphs (a) (2) and (d) (2) is amended to read as follows:

§ 221.510 Eligible mortgagors.

(a) Nonprofit, builder-seller, and rehabilitation sales mortgagors. * * *

(2) The builder-seller mortgagor shall be a special type of mortgagor approved by the Commissioner which is organized:

* * * * *

(d) Cooperative and investor-sponsor mortgagors. * * *

(2) The investor-sponsor mortgagor shall be a special type of mortgagor approved by the Commissioner which is organized to:

* * * * *

In § 221.514 paragraphs (a) (2) (i) and (a) (3) (i) are amended to read as follows:

§ 221.514 Maximum mortgage amounts.

(a) Principal obligation. * * *

(2) New construction. (i) In the case of new construction where the mortgagor is a nonprofit, builder-seller, public, cooperative, or investor-sponsor, the Commissioner's estimate of replacement cost of the property or project when the improvements are completed (the replacement cost may include the land, the proposed physical improvements, utilities within the boundaries of the land, architect's fees, taxes, interest during construction, and other miscellaneous charges incident to construction and approved by the Commissioner).

* * * * *

(3) Repair or rehabilitation. (i) In the case of a project which is to be repaired or rehabilitated where the mortgagor is a nonprofit, builder-seller, rehabilitation sales, public, cooperative, or investor-sponsor, the sum of the estimated cost of the repairs or rehabilitation of the project and the Commissioner's estimate of the value of the property before repairs or rehabilitation.

* * * * *

In § 221.515 paragraph (b) (1) and the introductory text of paragraph (c) (1) are amended to read as follows:

§ 221.515 Adjusted mortgage amount—rehabilitation projects.

* * * * *

(b) Property subject to existing mortgage. * * *

(1) Nonprofit, builder-seller, public, cooperative, or investor-sponsor mortgagor. If the mortgagor is a nonprofit, builder-seller, public, cooperative, or investor-sponsor, the Commissioner's estimate of the cost of the repairs or rehabilitation plus such portion of the outstanding indebtedness as does not exceed the Commissioner's estimate of the value of such land and improvements prior to the repairs or rehabilitation.

* * * * *

(c) Property to be acquired. * * *

(1) Nonprofit, builder-seller, public, cooperative, investor-sponsor, or rehabilitation sales mortgagor. If the mortgagor is a nonprofit, builder-seller, public, cooperative, investor-sponsor, or rehabilitation sales, the Commissioner's estimate of the cost of the proposed repairs or rehabilitation plus the lesser of either of the following:

* * * * *

In § 221.535 paragraph (a) is amended to read as follows:

§ 221.535 Supervision applicable to investor-sponsor mortgagors.

(a) Investor-sponsor's escrow. The mortgagee shall hold in escrow such amount as the Commissioner determines will be needed, in the event the project is not transferred to a cooperative within 2 years from the date of project completion, to reduce the principal of the mortgage to an amount authorized for a limited distribution mortgagor. The amount held in escrow may be disbursed to the mortgagor if the transfer occurs within the 2-year period. Where the transfer does not occur within such period, the escrow shall be applied against the mortgage or in such other manner as the Commissioner may direct.

* * * * *

In § 221.535a paragraph (a) is amended to read as follows:

§ 221.535a Supervision applicable to builder-seller mortgagors.

(a) Builder-seller's escrow. The mortgagee shall hold in escrow such amount as the Commissioner determines will be needed, in the event the project is not transferred to a nonprofit mortgagor at final endorsement or within such additional period as may be agreed to in writing by the Commissioner, to reduce the principal of the mortgage to an amount authorized for a limited distribution mortgagor. The amount held in escrow may be disbursed to the mortgagor if the transfer occurs at final endorsement or within such period as may be agreed to by the Commissioner. Where the transfer does not occur within the prescribed period, the escrow shall be applied against the mortgage or in such other manner as the Commissioner may direct.

* * * * *

In § 221.550a paragraphs (a) and (d) are amended to read as follows:

§ 221.550a Certificate of actual cost—builder's and sponsor's profit and risk allowance.

(a) In general. The mortgagor's certificate of actual cost shall include (except in a case involving a nonprofit, builder-seller, cooperative, investor-sponsor, or rehabilitation sales mortgagor) an allowance for builder's and sponsor's profit and risk. The amounts of the allowance shall be dependent upon a determination by the Commissioner as to whether or not there exists an identity of interest between the mortgagor or any of its officers, directors, stockholders, or partners and the general contractor.

* * * * *

(d) Nonapplicability to nonprofit, builder-seller, cooperative, investor-sponsor, or rehabilitation sales mortgagor. The provisions of paragraphs (a) through (c) of this section shall not be applicable to a project involving a nonprofit, builder-seller, cooperative, investor-sponsor, or rehabilitation sales mortgagor.

(Sec. 211, 52 Stat. 23; 12 U.S.C. 1715b. Interpret or apply sec. 221, 68 Stat. 599, as amended; 12 U.S.C. 1715l)

In § 231.11a paragraph (a) is amended and a new paragraph (d) is added to read as follows:

§ 231.11a Builder's and sponsor's profit and risk allowance.

(a) In general. The mortgagor's certificate of actual cost shall include (except in a case involving a nonprofit mortgagor) an allowance for builder's and sponsor's profit and risk, the amount of which shall be dependent upon a determination by the Commissioner as to whether or not there exists an identity of interest between the mortgagor or any of its officers, directors, stockholders, or partners and the general contractor.

* * * * *

(d) Nonapplicability to nonprofit mortgagor. The provisions of paragraphs (a) through (c) of this section shall not be applicable to a project involving a nonprofit mortgagor.

(Sec. 211, 52 Stat. 23; 12 U.S.C. 1715b. Interprets or applies sec. 231, 73 Stat. 665; 12 U.S.C. 1715v)

PART 541—TRANSPORTATION OF MAIL BEYOND BORDERS OF UNITED STATES

Transportation and Protection of Mail Between Post Offices and Ships

The regulations of the Post Office Department are amended as follows:

I. In § 541.1 paragraph (c) is revised to show that a man is no longer required to ride on the rear of a vehicle to protect the mail as much of the mail is now containerized.

§ 541.1 Transportation and protection of mail between post offices and ships.

* * * * *

(c) Vehicles and carriers. Carriers are accountable and answerable in fines for failure to:

(1) Carry the mail in a safe and secure manner. The mail compartment of the completely closed van-type vehicle or trailer type container vehicle must be locked or sealed during transport from post office to pier. When open top trucks are used, the sacks shall be covered by a fireproof and rainproof tarpaulin which must be fastened securely to the body of the truck.

(2) Guard the pouches and other mail in their custody from theft or damage by water or any other source.

Title 50—WILDLIFE AND FISHERIES

Chapter I—Bureau of Sport Fisheries and Wildlife, Fish and Wildlife Service, Department of the Interior

PART 32—HUNTING

Havasu Lake National Wildlife Refuge, Arizona and California, et al.

The following special regulations are issued and are effective on date of publication in the FEDERAL REGISTER. The limited time ensuing from the date of the adoption of the Federal migratory game bird regulations to and including the establishment of State hunting seasons makes it impracticable to give public notice of proposed rule making.

§ 32.12 Special regulations; migratory game birds; for individual wildlife refuge areas.

ARIZONA AND CALIFORNIA

HAVASU LAKE NATIONAL WILDLIFE REFUGE

Public hunting of doves on the Havasu Lake National Wildlife Refuge, Ariz. and Calif., is permitted only on the area designated by signs as open to hunting. This open area, comprising 9,846 acres, is delineated on maps available at refuge headquarters, Needles, California, and from the Regional Director, Bureau of Sport Fisheries and Wildlife, Post Office Box 1306, Albuquerque, N. Mex. 87103. Hunting seasons are as follows: Arizona—white-winged and mourning doves, from September 1 through September 24, 1967, inclusive; mourning doves only, from December 13, 1967, through January 7, 1968, inclusive. California—white-winged and mourning doves, from September 2 through October 11, 1967, inclusive. Hunting shall be in accordance with all applicable State and Federal regulations covering the hunting of doves subject to the following special condition:

(1) Hunting is prohibited within one-fourth mile of any occupied dwelling or concession operation.

The provisions of this special regulation supplement the regulations which govern hunting on wildlife refuge areas generally which are set forth in Title 50, Code of Federal Regulations, Part 32, and are effective through January 7, 1968.

IMPERIAL NATIONAL WILDLIFE REFUGE

Public hunting of doves on the Imperial National Wildlife Refuge, Ariz. and Calif., is permitted only on the area designated by signs as open to hunting. This open area, comprising 38,540 acres, is delineated on maps available at refuge headquarters, Yuma, Ariz., and from the Regional Director, Bureau of Sport Fisheries and Wildlife, Post Office Box 1306, Albuquerque, N. Mex. 87103. Title 47—TELECOMMUNICATION

Chapter I—Federal Communications Commission

[Docket No. 16574; FCC 67-928]

PART 73—RADIO BROADCAST SERVICES

Procedures in Event of Personal Attack or Where Station Editorializes as to Political Candidates

In the matter of amendment of Part 73 of the rules to provide procedures in the event of a personal attack or where a station editorializes as to political candidates, Docket No. 16574.

Memorandum Opinion and Order. 1. On July 5, 1967, the Commission adopted rules specifying procedures in the event of certain personal attacks and where a station editorializes as to political candidates. In subsection (b) of those rules, we exempted certain situations where the fairness doctrine generally, rather than the personal attack rule, may be applicable. In the processing of a recent complaint, we have become aware of a further instance where clarification of our rules is appropriate.

2. Specifically, the personal attack rule is inapplicable to the bona fide newscast or on-the-spot coverage of a bona fide news event. In these situations the general fairness doctrine is applicable, and licensees are required to make reasonable good faith judgments upon the particular facts of the case in accordance with that doctrine. See section 315(a) of the Communications Act of 1934, as amended; Applicability of the Fairness Doctrine In The Handling Of Controversial Issues of Public Importance, 29 F.R. 10416. Thus, licensees must make good faith, journalistic judgments as to what is newsworthy and how it should be presented. If the licensee adjudges an event containing a personal attack to be newsworthy, in practice he usually turns, as part of the news coverage to be presented that day or in the very near future, to the other side and again makes the same good faith journalistic judgment as to its presentation and what fairness requires in the particular circumstances. That is normal journalism and fairness in this area. To import the concept of notification within a week period, with a presentation of the person attacked on some later newscast when other news might normally be broadcast, is impractical and might impede the effective execution of the important news functions of licensees or networks. Such a result is not intended under the rules adopted. Finally, the exemption is also being extended to on-the-spot coverage of a bona fide news event, since this category is akin to the newscast area; in this connection, we have also taken into account the consideration that the number of personal attacks occurring in on-the-spot coverage of bona fide news events is unlikely to be large in number, that the notification aspect is relatively less needed in this area, and that on the whole it can be administered readily by applying the fairness doctrine to the specific facts of each case, when and if disputes arise.

3. The exemption resulting from the above clarification does not extend, however, to editorials or similar commentary, embodying personal attacks, broadcast in the course of the newscasts. The foregoing considerations are inapplicable. Rather, since the licensee has chosen to present a personal attack in his editorial, he should not be the one to determine wholly what the public shall or shall not hear on the other side of a matter affecting the integrity, honesty, and like personal qualities of the person attacked. Under elemental fairness, the person attacked should be afforded a comparable opportunity to give that side, subject to reasonable conditions set by the licensee. See, e.g., Letter to Station WALG, FCC 65-50 (1965). More important, the person attacked is the most appropriate spokesman to inform the public of the other side of the attack issue. As noted, the time and practical considerations, discussed with respect to the news itself in par. 2, are not usually applicable to an editorial, and even if applicable in an attenuated form, are outweighed by the foregoing factors. Finally, the argument that this might impede the presentation of editorials containing personal attacks is simply an assertion by the licensee that he wishes to broadcast such an editorial, but only if he does not have to present the other side of the attack issue or if he can wholly control what the public may hear concerning this other side, rather than permitting the person so vitally affected by his editorial and with the most knowledge of the issue a reasonable opportunity to reach his listeners.[1]

4. It may be that experience will indicate the need or desirability of other revisions, clarifications, or waivers of the rule in particular factual situations. If so, we shall act promptly to make whatever changes the public interest in the larger and more effective use of radio requires. See, e.g., section 4(b), Administrative Procedure Act. We stress again the purpose of the rules: To delineate better the licensee's responsibilities in this important area and to afford the Commission a further needed sanction to deal with those who flagrantly violate the underlying policies in situations where there is no reasonable question as to the licensee's responsibility.

5. Authority for the rules herein adopted is contained in sections 4 (i) and (j), 303(r) and 315 of the Communications Act of 1934, as amended; see also, § 1.108 of the Commission's rules and regulations.

6. Accordingly, it is ordered, That the rule revisions contained below are adopted, effective August 14, 1967. See section 4(c), Administrative Procedure Act. This proceeding is terminated.

(Secs. 4, 303, 315, 48 Stat. as amended 1066, 1082, 1088; 47 U.S.C. 154, 303, 315)

Adopted: August 2, 1967.

Released: August 7, 1967.

FEDERAL COMMUNICATIONS COMMISSION,*

[SEAL] BEN F. WAPLE, Secretary.

In Part 73 of Chapter I of Title 47 of the Code of Federal Regulations, §§ 73.123(b), 73.300(b), 73.598(b), and 73.679(b) are revised to read identically as set forth in § 73.123 below:

§ 73.123 Personal attacks; political editorials.

* * * * *

(b) The provisions of paragraph (a) of this section shall be inapplicable (1) to attacks on foreign groups or foreign public figures; (2) where personal attacks are made by legally qualified candidates, their authorized spokesmen, or those associated with them in the campaign, on other such candidates, their authorized spokesmen, or persons associated with the candidates in the campaign; and (3) to bona fide newscasts or on-the-spot coverage of a bona fide news event (but the provisions shall be applicable to any editorial or similar commentary included in such newscasts or on-the-spot coverage of news events).

NOTE: The fairness doctrine is applicable to situations coming within (3), above, and, in a specific factual situation, may be applicable in the general area of political broadcasts (2), above. See, section 315(a) of the Act, 47 U.S.C. 315(a); Public Notice: Applicability of the Fairness Doctrine in the Handling of Controversial Issues of Public Importance, 29 Fed. Reg. 10415.

[F.R. Doc. 67-9400; Filed, Aug. 9, 1967; 8:50 a.m.]

[1] For similar reasons, we have exempted news documentaries. We note that the latter ordinarily do not involve the time and practical considerations discussed in par. 2, and that a documentary, even though fairly presented, may necessarily embody a point of view. We believe, therefore, that the person attacked can readily, and should be, afforded the reasonable opportunity to present his side, as the most appropriate spokesman to inform the public on a matter affecting his integrity, etc.

Similarly, the news interviews show, which is akin to many other talk programs, is not exempted. The licensee has chosen to provide one person with an "electronic platform" for an attack, and elemental fairness and the duty to inform the public in the most appropriate manner, dictate that he should afford the person attacked a comparable opportunity. Again, the considerations set forth in par. 2 are inapplicable.

Finally, we note that there are already certain exemptions where the attacks are made by legally qualified candidates, their authorized spokesmen, or those associated with them in the campaign, on other such candidates, their authorized spokesmen, or persons associated with the candidates in the campaign.

DEPARTMENT OF THE TREASURY

Internal Revenue Service

[26 CFR Part 1]

INCOME TAX

Reporting of Interest on Deposits Evidenced by Negotiable Time Certificates of Deposits

Notice is hereby given that the regulations set forth in tentative form below are proposed to be prescribed by the Commissioner of Internal Revenue, with the approval of the Secretary of the Treasury or his delegate. Prior to the final adoption of such regulations, consideration will be given to any comments or suggestions pertaining thereto which are submitted in writing, in duplicate, to the Commissioner of Internal Revenue, Attention: CC: LR: T, Washington, D.C. 20224, within the period of 30 days from the date of publication of this notice in the FEDERAL REGISTER. Any written comments or suggestions submitted after August 1, 1967, not specifically designated as confidential in accordance with 26 CFR 601.601(b) may be inspected by any person upon written request. Any person submitting written comments or suggestions who desires an opportunity to comment orally at a public hearing on these proposed regulations should submit his request, in writing, to the Commissioner within the 30-day period. In such case, a public hearing will be held, and notice of the time, place, and date will be published in a subsequent issue of the FEDERAL REGISTER. The proposed regulations are to be issued under the authority contained in section 7805 of the Internal Revenue Code of 1954 (68A Stat. 917; 26 U.S.C. 7805).

[SEAL] WILLIAM H. SMITH, Acting Commissioner of Internal Revenue.

In order to change the requirements for information reporting with respect to interest on deposits evidenced by certain types of negotiable time certificates of deposits, the Income Tax Regulations (26 CFR Part 1) under sections 6041 and 6049 of the Internal Revenue Code of 1954, are amended, effective for calendar years after 1966, as follows:

PARAGRAPH 1. Section 1.6041-3 is amended by revising paragraph (n), by revising paragraph (o), and by adding a new paragraph (p). These amended and added provisions read as follows:

§ 1.6041-3 Payments for which no return of information is required under section 6041.

* * * * *

(n) Amounts paid to persons in the service of an international organization, as defined in section 7701(a)(18), as an allowance or reimbursement for traveling or other bona fide ordinary and necessary expenses, including an allowance for meals and lodging or a per diem allowance in lieu of subsistence;

(o) A payment of a type determined by the Commissioner to be paid as an award to an informer or other payment of a similar character made by the United States, a State, Territory, or political subdivision thereof, or the District of Columbia, or any agency or instrumentality of any one or more of the foregoing; and

(p) On and after (30 days from the date of publication in the FEDERAL REGISTER of the final Treasury Decision), payments by a person carrying on the banking business of interest on a deposit evidenced by a negotiable time certificate of deposit (but for reporting requirements as to payments made after Dec. 31, 1962, of interest on certain deposits, see sec. 6049 and the regulations thereunder in this part).

PAR. 2. Paragraph (a)(2) of § 1.6049-2 is amended to read as follows:

§ 1.6049-2 Interest subject to reporting.

(a) In general. * * *

(2) (i) Before (30 days from the date of publication in the FEDERAL REGISTER of the final Treasury Decision), interest on deposits (except deposits evidenced by negotiable time certificates of deposits) paid (or credited) by persons carrying on the banking business.

(ii) On and after (30 days from the date of publication in the FEDERAL REGISTER of the final Treasury Decision), interest on deposits (except a deposit evidenced by a negotiable time certificate of deposit issued in bearer form) paid (or credited) by persons carrying on the banking business. For purposes of this subdivision, a negotiable time certificate of deposit shall not be considered as issued in bearer form if it has been indorsed by the purchaser as payable to his order, and has not been indorsed by any other person (other than a banking institution).

Notice of Proposed Rule Making

Correction

In F.R. Doc. 67-8969, appearing at page 11217 of the issue for Wednesday, August 2, 1967, the following corrections are made:

1. In § 1.501(c)(17)-2(c)(4), the fifth sentence should read: "Under this exception, for example, if an employer has established a plan providing for the payment of supplemental unemployment compensation benefits for his hourly wage employees and such plan satisfies the requirements of section 501(c)(17)(A) (even though the plan forms part of a voluntary employees' beneficiary association described in sec. 501(c)(9)), the salaried employees of such employer may establish a plan for themselves, and, if such plan provides for the same benefits as the plan covering hourly wage employees, both plans may be considered as one plan in determining whether the plan covering the salaried employees satisfies the requirement that it be nondiscriminatory as to coverage."

2. In § 1.503(c)-1, a row of five asterisks should appear between the introductory text of paragraph (c) and Example (5).

[7 CFR Part 777]

PROCESSOR WHEAT MARKETING CERTIFICATE REGULATIONS

Notice of Proposed Rule Making

Notice is hereby given pursuant to section 4a, Administrative Procedure Act (60 Stat. 238, 5 U.S.C. 553), that the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service proposes to issue Amendment 5 to the Republication of the Processor Wheat Marketing Certificate Regulations (31 F.R. 13502).

Consideration will be given to all written comments or suggestions in connection with the proposed amendment filed, in duplicate, with the Director, Procurement and Sales Division, Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service, U.S. Department of Agriculture, Washington, D.C. 20250, during the 15-day period beginning with the date this notice is published in the FEDERAL REGISTER. All written submissions made pursuant to this notice will be made available for public inspection in the Office of the Director at the above address during regular business hours (7 CFR 1.27(b)).

The proposed amendment is issued pursuant to the Agricultural Adjustment Act of 1938, as amended (see sec. 379a to 379j, 52 Stat. 31, as amended, 7 U.S.C. 1379a to 1379j) to provide miscellaneous changes in the Republication of the Processor Wheat Marketing Certificate Regulations to require processors to make remittances for purchase of marketing certificates to a Federal Reserve Bank or Branch Bank, if the Commodity Office has not requested that the remittance be made directly to that office. This change is being made to expedite the deposit of Government funds.

The proposed amendment would read as follows:

1. Section 777.3(y) is added to read as follows:

§ 777.3 Definitions.

* * * * *

(y) "Federal Reserve Bank" or "FRB" means the Federal Reserve Bank or Branch which serves the area in which the processor's remitting office is located or such other Federal Reserve Bank or Branch as is designated by the Kansas City Commodity Office. (See listing of banks in App. VI.)

§ 777.10 [Amended]

2. Section 777.10(b) is amended to read as follows:

(b) Sale by CCC. CCC will sell certificates to food processors and others who offer to purchase certificates from CCC and who pay to CCC the face value of the certificates plus such interest as may be required by the regulations of this part. Offers to purchase certificates for wheat processed in a specific processing report period may be made by submission of a processing report as provided in § 777.12, with a remittance payable to Commodity Credit Corporation for the cost of the certificates, or by submission of the remittance with advice that it is for purchase of wheat marketing certificates and identification of the processor number of the plant and the processing period. Offers to purchase certificates not applicable to a specific processing period shall be made by submission of a remittance with advice that it is for purchase of CCC–145, Wheat Marketing Certificates, and the name and address of the payee to be shown on the certificates. All offers to purchase certificates and related remittances shall be made to the FRB unless the Commodity Office has requested that the remittances be sent to that office. Payment for certificates shall be deemed to have been made when payment is received at the FRB or the Commodity Office, except that if the due date for payment without interest falls on a Saturday, Sunday, holiday, or other non-work day of the FRB or Commodity Office, and payment is received on the next succeeding work day, it shall be deemed to have been received on the due date. Form CCC–145 will be issued for certificates sold by CCC, except that when certificates are purchased for wheat processed in a specific processing report period, CCC will establish a credit in favor of the food processor for the amount of the certificates purchased in lieu of issuing Form CCC–145.

3. Section 777.10(d) is amended by striking out the third sentence.

§ 777.12 [Amended]

4. Section 777.12(a) is amended to read as follows:

(a) General. Processing reports shall be submitted by each food processor as defined in § 777.3(f). Descriptions of the processing reports are set forth in §§ 777.13 and 777.14 and detailed instructions are provided in Appendices II and III. Processing reports which are accompanied by remittances for purchase of certificates shall be submitted to the FRB unless the Commodity Office has requested that the remittance be made directly to that office. Processing reports not accompanied by remittances shall be submitted to the Commodity Office. Addresses of FRB's are listed in Appendix VI.

5. Section 777.12(c) is amended by striking out the second sentence, and by adding at the end thereof the following: "If the due date of a report falls on a Saturday, Sunday, holiday, or other non-work day of the FRB or Commodity Office, and the report is received on the next succeeding workday, it shall be deemed to have been submitted on the due date."

6. Section 777.12(g) is amended to read as follows:

If it is found that an incorrect processing report has been submitted, the food processor shall promptly prepare and submit a corrected processing report with the applicable beginning and ending dates for the period involved indicated thereon. A consolidated corrected report may, with the approval of the Director, be submitted to cover more than one processing report period. Such report shall be identified as a "Corrected Report" and transmitted with a letter of explanation. If the processor is entitled to a certificate refund, he shall submit the corrected report to the Kansas City Commodity Office and indicate whether the amount of the refund should be paid to him or held for application to a subsequent report. If the processor is required to purchase additional certificates, he shall submit the corrected report together with his remittance for such certificates to the FRB, unless the Commodity Office requests that it be submitted directly to that office. If such certificates are surrendered to CCC later than the 15th calendar day after the close of the processing report period in which the wheat was processed into the food products, the cost of any certificates acquired from CCC shall be the face value thereof plus interest at the rate of six percent per annum starting on the 16th calendar day after the close of the processing report period until the date of surrender of the certificates. Any food processor, who has made an incorrect processing report, corrected such report as provided in this section, and surrendered any additional certificates due with the corrected report, will not be subject to the forfeitures referred to in § 777.8 to the extent that the Administrator determines that the error in the report was due to an honest mistake and was not intentional or the result of gross negligence.

§ 777.15 [Amended]

7. Section 777.15 is amended by changing (b) of the first sentence to read as follows: "(b) to support all reports required by the regulations in this part".

8. Appendix II is amended by changing the first sentence to read as follows:

Food processors reporting on the weight of wheat basis shall submit an original and one copy of Processing Report-Weight of Wheat Basis, Form CCC–160, as set forth in § 777.13(a). * * *

9. Appendix III is amended by changing the first sentence to read as follows:

Food processors reporting on a food product conversion factor basis shall submit an original and one copy of the Processing Report–Conversion Factor Basis, Form CCC–159, as set forth in § 777.12(a). * * *

10. Appendix VI is added as follows:

PEACHES GROWN IN MESA COUNTY, COLO.

Expenses and Rate of Assessment for 1967–68 Fiscal Year

Consideration is being given to the following proposals submitted by the Administrative Committee, established under the marketing agreement, as amended, and Order No. 919, as amended (7 CFR Part 919), regulating the handling of peaches grown in Mesa County, Colo., effective under the applicable provisions of the Agricultural Marketing Agreement Act of 1937, as amended (7 U.S.C. 601–674), as the agency to administer the terms and provisions thereof:

(1) That the expenses that are reasonable and likely to be incurred by the Administrative Committee during the period March 1, 1967, through February 29, 1968, will amount to $500.

(2) That there be fixed, at $0.05 per bushel basket, or equivalent quantity of peaches in other containers or in bulk, the rate of assessment payable by each handler in accordance with § 919.41 of the aforesaid marketing agreement and order.

All persons who desire to submit written data, views, or arguments in connection with the aforesaid proposals should file the same, in quadruplicate, with the Hearing Clerk, United States Department of Agriculture, Room 112, Administration Building, Washington, D.C. 20250, not later than the 10th day after publication of this notice in the FEDERAL REGISTER. All written submissions made pursuant to this notice will be made available for public inspection at the office of the Hearing Clerk during regular business hours (7 CFR 1.27(b)).

[Docket No. AO 175–A25]

MILK IN DAYTON-SPRINGFIELD, OHIO, MARKETING AREA

Decision on Proposed Amendments to Tentative Marketing Agreement and to Order

Milk in the Dayton-Springfield, Ohio, marketing area (to be newly designated as Miami Valley, Ohio marketing area).

Pursuant to the provisions of the Agricultural Marketing Agreement Act of 1937, as amended (7 U.S.C. 601 et seq.), and the applicable rules of practice and procedure governing the formulation of marketing agreements and marketing orders (7 CFR Part 900), a public hearing was held at Dayton, Ohio, on January 10–12, 1967, pursuant to notice thereof issued on December 14, 1966 (31 F.R. 16204).

Upon the basis of the evidence introduced at the hearing and the record thereof, the Deputy Administrator, Regulatory Programs on June 8, 1967 (32 F.R. 8591; F.R. Doc. 67–6621) filed with the Hearing Clerk, U.S. Department of Agriculture, his recommended decision containing notice of the opportunity to file written exceptions thereto.

The material issues, findings, and conclusions, rulings, and general findings of the recommended decision (32 F.R. 8591; F.R. Doc. 67–6621) are hereby approved and adopted and set forth in full herein subject to the following modifications:

1. Under Issue 2 Basis for an expanded marketing area, two new paragraphs are added after the 19th paragraph.

2. Under Issue 3 Milk to be priced and pooled, the third and fourth sentences in the seventh paragraph are revised.

3. Under Issue 3 Milk to be priced and pooled, paragraphs 12–15 are revised by substituting five paragraphs.

4. A new paragraph is added at the end of Issue 3 Milk to be priced and pooled.

5. Under Issue 4(a) Classification of milk, the 15th paragraph is revised by substituting two paragraphs.

6. Under Issue 4(b) Allocation, a new paragraph is added after the third paragraph.

7. Under Issue 5 Class Prices and Location Differentials, paragraph 44 is revised by substituting two paragraphs.

8. A new paragraph as Issue 6(c) is added at the end of Issue 6(b) Administrative provisions.

The material issues on the record of the hearing relate to:

1. Equivalent prices;
2. Expanding the marketing area;
3. Milk to be priced and pooled;
4. Classification and allocation;
5. Class prices and location differentials; and
6. Revising and reissuing the entire order (to apply to the "Miami Valley, Ohio marketing area") and incorporating a number of other clarifying and conforming changes in the administrative provisions of the order.

Separate consideration was given in an earlier decision issued on February 15, 1967 (32 F.R. 3064) to Issue No. 1 "Equivalent Prices" and an "equivalent prices" provision was made effective in the Dayton-Springfield order on February 28, 1967, and is included also in the order which is part of this decision.

Findings and conclusions. The following findings and conclusions on the material issues are based on evidence presented at the hearing and the record thereof:

2. Basis for an expanded marketing area. The order for the current Dayton-Springfield, Ohio, market should be expanded to include all territory geographically within the seven-county area of Champaign, Clark, Clinton (except the townships of Clark, Green, Jefferson, and Washington), Greene, Miami, Montgomery, and Preble, Ohio. The expanded marketing area would be renamed as the "Miami Valley, Ohio, marketing area". The enlarged marketing area should include all reservations, installations, institutions, or other similar establishments therein which are occupied by municipal, State, or Federal authorities. Marketing conditions throughout such expanded marketing area are such that the purposes of the Act will be served by their inclusion under the regulation.

The handling of milk in the proposed Miami Valley, Ohio, marketing area is in the current of interstate commerce and directly burdens, obstructs, or affects interstate commerce in milk and its products.

MILK IN DAYTON-SPRINGFIELD, OHIO, MARKETING AREA

Decision on Proposed Amendments to Tentative Marketing Agreement and to Order

Milk in the Dayton-Springfield, Ohio, marketing area (to be newly designated as Miami Valley, Ohio marketing area).

Pursuant to the provisions of the Agricultural Marketing Agreement Act of 1937, as amended (7 U.S.C. 601 et seq.), and the applicable rules of practice and procedure governing the formulation of marketing agreements and marketing orders (7 CFR Part 900), a public hearing was held at Dayton, Ohio, on January 10–12, 1967, pursuant to notice thereof issued on December 14, 1966 (31 F.R. 16204).

Upon the basis of the evidence introduced at the hearing and the record thereof, the Deputy Administrator, Regulatory Programs on June 8, 1967 (32 F.R. 8591; F.R. Doc. 67–6621) filed with the Hearing Clerk, U.S. Department of Agriculture, his recommended decision containing notice of the opportunity to file written exceptions thereto.

The material issues, findings, and conclusions, rulings, and general findings of the recommended decision (32 F.R. 8591; F.R. Doc. 67–6621) are hereby approved and adopted and set forth in full herein subject to the following modifications:

1. Under Issue 2 Basis for an expanded marketing area, two new paragraphs are added after the 19th paragraph.

2. Under Issue 3 Milk to be priced and pooled, the third and fourth sentences in the seventh paragraph are revised.

3. Under Issue 3 Milk to be priced and pooled, paragraphs 12–15 are revised by substituting five paragraphs.

4. A new paragraph is added at the end of Issue 3 Milk to be priced and pooled.

5. Under Issue 4(a) Classification of milk, the 15th paragraph is revised by substituting two paragraphs.

6. Under Issue 4(b) Allocation, a new paragraph is added after the third paragraph.

7. Under Issue 5 Class Prices and Location Differentials, paragraph 44 is revised by substituting two paragraphs.

8. A new paragraph as Issue 6(c) is added at the end of Issue 6(b) Administrative provisions.

The material issues on the record of the hearing relate to:

1. Equivalent prices;
2. Expanding the marketing area;
3. Milk to be priced and pooled;
4. Classification and allocation;
5. Class prices and location differentials; and
6. Revising and reissuing the entire order (to apply to the "Miami Valley, Ohio marketing area") and incorporating a number of other clarifying and conforming changes in the administrative provisions of the order.

Separate consideration was given in an earlier decision issued on February 15, 1967 (32 F.R. 3064) to Issue No. 1 "Equivalent Prices" and an "equivalent prices" provision was made effective in the Dayton-Springfield order on February 28, 1967, and is included also in the order which is part of this decision.

Findings and conclusions. The following findings and conclusions on the material issues are based on evidence presented at the hearing and the record thereof:

2. Basis for an expanded marketing area. The order for the current Dayton-Springfield, Ohio, market should be expanded to include all territory geographically within the seven-county area of Champaign, Clark, Clinton (except the townships of Clark, Green, Jefferson, and Washington), Greene, Miami, Montgomery, and Preble, Ohio. The expanded marketing area would be renamed as the "Miami Valley, Ohio, marketing area". The enlarged marketing area should include all reservations, installations, institutions, or other similar establishments therein which are occupied by municipal, State, or Federal authorities. Marketing conditions throughout such expanded marketing area are such that the purposes of the Act will be served by their inclusion under the regulation.

The handling of milk in the proposed Miami Valley, Ohio, marketing area is in the current of interstate commerce and directly burdens, obstructs, or affects interstate commerce in milk and its products.

There is substantial competition for route sales of fluid milk products between persons to be regulated by the proposed Miami Valley order and handlers under other orders. Distribution is made in the proposed marketing area by handlers regulated under the Northwestern Ohio, Greater Cincinnati, Indianapolis, Northeastern Ohio, and Columbus orders. These marketing areas include territories in the States of Michigan, Indiana, Kentucky, and Ohio. Milk used for fluid milk and milk products under each of the latter orders is in the current of, or burdens or affects interstate commerce in milk or its products.

One handler presently regulated under the Dayton-Springfield order distributes packaged sterilized cream products in the proposed area which are purchased from a firm in California. Moreover, fluid milk products distributed by persons not under regulation at present are in direct competition in the fluid trade within the proposed marketing area with milk bottled and distributed by handlers from the Dayton-Springfield market and the above markets.

Dayton-Springfield handlers receive their producer supplies of milk from farms located in Indiana and Ohio which milk is commingled in most plants serving the proposed area. Substantial amounts of producer milk in excess of regulated handlers' fluid milk requirements also are regularly moved to the principal cooperative's plant in Dayton for manufacture into nonfat dry milk which is disposed of in a market of national scope.

A primary purpose of a Federal order is to assure orderly marketing conditions for milk producers. Pursuant to statutory authority this is accomplished by establishing minimum uniform prices to be paid by handlers according to the use made of milk received, and a uniform basis for distributing returns to the producers for their milk.

Not all milk distributed in the proposed expanded area is under a classified price plan which insures uniformity of pricing for persons similarly situated. In the case of unregulated milk, prices to producers presently reflect the particular bargaining situation of individual producers, or groups of producers, and the persons to whom they sell. Generally, the unregulated distributors distributing milk therein pay their dairy farmers a price equivalent to, or slightly higher than, the Dayton-Springfield blend price. These prices are not closely related to the use made of the milk since practically all the milk of the unregulated distributors is in Class I. Other handlers in the market, however, must pay minimum Class I prices as determined under the Dayton-Springfield or some other Federal order.

The order included herein for the expanded marketing area will tend to effectuate the declared policy of the Act by assisting in the establishment and maintenance of orderly marketing conditions, and thus provide the basis for insuring an adequate and dependable supply of milk for consumers, as further discussed below. The principal measures to be employed for this purpose are:

(1) The determination of minimum prices to producers delivering to handlers at levels contemplated under the Agricultural Marketing Agreement Act of 1937, as amended;

(2) The establishment of uniform pricing to all handlers for milk received from producers according to a classified pricing plan based upon the utilization made of the milk;

(3) An impartial audit of handlers' records of receipts and utilization to insure uniform prices for milk purchased;

(4) Assurance of accurate weights and tests of the milk of all producers;

(5) Provision for payment of uniform prices to producers supplying the market based upon an equitable sharing by all producers of both the higher returns from Class I milk and the lower returns from the sale of reserve milk; and

(6) Publication of information on milk receipts and sales and other data relating to milk marketing in the area.

The present Dayton-Springfield, Ohio, marketing area consists of the cities of Dayton, Oakwood, and Springfield and 11 specified townships in Clark, Greene, and Montgomery Counties, Ohio.

The major cooperative association in the market proposed extending the marketing area to include the 11 counties of Auglaize, Champaign, Clark, Darke, Greene, Logan, Mercer, Miami, Montgomery, Preble, and Shelby, Ohio. Four of the presently regulated handlers supported the producers' proposal and proposed also the inclusion of the counties of Clinton, Highland, and Ross, Ohio.

Proponent cooperative stated that its proposal to expand the marketing area is designed to include practically the entire sales area of presently regulated Dayton-Springfield handlers. They pointed out that such handlers' distribution routes now extend into all of the proposed counties and are not limited to the cities and townships in the present Dayton-Springfield marketing area. Since the establishment of the present marketing area in 1945, a substantial population growth has occurred in certain of these outlying areas and handlers' routes have followed this growth.

The association proposed inclusion of the 11 counties for the further purpose of assuring regulation under the Miami Valley order of the bulk of its members' milk and in the interest of uniform pricing among producers throughout the area. The association stated that in pursuit of these objectives its bottling plant located within the proposed marketing area at Greenville in Darke County (approximately 37 miles from Dayton), should be regulated under the Miami Valley order rather than under the Indianapolis order as at present in order that producers at that plant may receive a minimum uniform price comparable to that in the Dayton-Springfield milkshed where supplies for such plant are produced.

Unregulated distributors with plants at Bellefontaine, Minster, Sidney, Hillsboro, and Chillicothe, a cooperative association at Cincinnati, and a handler regulated under the Tri-State order were opposed to certain of the proposals for expansion. A handler located at Yellow Springs, Ohio (Greene County), requested exemption from regulation for raw milk bottled on his farm in the event of expansion of the regulation so as to cover his operation.

The two distributors at Sidney and Minster testified in opposition to expansion of the marketing area in any manner which would regulate their operations. They stated their belief that they would be unable to continue in business if required to pay class prices and make the necessary reports to the market administrator. They asserted that stable marketing conditions presently prevail in their area that supplies are adequate, and that their dairy farmers are satisfied with present pricing policy. In his brief, a Bellefontaine distributor proposed exclusion of Logan, Mercer, and Miami Counties from the marketing area. He supported the position taken by the other two distributors and contended that their supplies of milk could be jeopardized if the area were so expanded. Certain dairy farmers at these plants supported the position of their distributors.

The seven-county area of Champaign, Clark, Clinton (except the townships of Clark, Green, Jefferson, and Washington), Greene, Miami, Montgomery, and Preble, Ohio, which is herein proposed as the Miami Valley marketing area, represents the principal sales area of the handlers now regulated by the Dayton-Springfield order. They distribute, in the aggregate, over 77 percent of the milk sold for fluid consumption in this area.

The marketing area should be defined mainly on the basis of county rather than city or township lines because much of the population is outside the several sizable cities located within such seven-county area. The 1966 population for the area adopted was about 1.1 million as compared to a population of about 600,000 for the present Dayton-Springfield marketing area. The sanitary requirements of the State of Ohio, which are patterned after the U.S. Public Health Ordinance and Code, now apply to milk for human consumption throughout both the present and the expanded marketing areas.

The proposed area, which extends out from Dayton and Springfield, is located in between the marketing areas of the Columbus, Ohio, order on the east, the Greater Cincinnati order on the south, and the Indianapolis order on the west. Handlers from all these markets distribute fluid milk products in the proposed Miami Valley marketing area but not to the same extent as present Dayton-Springfield handlers or the unregulated distributors with Class I sales in the area.

Montgomery, Greene, and Clark Counties, which include all the territory within the present marketing area, are served primarily by Dayton-Springfield regulated handlers. They distribute about 82 percent of the bottled milk for these counties. Except for minor sales made by one unregulated distributor, consisting of his own production and packaged fluid milk products purchased from a regulated plant, the remaining sales are made by handlers regulated under other Federal orders, including the Indianapolis regulated distributing plant of the Miami Valley Cooperative Milk Producers at Greenville, Ohio.

Class I sales in Champaign, Miami, and Preble Counties also are made mainly by handlers under the Dayton-Springfield order. These counties represent an area of urban expansion from the more heavily populated counties of Montgomery, Greene and Clark. In fact, over 90 percent of the total population for the entire area to be regulated is concentrated in the four counties of Clark, Greene, Miami, and Montgomery which include Dayton and Springfield and their environs. The Class I distribution of Dayton-Springfield handlers represent in total over one-half of the Class I consumption in these counties. As to the individual counties, such handlers distribute about 66 percent of the total fluid milk sold in Champaign County, 47 percent in Miami County, and 44 percent in Preble County. While Dayton-Springfield handlers are, for the most part, the dominant sellers in the three counties, additional Class I sales are made in each of these counties by other regulated handlers from at least one of the Greater Cincinnati, Indianapolis, Northeastern Ohio, Northwestern Ohio, and Columbus, Ohio, markets.

One presently unregulated distributor filed an exception to the inclusion of Miami County in the marketing area, apparently because of the possibility that the fluid milk sales of his company in such county would bring it under regulation. One Dayton-Springfield regulated handler and another presently unregulated distributor took exception to the exclusion of Auglaize, Darke, Logan, Mercer, and Shelby Counties. The latter distributor, although making an appearance at the hearing, did not testify concerning his areas of distribution.

Miami County is suburban to the major city of Dayton and, as stated above, is an area in which there is a rapid growth of population. Dayton-Springfield handlers are the dominant sellers in this county. A uniform price plan on all milk sold in such county will promote orderly marketing. As to the other counties referred to above the quantity of unregulated milk remaining will be indeed small. It may not be concluded from the evidence that there will be undue price disadvantage for regulated handlers selling in such counties.

Class I sales of Dayton-Springfield handlers and other order handler together represent more than 72 percent of total Class I sales in Champaign County, and 69 percent in Miami County. All Class I sales in Preble County are by Dayton-Springfield or Indianapolis handlers.

A handler proposal would add Clinton, Highland, and Ross Counties to the marketing area. This proposal should be adopted only with respect to the area in Clinton County exclusive of the townships of Clark, Green, Jefferson, and Washington.

Dayton-Springfield handlers supported addition of the three counties on the basis that they regularly distribute Class I milk in such counties. It was their general position that full regulation of local distributors in such counties, who are currently "partially regulated" under the Greater Cincinnati order, would result in more uniform and stable selling prices of bottled milk by all persons distributing milk in such counties. The principal cooperative supported this proposal.

Four Dayton-Springfield regulated handlers distribute 57 percent of the total fluid milk sales in Clinton County. One such handler has a distributing plant at Dayton and a distribution point and cottage cheese manufacturing plant at Washington Court House. About 30 percent of the sales for the entire county are made by Cincinnati regulated handlers.

When the four townships of Clark, Green, Jefferson, and Washington, in the southeastern portion of Clinton County, are excluded, the majority of sales in the balance of the county is made by the Dayton-Springfield handlers and the remainder by Cincinnati regulated handlers. The inclusion of the area in Clinton County outside the four townships will contribute to orderly marketing conditions by assuring classified pricing as to all milk which may be distributed in this area primarily served by Dayton-Springfield handlers.

The seven counties (excluding the southern four townships of Clinton County) discussed above when taken together form a contiguous area in which handlers who would be regulated by the order handle about 80 percent of the total Class I sales. Most of the remaining sales are made from plants regulated by other Federal orders. Expansion of the marketing area to include the seven counties is necessary to assure Dayton-Springfield handlers that as to their primary areas of distribution, presently unregulated competitors will not be afforded significant price advantage in the purchase of milk for fluid sale. Orderly marketing will be promoted through application of classified pricing.

It is therefore concluded that the expanded area should include Champaign, Clark, Clinton (excluding the previously named townships) Greene, Miami, Montgomery, and Preble Counties.

Two local distributors, located at Hillsboro (Highland County) and Chillicothe (Ross County) presented opposition testimony on Clinton, Highland, and Ross Counties. As to Clinton County they particularly opposed inclusion of the four above-named townships. They requested that if such areas were to be included, the hearing be reopened to consider also the addition of Adams and Brown Counties which are an important part of their sales areas. There were no proposals for the addition of the latter counties before this hearing, however.

The Hillsboro and Chillicothe distributors opposed inclusion of Highland and Ross Counties on the following grounds:

1. The substantial quantities of milk they distribute in other unregulated areas (Adams and Brown Counties) are in competition with milk of an unregulated distributor there and with milk of other order handlers.

2. They are not a part of the Dayton-Springfield "market system" since, unlike most Dayton-Springfield handlers, they do not, and are not situated so as to rely on the Dayton cooperative to take unneeded reserve supplies of milk or to furnish them with supplemental supplies.

3. Very few dairy farmers in the supply area for these distributors ship to Dayton-Springfield handlers but rather are identified with the Columbus, Tri-State, and Cincinnati markets.

4. Highland and Ross Counties are rural with low population density, and are at some distance from the main centers of the proposed Miami Valley market.

5. Class I sales by Dayton-Springfield handlers represent far less than a majority of the sales made in these counties. It was contended that surveys of Dayton-Springfield handler sales in the two counties introduced into the record by proponent handlers tend to overstate such sales because the data used to indicate total consumption in this rural area reflected consumption studies in urban areas of characteristically higher per capita consumption than rural counties.

6. These counties should remain as a buffer zone between the Columbus, Tri-State, Greater Cincinnati, and Dayton-Springfield markets.

A representative of a cooperative association in the Greater Cincinnati market also opposed the addition of Clinton and Highland Counties and a regulated handler under the Tri-State order opposed the addition of Ross County. From a survey of distributor brands of fluid milk products in stores in selected cities and towns in Clinton and Highland Counties, the Cincinnati representative estimated that about 63 percent of the sales in the two counties were made by Cincinnati regulated handlers, 16 percent by Dayton-Springfield regulated handlers, and 16 percent by unregulated distributors. It was his conclusion that with Cincinnati handlers representing such a large percentage of sales in these counties, orderly marketing would not be best served by their inclusion in the Miami Valley marketing area.

The Tri-State handler proposed that if Highland and Ross Counties were added to the proposed Miami Valley market, consideration should be given to withdrawing Scioto and Pike Counties from the Tri-State marketing area and including such counties together with Adams County in the Miami Valley marketing area because of the close relationship between Highland and Ross Counties and such other areas.

Proponent handlers for expanding the area to include Highland and Ross Counties claimed to distribute in total about 34 and 41 percent, respectively, of the Class I sales in such counties. The Hillsboro distributor estimated, on the other hand, that as to Highland County, Dayton-Springfield handlers distribute only 23 percent of the total Class I sales. The Chillicothe and Hillsboro distributors stated their distribution as about 44 percent of the total Class I sales in Highland County compared to a figure of 37 percent submitted by proponent handlers. In Highland County, sales also are made by two handlers under the Columbus, Ohio, order and by three handlers under the Greater Cincinnati order. Proponent handlers estimated further that the local distributors make 33 percent of the sales in Ross County. Sales in Ross County are made also by two handlers under the Columbus, Ohio, order, a handler under the Greater Cincinnati order, and two handlers under the Tri-State order. Dayton-Springfield handler distribution represents substantially less than a majority of Class I sales in each of Highland and Ross Counties, and in the aggregate such sales amount to less than 2 percent of the total Class I sales of the Dayton-Springfield market.

The local distributor at Chillicothe does not distribute outside Ross County but bottles some milk for the Hillsboro distributor and for a distributor at Georgetown, Ohio, partially owned by the Hillsboro distributor. The Hillsboro distributor processes and packages some milk for the Chillicothe distributor and for the Georgetown distributor which milk is sold primarily in unregulated areas in southern Ohio. The Hillsboro distributor also packages Class I milk for a Columbus regulated handler at Washington Court House.

The sales area of the Hillsboro distributor extends south into Adams, Brown, Clark, and Pike Counties, which were not proposed to be added to the Miami Valley marketing area. This distributor sells about 37 percent of his own Class I sales in Adams and Brown Counties, plus about 15 percent of the Class I milk of the Chillicothe distributor. The Georgetown distributor who buys his entire supply of bottled milk from the two local distributors also makes sales in Adams and Brown Counties, in Highland County, and in several townships of Clermont County (Greater Cincinnati marketing area). The Columbus handler at Washington Court House distributes milk in Fayette (Columbus, Ohio, marketing area) and Highland Counties.

The partial regulation of the local plants at Chillicothe and Hillsboro under the Greater Cincinnati order at the present time indicates a relationship to that market at least as strong as that shown with the present Dayton-Springfield market. Moreover, the principal sellers in Highland and Ross Counties also distribute a substantial portion of their Class I sales in the unregulated counties of Adams and Brown not under consideration at this time. In view of these considerations, the Miami Valley marketing area should not be extended to include the four named townships in Clinton County or Highland and Ross Counties on the basis of this record.

As previously noted, the producer's proposal would also expand the marketing area to include five less intensely populated counties, Auglaize, Darke, Logan, Mercer, and Shelby, generally north and west of the marketing area herein adopted. In these counties there are only three cities exceeding a population of 10,000, Sidney (Shelby County), Greenville (Darke County) and Bellefontaine (Logan County). Furthermore, the total population of only one county, Darke (47,800), exceeds 40,000.

Sales in this five-county area are made by four unregulated distributors, certain Dayton-Springfield regulated handlers and regulated handlers from the Indianapolis, Northwestern Ohio, Northeastern Ohio, Greater Cincinnati, and Columbus, Ohio, markets. Two of the unregulated distributors, with relatively low volume plants at Minster and Sidney, Ohio, distribute practically their entire Class I sales within this five-county area. The unregulated distributor at Bellefontaine (Logan County) also distributes milk in at least one of these counties. A fourth unregulated distributor from Van Wert distributes minor volumes of Class I milk in Auglaize County.

Three Dayton-Springfield handlers distribute about 32 percent of the total fluid milk sold in Auglaize County, 37 percent in Darke County, 33 percent in Logan County, 70 percent in Mercer County and 46 percent in Shelby County. The principal Dayton-Springfield handler in this area distributes milk from a plant at New Bremen (Auglaize County). In the aggregate Dayton-Springfield regulated handlers distribute about 10 percent of their total Class I milk volume in this area.

A principal distributor in four of these counties is the cooperative's Indianapolis regulated Greenville plant which distributes about 47 percent of the total Class I milk sold in Darke County, 11 percent in Auglaize, 9 percent in Mercer County, 4 percent in Shelby County and 2 percent in Logan. The Greenville distributing plant is located in Darke County near the Ohio-Indiana State boundary. About 85 percent of the milk handled by the Greenville plant is for fluid milk products. A large proportion of its Class I sales are made to a grocery chain which moves the milk to a distribution center in the Indianapolis marketing area, most of which is distributed through its stores in eastern Indiana. The Indianapolis Class I price is subject to a minus 13-cent location adjustment at the Greenville location.

The cooperative, in proposing expansion of the marketing area, stressed the importance of achieving uniformity of pricing throughout the area it proposed. Fundamental to achieving reasonable uniformity of pricing in these five counties, however, is the regulation of the cooperative's Greenville distributing plant under the expanded Miami Valley order rather than under the Indianapolis order. However, this record gives no assurance that even if these five counties were included such plant would become subject to regulation under the Miami Valley order on the customary criterion of making greater sales in the Miami Valley marketing area than in the Indianapolis marketing area.

The average of Class I prices for 1965-66 at the Greenville distributing plant was about 25 cents less than the applicable price for Dayton-Springfield handlers. We see no purpose in including these counties unless there is opportunity to achieve greater price uniformity than currently prevails. It seems unlikely that this could be accomplished without regulating the Greenville plant, a major distributor in these counties, under this order. Under present circumstances this would require making the Greenville plant a "captive" plant under this order.

There were no problems presented which would justify such action. Competitive problems in selling milk in the five counties were not stressed by proponent or by any other handler and the record shows no appreciable adverse effect on producer returns. Rather, the cooperative stressed mainly that internal administrative and operational problems of the cooperative involving its Greenville and Dayton plants could be minimized if both plants were under a single regulation.

In view of the above considerations it is therefore concluded that the proposed inclusion of Auglaize, Darke, Logan, Mercer, and Shelby Counties should be denied.

Although some of the route disposition of handlers to be regulated will extend beyond the boundaries of the counties proposed for regulation, it is neither practical nor reasonable to stretch the regulated area to cover all areas where a handler has or might develop some route disposition. Nor is it necessary to do so to accomplish effective regulation under the order. The marketing area herein proposed is a practicable one in that it will encompass the great bulk of the fluid milk sales of handlers to be regulated.

All producer milk received at regulated plants must be made subject to classified pricing under the order, however, regardless of whether it is disposed of within or outside the marketing area. Otherwise the effect of the order would be nullified and the orderly marketing process would be jeopardized.

If only a pool handler's "in-area" sales were subject to classification, pricing and pooling, a regulated handler with Class I sales both inside and outside the marketing area could assign any value he chose to his outside sales. He thereby could reduce the average cost of all his Class I milk below that of other regulated handlers having all, or substantially all, of their Class I sales within the marketing area.

Unless all milk of such a handler were fully regulated under the order, he in effect would not be subject to effective price regulation. The absence of effective classification, pricing and pooling of such milk would disrupt orderly marketing conditions within the regulated marketing area and could lead to a complete breakdown of the order. If a pool handler were free to value a portion of his milk at any price he chooses, it would be impossible to enforce uniform prices to all fully regulated handlers or a uniform basis of payment to the producers who supply the market. It is essential, therefore, that the order price all the producer milk received at a pool plant regardless of the point of disposition.

In the course of operation of the order the question could arise as to whether territory within the boundaries of the designated marketing areas which is occupied by Government (municipal, State, or Federal) reservations, installations, institutions, or other establishments is considered to be within the marketing area. In order that there will be no doubt as to the scope of the marketing area, the definition states that the marketing area shall include any territory wholly or partly therein which is occupied by Government (municipal, State, or Federal) reservations, installations, institutions, or other establishments.

3. Milk to be priced and pooled. In general terms, milk produced in compliance with the Grade A inspection requirements of a duly constituted health authority which is received regularly at plants primarily engaged in processing milk for distribution on retail or wholesale routes in the marketing area, or at plants which are regular and substantial suppliers of milk to such processing plants, should be made subject to pricing and pooling.

The following principal definitions included in the attached order serve to identify the specific types of milk and milk products to be subject to full regulation, and those persons and facilities involved with the handling of such milk and milk products. Definitions relating to handling and facilities are: "Route disposition", "distributing plant", "supply plant", "pool plant", and "nonpool plant". Definitions of persons include: "Producer", "handler", and "producer-handler". Definitions relating to milk and milk products are: "Producer milk", "fluid milk products", and "other source milk". The application of certain of these definitions is discussed in detail. Other definitions used are deemed to be self-explanatory.

Pool plants. It is essential to the operation of the order to distinguish between those plants substantially engaged in serving the fluid needs of the regulated market and those plants which are not.

It is particularly important to establish minimum performance standards for plants which serve the market in a way, or to a degree, that they should be included in the market pool which provides the means of paying uniform returns to all producers on the market. This is one of the essential means of assuring the market of adequate and dependable supplies of milk. Otherwise the proceeds of the higher Class I price for milk sold in the fluid market would be dissipated on milk acquired by handlers primarily for manufacturing purposes and not go to the primary purpose of assuring an adequate and dependable supply for the fluid market.

The marketing performance standards also serve to minimize the effects of regulation on handlers who have only a minor proportion of their distribution in the regulated market. As described elsewhere, such handlers would be made subject to partial regulation. Nevertheless, any plant, wherever located, may qualify as a pool plant if it meets the marketing performance standards for regulation. These standards are similar for all plants similarly circumstanced.

Pool distributing plant. Because of the difference in marketing practices and functions between distributing plants and supply plants, separate performance standards for pooling are provided.

To qualify as a pool plant, a distributing plant would be required to meet performance standards as to both the proportion of its supply used in fluid disposition and its disposition in the marketing area. Thus, pool distributing plants would include only those plants primarily engaged in route distribution of fluid milk products. The plant's total route distribution both inside and outside the marketing area should be at least 50 percent of its receipts of Grade A milk from dairy farmers, from other plants (excluding receipts of bulk fluid milk products from other plants classified as Class II milk by agreement), and from cooperatives as handlers during each month from August through January, at least 45 percent during February and March and 40 percent during each month in the April through July period. As to route disposition in the marketing area it should be, in each month, at least 15 percent of the plant's total route disposition.

The principal cooperative proposed a somewhat different basis for pooling. It proposed that a distributing plant's Class I total route sales should amount to at least 50 percent of its dairy farm receipts during each month April through July and to at least 60 percent of such receipts during each month August through March. The main support for this proposal was a statistical table showing that, with the exception of one plant regulated by the present Dayton-Springfield order, all currently regulated plants reasonably could meet such proposed minimum performance requirements.

A handler proposal, one of three alternatives suggested, would modify the producers' method for pooling a distributing plant by permitting any such plant which has disposed of at least 50 percent of its receipts as route disposition in the marketing area for the months of August through April, to be automatically qualified for pooling May through July. A second alternative would distinguish the separate parts of any pool distributing plant which processes Grade A milk and also has a Grade B manufacturing operation so as to regulate, as a pool plant, only that portion where Grade A milk may be processed. As a third alternative basis for pooling, this handler proposed combining the receipts and Class I utilization for distributing plants when two are operated in the market by the same handler, thus permitting determination of pooling status on the basis of the combined performance of the plants in meeting the minimum total utilization requirement.

These proposals were designed as alternative methods of assisting a pool distributing plant to receive milk from handlers and other nonproducer sources for manufacturing without jeopardizing its pool plant status.

Such handler operates two Dayton-Springfield regulated distributing plants, located at Dayton and New Bremen. The New Bremen plant receives about 12 percent of its total Class I sales in gallon and 10-quart dispenser units from its Dayton plant while the New Bremen plant supplies the Dayton plant with cottage cheese and related products. It was contended that a handler with plants presently in the market should not be forced by the order to reduce efficiency by having to divide operations to modify the total Class I percentage at each plant simply in order to meet the minimum performance standards on an individual plant basis.

The proposal to permit automatic pooling of distributing plants in certain months should not be adopted. The requirement that a distributing plant shall not have total route disposition less than 40 percent of receipts in any month is necessary to assure that the plant is primarily engaged in the distribution of fluid milk products at all times. The adoption of the revised requirements will accommodate existing operations and should promote the efficient handling of milk on the market by all handlers while discouraging the addition of milk supplies to the pool simply for manufacturing purposes.

The recommended decision provided that the 50 percent minimum requirement should apply August through February and that only those distributing plants which had met such requirement during each month of the preceding August through February period would be permitted to meet a lower 40 percent requirement in the months of March through July. All other distributing plants would be held to the 50 percent minimum in the latter months. After review of the exceptions, however, it is concluded that opportunity to meet the 40 percent minimum requirement April through July should not be contingent on the plant's performance during part or all of the preceding August through March. Moreover, a plant should not lose pool status if the minimum requirement for any 1 month is missed. A more orderly market supply situation will be promoted if a distributing plant is permitted to meet the monthly shipping requirement for the current month or for the immediately preceding month to retain pooling status in the current month.

Proponent handler's other proposals for assuring pool plant status for its two distributing plants should not be adopted. The proposal to qualify distributing plants operated by the same handler on the basis of combined performance will not tend to insure that the pool is adequately protected from dissipation of its funds by plants and dairy farmers not regularly associated with this market. On the other hand, the requirements provided herein for pooling distributing plants are reasonable in relation to experience with past performance by all plants in the market.

The second alternative proposal, i.e., to separate the Grade A and Grade B operations of a plant, is not necessary to meet proponent's situation or any other situation indicated on the record. The need for such separation is avoided by considering only receipts of Grade A milk directly from producers, from other plants (excluding receipts of bulk fluid milk products from other plants classified as Class II milk by agreement), and receipts from any cooperative as a handler, as the base for determining the percentage of route disposition to receipts necessary for qualification as a pool distributing plant. Thus, all ungraded milk and bulk fluid milk products received from other plants which is classified as Class II milk would be considered as other source milk and excluded from the base used in determining the qualification of a pool distributing plant.

These minimum pooling standards for a distributing plant will facilitate coordination in the marketing of milk from a supply area common to several markets.

The principal purpose of a minimum requirement on in-area distribution for pooling eligibility is to assure that the distributing plant is associated with the market in a significant and regular manner since the producers at pool plants are eligible to share in the monthly Class I proceeds of the market. Under the Dayton-Springfield order a distributing plant becomes regulated on the basis of any distribution within the marketing area. It is concluded, however, in consideration of the marketing area defined, that route disposition in the marketing area of 15 percent or more of the plant's total Class I route disposition will provide an appropriate measure of a plant's association with the market.

A distributing plant having more than 85 percent of its Class I route disposition outside the marketing area should not be considered substantially associated with this local fluid market and therefore should not be subject to full regulation. Full regulation in this circumstance is not necessary to achieve the ends of the regulation in this market.

The performance standards for pooling would not restrict any milk plant operator from disposing of any fluid milk product in the marketing area. Virtually any plant having more than minor, or accidental, association with the fluid milk market could be eligible for pooling. On the other hand, the operator of any plant only marginally associated with the fluid milk market has reasonable opportunity to make a choice of full or partial regulation, whichever might better serve his interest.

Limited quantities (as provided in the attached order) of Class I milk may be sold within the regulated marketing area from plants not under any Federal order. There is, of course, no way to treat such unregulated milk uniformly with regulated milk other than to regulate it fully. Nevertheless, it is concluded that in present circumstances the application of "partial" regulation to plants having less association than required for marketwide pooling (as later discussed) will not jeopardize marketing conditions within the regulated marketing area. Official notice was taken at the hearing of the June 19, 1964, decision (29 F.R. 9002) supporting amendments to several orders, including the Dayton-Springfield order, in which the matter of partial regulation was discussed.

The operator of any partially regulated plant would be afforded the options of: (1) Paying an amount equal to the difference between the Class I price and the uniform price with respect to all Class I sales made in the marketing area; (2) purchasing at the Class I price under any Federal order sufficient Class I milk to cover his limited disposition within the marketing area; or (3) paying his dairy farmers not less than the value of all their milk computed on the basis of the classification and pricing provisions of the order (the latter representing an amount equal to the order obligation for milk which is imposed on fully regulated handlers).

While all fluid milk sales of the partially regulated plant are not necessarily priced on the same basis as fully regulated milk, the provisions described are, however, adequate under most circumstances to prevent sales of milk not fully regulated (pooled) from adversely affecting operation of the order and the fully regulated milk. They should be adopted in this order to complement the pooling requirements on fully regulated plants adopted herein.

Pool supply plant. A supply plant should be pooled in any month in which at least 50 percent of its receipts of Grade A milk from dairy farmers at such plant during the month is shipped as fluid milk products to pool distributing plants or is disposed of as route disposition within the marketing area from such plant during the month.

This basis of determining the pool plant status of a supply-type plant will provide reasonable assurance that only a supply plant which is clearly associated with this market rather than some other market will be subject to full regulation under this order.

A supply plant from which a lesser proportion of milk is received at pool distributing plants should not be considered as primarily associated with this market and therefore should not be fully regulated. On the other hand the higher percentage (65) proposed by producers is not necessary to insure a sufficient supply of milk for the market. At the present time, the market is mostly supplied with direct-shipped milk. There are no regular supplies which come from country supply plants. This market should be in a position to procure its needs if the minimum performance requirements are similar to those in other nearby regulated markets. A minimum percentage of 50 will place all such markets on substantially equal terms in this regard.

A supply plant which meets the 50 percent shipping standard during each of the months of August through March should be designated as a pool plant for the succeeding months of April through July (unless a written request for nonpool status is submitted to the market administrator) even though in such months such minimum shipping percentage is not met.

As previously stated, distributing plant operators in this market do not rely upon supply plants to any great extent since in most cases direct shipments from farms relatively close to the market are sufficient to fulfill their fluid needs, and especially so in the flush production months. In the circumstances, there is no apparent reason why the order should be constructed at this time so as to require the operator of a supply plant which may become a pool plant to make shipments of milk to pool distributing plants during the flush production months in order to maintain pool plant status. Such shipments might well be made at needless expense. A supply plant meeting the regular shipping requirements for pooling in each of the short production months of August through March would demonstrate its association with the market.

The definition of supply plant should accommodate the efficient operation of a cooperative's "balancing" or "supply equalization" plant. The major cooperative operates a supply equalization plant which assists it in providing proprietary handlers with whom it has selling arrangements for member milk the precise amounts of milk which such handlers require and in disposing of quantities which the latter do not require. Handlers' needs vary widely during the week, with supply requirements increasing on heavy bottling days and diminishing to little or no milk needs on other days, such as weekends, when no milk is bottled.

While the supply equalization plant is an integral part of the entire supply arrangement for this market, its receipts and shipments fluctuate in such a manner that it likely could not meet the normal minimum shipment requirements for a supply-type plant. The operation of such plant in this market, however, assists all producers in realizing the best possible utilization of milk.

Because of its important function such plant should be qualified for pooling. Since producer milk received at this plant represents, however, a relatively small portion of the total supply of the cooperative, the cooperative should have opportunity to qualify milk at such plant for pooling on the basis of the cooperative's total function of supplying handlers with milk. Because of the preeminence in this market of the bulk tank delivery method (primarily under the auspices of the cooperative) as the most efficient method of furnishing the primary needs of handlers, such direct-ship milk should count toward the qualification of the supply equalization plant.

Thus, if a cooperative furnishes to proprietary handlers under the order 50 percent or more of its total member milk either by direct delivery from farms or through its supply equalization plant, it should have the same opportunity of pooling the producer milk received at such plant as a regular supply plant which qualifies receipts by meeting the minimum shipping standard, even though a substantial portion of the milk received at the supply equalization plant is not actually delivered to other handlers during any given month. Such milk should be recognized as part of the total producer milk supply of the market.

Provision has been made where a cooperative equalization plant may elect nonpool plant status at any time that it does not meet the minimum shipping requirements for a pool supply plant. Obviously, a request for nonpool status would be made only under circumstances where the plant has acquired substantial Class I sales in another market. The order should not permit an association to pool its entire reserve milk supply in this manner, however, unless all the Class I sales associated with such reserves are also included in the market pool. Accordingly, provision is made that should an association elect nonpool plant status under this order for its supply equalization plant in any month, such plant should be designated a nonpool plant for each of the succeeding 11 months in which it did not qualify as a pool supply plant under the regular shipping requirements of 50 percent of receipts from Grade A dairy farmers.

A particular distributing or supply plant may meet the pooling requirements of more than one Federal order. Generally speaking, when the pooling requirements of two orders are met the plant is regulated only under the order for the marketing area in which the greater volume of Class I sales are made from the plant. It is possible, however, that a distributing plant may have virtually the same volume of distribution in each of the two regulated markets, and with very minor changes in the proportions distributed in the two markets, the plant could be shifted from one regulation to the other on a month-to-month basis. This occurrence would not be in the interest of orderly marketing of producer milk.

It is concluded, therefore, that the general basis for regulatory treatment in such situations as provided in the current Dayton-Springfield order be adopted with certain modifications. A pool distributing plant which also meets the pooling requirements under another order would be pooled under this order if during the current month (1) it meets the pooling requirements, and (2) a greater volume of its fluid milk products is disposed of in the marketing area in the current month and for each of the three months immediately preceding.

Further, a supply plant which meets the pooling requirements under this order, as well as those of another order, would be exempt from this order unless the plant elects nonpool status under the other order. This will assure that any supply plant which may associate some milk with this pool will be regulated under this order only if it maintains a continuing association with the market. This is particularly important in view of automatic pooling privileges provided for certain months under nearby orders.

In both circumstances, the handler would be required to file receipts and use reports with respect to the plant and permit verification thereof by the market administrator, even though it may otherwise be exempt from this order.

The "nonpool plant" definition as presently included in the Dayton-Springfield order should be expanded to include a "partially-regulated distributing plant" and an "unregulated supply plant." Presently this definition includes an "other order plant" and a "producer-handler plant." Other findings with respect to such plants are included in another section of this decision. This term will facilitate reference to specific types of nonpool plants elsewhere in the order. The term applies to any milk manufacturing, processing, or distributing plant which is not a pool plant during the month.

The order also should contain a definition of "route disposition" to assist in the identification of those plants which are to be subject to regulation. "Route disposition" therefore is defined as any delivery of a fluid milk product classified as Class I to retail or wholesale outlets other than a pool plant or nonpool plant. Pickup by a vendor at a plant and sales through vending machines would be considered as route disposition from the plant where the milk was processed and packaged. This would apply also to fluid milk products custom-packaged for another handler. In addition, as to fluid milk products moved from a milk plant to a distribution point, the distribution beyond any such point also would be considered as route disposition from the plant where packaged.

Definitions of persons. The term "handler" should be defined to include any person who operates a distributing plant or a supply plant. It also should include any cooperative association with respect to producer milk which it causes to be delivered by bulk tank to other handlers or which it diverts in accordance with terms set forth in the "producer milk" definition discussed elsewhere in these findings. A "producer-handler," and any person operating a nonpool plant categorized as a "partially regulated distributing plant" or an "other order plant," should be designated as a "handler" also.

Such a definition is necessary to designate those persons who must report the sources and the utilization of their Grade A milk supply, the handling of which (except in the case of a producer-handler) is to be regulated either partially or fully, and who are responsible for paying for milk in accordance with the terms of the order. This definition expands that of the present Dayton-Springfield order to designate persons operating certain categories of nonpool plants and to define the responsibility of cooperatives as to certain of their handling activities.

Milk for which a cooperative association is the responsible handler but which is not delivered to another handler's pool plant remains the responsibility of the association in all respects—classification, accounting, and payment. Such milk could be that diverted for the account of the association, or shrinkage (in this instance the loss of volume between farm and plant) of farm bulk tank milk on which the basis of settlement with the pool plant operator was not at the farm weights and butterfat tests.

A producer-handler should be defined as any person who operates a dairy farm and a distributing plant and who receives fluid milk products only as milk from his own-farm production or from sources where priced as Class I under a Federal order. This definition conforms in principle to the definitions of producer-handler under other Federal orders. Producer-handlers are essentially exempt from regulation except for making reports to determine their status.

A producer-handler, as distinguished from a pool handler who would be fully regulated, distributes to retail or wholesale outlets milk which is mostly from his own-farm production. A pool handler, on the other hand, markets milk received from producers or from other pool plants. The producer-handler maintains control of his milk from its source at the farm until its ultimate disposition.

He is, therefore, generally in a position to adjust his farm production closely to the needs of his fluid milk business and, in turn, assumes himself the burden of maintaining the reserve supply of milk associated with his fluid milk operations. When an individual operates a dairy farm and a fluid milk business in such manner, it has not been necessary to require him to account for milk produced on his own farm at a particular minimum price.

The situation in this market makes it appropriate that the producer-handler's exemption from pooling and pricing be contingent upon his meeting certain conditions. Such requirements are necessary to assure that his sale of milk will not have a disruptive effect on the orderly marketing of producer milk in the regulated market.

The definition, therefore, should clearly set forth the limits on the sources from which a person may receive milk and still retain producer-handler status. A producer-handler sometimes may need supplemental milk supplies to meet daily and seasonal changes in the demand for fluid milk. The terms adopted provide that the fluid milk supply of a producer-handler must be limited to his own-farm production and to receipts of fluid milk products priced as Class I milk under some Federal order which do not exceed 2,500 pounds per month. This will insure that the exempt producer-handler will be responsible for his own surplus but will permit the purchase of reasonable quantities of fluid milk products (approximately 40 quarts per day) to supplement his own production.

The definition should indicate clearly that such a person may not receive fluid milk products from nonregulated plants if he is to qualify for exempt status as a producer-handler. Milk in fluid form transferred to a producer-handler from any regulated plant is classified as Class I. It follows that any supplemental milk so purchased by a producer-handler will not represent a lower-priced source of supply as might be the case if he were permitted to purchase from unregulated nonpool plants and still retain his exempt status.

It is intended, therefore, that the exemption from pricing and pooling of such operations be limited to those who are primarily dependent on milk of their own production and assume the risk involved in the plant operation. The order consequently should provide, as criteria of producer-handler status, that the maintenance, care, and management of the dairy animals and other resources necessary to produce milk and the processing and packaging of the milk handled shall be the personal enterprises of the producer-handler and shall be conducted at his personal risk. Also, since he enjoys full benefit from his own sale of milk in fluid form (Class I) and does not share such sale with other producers, he should not be considered as a producer on bulk milk delivered to other handlers which he does not need for his own bottling needs, i.e., he should not be eligible to share in the Class I sales of other producers also.

To permit verification of a producer-handler's continuing status and to facilitate accounting with respect to the receipts from pool handlers the order also provides that each producer-handler shall make reports in such manner as the market administrator shall require.

Although there are a number of governmental agencies (Federal) in this area which receive fluid milk products from handlers, the record is not clear whether such agencies have facilities to produce and process fluid milk products for use only on such premises or to other governmental agencies. Generally milk produced and sold by a governmental agency would be primarily for purposes within the agency. No useful purpose in effective order regulation for the market would be served by regulation of such an operation and could be disruptive to the purposes of the dairy operation of such an agency. Therefore, it is concluded that, if one of these agencies does operate milk production and processing facilities, it should be exempt from regulation under this order. This is effected by specific exemption of governmental agencies from all provisions of the order.

The terms "producer" and "producer milk" should be modified from the definition presently included in the Dayton-Springfield order to incorporate necessary changes brought about primarily by the expansion of the marketing area to be regulated.

A "producer" should be defined as any person except a producer-handler or a governmental agency, who produces, in compliance with the Grade A inspection requirements of a duly constituted health authority, milk which is received at a pool plant or diverted under specified conditions as discussed below. This definition is not intended to include, however, any person with respect to milk which is fully subject to the class pricing and producer payment provisions of another Federal order.

The term "producer milk" should include all milk produced by persons qualifying as producers which is received at pool plants, or under specified conditions, diverted to nonpool plants. Diversion of producer milk to a nonpool plant by a handler (cooperative or proprietary) should be limited to not more than two-thirds of the days of delivery from a producer's farm during the months of April through July, and not more than one-third of the delivery days during the months of August through March. Diversions of producer milk by handlers among pool plants should be permitted at any time.

Under current order provisions, diversions of producer milk to nonpool plants are not limited during the months of April through July. During the months of August through March diversions are limited to not more than one-third of the days of delivery. For pricing purposes, diverted producer milk is deemed to have been received at the pool plant of customary receipt.

Producers proposed that only a cooperative association be eligible to divert producer milk during the months of August through March. They stated that this would help assure the maximum Class I use of producer milk and foster the activities of the association as marketing agent for its member producers. Also, they proposed that handlers be permitted to divert milk to nonpool plants during the months of April through July, but not for more than two-thirds of the days of delivery from a producer's farm in each month.

The regulation should accommodate as much as possible the efficient handling of any necessary market surplus, since the day-to-day market requirements vary widely. The diversion privilege, herein adopted, should promote efficiency in the marketing of milk not needed at pool plants for fluid milk requirements.

Because there are nonpool plants located in the Miami Valley production area, it is possible for excess milk to be moved directly from the farm to a nonpool plant for processing instead of being received at a pool plant and then transferred to a nonpool plant. Diversions may occur seasonally during the flush production months or to accommodate unneeded milk during holiday periods or on weekends. Therefore, specified diversions of producer milk from pool plants to nonpool plants should be permitted, with the milk retained in the pool if the handler, including an association of producers, accepts the responsibility of accounting for such milk as producer milk at order prices.

The provision, however, should not be so constructed as to encourage an excessive volume of milk to associate with the pool without need for fluid use. This objective can be achieved during the months of August through March when supplies are lowest seasonally, by limiting diversions. Such diversions to nonpool plants are necessary only to assure the orderly handling of unneeded weekend or holiday supplies.

At least one proprietary handler assumes responsibility for handling the reserve milk at his plant during such periods. Consequently, both proprietary handlers and cooperatives should have opportunity to divert on equal terms. The present provision which permits diversion of producers on not more than one-third of the days of delivery during such months should accommodate such supplies of milk and should be continued in the expanded order.

The months of April through July are the months of relatively high seasonal production and it is desirable that both proprietary handlers and cooperatives be permitted a greater opportunity to divert than in the fall months. Although this decision institutes limits on diversions in these months as compared to the present unlimited diversion, such limits should permit orderly disposition of the seasonal surplus. Diversions of producers to nonpool plants on not more than two-thirds of the day of delivery during these months should be permitted.

Producer milk should include that milk of a dairy farmer diverted within the prescribed limits for each month and milk received at a pool plant. In the event a producer's milk is diverted more than the prescribed number of days, only that milk overdiverted should be considered as nonproducer milk and excluded from the pool.

Diverted milk when moved to a nonpool plant should be priced at the location of such plant. Producer's proposal would price at the location of the nonpool plant any milk diverted to such a plant which is located at a greater distance from Dayton than the pool plant where normally received. It was their position that within 70 miles of Dayton there are adequate manufacturing facilities to handle all diverted milk.

Since there are a number of nonpool plants located within 70 miles of Dayton (the Miami Valley production area), in addition to the cooperative's balancing plant which serves as the major outlet for milk in excess of the fluid milk requirements of the market, there is little need to divert milk great distances at the expense of producers generally. In conjunction with the recommended handler location differentials which use multiple basing points located on the outer perimeter of the marketing area, pricing of diverted milk at the location of the nonpool plant in effect adopts the cooperative's proposal for determining the point of pricing.

The pricing of diverted milk in such cases in the above manner should remove the incentive for the operator of a distant plant to meet the pooling requirements for the purpose of associating excessive quantities of milk with the market which milk would be intended for manufacturing use. Otherwise there would be potential for the distant producer to receive the market blend price when his milk actually was diverted on a regular basis to a plant distant from the market for manufacturing use. It will further insure that pool producers in general will not subsidize transportation costs which are not incurred if such milk remains at the distant plant.

An exceptor requested clarification of the definition of producer milk to exclude diverted milk of dairy farmers subject to the pooling and pricing provisions of another order. The exclusion of such milk was intended in the order language of the recommended decision. Because of this original intent and since the language proposed would serve to clarify the provision, such change is herein adopted in the definition of "producer milk".

4. Classification and allocation.—(a) Classification of milk. Producer milk received by handlers should be classified in two classes according to the form in which or the purpose for which it is used. Class I milk should include those forms of disposition intended for the fluid market.

The high quality requirements for consumption in fluid forms, as compared to manufacturing use, are specified primarily in newly revised sanitary regulations of the State of Ohio. The extra cost of producing such higher quality milk and delivering it to market necessitates that the price for milk used in Class I be considerably above the manufacturing milk price. The definition of Class I milk in the manner described herein provides the means of returning to producers the higher price according to the quantity of milk so used.

Class II milk, on the other hand, includes utilization for purposes to which Grade A requirements do not apply. In such uses milk from producers competes with ungraded milk from other sources and for these uses producer milk therefore commands only a manufacturing milk price.

Accordingly, milk and milk products received by handlers should be classified on the basis of the form in which, or the purpose for which, it is used or disposed of by the handler in substantially the same manner as under the present Dayton-Springfield order. The skim milk and butterfat therein should be classified separately since the proportions of skim milk and butterfat in finished products vary.

Also, milk may be received by handlers from various sources, including dairy farmers, other regulated handlers, and unregulated sources. Milk from all these sources could be commingled in a handler's plant. Consequently, it is necessary to have a plan for allocating the uses of milk to each of the various sources of supply in order to establish the appropriate classification of producer milk.

Class I milk. The dispositions included in Class I milk are those required by applicable health authorities to be produced from "Grade A milk". Class I milk, therefore, should be basically skim milk and butterfat disposed of by a handler in the form of fluid milk products as previously defined, with limited exceptions as described below.

The measurement of the quantity of Class I disposition of a particular milk product is normally the actual weight of the product as it leaves the handler's plant. In a few instances, however, the Class I quantity is more, or less, than such weight. One exception is concentrated milk, which is produced by removing a large portion of the water content from whole milk. This product is intended for fluid consumption, and may be restored by the consumer to the original whole milk form by addition of water. This is a Class I product for which the quantity to be accounted for is the qauntity of milk normally used to produce it. Standard conversion factors for calculating the original volume would be applied. Accounting for such products on the basis of original volume, including all the water originally associated with the milk solids, is necessary to assure equity among handlers and to return to producers the full use value of their milk.

Reconstituted milk or skim milk presents a similar problem of accounting. Reconstitution is a process which may be carried on in a handler's plant by mixing dry milk solids or condensed milk with water to produce a product which is similar to fluid whole milk or skim milk. Partial reconstitution may be carried out by adding milk solids and water to milk or skim milk. Class I disposition of reconstituted milk or skim milk should be accounted for in a quantity which includes the volume of water originally associated in whole milk with the milk solids used in process of reconstitution. This is necessary for the same reasons as in the case of concentrated milk.

Fortified fluid milk products are another instance in which the weight disposed of is not precisely the quantity of Class I disposition to be accounted for. Fortified fluid milk products are prepared by the addition of nonfat solids to milk or skim milk to yield a finished product of higher than normal nonfat solids.

For proper accounting of the skim milk involved the nonfat milk solids added in fortification should be converted to their skim milk equivalent. This is necessary to insure uniformity of application of the accounting system. It is not necessary, however, to price as Class I all the water originally associated with the added solids. The addition of the solids used in fortification cannot be considered as displacing producer milk in Class I except to the extent that the volume of product is increased. The addition of solids to make a more desirable product may in fact increase the sale of producer milk, and in any event would not displace producer milk in Class I beyond the minor increase in volume which results.

Therefore, the skim milk to be classified as Class I milk in such instances should be only that contained in an equal volume of unmodified product of the same nature and butterfat content, excluding the dry weight of any nonmilk additive such as flavoring, etc. The skim milk equivalent of the nonfat milk solids not classified as Class I milk should be classified as Class II milk.

It is necessary that the handler submit reports sufficient to reconcile all his receipts of milk and dairy products with the disposition from his plant(s). If receipts and disposition cannot be reconciled from such reports, it is necessary that the handler be held responsible for any unaccounted for receipts or disposition. If disposition is less than receipts, the question arises as to whether there are dispositions not disclosed on reports. In order to insure responsible reporting, recordkeeping and equity among handlers, such discrepancy (where disposition is less than receipts) should be classified as a Class I quantity, except for allowable Class II shrinkage as explained in later findings.

On the other hand, if the total of all Class I and Class II milk assigned to producer milk exceeds the amount of producer milk reported received at the pool plant of a handler, the milk in excess of such receipts shall be "overage". Any overage should be assigned first to the available Class II utilization and any remainder to Class I. The overage in each class should be paid for by the handler at the applicable class prices. When utilization records indicate a disposition greater than receipts it must be presumed that the handler failed to report all of his receipts of producer milk. This "overage" is thus charged to him at the applicable class price in the lowest available class use.

Class II milk. Class II milk would include all skim milk and butterfat used to produce any product other than a fluid milk product. It thus would include milk used in manufactured products such as ice cream, ice cream mix, frozen desserts, cottage cheese, evaporated and condensed milk, nonfat dry milk and butter and cheese as well as others in nonfluid form.

Under the present Dayton–Springfield order cultured sour cream mixes and packaged sterilized cream are included as fluid milk products in Class I. Certain handlers proposed the reclassification to Class II of sour cream mixes and sterilized products because Grade A quality ingredients are not required in processing. Sterilized cream not made from Grade A milk; and cultured sour cream mixes using vegetable fat, are sold in the market. It is concluded that a Class II classification should be adopted for sour cream mixtures unless labeled as a Grade A product and for sterilized cream in hermetically sealed metal or glass containers.

Proponent for the exclusion from the fluid milk product definition of sterilized products in hermetically sealed glass or metal containers took exception to the failure of the recommended decision to exclude also from such definition sterilized products other than cream which are similarly packaged. There was no evidence in the record concerning such sterilized products other than cream on which a reclassification of these products could be considered. The testimony related solely to sterilized cream. It is the only such product being handled in the market at this time. Therefore, sterilized products other than cream are retained under the fluid milk product definition.

Besides manufactured dairy products, which compose the bulk of Class II use, Class II milk also would include shrinkage within certain limits, disposal in fluid form for livestock feed, skim milk dumped, and fluid milk products in bulk held in inventory at the end of the month.

Butterfat and skim milk should be considered disposed of when used to produce Class II products. Thus, handlers must maintain production records to establish use in Class II.

Shrinkage. In the course of normal receiving, processing, and packaging of fluid milk products, some loss, or "shrinkage", of skim milk and butterfat is experienced. Since shrinkage represents disappearance of milk for which no return is realized, it should be considered as Class II milk to the extent that the amount is reasonable and is not the result of incomplete or faulty records. In order to assure complete accounting, however, the handler must establish the quantity of actual loss of skim milk and butterfat.

The maximum shrinkage allowance in Class II at each plant should be 2.5 percent of milk from producers (less transfers of milk in bulk to other pool plants), plus 1.5 percent of milk transferred in bulk to other pool plants, plus 1 percent of milk received in bulk tank lots from other plants or from a cooperative association which is the handler for such milk. However, if the handler operating the pool plant which received bulk tank milk through a cooperative association files notice with the market administrator that he is purchasing such milk on the basis of farm weights the applicable percentage should be 2.5 percent on such milk. The provision of 2.5 percent shrinkage allowance for the entire receiving and processing operation is in the present Dayton-Springfield order and there was no suggestion for revising this maximum allowance.

The lower shrinkage allowance of 1 percent of milk received by bulk tank truck from a cooperative handler recognizes that part of the shrinkage occurs prior to receipt at the plant. Milk collected at the farm in bulk tank trucks is measured at the farm. Some loss normally occurs during the transfer operation between the farm tank and the plant.

To provide equitable application of shrinkage provisions to all handlers who may have various types of operations and sources of milk receipts, the rate of 1 percent shrinkage allowance should apply to all plant receipts in bulk, whether from other pool plants, unregulated plants or a cooperative association acting as a bulk tank handler. The only exception to this would be in the case of receipts of other source milk for which Class II utilization is requested. In the latter case, since the entire receipt is for Class II use, there is no need to establish a limit of shrinkage that may be classified as Class II.

In computing a handler's total shrinkage allowance, 1 percent of fluid milk products disposed of in bulk tank lots to plants of other handlers by transfer should be deducted. This is necessary to carry out the present order provision of allowing 1.5 percent for the receiving and handling operations on such transfers. The second plant would be allowed, as stated previously, 1 percent on the transfer of fluid milk products.

The allowance of 1 percent of milk transferred in bulk tank truck from farm to plant would apply also in the case of milk diverted by tank truck. An exception would be made in both instances if the plant operator to whom the milk is diverted purchases the milk on the basis of farm weights and tests.

The order contemplates that handlers will report on an individual plant basis, showing the receipts and utilization at each plant. Shrinkage should be accounted for in each plant separately so that a handler having more than one plant may not offset overage in one plant against shrinkage in his other plant.

If such handler transfers fluid milk products between his two plants, the amount of shrinkage or overage at either plant would be affected by the accuracy in accounting for the quantity of skim milk and butterfat transferred. The same care should be exercised as to accuracy of accounting for milk transferred between plants of the same handler as in the case of transfers between plants of different handlers.

To assure an equitable assignment of total shrinkage, it should be prorated to (1) those categories of receipts on which the above described limits apply, and (2) other receipts in fluid form to which specific shrinkage limits do not apply.

Inventories. The order should provide that inventory of fluid milk products on hand at the end of the month should be classified as Class II milk if in bulk, and Class I if packaged, pending possible reclassification in the following month.

Handlers have inventories of milk and milk products at the beginning and end of each month which must enter into the accounting for receipts and utilization at the plant. The accounting procedure can be facilitated by providing that inventories of bulk fluid milk products on hand at the end of the month be classified as Class II milk.

In the following month inventories in bulk would be subtracted, under the allocation procedure, from any available Class II milk. Any excess over available Class II milk should be subtracted from Class I milk. The higher-use value as Class I thus indicated should be reflected in returns to producers in that month. This would be at the rate of the difference between the Class II price in the first month and the Class I price in the second month.

Fluid milk products on hand in packaged form at the end of the month should be classified as Class I milk. This classification conforms with the ultimate utilization of most of the packaged fluid milk products in inventory. This results in fewer adjustments in classification and handlers' obligations than if classified in Class II as in the case of bulk milk.

To insure that all handlers pay the current month's Class I milk price for fluid milk disposed of during the month, it is provided that, if the Class I milk price increases over the previous month, the handler will be charged the difference between the Class I milk price for the current month and the Class I milk price for the preceding month on the quantity of ending inventory assigned to Class I milk in the preceding month. Likewise, if the Class I milk price decreases, the handler will receive a corresponding credit.

The allocation section of the order should provide that inventory of such packaged fluid milk products on hand at the beginning of the month be subtracted from Class I milk utilization immediately after the allocation of shrinkage and packaged fluid milk products from other orders and before making the other assignments therein provided.

Since the disposition of skim milk and butterfat in nonfluid milk products has been accounted for as Class II use when used to produce a manufactured dairy product, such skim milk and butterfat should not be included in inventory.

Inventories of fluid milk products and Class II products on hand at the beginning of the first month in which this order becomes effective or during any month in which a plant becomes regulated for the first time should be allocated to any available Class II utilization of the plant during the month. This procedure will preserve the priority of assignment to current receipts of producer milk of the current Class I utilization of the plant.

One handler objected to the potential inflation of Class I milk from the initial classification of ending inventories of packaged fluid milk products in Class I for the purpose of computing the "Class I utilization percentage" for the supply-demand adjustment.

The computation of the monthly Class I utilization percentage for the supply-demand adjustments which include Class I sales for the month following the effective date of the amended order should be modified to offset the effect the changeover to include monthly ending inventories of packaged fluid milk products in Class I.

The classification of packaged fluid milk products in inventory in Class I is not intended to have any significant effect on the "Class I utilization percentage." Accordingly, it should be provided that monthly ending inventories of packaged fluid milk products for the first month this amended order is effective, should be deducted from the aggregate pounds of producer milk in Class I milk in computing the utilization percentage for each of the third, fourth, and fifth month, respectively, after this amended order is first made effective.

The maximum adjustment which would have occurred during the period from January 1966, through November 1966, would have been a reduction of 453,000 pounds in aggregate Class I sales. Such an adjustment, computed for each month for the period from May 1966, through January 1967, resulted in no change in the current utilization for such months. Since monthly ending inventories for the market change from month-to-month, there is no fixed volume of Class I sales that can be used to adjust the aggregate pounds of produced milk in Class I milk used to compute the supply-demand adjustor.

It is therefore concluded that the order language should provide for such an adjustment to eliminate any significant effect on the resulting supply-demand adjustment. After the fifth month, the adjustment is not required for this purpose.

Proof of class use. Except for the quantities of Class II shrinkage provided for in the order, all skim milk and butterfat for which a handler cannot establish utilization must be classified as Class I milk. This provision is necessary to remove any advantage that might accrue to handlers who fail to keep complete and accurate records. The burden of proof should be on the handler to establish the ultization of any milk as being other than Class I milk.

Transfers and diversions. Milk transferred from a pool plant to another plant should be classified in accordance with specific rules.

The rules of classification herein provided would apply to transfers to other pool plants or to nonpool plants, and to milk diverted from the farm to nonpool plants or to pool plants of other handlers.

Fluid milk products transferred or diverted from a pool distributing or supply plant to the pool distributing plant of another handler should be classified as Class I milk unless utilization as Class II milk is claimed by both handlers on reports submitted for the month to the market administrator. However, sufficient Class II utilization must be available at the transferee plant for such assignment to Class II after allocation of receipts of unregulated milk, other order milk, inventory and shrinkage. Similarly, sufficient Class I milk must be present in the transferee plant to cover Class I classification of the transferred milk.

If the shipping plant receives, during the month, other source milk of the type to which a surplus value applies (such as nonfat dry milk) the skim milk and butterfat in fluid milk products transferred should be classified so as to allocate the least possible Class I utilization to such other source milk. Also, if the shipping handler receives other source milk from an unregulated supply plant or an other order plant, the transferred quantities, up to the total of such other source receipts, should not be Class I to a greater extent than would be applicable to a like quantity of such other source milk received at the transferee plant. These rules are necessary to provide the same kind of classification for transferred fluid milk products as for utilization within a pool plant.

Fluid milk products transferred or diverted from a pool distributing plant to a pool supply plant should be classified first as Class II milk to the extent Class II utilization is available at the pool supply plant. Such movements of milk generally would be made for the purpose of manufacturing milk, which is in excess of the bottling requirements of the distributing plant, into Class II products. Also, this would deter the movement of milk solely for the purpose of qualifying for additional location credits.

Fluid milk products transferred or diverted in bulk to a nonpool plant (not an other order plant or producer-handler plant) should be classified as Class I milk unless the handler claims Class II classification and specified conditions are met: (1) The operator of the nonpool plant should maintain adequate books and records showing utilization of all skim milk and butterfat received at the plant; and (2) if requested the operator should make these books and records available to the market administrator for purposes of verifying such receipts and utilization. Verification by the market administrator is necessary to insure proper application of the classification procedures of the order.

If the above conditions are met, classification of the transferred or diverted milk would be made in accordance with the following procedure:

Receipts of packaged fluid milk products at the nonpool plant from pool plants or other order plants would be first assigned to Class I in the nonpool plant. Then, if the nonpool plant makes any Class I route disposition in this marketing area, this Class I should be assigned first to fluid milk products transferred from pool plants, then pro rata to receipts from other order plants, and finally to receipts from dairy farmers who the market administrator determines constitute the regular source of Grade A milk for the nonpool plant. If the nonpool plant makes any Class I disposition on routes in the marketing area of another Federal order, this should be assigned first to fluid milk products transferred or diverted from plants fully regulated by that order, then pro rata to fluid milk products received from plants regulated by this and all other Federal orders, and thereafter to the nonpool plant's regular Grade A dairy farmer supply as determined by the market administrator.

Any Class I utilization remaining in the nonpool plant after the above assignment should be assigned first to the plant's regular Grade A dairy farmer supply and then pro rata to unassigned receipts from plants regulated by this order and other orders.

After the preceding assignments are made at the nonpool plant, any remaining receipts of bulk fluid milk products from pool plants should be classified in sequence starting with Class II milk if the shipping handler requested classification under this procedure.

This method for classifying transfers and diversions of milk to nonpool plants provides equitable treatment for milk of order handlers as well as other order handlers in the classification of milk. Further, it gives priority to dairy farmers directly supplying a nonpool plant with respect to sales outside regulated areas. The proposed method of classification at the same time allows orderly disposition of reserve supplies of milk which cannot economically be handled at pool plants.

The present Dayton-Springfield order contains a transfer rule which requires fluid milk products (except bulk cream) to be classified as Class I milk if moved beyond 100 miles from Dayton or Springfield, Ohio. This provision was adopted a number of years ago primarily to simplify verification procedure on the presumption that under the then existing conditions any milk moved on resale more than 100 miles from the market logically would be utilized for fluid consumption in view of the transportation cost involved.

Such transfer rule does not comport well, however, with the diversion rule adopted herein under which diverted milk is priced at the location of the plant to which diverted. At the present time handlers distribute virtually all their fluid milk products in Class I within a hundred-mile radius of Dayton, in fact, primarily within the proposed Miami Valley marketing area. Any such products sold beyond such distance are very likely to be disposed of in another regulated market where verification of use is readily made.

On the other hand, milk may move from farms to market from greater distances under today's conditions. In the event producer milk had to be diverted for manufacturing use, possibly caused by unforeseen circumstances not under control of the producers or handlers involved, to plants beyond 100 miles, the present provision would not accommodate such movements. It is concluded that the present mileage rule would not promote orderly marketing under the terms of the revised order.

The order also provides for transfers of fluid milk products to other order plants. The classification of such milk is covered in the following findings with respect to allocation.

(b) Allocation. The value of producer milk is established on the basis of its classification and the class prices. Since handlers also may receive milk from sources other than producers, the order must provide a method of assignment to classes of receipts from all sources during the month.

The system of allocating a handler's receipts to the two classes is virtually the same as that adopted in the decisions of the Assistant Secretary issued June 19, 1964, for 76 milk orders, including the Dayton-Springfield order.[1] These decisions were designed to integrate into the regulatory plan of each of the affected Federal orders milk which is not subject to classified pricing under any order, and also to apply the regulatory plan of each of the orders to milk received from plants regulated under another order.

The producers' proposal recognized the necessity for interorder coordination and contained allocation provisions identical to those contained in the aforementioned decisions. Inasmuch as those decisions set forth the standards for dealing with unregulated milk under Federal orders generally, it is necessary that the general system of allocation under this order be the same. Also, the treatment of other order milk should be the same as the plan included in those decisions so as to have a coordinated system of regulations on movements of milk among Federal order markets.

Because of the separate pricing of milk used to produce cottage cheese as compared to other Class II milk products, it is necessary to design the allocation provisions so as to insure the application of the price differential to producer milk used in cottage cheese manufacture. Thus, the method adopted will assure generally the assignment of other source milk receipts in series beginning with Class II products other than cottage cheese, then to milk used to produce cottage cheese prior to any assignment thereof to Class I.

Milk received at regulated plants from unregulated plants. When unregulated milk eligible for distribution in the market in fluid form is received by a regulated handler at his pool plant, provision must be made for its allocation to the total available classification of the pool plant, and for providing an appropriate rate of payment to the producer-settlement fund on any such milk allocated to Class I.

The order should provide that fluid milk products moved from an unregulated plant to a pool plant be classified as Class II milk if so reported by the operator of the regulated plant.

Milk may be purchased by a pool plant operator from an unregulated plant either for use in his manufacturing operation or in connection with his Class I requirements. When the purchase is for manufacturing, the order should accommodate this by providing that such milk be allocated to the lowest price class utilization in the pool plant.

This treatment of unregulated milk received at pool plants will further serve to accommodate unregulated plants which have surplus milk but do not have manufacturing facilities, since it will make available as an outlet the manufacturing facilities of pool plants without involving the unregulated plant in the regulation. When, however, manufacturing utilization in a regulated plant is insufficient for the assignment of all fluid milk products from unregulated plants to the agreed manufacturing use, the remainder, of course, must be allocated to Class I.

Other categories of milk receipts assigned first to Class II use (down allocated) should include receipts from producer-handlers, receipts from governmental agencies exempt from regulation, receipts without Grade A certification, and reconstituted milk. The reasons for such assignment are explained in subsequent findings on these specific types of receipts.

With respect to the general category of unregulated plant milk (other than from producer-handlers or governmental agencies) received at a pool plant, the order should provide that (within limits) such unregulated milk in bulk, which is not specifically designated for manufacturing use, be classified pro rata with regulated milk in the pool plant.

Classification of bulk milk cannot be determined on the basis of its inherent characteristics as either Class I (i.e., in fluid form) or as surplus (i.e., as in manufactured products) but rather its classification must depend upon its utilization by the handler who receives it. Unless the regulated handler accepts the milk for Class II use, a method as described herein must be provided for assigning the unregulated bulk milk to classes of use. By assigning it pro rata with regulated milk (within limits), its indeterminate character as Class I or II will be recognized up to the limit provided.

A limit must be placed on the amount of unregulated milk which may share full classification with regulated milk. The receipt of unregulated milk in a regulated handler's operation is always a source of danger to the regulatory plan. Handlers often obtain unregulated milk because it is a cheaper source of supply than regulated milk. Unless some limitation is placed on the volume of unregulated milk that may be prorated, a handler with a supply of regulated milk adequate for his Class I requirements could acquire cheaper unregulated milk to increase his manufacturing uses. This milk would share in Class I utilization while an equal volume of regulated milk would be assigned to the expanded surplus use. This would impair the effectiveness of the regulation.

The limit placed on the amount of unregulated milk to be assigned pro rata with regulated milk is such that when, as a result of proration or assignment, as much as 20 percent of all regulated milk in the handler's plants is assigned to Class II, all additional unregulated milk will then be assigned to Class II. A reserve of milk for fluid requirements on a marketwide basis more or less than 20 percent of all handlers' receipts may be required, depending upon seasonal and other considerations.

An individual handler associated with a regulated fluid market (whose main purpose is to furnish Class I milk to the market) will not need unregulated milk for the purpose of maintaining an adequate supply to service Class I sales in amounts which will increase his reserve above 20 percent of his total receipts in any given month. Even though a situation could conceivably arise where because of the disruption of normal supplies, a handler receives milk from unregulated sources in excess of the quantities that may be prorated, the attainment of effective regulation nevertheless requires the imposition of this limit.

It is provided that in assigning unregulated bulk milk for purposes of classification, the overall utilization of the handler at all of his plants regulated under the order [1] (rather than the utilization at a single plant) should be used. This is necessary for the same reasons, set forth later in this decision, which apply to receipts of milk from plants regulated by other orders.

Payment at the difference between the Class I and uniform prices should be made by the receiving handler into the producer-settlement fund on the portion of unregulated milk which is assigned to Class I through proration. During the months of April through July and September through December a seasonal incentive plan of pricing is in effect. For the purpose of computing a rate of payment on unregulated milk during these months, a weighted average price must be computed in a manner identical with the computation of the uniform price in other months.

There can be no question that the Class I price basically should apply to both regulated and unregulated milk used in a fully regulated plant as Class I milk. To attribute any different valuation on the unregulated milk would automatically result in inequity as compared with regulated milk similarly utilized.

Although there is no room for doubt as to the need to attribute a Class I value for any milk so utilized (the minuend), the proper credit to be allowed to milk from unregulated plants is not clear, i.e., what subtrahend should be used in such a payment formula. It may be expected that in many situations a payment at any lesser rate than the difference between the Class I minimum price and the value of such milk as surplus would give unwarranted price advantage to unregulated milk over producer milk similarly utilized.

Milk at unregulated plants may be purchased from dairy farmers on a flat price basis without regard to use classification. Although most of the milk so purchased by the unregulated plant operator may be intended for local distribution outside the regulated market, excess milk supplies on a daily and seasonal basis will arise as they also do in regulated plants.

This frequently leaves excess milk at unregulated plants which is truly surplus to the normal fluid needs of those plants. This situation is accentuated at certain times of the year when there are characteristic seasonal increases in the production of milk without corresponding increases in the demand for milk. If it were not for the sale in the regulated market, such milk would have no higher value to the plant operator than its surplus value.

In such circumstances, the operator of such an unregulated plant, including the fringe distributor, has great incentive to "dump" his surplus milk into the regulated market or its supply system at any price higher than a surplus price and thereby obtain a competitive advantage for such milk over regulated milk. Regulated handlers cannot similarly convert otherwise surplus Class II milk into Class I utilization without accounting to the producer-settlement fund at the full difference between these two utilizations, i.e., they account at Class I rather than Class II. There would then appear to be substantial justification for the same rate of charge against milk from unregulated plants obtained and used in similar circumstances.

Notwithstanding the fact that surplus milk is obviously available to handlers from time to time, there is no indication that they have exploited their opportunities to use such milk. It is concluded, therefore, in the light of the decision of the Supreme Court in the Lehigh Valley case, and because of the administrative difficulty in determining whether particular milk from an unregulated plant utilized as Class I in this market actually might have only a surplus value or cost at source, that the charge should be limited to the difference between the Class I price and the market order uniform price (weighted average price for the months of April through July and September through December), both adjusted for butterfat content and the location of the unregulated plant from which the milk was received.

[1] Such total utilization would be subject to certain prior deductions for receipts assigned to the surplus classification as mentioned in prior findings.

Although the use of the uniform price as the subtrahend will not assure complete removal of the minimum price advantage which may exist for some milk for the reasons just stated, it nevertheless will serve to minimize this advantage in such cases. Generally, it should be an equitable means of providing a reasonable measure of protection to the regulatory plan. If subsequent experience shows that such payment is not protecting the regulatory plan, then, on the basis of specific evidence, another rate of payment or another plan will need to be devised.

As a means of carrying out the equalization provided by market pooling, regulated handlers are required to pay this minimum uniform price to their own producers, and in addition, are required to pay to the producer-settlement fund the full difference between the Class I price and such uniform price on all regulated milk classified as Class I because of its use as fluid milk. Unregulated milk similarly used as Class I milk by a regulated handler likewise should carry a payment to the producer-settlement fund at least at the same rate as that required on regulated milk.

If the handler buys regulated milk at a price in excess of the uniform price, he receives no credit for this excess payment in accounting to the producer-settlement fund. Neither should he receive credit for any amount paid for unregulated milk in excess of the uniform price. Both the regulated and unregulated milk, therefore, will be credited at only the uniform price in accounting to the producer-settlement fund.

These payments are not unfair or burdensome to the dairy farmer supplying the unregulated plant, whose milk is used as Class I milk by a federally regulated handler. The allowance of a credit for milk from unregulated plants used as Class I by the regulated handler at the uniform price level will provide opportunity to the unregulated plant operator to pay his farmers at least the uniform price on these Class I sales. The order cannot, of course, guarantee to the dairy farmer that his purchaser in fact will pay this full uniform price to him.[2]

The order must contain provisions of this kind which adequately serve to relate to the total scheme of regulation that milk received by regulated handlers which is not subject to full regulation. Otherwise, the very existence of the market pool order may establish the condition which makes impractical the attainment of the regulatory objective of stabilizing the market in the manner prescribed by the statute. Consequently, the Secretary must protect, to the extent consistent with the Act, the regulatory plan in any marketing area against defeat or impairment because of the introduction into the marketing area of milk from unregulated sources which is not subject to full regulation.

In this market only limited quantities of packaged milk are received at pool plants from unregulated plants. Nevertheless, a rule for dealing with such situations must be provided. In the absence of specific evidence as to the method of dealing with such receipts, it should be provided that packaged milk received from an unregulated plant will be treated the same as bulk milk.

Producer-handler or governmental agency surplus, reconstituted milk, non-Grade A milk. Certain milk by its very nature must be treated as surplus when received at market pool plants regulated by a Federal order and, therefore, must be assigned a surplus value. Two such sources are milk received at a regulated plant, in either bulk or packaged form, from a producer-handler (under any Federal order) or a plant of a governmental agency exempt from regulation. Another source is milk produced by the reconstitution to fluid form of manufactured dairy products, such as fluid skim milk made by the addition of water to nonfat dry milk. Still another source is milk of manufacturing grade (non-Grade A milk) which is not eligible for disposition for fluid consumption in the market.

As to milk from these sources a payment into the producer-settlement fund at the difference between the Class I and surplus prices must be required of the receiving handler whenever such milk is allocated to Class I, following "down allocation" to the extent it can be absorbed in lower priced uses.

In this order as in most other orders the producer-handler is exempt from the pooling and pricing provisions. This exemption is based on the principle that the producer-handler assumes the burden of disposing of his milk supplies in excess of his Class I milk needs. Being exempt from these provisions of the order makes it possible for the producer-handler to retain the full return from his Class I sales of milk on routes even though such sales are in competition with regulated handlers.

Producer-handlers are primarily engaged in the distribution of Class I milk. Normally they do not maintain facilities for processing and manufacturing any milk produced in excess of the Class I needs. Because of seasonality of milk production and for other reasons, producer-handlers will produce some milk in excess of their Class I needs. The best available outlets for this surplus milk usually are to fully regulated plants in the market. In view of a producer-handler's limited capacity for utilizing excess supplies of milk, it is often economically advantageous for him to dispose of such excess at surplus prices to regulated handlers. Such milk, therefore, would be available to regulated handlers at surplus prices. Under these circumstances, it would not be appropriate to allow the regulated handler credit from the producer-settlement fund at more than a surplus price for any such purchases.

Inasmuch as a producer-handler's appropriate competitive relationship with other handlers and with other producers depends upon the producer-handler assuming the burden of his own surplus, an equitable relationship among the several groups would not be achieved if a producer-handler were allowed to dispose of his surplus and obtain the uniform price for such surplus.

As long as the producer-handler has the advantage of enjoying the full benefit of his own Class I route sales without sharing them with other producers he should not also receive Class I benefit from a market pool at the expense of producers for any of his milk which he is unable to sell in such way. Surplus milk purchases from producer-handlers, operating under another order have the same potential for creating disorderly marketing conditions as surplus from producer-handlers operating in the local market. Therefore, no distinction in treatment should be provided.

The order should provide, therefore, that milk received from producer-handlers at a pool plant should first be assigned to Class II milk at the pool plant. If any is then assigned to Class I, a payment into the producer-settlement fund at the Class I surplus price difference should be applied.

Such rate of payment on receipts by federally regulated handlers of milk from producer-handlers was ratified by Congress at the time provisions of the Agricultural Adjustment Act of 1933, as amended in 1935, authorizing the issuance of milk orders, were reenacted by the passage of the Agricultural Marketing Agreement Act of 1937. During the period between August 24, 1935, and June 3, 1937, the effective date of the latter Act, six Federal milk orders were issued under such Agricultural Adjustment Act.

Two of such milk orders (Greater Kansas City, Mo., and Fall River, Mass.), placed in effect during this period, contained provisions requiring handlers who use bulk milk received from producer-handlers in other than the lowest priced classification to pay the difference between the class use price and the lowest class (surplus) price for such milk as part of the handler's total obligation for milk. Such payment was distributed, together with the classified value of producer milk of the handler, through the market pool.[3]

[2] 7 U.S.C. sec. 672, which contains the codified language of sec. 4 of the Agricultural Marketing Agreement Act of 1937, as amended states in paragraph (a) "Nothing in this Act shall be construed as invalidating any marketing agreement, license, or order, or any regulation relating to or any provision of, or any act of the Secretary of Agriculture in connection with any such agreement, license or order which has been executed, issued, approved, or done under secs. 601–608, 608a, 608b, 608c, 608d–612, 613, 614–619, 620, 623, 624 of this title, but such marketing agreements, licenses, orders, regulations, provisions, and acts are expressly ratified, legalized, and confirmed."

Governmental agencies operating bottling plant(s) would be exempt from regulation under the Miami Valley order. Because of this exemption fluid milk products received at a pool plant from such plants which they do not need for fluid use should be classified as Class II milk. Fluid milk products received by such plants from a pool plant or a cooperative association in its capacity as a handler should be Class I milk.

A surplus value likewise is properly assigned to reconstituted milk (for instance, the result of combining nonfat dry milk or condensed milk with water). The products used in such reconstitution process are made from milk which always carries a manufacturing, or surplus value. Producer milk used to produce such products is priced as surplus.

Since the milk used to produce these products is originally priced as surplus milk, payment into the producer-settlement fund at the difference between the Class I and surplus price is necessary to insure competitive equity with producer milk when reconstituted milk is used in Class I. No recognition should be given to processing costs involved in the manufacture of the products derived from unregulated milk and used in reconstitution, since similar costs are incurred in processing produced milk into such products.

Nonfat dry milk and condensed milk also may be added to fluid milk products to increase the nonfat solids content thus making so-called "fortified" fluid milk products. The incentive for handlers to use nonfat milk solids to fortify fluid milk products arises from the specific demands of consumers. The increased emphasis on low-fat diets and the high nutritional value of nonfat solids in relation to their weight have contributed to the increased demand for added nonfat solids in fluid milk products.

Such products are distinguished from reconstituted products, however, in that the resulting volume of fluid product is not increased appreciably since no water is added. The essential economic difference in the use of milk solids for fortification of fluid milk products versus their use for reconstitution is recognized in the class use definitions. The class use definitions, which provide that the fluid equivalent of the added solids shall be Class II (excepting the minor quantity of increase in volume of the fortified product), and the allocation provisions which would assign the fluid equivalent of solids used to Class II milk, accomplish appropriate accounting and result in a proper obligation against the handler.

Milk of manufacturing grade is not eligible for fluid (Class I) uses under the requirements of the health authorities in the market. In dual-purpose plants, however, such milk could find its way into Class I in the pool plant. The appropriate value which attaches to such milk is the surplus price because such price accurately reflects its value as manufacturing milk only. The manufacturing value is the price which processors pay for this grade of milk.

Receipts at a market pool plant of manufacturing grade milk therefore should be assigned first to use in Class II. But should any manufacturing grade milk be assigned to Class I, a payment into the producer-settlement fund at the difference between the Class I and surplus prices likewise would be necessary to remove the competitive advantage this milk would have in relation to producer milk. Health authorities require that the source of milk eligible for fluid consumption (Grade A milk) must be identified. Any receipts from unidentifiable sources must therefore be treated as milk of manufacturing grade.

Receipts from other order plants. The order should provide for the assignment to Class I (i.e., to be deducted from gross Class I milk in the receiving plant) of 98 percent of packaged fluid milk products received from a fully regulated plant under another order. The remaining 2 percent should be assigned to Class II.

The 2 percent may be considered as a safeguard against possible "overassignment" of milk to Class I in the originating market (i.e., the assignment to such market of a transferred quantity which is greater, from a practical standpoint, than normally can be disposed of as Class I in the receiving market). Since it is reasonable to expect some route returns will be associated with intermarket transfers just as there are in connection with milk locally processed in the receiving market, a small allowance of 2 percent for such returns, which must fall into surplus use, should be included to avoid such overassignment in Class I.

Prior to amendments to orders effective August 1, 1964, a variety of classification methods had applied to intermarket transfers of bulk milk. Such a variety of methods could not achieve the objective of appropriately integrating into the respective regulatory schemes, in a uniform and consistent way, intermarket shipments of regulated milk. Following the pattern of such amendments, "surplus" classification (Class II milk) should apply whenever the parties involved agree that the shipment is for manufacturing use in the second market. A higher classification would result only when it is found on verification that some portion of the milk could not have been used for manufacturing uses. This portion would then be reclassified as Class I.

Interorder shipments of bulk milk which are not classified as Class II by agreement should be classified as Class I and Class II on the basis of the marketwide utilization of producer milk. Such classification should be limited, however, so that the quantity of milk assigned to Class II is not greater than the receiving handler has utilized as Class II.

The order should not provide for marketwide proration of milk received from another order plant when the receiving handler has a greater proportion of milk in Class II than the average in the receiving market. Marketwide proration of receipts of milk from other markets is designed to deal primarily with milk received by a handler who is supplementing his local supply for Class I use.

Marketwide proration would tend to encourage unduly and uneconomically the importation of milk by a handler with a higher proportion of milk in Class II than the market average because it would assign a disproportionate share of local producers' milk to Class II.

The particular classification which is given to bulk transfers from other orders will be within the control of the receiving handler and there will be no monetary obligation placed on him for this milk by the receiving market order. Inasmuch as other Federal orders from which milk might be received have provisions corresponding to those herein adopted, the situation will not arise where milk transferred would be classified as Class I in the shipping market and Class II in this market since the same classification would apply in both markets.

Assigning the bulk receipts from other order plants to the handler's system utilization will prevent a handler with more than one plant from discriminating against either his own producers or those supplying the other Federal order market by importing milk not serving a bona fide need for Class I use. It should be provided, therefore, that assignments of interorder bulk milk should be made over all utilization of milk at all the handler's regulated plants in the receiving market. In this order allocation is on a plant-by-plant basis. Accordingly, provision is made herein that the allocation of bulk receipts from other orders at a plant shall be on a system basis, irrespective of individual-plant accounting for other purposes of the order.

Handlers who receive milk from other orders or from unregulated plants should be precluded from transferring such milk to regulated plants of other handlers at a utilization higher than would have resulted from a direct receipt at the second plant. Unless the order so provides it would be possible to use a plant with high Class I utilization as a conduit for receiving milk from plants subject to other orders and avoid the allocation provisions of the order which apply to milk received directly from other orders and from unregulated plants.

In any month in which bulk milk is received in the market (without agreement as to Class I classification on the part of the handlers involved in the transfer) it will be necessary that the administrator in the shipping market know the classification of such milk on or about the date when handler reports are due under that order. Since the reporting dates under orders are very similar, it is possible the market administrator may not have complete information to compute his exact marketwide utilization of producer milk by the time the classification of a transfer is needed by the administrator in the shipping market.

It is provided, therefore, that, when necessary, the market administrator will estimate the marketwide utilization of producer milk for purposes of determining the allocation of bulk milk received from other orders. Such estimate will be publicly announced to the nearest whole percentage and, for this purpose, will be final.

Federal orders generally provide that the administrator of any order receiving bulk milk from an other Federal order will promptly notify the administrator of the shipping market of the allocation of such milk so that a compatible classification on such milk may be applied under the shipping orders. Information as to the classification of such milk must be passed on by the respective administrators to the handlers involved so that handlers may know the basis of their obligation on such milk. This order provides similarly for such interchange of information.

Situations may arise where plants subject to this and another Federal order ship milk back and forth during the same month (i.e., each plant ships milk to the other plant). If such shipments are of a similar nature (packaged milk, bulk milk designated for surplus disposal, or bulk milk not so designated) only transfers of milk between two plants which are not offset by an equal quantity of milk received from the second plant need be considered. Since the classification of this milk in the shipping market is based upon its allocation in the receiving market, only the net difference in transferred quantities (in terms of butterfat and skim milk separately as may be necessary) need be allocated in the receiving market. Otherwise, from a mechanical standpoint, neither market could allocate receipts of milk to classes until all milk had been classified, including the shipment to the other market.

5. Class Prices and Location Differentials—Class I prices. Minimum class prices should be established at a level which will assure the maintenance of an adequate, but not excessive, supply of quality milk for the marketing area, and at the same time assure the orderly disposition of the necessary market reserve supply.

The present Dayton-Springfield order, which applies to more than 77 percent of the milk which would be covered by the new Miami Valley order, provides for a monthly Class I price computed by adding $1.24 per hundredweight to a basic formula price. This amount is subject to a supply-demand adjustor which reflects changes in the relationship of market receipts and sales for the Dayton-Springfield and Cincinnati markets combined. The proponent cooperative association proposed the continuation of such pricing formula and no objections were raised at the hearing.

A Class I price determined by adding a differential to a basic formula price gives appropriate reflection to the economic factors underlying changes in the general level of prices for milk and manufactured dairy products. The market for manufactured dairy products is nationwide and the prices for such products and the milk used in them reflect, to a large extent, changes in general economic conditions affecting the supply and demand for milk. The formula reflects such factors automatically.

The basic formula price for Class I pricing presently used in the Dayton-Springfield order is the average price paid dairy farmers at manufacturing plants in Minnesota and Wisconsin for the preceding month, as reported by the Department. Such price is adjusted to a 3.5 percent butterfat test by a butterfat differential obtained by multiplying the Chicago butter price by 0.120.

Official notice is taken of the findings in the decision of April 25, 1967, supporting the amendment to the Dayton-Springfield order effective May 1, 1967, which established the basic formula price at a minimum of $4.05 for the purpose of pricing Class I milk for each month for the period May 1, 1967, through April 1968. Such amendment also provides for an addition of 20 cents to the Class I price differential for each month through April 1968. Similar action was taken in other Federal order markets on the same decision. Such pricing provisions are included in the order set forth for similar reason.

A differential over manufacturing milk prices is necessary to cover the extra cost of meeting quality requirements in the production of milk and to compensate for transportation costs to the fluid market where such milk is consumed. The differential thus provides a necessary incentive for dairy farmers to produce and deliver an adequate supply of pure and wholesome milk to meet consumer demands.

Monthly utilization of producer milk in Class I under the Dayton-Springfield order generally has ranged from 69 to 87 percent. For the periods 1965 and 11 months in 1966, utilization of producer milk in Class I averaged 78.45 and 77.2 percent, respectively. At such utilization levels, sufficient milk has been available to satisfy bottling needs and to provide a generally adequate reserve. Milk supplies have been neither excessive nor short for any prolonged period. Adoption of the present method of computing Class I prices should tend to promote under the expanded order a reasonable balance between producer milk supplies and Class I sales and thus be in conformance with the pricing requirements of the statute. The relatively small additional receipts and sales to be included through expansion of the marketing area should not make a significant difference in the application of the supply-demand adjustor now in use.

The Class I price in this market should have, of course, a reasonable relationship to Class I price levels in other markets of the region because the main sources of supply for this market are contiguous to or overlapping with those of existing Federal order markets. There is a substantial intermarket relationship of supply and demand conditions and, therefore, a close similarity of Class I price levels is desirable. Such other markets are outlets for most producers who supply this market. Also, milk supplies under the other orders represent ready alternative sources of supply for this market. As discussed below under location differentials, the appropriate intermarket alignment calls for the application of the same Class I price throughout the entire marketing area. There were no proposals for a different method of determining Class I price levels.

Class II price. Except for skim milk used for cottage cheese, the price per hundredweight for Class II milk should be the lesser of the Minnesota-Wisconsin manufacturing price or a formula price based on the market prices of butter and nonfat dry milk. The Class II price for skim milk used in cottage cheese should be such lesser price plus 20 cents per hundredweight.

The major cooperative association proposed the following methods for pricing Class II milk: (1) The lower of the basic formula price or a price resulting from a butter-nonfat dry milk formula for milk used in all Class II items other than cottage cheese, and (2) an additional 25 cents for milk used to produce cottage cheese.

Proponent testified that the Class II price should be at a level that will permit the orderly movement of market reserves into manufacturing channels but not be so low that handlers will be encouraged to procure milk supplies solely for the purpose of converting them into Class II products. Proponent also stressed that the proposal would bring about better alignment of Class II prices with neighboring markets.

Handler opposition was limited to the application of the 25-cent differential on the price for producer milk used for cottage cheese as proposed. They contended that (1) the proposed differential would create misalignment of prices with other markets for such use, placing Dayton handlers at a price disadvantage on cottage cheese sales, particularly on sales in other markets, (2) competitive pricing is essential under today's improved packaging and rapid transportation, (3) cottage cheese processors should not be required to subsidize the butter-nonfat dry milk manufacturer, and (4) cottage cheese sales are in a declining trend nationally. One handler engaged in cottage cheese production suggested a price differential on milk for cottage cheese of 15 cents over other Class II milk.

Official notice is taken of the Under Secretary's decision of February 21, 1962 (27 F.R. 1802), to incorporate the Minnesota-Wisconsin price series in the Dayton-Springfield order as well as 35 other orders throughout the Midwest as the basic formula price for computing the Class I price. Such decision found that the Minnesota-Wisconsin price series is a more appropriate measure of manufacturing milk values for such use in the orders than the basic price formulas which had been used previously.

Because of its importance in reflecting manufacturing milk values the Minnesota-Wisconsin price series also has been incorporated as the surplus use price in many orders throughout the Midwest. Normally, this price series will establish a reasonable level of price for milk used for most manufactured milk products not requiring Grade A milk.

Typically, the proprietary handlers in this market process fluid milk, and in some cases cottage cheese and ice cream. They do not engage to any great extent in processing storable dairy products such as butter, nonfat dry milk, or hard cheese. The great bulk of the milk in excess of fluid needs is handled by the cooperative through its own manufacturing plant which is primarily a nonfat dry milk plant, although it is also used as a "balancing" plant for the fluid market. Actually, a substantial number of the handlers have "full supply" contracts with the cooperative under which they need accept only the amount of producer milk they request. The cooperative offers such contracts to all handlers. Most of the market's reserve milk which cannot be used in cottage cheese or ice cream is moved to the association's manufacturing plant or, on occasion, to other plants where butter and spray process nonfat dry milk are the principal items produced.

The Minnesota-Wisconsin manufacturing price will reasonably reflect surplus milk values in this area under most circumstances. However, in consideration of the importance of butter and nonfat dry milk as the final uses when no other outlets are available, it is appropriate that an alternative Class II price become effective whenever the Minnesota-Wisconsin price exceeds by more than 10 cents their per hundredweight value as reflected by product prices on the open market.

Further there is considerable competition in some Class II products by handlers in this and the other nearby markets as well as overlapping of market supply areas. This formula will provide a close intermarket alignment of prices on milk for those products not requiring Grade A milk since a similar formula is in use in neighboring markets.

The revised Class II price formula, applied to 1966 data, results in an increase in the Class II price. The 1966 weighted average price for all Class II milk at test (about 4.99 percent) under such amendments would have been about 6 cents per hundredweight higher. Official notice is taken of the statistical announcements of the market administrator since the close of the hearing.

The order should provide also for a price differential on skim milk in producer milk which is used to produce cottage cheese over the general level for producer milk used in other manufactured products.

The major cooperative association supplying milk to the market proposed that the price for milk used for cottage cheese be fixed at a 25-cent differential over the lower of the Minnesota-Wisconsin price or the butter-nonfat dry milk formula price as discussed above. Proponent testified that milk for cottage cheese has an additional value because the revised State of Ohio Health Code requires that only milk of the same inspected quality as is required for fluid milk products may be used. It was contended further that although cottage cheese sales vary to some extent seasonally, it is produced on a year-round basis, requiring a regular supply of milk, and accounts on the average for nearly 35 percent of all Class II milk.

Handlers in this market currently rely entirely on local Grade A supplies of producer milk for cottage cheese production. Under the State of Ohio Health Code they are required to have this milk or ingredients from milk of equivalent quality. The largest population centers in the defined marketing area are Dayton and Springfield, which represent the principal market outlets for the cottage cheese produced by handlers.

As found above, producer milk disposed of in manufacturing uses should be priced under the order at a level which will result in the orderly marketing of such milk. Within this concept, however, the price level should be that which will provide the highest possible returns to producers. If there is additional value in producer milk for cottage cheese purposes, such value should be reflected in the returns to producers.

In this market handlers choosing not to use producer milk in making cottage cheese would need to import dry cottage cheese curd or nonfat dry milk. In either case, the quality of the other source milk would have to be equivalent to that of local producer milk since manufacturing grade milk may not be used for this product.

There are no dependable sources of graded milk for this purpose within the normal milkshed area from which producer milk is supplied to the market. The only nearby milk of the necessary quality is attached to other fluid markets in Ohio and Indiana and would be available only sporadically. In view of the cost involved in purchasing milk, dry curd or nonfat dry milk from more distant sources, some differential above the general level of the Class II price adopted herein is reasonable to reflect the factor of milk quality and cost involved.

It is reasonable that the return to producers above the regular Class II price should at least partially offset the cost which they have incurred to deliver milk to the handler at the city location for cottage cheese, as compared to putting it to manufacturing use. A 20-cent differential over the lesser of the Minnesota-Wisconsin price or the butter-nonfat dry milk formula price should achieve this purpose while maintaining such outlet for producer milk.

Testimony of handlers contended that the differential proposed by producers might place them at a competitive disadvantage relative to handlers in other markets who would have a somewhat lower cost. Handlers pointed out that they are competing for cottage cheese sales in other areas, some of which are at a considerable distance from Dayton, where local cottage cheese need not be made from graded milk. In support of this position one handler specifically proposed limiting the differential to 15 cents per hundredweight over the lower of the producers' proposed formula prices.

Under normal circumstances the application of a 20-cent differential should not adversely affect the handlers' competitive position in the Miami Valley market. There would be additional cost involved to substitute prepared curd or nonfat dry milk derived from outside Grade A milk and some transportation cost is involved when competitive cottage cheese is distributed from other markets in local competition.

The addition of 20 cents possibly could affect a handler's competitive position in selling in other markets, although such amount is equivalent to less than 2 cents per pound on the finished product varying somewhat depending on yield. Milk should not be priced under this order, however, at a level which encourages a milk supply of such proportions that local handlers are induced to seek substantial cottage cheese outlets in other markets. Milk supplies are not excessive in this market in relation to the Class I requirements of local handlers and should be directed to Class I uses to the greatest extent possible.

The special Class II price should apply up to the amount of skim milk in producer milk assigned to the handler's cottage cheese utilization. Within this limit, the charge should apply even though the handler uses some nonfat dry milk or dry curd in making cottage cheese. This is consistent with the regulatory scheme of the order whereby producer milk generally has priority assignment to highest-priced uses over other source milk in a form interchangeable with it for the uses involved.

The charge should not apply, however, in the case of cottage cheese curd which a handler has imported for use in making cottage cheese. This cottage cheese curd is not interchangeable with producer skim milk for the manufacturer of other Class II products. Thus, its assignment to other Class II uses in order that producer skim milk could be assigned to cottage cheese production would not be appropriate. The 20-cent charge should be applicable to both the skim milk used by the handler in making cottage cheese curd and the skim milk contained in cream which he may subsequently add to the curd in making creamed cottage cheese.

Butterfat differentials. Milk in each class is priced to handlers at a basic test of 3.5 percent, subject to adjustment for variations in the proportions of skim milk and butterfat used in each class. This is accomplished by adjusting the class prices to each handler by appropriate butterfat differentials.

The values resulting from multiplying the Chicago butter price by 0.120 for Class I milk and 0.115 for Class II milk will provide an appropriate means for adjusting the prices in the market for each one-tenth percent variation in the butterfat content of milk used in various products. Use of the Chicago butter price as a basis for establishing butterfat differentials provides assurance for both producers and handlers that such differentials will reflect changes in butterfat values on the national market.

Producers' proposal to reduce the Class I butterfat differential to 0.12 times the average butter price (presently 0.127) and the Class II butterfat differential to 0.115 (presently about 0.12) times the butter price, should be adopted. They objected to the reduction in the total value of Class I milk, which has occurred in recent years due to the present Class I butterfat differentials and the declining butterfat content of all Class I milk. It was their position that with the decrease in demand for butterfat in fluid milk products, the butterfat differential should be reduced in order that the nonfat solids portion of milk would more nearly reflect its proportion of the Class I value.

The average butterfat content of Class I milk decreased from about 3.65 percent in 1957 to 3.4 percent in 1966. This decrease reflects the general decline in the butterfat content of most Class I milk products. Sales in 1966 of Class I products of 3.5 percent butterfat content or more, decreased an average of about 2.5 percent, from 1965. On the other hand, Class I products of less than 3.5 percent butterfat content increased an average of about 17 percent. These low-fat products have increased from about 19 percent of total Class I sales in 1965 to about 23 percent in 1966, reflecting a continuing upward trend in the sales of such products in recent years.

Producers further requested a lower Class II butterfat differential to reduce the value of butterfat which must be used in manufactured products. The declining use of butterfat in Class I products has resulted in more butterfat used in Class II products. They pointed out that because most nearby Federal order markets use the proposed Class II factor in their formulas, it is essential to have like factor to assure the orderly disposition of surplus milk from this market in competition with other markets. The proposed Class II butterfat differential is in line with differentials of the nearby Cincinnati and Northwestern Ohio markets and will contribute to uniformity of pricing for Class II milk in these markets. Thus, the lower Class II butterfat differential will remove any price disadvantage to the association in handling reserve milk for the market. Therefore, the producers' proposal should be adopted.

The producer butterfat differential has the purpose of prorating returns among producers to the extent their milk differs from the basic 3.5 percent butterfat test. The butterfat differential thus used in making uniform price payments to producers should be calculated at the average value for use of producer butterfat in the two classes. This would be the average of the Class I and Class II butterfat differentials weighted by the proportion of butterfat in producer milk classified in each class. Thus, producer returns for butterfat will reflect changes in the use of their butterfat in each class.

Since the Class I butterfat differential herein adopted is identical to that presently used for the producer butterfat differential, and Class I butterfat represents about 70 percent of the total butterfat, only a minor reduction in the producer butterfat differential will occur because of the reduction of the Class II butterfat differential.

Location differentials. The Class I and uniform prices should be adjusted for the location of the plant at which the milk is received.

The major producer association proposed a schedule of location adjustments, in line with the cost of moving milk to the market, designed to bring about price uniformity f.o.b. market to handlers who may receive milk for Class I use from different sources at varying distances from the market.

Fluid milk products, because of their bulky, perishable nature, incur a relatively high transportation cost. The value at the distant point is thereby reduced compared to milk delivered directly from the farm to a distributing plant in the market. Providing location differentials related to the cost of moving milk to the market is necessary to insure price uniformity under the order of Class I milk among handlers, regardless of their sources of supply.

Handlers distribute milk in this market from plants which are not located in one central city, but rather are located in several cities in and near the market. Most handlers distribute milk throughout the marketing area. If price uniformity for Class I milk is to be maintained among handlers, the same Class I price should apply to all plants within this compact marketing area. The same Class I price has applied to all such plants under the present order. Further, the application of no location adjustment within this area should assure an adequate supply of milk for these handlers competing in the same area for producer milk supplies.

From all locations within or near the marketing area adopted herein, milk can move efficiently from farms directly to pool distributing plants without assembly at supply plants. At present all producer milk moves to pool distributing plants in this manner. Thus, it is not possible to distinguish differences in the value of producer milk delivered directly to plants within such area. Consequently, no location adjustments should be applicable within the marketing area. There were no proposals for a different method of determining Class I price levels.

For milk received at a plant located outside the marketing area and beyond 50 miles from any of several basing points, location adjustments should apply. Such adjustments should apply to milk classified as Class I and, with certain limitations, to fluid milk products transferred from such a plant to another pool plant as Class I milk. The basing points from which location adjustment credits would be computed should be the main Post Offices in Dayton, Piqua, Springfield, Urbana, and Wilmington, Ohio. No location adjustment would apply at any plant located outside the marketing area which is within 50 miles of the nearest of such basing points. Use of these basing points, which represent sizable communities located near the perimeter of the marketing area, will insure a constant level of Class I price throughout the marketing area.

The Class I price applicable at more distant plants should be reduced nine cents if the plant is more than 50 miles from the nearest basing point, plus an additional 1.5 cents for each 10 miles or fraction thereof that such distance exceeds 60 miles.

Exception was taken to (1) use of multiple basing points, (2) location differentials for plans located less than 70 miles from Dayton, and (3) the establishment of a rate of less than 12 cents for such distance. The recommended decision provided for a rate of 6 cents for outlying plants located more than 50 miles from the nearest of five basing points. The increase in rate to 9 cents will reflect the same 1.5 cents per 10-mile adjustment for nearby plants as now provided for more distant plants and approximates the cost of transporting milk to market by efficient means. It is a rate that has been generally accepted for use in Federal milk orders and is in line with the proposal of the producer association to which no objection was made. Such revised schedule will maintain Class I prices at plants at various locations which are reasonably aligned with prices in other nearby markets and provide an equitable basis for intermarket competition in procurement. For reasons given above, multiple basing points are retained. Exceptor's request to use a single basing point (Dayton) therefore is denied.

Uniform prices to be paid producers supplying plants at which location differentials are applicable likewise should be adjusted on similar basis to reflect the value of the milk at the plant where received from the farm.

No location adjustment should apply to Class II milk. Manufactured dairy products are much less perishable and the components of manufactured products may be transported in manufactured form. The record does not indicate that there is value in the milk used for manufacturing purposes which can be equated to plant location with respect to this market.

Location differentials to handlers on Class I milk are credited from pool funds and are deductible from returns to producers computed at the f.o.b. market Class I value. They therefore should be held to the minimum which will accommodate the movement of the necessary supplies of milk to fulfill the requirements of the Class I market. As previously stated, this market has been supplied, up to the present, almost entirely by milk shipped directly from farms to pool distributing plants. There is not now, and never has been, a supply plant attached to this market other than the "market equalization" plant of the local cooperative association located at Dayton. While the market has relied to a minor extent upon sources other than producer milk to fulfill Class I demands, it is desirable for marketing efficiency that the direct-shipped milk be utilized to the fullest extent possible for Class I purposes. Under usual conditions, this milk should be assigned to Class I use at the handlers' plant before transportation allowance is given for milk imported from distant plant sources.

Some tolerance should be allowed, however, in the assignment to Class I of milk brought in from pool supply plants. A representative of certain Wisconsin cooperatives suggested that milk from supply plants be prorated to Class

I along with direct-delivered producer milk for the purpose of providing location adjustment credits. The effect of this proposal would be to increase the amount of transportation credit available to cover the cost of importing distant plant supplies as needed to supplement nearby producer milk.

The greater the amounts deducted for transportation the lower the uniform price will be. At present the market is fully supplied with milk costing the direct-ship producer an average of 27 cents per hundredweight to deliver to market. If the order is to encourage the procurement of milk for the market at the lowest possible cost, the direct-ship producers should not have to pay for the transportation of their own milk and, in addition, help to pay for the importation of more distant milk at a significantly higher transportation cost unless they are unable to fulfill the market's needs at reasonable prices.

In the event, however, a handler needs more distant milk, his cost should not be excessive in relation to those handlers with adequate quantities of direct-ship milk. Therefore, if the handler receiving the milk from the pool supply plant has direct-delivered producer milk supplies less than 110 percent of his Class I milk during the month, milk received from pool supply plants should be assigned to Class I on a pro rata basis with the direct-shipped milk, other order milk and unregulated supply plant milk subject to location credit.

This pro rata assignment to Class I disposition in the pool distributing plant of all producer milk, whether received directly from producers' farms or from another pool plant, will reduce whatever cost advantage handlers purchasing milk directly from producers' farms enjoy as compared to those who purchase some milk from supply plants.

To mitigate any abuse of location credits the assignment of Class I milk to transferor plants should be made in each instance, first at plants at which no location adjustment credit is applicable, and then in sequence beginning with the plants at which the lowest amount of adjustment credit would apply. For purposes of uniformity, the same provision would apply to any shipment of bulk or packaged fluid milk products between pool plants.

The major cooperative association proposed to include in the order a definition of "reload point." Their purpose in establishing the reload point was to provide location pricing at points beyond 70 miles of Dayton where bulk tank milk is reloaded and commingled en route to distributing plants in the Miami Valley market as well as at supply plants. While there are no reload points beyond such distance from the market at this time, proponent stated that a reload point definition would assist to modernize the regulatory program.

In contrast to the present situation, the producers' proposal would price producer milk at more distant reload points (beyond the 70-mile radius from Dayton) on the basis of the schedule of location differentials applicable for supply plants. In fact, certain similarities of function between supply plants and reload points were referred to in the record. Proponent also stated its belief that producer identification would be assisted where distant milk is involved.

A representative of certain Wisconsin cooperatives and a representative of the State of Wisconsin opposed the location pricing of milk at reload points, as proposed by the local cooperative, on the basis that it might result in less opportunity for distant milk to compete for market outlets in the Miami Valley marketing area. A Dayton handler expressed opposition to adoption of a reload point definition at this time on the ground that reload points are not a significant factor at this time and that more experience is needed to develop a proper application.

This record does not show a sufficient need for differentiating the pricing of milk at reload points based on their location.

At present there are five points in the milkshed at which the bulk tank milk of producers is reloaded. All such reload points are located within 70 miles of Dayton. Reloading is done at the convenience of the hauler, presumably for efficiency in transportation. As in the case of direct shippers, the producers involved pay the full hauling charge for the distance between their farms and the distributing plant in the market where the milk is received. Individual producer milk weight and butterfat test data accompany the milk to the plant.

There has been no experience in this market with more distant reload operations although the association's proposal presumes that in such cases the handler would incur the hauling cost between the reload point and his distributing plant. While the latter is likely in the case of milk moved from supply plants, it may not necessarily be the case, however, with respect to reloaded milk. We believe a wiser course is to gain further experience with reloading operations in order that any provision for pricing reloaded milk may take into account factors and experience which could not be explored on this record. For these reasons, the proposed definition of reload point for pricing purposes is denied.

Use of equivalent prices. If for any reason a price quotation or factor required by the order for computing class prices or for other purposes is not available in the manner described, the order should provide for use of a price or factor determined by the Secretary to be equivalent to that specified. As indicated in the partial decision on this record issued February 14, 1967, there may be unavoidable occasions when a price or factor ordinarily employed in the order becomes unavailable. Including a provision in the order for determination of an equivalent will leave no uncertainty with respect to the procedure which shall be followed in the absence of any price quotation or factor and thereby will prevent any unnecessary interruption in the operation of the order and its important pricing function.

6. Revising and reissuing the entire order—(a) Distribution of proceeds to producers. The order should contain provisions which describe the means whereby payments made by handlers for milk at class prices are converted to uniform prices to be paid to producers. The provisions should specify also the terms under which such payments must be made.

The order should provide for marketwide pooling of the value of producer milk used by all handlers. Under a marketwide pool, the total money obligation of all handlers in the market is combined to compute a uniform price applicable to all producer milk. To accomplish this purpose it is necessary that there be an exchange of money among handlers such that each handler is enabled to pay the marketwide uniform price. The transfer of money would be made through a producer settlement fund, as hereinafter discussed, operated by the market administrator.

Each handler would pay into the producer-settlement fund any plus difference of the value of his producer milk at class prices over its value at the market uniform price. A handler whose producer milk has a lesser use value at the class prices than at the market uniform price would receive payment at such difference from the producer-settlement fund. This arrangement enables each handler to pay the uniform price to producers irrespective of his own use of milk. The operation of marketwide pooling as applicable in this market would be subject to a modification commonly known as a seasonal incentive ("Louisville") plan, described elsewhere in these findings.

The Dayton-Springfield order has provided for marketwide pooling for the more than 20 years of its operation in the market. The continuance of marketwide pooling was proposed by the cooperative association supporting the expansion of the order to a larger marketing area. It proposed marketwide pooling to insure that each producer supplying the market will receive his pro rata share of returns for the Class I and Class II utilization. Marketwide pooling is considered necessary in this market to prevent unequal allocation of the burden of market reserves on producers. There was no objection at the hearing to this method of pooling.

The marketwide pooling of returns to producers will promote efficient handling of milk in the area as expanded. The enlarged marketing area and its supply area encompass a fairly wide geographical territory in which the supply of milk readily available for some plants varies considerably from the supply at others. Most handler plants disposing of milk in the proposed marketing area have little, if any, facilities for manufacturing reserve milk. Such plants normally limit their receipts of producer milk to the quantity needed for Class I and procure supplemental supplies for Class I use as needed.

One of the cooperative's plants is the major manufacturing facility and provides an available outlet through which proprietary handlers can readily market surplus milk. Thus, the latter plant is able to carry adequate supplies of milk on a year-round basis. The marketwide pool will enable any handler who has manufacturing facilities or the cooperative association to handle reserve supplies and yet be able to pay producers the same price as is paid by handlers who do not assume the responsibility of carrying the necessary reserve.

As earlier stated, a large part of the milk supply for handlers in this market is furnished by the cooperative association on a full supply basis. A marketwide pool also will make it possible for handlers, including any cooperative association, to divert to nonpool plants reserve milk supplies when these are not needed by pool plants but return to the producers of such milk the uniform price. Without marketwide pooling, the main burden of the Class II returns could fall upon members of the cooperative association. The handling of reserve milk by the cooperative is a necessary service to the market in insuring an adequate supply at all times.

A marketwide pool, on the other hand, will result in equitable distribution among all producers of the lower returns from reserve milk rather than placing the burden of such milk on certain producers. It will thereby contribute to market stability and the attainment of an adequate and dependable supply of producer milk for the market.

The "Louisville seasonal pricing plan" should be retained.

The Louisville seasonal pricing plan under the Dayton-Springfield order provides for the withholding from the uniform price for each of the months of April, May, June, and July, respectively, of 20, 25, 25, and 20 cents per hundredweight of producer milk. Accumulated funds are paid back to producers on their September, October, November, and December milk on the basis of the following percentages of such monies: 20, 30, 30, and 20 percent, respectively. The Louisville plan provision has been amended twice since its adoption in 1953. In 1957, the month of September was added as one of the "pay-back" months. In April 1964, the "take-out" rates were reduced for April, May, June, and July from 20, 35, 35, and 30 cents, respectively, to 20, 25, 25, and 20 cents.

A dairy farmer representing a small group of producers on the Dayton market proposed elimination of the Louisville plan. He contended that producers are now able to produce milk in a more even seasonal pattern than when the Louisville plan was adopted some 14 years ago. Furthermore, that this attainment of a relatively even seasonal production fulfills the purpose of the Louisville plan and thus the plan is no longer needed. He stated that the plan withholds monies during the spring months when farmers most need their returns from milk for the purchase of farm supplies. He stated further that monies which must be borrowed by producers during the spring months to meet expenses carry a higher interest rate than those earned by funds withheld for payment back to producers in the fall "pay-back" months. In further support he pointed to higher returns possible at Northeastern Ohio (f.o.b. market) blend prices compared to Dayton-Springfield (f.o.b. market) blend prices.

The representative of the principal cooperative association, which represents a large majority of producers on the market, opposed elimination of the seasonal incentive plan. As earlier stated, the association is the principal handler of reserve milk on this market, both weekly and seasonally. This witness pointed out that average daily deliveries per producer for the fall months have substantially improved from 82 percent of spring month deliveries in 1953 (the first year of the Louisville plan), to about 98 percent of such deliveries in 1959–63.

He observed, on the other hand, that immediately following a reduction of withholding rates in 1964, the seasonality of producer deliveries increased somewhat. The ratio of fall deliveries to spring deliveries achieved in the years 1959–63, decreased to 95 percent in 1966. The cooperative's witness contended that to remove the seasonal pricing incentive would (1) necessitate, at increased cost to the market, facilities to handle the increase in volume of producer milk surplus in the spring months, which would be costly to maintain during other periods of decreased production, and (2) disrupt the seasonal alignment of prices with nearby markets.

The primary purpose of the seasonal production incentive plan is to induce dairy farmers to increase fall production in relation to spring production, thus to encourage a more even pattern of milk deliveries throughout the year. It provides a continuing inducement to dairy farmers to increase production during the period of greatest Class I demand and at the time of the year when production costs tend to be highest. The Louisville plan is the main incentive (other than the relatively small seasonal changes in the basic formula price) provided for maintaining seasonal production in line with Class I sales and thus reducing the burden of handling seasonal surplus to the benefit of all producers.

We are in accord with the view that greater efficiency in handling the milk supply will be achieved if an even pattern of production exists and that the Louisville plan should be continued as a means of insuring this condition.

While these western Ohio counties are an area of common supply for the Dayton-Springfield and Northeastern Ohio markets, dairy farmers who ship milk directly to the Northeastern Ohio market will incur hauling charges reflecting the greater distance to the Northeastern Ohio marketing area. Plants located in the Northeastern Ohio market area are at least 150 miles from this supply area while the distance to Dayton-Springfield outlets is 60 miles or less. Any Northeastern Ohio regulated plant located in this supply area would be subject to a location adjustment of 22 cents (based on 150-mile distance).

While levels of minimum blend prices for the Dayton-Springfield market may not be appropriately compared to the minimum blend price level for the Northeastern Ohio market without allowance for the relative distances of the markets from the producer's farm, a proper comparison which nevertheless may favor the Northeastern Ohio market does not adequately support elimination of the Louisville plan from this market. It may simply indicate that the other market may be a more lucrative one for the producer's milk. The proposed elimination of the Louisville seasonal pricing plan therefore is denied.

Producer-settlement fund. Inasmuch as all producers will receive payment at the marketwide uniform price each month (adjusted during certain months for "Louisville plan" payments), and because the payment due from each handler at the applicable class prices may be more or less than he is required to pay directly to his producers, a specific method of balancing these differences is necessary.

For this purpose the order should provide for a producer-settlement fund to be operated by the market administrator. A handler whose obligation at class prices according to his utilization is more than he is required to pay his producers, shall pay such difference into the producer-settlement fund. A handler who is required to pay less according to his utilization than he is required to pay his producers shall receive such difference from the producer-settlement fund.

For efficient functioning of the fund, a reasonable operating reserve should be set aside each month to cover such contingencies as the failure of a handler to pay his monthly billing promptly or for making additional payments due a handler from the fund by reason of audit adjustments. The reserve would be a revolving fund to be adjusted each month by withholding from the pool computation not less than four cents nor more than 5 cents per hundredweight of producer milk. One-half of the unobligated reserve so accumulated would be added to the next monthly pool in computing the uniform price. This would continue the same arrangement as is currently in operation under the Dayton-Springfield order.

If the balance in the producer-settlement fund is insufficient to cover the payments due handlers, the market administrator should uniformly reduce payments per hundredweight to such handlers. In order to minimize such occurrences, milk received by any handler who has failed to make the required payments for the preceding month would not be included in the computation of the uniform price. The remaining amounts due such handlers should be paid as soon as the balance in the fund is sufficient to meet such payments. Producers, in turn, must receive full payment from handlers.

Any payments on partially regulated milk received by the market administrator from any handler also would be deposited in the producer-settlement fund. Money thus deposited would be included in the uniform price computation and thereby distributed to all producers on the market.

Payments to producers and cooperative associations. Each handler should pay each producer (for whom payment is not made to a cooperative association) not less than the uniform price, adjusted by butterfat and location differentials, for milk received from him. Provision should be made also for a cooperative association, if it so desires, to receive payment at the uniform price for producer milk marketed by it to other handlers. Payment to the individual producer should be made on or before the 17th day of the following month. A partial payment covering milk he delivers during the first 15 days of the month should be made on or before the 27th day of such month. These are the present arrangements under the Dayton-Springfield order.

The Dayton cooperative's proposed rate of partial payment to producers or cooperatives of the Class II price rounded to the nearest 50 cents, should be adopted. It was the cooperative's position that the partial payment should more nearly reflect changes in the Class II price rather than does the present schedule of fixed rates. The fixed rates in the present order have been substantially less than Class II prices in recent periods.

A handler opposed the proposed rate of partial payment on the basis it would represent an excessive "investment" on the part of handlers. This handler objected to paying producers for their milk prior to his receipt of payment for finished products made from the milk.

The arrangement elected by the handler for receiving payment for his finished products should not be a factor to postpone a timely and reasonable partial payment rate to producers. It is therefore concluded that the partial payment of the Class II price (rounded to the nearest 50 cents) for milk delivered to a handler during the 15 days of the month, on the 27th of the month should be provided.

The Act provides for the payment by handlers to cooperative associations for milk delivered on behalf of members and permits the reblending of all proceeds from the sale of member milk. Therefore, each handler, if so requested, should pay a cooperative association with respect to producers for whom it is authorized to collect the full amount due for their milk, in lieu of making payments to the individual producers.

Handlers should be required to pay the association 1 day before payment is required to be made to individual producers. This will enable the association to pay producers for whom it markets milk on the same date that other producers are to be paid by handlers. An association, however, should provide for reimbursement of any loss incurred because of an improper claim.

The collection of payments for milk of producers for whom it markets milk will assist an association in facilitating the transfer and diversion of milk among handlers and aid in the orderly movement of reserve milk to other plants either by transfer or diversion for manufacturing use. Thus, a cooperative association will be better able to discharge its responsibilities to its members and give service to the market.

A handler also should be required to pay a cooperative association for all milk purchased during the month from such association in its capacity as a handler on or before the 16th day of the following month. In the event the cooperative is the handler for producer milk delivered directly (including milk reloaded from one tank truck to another) from the farm to another handler's plant, such payment should be made at not less than the uniform price adjusted by the applicable butterfat and location adjustments. For other milk which a cooperative may deliver from its plant to another handler's plant, payment should be at the class prices according to the classification of milk transferred.

At the time settlement is made for milk received from producers the handler should be required to furnish to each producer (or his cooperative association) a supporting statement. This statement should show the pounds and butterfat tests of milk received from such producer, the rate of payment for such milk and the description of any deduction claimed by the handler in order that the producer may know the basis on which he is paid.

The principal cooperative association proposed a revision in the presently employed method by which producers receive payment for milk from handlers. The association proposal would replace the present system with one under which each handler would pay into the producer-settlement fund his full class price use value of milk and the market administrator would take over the task of paying the individual producers (or in some cases their cooperatives) at the uniform price. Reasons given by proponent in support of this proposal were that (1) it would identify the handler's total cost of milk with his obligation to the producer-settlement fund, and (2) it would definitely establish a date of producer payment on a uniform basis among all handlers.

One handler who purchases considerable quantities of milk from nonmember producers testified in opposition to the adoption of these proposed payments to the producer-settlement fund. This handler and nonmember producers shipping milk to his plant indicated their preference to continue to be paid for their milk by the handler.

The proposed producer payment plan should not be adopted. The problem raised concerning prompt payment for milk seemed to be related to the provision of the present order which permits the cooperative association and the handler to come to an agreement as to which of them will be accountable to the pool for milk marketed. Contrarily, the requirement of the revised provision will be that the handler must account to the cooperative at not less than the uniform price and will be required to pay to the market administrator any balance of his classified use value over its value at the uniform price. This revision should virtually eliminate the type of problem presented by the cooperative.

The record evidence fails to show a history of late or delinquent payments required to be made by handlers regulated by the Dayton-Springfield order. Without more indication of a need for the proposed provisions to solve a marketing problem for producers or their cooperatives or some administrative problem which may not be resolved by the changes adopted herein, it would be difficult to find on the evidence that the plan proposed by the producers is a necessary feature of an order in this market at this time. Such plan therefore is denied.

(b) Administrative provisions. Certain other provisions are needed in the order to carry out the administrative steps necessary to accomplish the purposes of the proposed regulation. Except for updating of language for clarity and consistency, these terms are generally the same as have applied for many years under the Dayton-Springfield order to more than 77 percent of the milk which will be subject to pricing under the Miami Valley order. The proponent cooperative association testified as to their importance and requested their continued application under the expanded order.

(1) Terms and definitions. In addition to the definitions discussed earlier in this decision which establish the scope of regulation, certain other terms and definitions are desirable for the purpose of brevity and to assure that each use of the term implies the same meaning. Such terms, as defined in the attached order, are common to most Federal orders.

(2) Market administrator. The order should provide for the appointment by the Secretary of a market administrator to administer the order and should set forth powers and duties of the market administrator.

(3) Records and reports. Provisions should be included in the order requiring handlers to maintain adequate records of their operations and to make the reports necessary to establish the proper classification and pricing of milk and payments due producers for milk. Obviously, time limits must be prescribed for filing such reports and for making payments to producers. Similarly, dates must be established for the announcement of prices by the market administrator.

It is essential that handlers' reports be submitted to the market administrator not later than the seventh day of each month. The market administrator should announce the uniform price for the previous month's milk on or before the 12th day of each month. The market administrator should also notify handlers of the amount due on milk handled during the month on or before the 12th day after the end of the month to permit sufficient time for handlers to submit payments due to the producer-settlement fund on or before the 14th day after the month. The payroll report of each handler should be submitted to the market administrator on or before the 20th day of each month. It should include such information as weights, butterfat tests, payments for milk and authorized deductions.

Handlers must maintain and make available to the market administrator all records and accounts of their operations which are necessary to determine the accuracy of the information reported to the market administrator or any other information upon which the classification of producer milk depends. The market administrator likewise must be permitted to check the accuracy of weights and tests of milk and milk products received and handled and to verify all payments required under the order.

Detailed reports to the market administrator by handlers would be used also to determine whether plants qualify as pool plants.

The market administrator should report to each cooperative association, which so requests, the percentage of milk delivered by its members and utilized in each class at each pool plant receiving such milk. For the purpose of this report the percentage of members' milk in each pool plant should be prorated in the proportion that producer milk was utilized by that handler. These reports are necessary for cooperative associations to market their member milk efficiently so that available producer milk will be channeled to Class I uses to the fullest extent possible.

It is necessary that handlers retain records to prove the utilization of the milk received and that proper payments were made therefor. Since the books of all handlers associated with the market cannot be audited immediately, it is necessary that such records be kept for a reasonable period of time. The order should provide limitations on the period of time handlers shall be required to retain books and records and on the period of time in which obligations under the order should terminate.

The obligations of any handler under the order shall terminate 2 years after the last day of the month during which the market administrator receives the handler's utilization report on the milk involved in such obligation, unless the handler fails or refuses to make available all required books and records or a handler's obligation involves fraud or willful concealment of a fact. The provisions made in this order are identical in principle to those adopted for all milk orders in operation on July 30, 1947, following the Secretary's decision of January 26, 1949 (14 F.R. 444). Official notice of such decision is taken. The reasons for such provisions as are set forth in that decision are similarly applicable to the situation in this market and the provisions should be adopted in this order for proper administration.

4. Expense of administration. The Act requires handlers to pay the cost of operating an order through an assessment on milk handled. Each handler should be required to pay to the market administrator, as his proportionate share of the cost of administering the order, 2 cents, or such lesser amount as the Secretary may prescribe, on all receipts within the month of producer milk, including milk of such handler's own production, any other source milk allocated to Class I (except milk so assessed under another Federal order) and receipts from a cooperative association in its capacity as a handler of bulk tank milk.

The maximum rate of administrative assessment of two cents per hundredweight herein adopted is identical with the rate currently in effect under the Dayton-Springfield order and is appropriate for the Miami Valley order. This rate appropriately provided funds for the market administrator to meet the necessary cost of administering the Dayton-Springfield order. Since the funds from this rate of assessment have proved adequate for the expense of prior administration of that regulation, it is expected that this rate will likewise provide adequate funds to cover the initial administrative costs in establishing this regulation. The quantity of milk to be covered is only moderately increased from that subject to the present Dayton-Springfield order.

This order specifies minimum performance standards which must be met to obtain regulated status. With certain specified exceptions, operators of plants not meeting such standards would, under the provisions included in this decision, be required to either make specified payments into the producer-settlement fund on route distribution in the marketing area in excess of offsetting purchases of Federal order Class I milk or otherwise pay into such fund and/or dairy farmers, an amount not less than the full classified use value of receipts (computed as though such plant were a fully regulated plant).

The market administrator, in administering an order as it applies to the nonpool route distributor, must incur expenses in essentially the same manner as in applying the order to pool handlers. Partial regulation (as prescribed) of such distributor does not, however, provide the same benefits to such handler as accrue to the fully regulated handler; i.e., the privilege of participation in the market pool and assurance of uniform price payments to his dairy farmers.

If the nonpool route distributor elects to make a payment on his in-area sales at the difference between the Class I price and the uniform price for the market, the expenses incurred by the market administrator in administering the terms of the order on such handler are nominal and payment of the administrative assessment on his in-area sales reasonably would constitute his pro rata share of administrative expense.

In the situation where such a distributor for any reason actually pays his dairy farmers the full use value of their milk (computed at order price) it has in the past on the basis of substantial record evidence in promulgation hearings, been found necessary in many areas to require payment by such distributor of an administrative assessment on his total receipts of milk in order to defray the costs of complete plant auditing to verify the utilization and payments as claimed. In large measure, such a distributor's operations are more comparable to those of a fully regulated handler and such assessment is substantially the same as for a fully regulated handler.

There is reason to believe, however, that in some instances such an assessment might make possible a financial obligation under the order in excess of his total obligation through the alternative of electing to make a payment into the producer-settlement fund. From the financial standpoint such a situation provides little practical alternative to such handler but to pay the required pool payment. In order to give more meaningful effect to the choice of an alternative, the pro rata share of the administrative expense of the order should be the regular assessment rate applied to such milk as is actually disposed of as Class I in the regulated area that exceeds Class I milk received from other regulated plants or other order plants, irrespective of whether the option to pay into the producer-settlement fund is elected by the unregulated distributor.

In the case of unregulated milk which enters the market through a fully regulated plant for Class I use, it is the regulated handler who utilizes the unregulated milk and who must report to the market administrator the receipt and use of such milk as well as on all other milk received and utilized. Also, the receipts and utilization of all milk at his plant are subject to verification by the market administrator. It is concluded, therefore, that the regulated handler should be responsible, as under the present Dayton-Springfield order, for payment of the administrative assessment with respect to such unregulated milk.

The market administrator must have funds sufficient to enable him to administer the order. The order is designed to share this cost equitably among all handlers distributing milk in the proposed marketing area. However, to prevent duplication an assessment should not be made on other source milk on which an assessment was made under another Federal order.

Provision should be made so that the Secretary may reduce the amount of the administrative assessment without the necessity of amending the order. The rate can thus be reduced when experience indicates a lower rate will be sufficient to provide adequate funds for the administration of the order.

(5) Marketing service. Provisions should be made in the order for providing for marketing services to producers, such as the verification of tests and weights of producer milk and furnishing them with market information. The services should be provided by the market administrator and the cost should be borne by producers for whom the services are rendered. A qualified cooperative association, approved for such activity by the Secretary, may perform such services for its member producers in lieu of such services by the market administrator.

There is need for continuing the marketing service program in connection with the administration of the order in this area. Orderly marketing will be promoted by assuring individual producers that they have obtained accurate weights and tests of their milk. Complete verification requires that butterfat tests and weights of an individual producer's deliveries as reported by the handler are proved to be accurate.

An additional phase of this market service program is to furnish producers with current market information. Efficiency in the production, utilization and marketing of milk will be promoted by providing for the dissemination of current market information on a market-wide basis to all producers.

To enable the market administrator to furnish these marketing services, provision should be made for a maximum deduction of 6 cents per hundredweight with respect to receipts of milk from producers for whom he renders marketing services. This is the same rate as now provided in the Dayton-Springfield order and it has provided funds necessary to conduct the program under that regulation at the time of promulgation.

If later experience indicates that marketing services can be performed at a lesser rate, provision is made in this order whereby the Secretary may adjust the rate downward without the necessity of a hearing. In the event a qualified cooperative association has been determined to be performing such marketing services for its members, handlers would be required to pay to the cooperative association such deductions as are authorized by its producer members.

(5) Adjustment of errors. The cooperative association proposed a revision in the time requirement applicable to payment of monies due various persons when errors are discovered on audit of any handler's reports, books, records, or accounts. Under the present Dayton-Springfield order audit adjustments resulting in monies due are paid on the date of the next scheduled payment specified in the particular section of the order under which such adjustment occurred. Pursuant to the proposal such adjustments would be carried to the next payment date if they were discovered less than five days before the date ordinarily due.

The provision relating to "adjustment of errors" should be expanded to cover audit adjustments resulting in monies due the market administrator from a handler and a handler from the market administrator, as well as from the handler to a producer or cooperative association. Such adjustments should be paid to the appropriate person on or before the next date for making final payment under the section in which such error occurred. The evidence failed to indicate the necessity for postponing such payment where discovery is made within 5 days of the next payment date, as proposed. The revisions made will improve administrative practice. Such revised provisions should assure prompt payment of monies found due upon audit and provide sufficient time for payment.

(6) Clarifying changes have been made in other provisions which were pointed out in exceptions. These changes relate to the definitions of "distributing plant", "supply plant", "pool plant" (balancing plant of a cooperative association), "other source milk" and "route disposition"; "reports of receipts and utilization"; "Class II milk price"; and "computation of the net pool obligations of each pool handler". These clarifications of order provisions will assist in the effective administration of the order.

Rulings on proposed findings and conclusions. Briefs and proposed findings and conclusions were filed on behalf of certain interested parties. These briefs, proposed findings and conclusions and the evidence in the record were considered in making the findings and conclusions set forth above. To the extent that the suggested findings and conclusions filed by interested parties are inconsistent with the findings and conclusions set forth herein, the requests to make such findings or reach such conclusions are denied for the reasons previously stated in this decision.

General findings. The findings and determinations hereinafter set forth are supplementary and in addition to the findings and determinations previously made in connection with the issuance of the aforesaid order and of the previously issued amendments thereto; and all of said previous findings and determinations are hereby ratified and affirmed, except insofar as such findings and determinations may be in conflict with the findings and determinations set forth herein.

(a) The tentative marketing agreement and the order, as hereby proposed to be amended, and all of the terms and conditions thereof, will tend to effectuate the declared policy of the Act;

(b) The parity prices of milk as determined pursuant to section 2 of the Act are not reasonable in view of the price of feeds, available supplies of feeds, and other economic conditions which affect market supply and demand for milk in the marketing area, and the minimum prices specified in the proposed marketing agreement and the order, as hereby proposed to be amended, are such prices as will reflect the aforesaid factors, insure a sufficient quantity of pure and wholesome milk, and be in the public interest; and

(c) The tentative marketing agreement and the order, as hereby proposed to be amended, will regulate the handling of milk in the same manner as, and will be applicable only to persons in the respective classes of industrial and commercial activity specified in, a marketing agreement upon which a hearing has been held;

(d) All milk and milk products handled by handlers, as defined in the order as hereby amended, are in the current of interstate commerce or directly burden, obstruct, or affect interstate commerce in milk or its products; and

(e) It is hereby found that the necessary expense of the market administrator for the maintenance and functioning of such agency will require the payment by each handler, as his pro rata share of such expense, 2 cents per hundredweight or such amount not to exceed 2 cents per hundredweight as the Secretary may prescribe, with respect to:

(1) Receipts of producer milk (including such handler's own production);

(2) Other source milk allocated to Class I pursuant to §§ 1034.45(a)(4) and 1034.45(a)(8) and the corresponding steps of § 1034.45(b); and

(3) Packaged Class I milk disposed of from partially regulated distributing plants as route disposition in the marketing area that exceeds the hundredweight of Class I milk received during the month at such plants from pool plants and other order plants.

Rulings on exceptions. In arriving at the findings and conclusions, and the regulatory provisions of this decision, each of the exceptions received was carefully and fully considered in conjunction with the record evidence pertaining thereto. To the extent that the findings and conclusions, and the regulatory provisions of this decision are at variance with any of the exceptions, such exceptions are hereby overruled for the reasons previously stated in this decision.

Marketing agreement and order. Annexed hereto and made a part hereof are two documents entitled, respectively, "Marketing Agreement Regulating the Handling of Milk in the Miami Valley, Ohio, Marketing Area", and "Order Amending the Order Regulating the Handling of Milk in the Miami Valley, Ohio, Marketing Area", which have been decided upon as the detailed and appropriate means of effectuating the foregoing conclusions.

It is hereby ordered, That all of this decision, except the attached marketing agreement, be published in the FEDERAL REGISTER. The regulatory provisions of said marketing agreement are identical with those contained in the order as hereby proposed to be amended by the attached order which will be published with this decision.

Referendum order; determination of representative period; and designation of referendum agent. It is hereby directed that a referendum be conducted to determine whether the issuance of the attached order regulating the handling of milk in the Miami Valley, Ohio, marketing area, is approved or favored by the producers, as defined under the terms of the order, as amended and as hereby proposed to be amended, and who, during the representative period, were engaged in the production of milk for sale within the aforesaid marketing area.

The month of June 1967 is hereby determined to be the representative period for the conduct of such referendum.

Fred W. Issler is hereby designated agent of the Secretary to conduct such referendum in accordance with the procedure for the conduct of referenda to determine producer approval of milk marketing orders (7 CFR 900.300 et seq.), such referendum to be completed on or before the 30th day from the date this decision is issued.

Signed at Washington, D.C., on August 7, 1967.

GEORGE L. MEHREN,
Assistant Secretary.

AUTHORITY: The provisions of this Part 1034 issued under sections 1–19, 48 Stat. 31, as amended; 7 U.S.C. 601–674.

§ 1034.0 Findings and determinations.

The findings and determinations hereinafter set forth are supplementary and in addition to the findings and determinations previously made in connection with the issuance of the aforesaid order and of the previously issued amendments thereto; and all of said previous findings and determinations are hereby ratified and affirmed, except insofar as such findings and determinations may be in conflict with the findings and determinations set forth herein.

(a) Findings upon the basis of the hearing record. Pursuant to the provisions of the Agricultural Marketing Agreement Act of 1937, as amended (7 U.S.C. 601 et seq.), and the applicable rules of practice and procedure governing the formulation of marketing agreements and marketing orders (7 CFR Part 900), a public hearing was held upon certain proposed amendments to the tentative marketing agreement and to the order regulating the handling of milk in the Miami Valley, Ohio, marketing area. Upon the basis of the evidence introduced at such hearing and the record thereof, it is found that:

(1) The said order as hereby amended, and all of the terms and conditions thereof, will tend to effectuate the declared policy of the Act;

(2) The parity prices of milk, as determined pursuant to section 2 of the Act, are not reasonable in view of the price of feeds, available supplies of feeds, and other economic conditions which affect market supply and demand for milk in the said marketing area, and the minimum prices specified in the order as hereby amended are such prices as will reflect the aforesaid factors, insure a sufficient quantity of pure and wholesome milk, and be in the public interest;

(3) The said order as hereby amended, regulates the handling of milk in the same manner as, and is applicable only to persons in the respective classes of industrial or commercial activity specified in, a marketing agreement upon which a hearing has been held;

(4) All milk and milk products handled by handlers, as defined in the order as hereby amended, are in the current of interstate commerce or directly burden, obstruct, or affect interstate commerce in milk or its products; and

(5) It is hereby found that the necessary expense of the market administrator for the maintenance and functioning of such agency will require the payment by each handler, as his pro rata share of such expense, 2 cents per hundredweight or such amount not to exceed 2 cents per hundredweight as the Secretary may prescribe, with respect to:

(i) Receipts of producer milk (including such handler's own production);

(ii) Other source milk allocated to Class I pursuant to § 1034.45(a) (4) and (8) and the corresponding steps of § 1034.45(b); and

(iii) Packaged Class I milk disposed of from partially regulated distributing plants as route disposition in the marketing area that exceeds the hundredweight of Class I milk received during the month at such plants from pool plants and other order plants.

Order relative to handling. It is therefore ordered, that on and after the effective date hereof the handling of milk in the Miami Valley, Ohio, marketing area shall be in conformity to and in compliance with the terms and conditions of the aforesaid order, as amended and as hereby amended, as follows:

The provisions of the proposed marketing agreement and order amending the order contained in the recommended decision issued by the Deputy Administrator, Regulatory Programs, on June 8, 1967, and published in the FEDERAL REGISTER on June 15, 1967 (32 F.R. 8591; F.R. Doc. 67–6621), subject to revisions of §§ 1034.11, 1034.12, 1034.13 (a) and (c), 1034.15 (introductory text), 1034.17 (a)(1), 1034.18, 1034.30(a)(1)(i), 1034.45, 1034.52(b), and 1034.54(a); and addition of § 1034.70(g) shall be and are the terms and provisions of this order amending the order and the order is set forth in full herein.

DEFINITIONS

§ 1034.1 Act.

"Act" means Public Act No. 10, 73d Congress, as amended, and as reenacted and amended by the Agricultural Marketing Agreement Act of 1937, as amended (7 U.S.C. 601 et seq.).

§ 1034.2 Secretary.

"Secretary" means the Secretary of Agriculture of the United States or any officer or employee of the United States authorized to exercise the powers or to perform the duties of the Secretary of Agriculture.

§ 1034.3 Department.

"Department" means the U.S. Department of Agriculture or any other Federal agency authorized to perform the price reporting functions of the U.S. Department of Agriculture.

§ 1034.4 Person.

"Person" means any individual, partnership, corporation, association, or other business unit.

§ 1034.5 Cooperative association.

"Cooperative association" means any cooperative marketing association of [1] This order shall not become effective unless and until the requirements of § 900.14 of the rules of practice and procedure governing proceedings to formulate marketing agreements and marketing orders have been met.

producers which the Secretary determines, after application by the association:

(a) To be qualified under the provisions of the Act of Congress of February 18, 1922, as amended, known as the "Capper-Volstead Act";

(b) To have full authority in the sale of milk of its members and is engaged in making collective sales of or marketing milk or milk products for its members; and

(c) To have all of its activities under the control of its members.

§ 1034.6 Miami Valley, Ohio, marketing area.

The "Miami Valley, Ohio, marketing area", hereinafter called the "marketing area", means all the territory geographically within the places listed below, including all premises wholly or partly therein occupied by government (municipal, State, or Federal) reservations, installations, institutions, or other similar establishments:

OHIO COUNTIES

Champaign.	Greene.
Clark.	Miami.
Clinton (except Clark, Green, Jefferson, and Washington Township).	Montgomery.
	Preble.

§ 1034.7 Producer.

"Producer" means any person, except a producer-handler as defined in any order (including this part) issued pursuant to the Act, who produces milk in compliance with inspection requirements of a duly constituted health authority for fluid consumption in the marketing area which milk is (a) received at a pool plant, or (b) diverted as producer milk pursuant to § 1034.15. "Producer" shall not include any such person with respect to milk which is fully subject to the class pricing and producer payment provisions of another order issued pursuant to the Act.

§ 1034.8 Handler.

"Handler" means:

(a) Any person who operates one or more pool plants;

(b) Any cooperative association with respect to producer milk diverted from a pool plant to another pool plant or to a nonpool plant;

(c) Any cooperative association with respect to producer milk it delivered directly from the farm to the pool plant of another handler in a tank truck or trailer owned or operated by, or under contract to, such cooperative association for its account;

(d) Any person who operates a partially regulated distributing plant;

(e) A producer-handler; and

(f) Any person who operates an other order plant described in § 1034.61.

§ 1034.9 Producer-handler.

"Producer-handler" means any person who meets all of the following conditions:

(a) Operates a dairy farm and a distributing plant in which milk from his own production is processed and packaged and from which route disposition is made within the marketing area;

(b) Receives from pool plants or other order plants during the month fluid milk products of not more than 2,500 pounds;

(c) Has route disposition consisting only of skim milk and butterfat obtained from pool plants or other order plants in the form of fluid milk products or from his own production;

(d) Receives no milk from other dairy farmers; and

(e) The maintenance, care and management of the herd(s) and other resources necessary to the production, processing and packaging of own-farm milk are the personal enterprise and risk of such person.

§ 1034.10 Plant.

"Plant" means the land and buildings together with their surroundings, facilities, and equipment constituting a single operating unit or establishment which is operated exclusively by one or more persons and used for the bulk handling or processing of milk or milk products.

§ 1034.11 Distributing plant.

"Distributing plant" means a plant which is approved by any duly constituted health authority for the processing or packaging of milk for fluid consumption in the marketing area and from which during the month route disposition is made.

§ 1034.12 Supply plant.

"Supply plant" means a plant in which some milk approved by any duly constituted health authority for fluid consumption in the marketing area is assembled and shipped in bulk as a fluid milk product to a distributing plant.

§ 1034.13 Pool plant.

"Pool plant" means a plant specified in paragraph (a), (b), or (c) of this section, except the plant of a producer-handler or a plant exempt pursuant to § 1034.61.

(a) A distributing plant from which during the month:

(1) Route disposition made within the marketing area is at least 15 percent of its total route disposition; and

(2) At least 50 percent of the total receipts of Grade A milk at such plant from dairy farmers, other plants (excluding receipts of bulk fluid milk products from other plants which are assigned as Class II milk pursuant to § 1034.45(a) (5) (i) and (iii) and (10)), and cooperatives as handlers pursuant to § 1034.8, including any such milk diverted to other plants pursuant to § 1034.15 by the handler operating such plant, is route disposition during each of the months of August through January, at least 45 percent February and March, and at least 40 percent during other months, except that a plant which qualifies as a pool plant by complying with the preceding requirements of this subparagraph during the immediately preceding month shall continue to be a pool plant during the current month even if the minimum percentage requirement for the current month is not met.

(b) A supply plant from which during the month the volume of fluid milk products shipped to and received at plants qualified pursuant to paragraph (a) of this section and route disposition from such plant within the marketing area, if any, is not less than 50 percent of the volume of Grade A milk received from dairy farmers at such plant (including receipts from a handler pursuant § 1034.8 (e) but not receipts of other milk on diversion pursuant to § 1034.15). Any supply plant which is qualified by reason of meeting the required percentage of this paragraph during the months of August through March shall continue to be so qualified for the following months of April through July even if the required percentage pursuant to this paragraph is not met in the latter months, unless such operator requests the market administrator in writing that such plant should not be so qualified, such revised status to be effective the first month following such notice and thereafter until the plant requalifies under this section on the basis of shipments.

(c) A plant, other than a distributing plant, operated by a cooperative association if, during the month, more than 50 percent of the total milk supply of producer members of such cooperative association is shipped to one or more distributing plants of other handlers qualified under paragraph (a) of this section either from such plant of the cooperative association or pursuant to § 1034.8(c), except that on written request for nonpool status made to the market administrator prior to the beginning of any month, the plant shall be a nonpool plant for such month and for each of the succeeding 11 months in which it does not qualify pursuant to paragraph (a) or (b) of this section on the basis of shipments.

§ 1034.14 Nonpool plant.

"Nonpool plant" means any milk receiving, manufacturing or processing plant other than a pool plant. The following categories of nonpool plants are further defined as follows:

(a) "Other order plant" means a plant that is fully subject to the pricing and pooling provisions of another order issued pursuant to the Act.

(b) "Producer-handler plant" means a plant operated by a producer-handler as defined in any order (including this part) issued pursuant to the Act.

(c) "Partially regulated distributing plant" means a nonpool plant that is neither an other order plant nor a producer-handler plant from which there is route disposition in the marketing area during the month.

(d) "Unregulated supply plant" means a nonpool plant that is neither an other order plant nor a producer-handler plant and from which fluid milk products are shipped to a pool plant.

§ 1034.15 Producer milk.

"Producer milk" means all skim milk and butterfat contained in milk of any producer, other than milk received at a pool plant by diversion from a plant at which such milk would be fully subject to pricing and pooling under the terms and provisions of another order issued pursuant to the Act, which is:

(a) Received during the month at one or more pool plants;

(b) Diverted during the month by a handler from a pool plant to another pool plant; or

(c) Diverted by a handler from a pool plant to a nonpool plant for not more than one-third of the days of delivery during any month from August through March, and for not more than two-thirds of the days of delivery during any month from April through July. Producer milk diverted by a handler shall be priced at the location of the plant to which diverted;

(d) Received by a cooperative association in its capacity as a handler pursuant to § 1034.8(c), in addition to that pursuant to paragraph (a) of this section; and

(e) Delivered in a farm tank pickup truck, except that delivered by a cooperative association as a handler pursuant to § 1034.8(c), to more than one pool plant shall be deemed to have been received at the first pool plant where any of the milk is withdrawn from the tank truck.

§ 1034.16 Fluid milk product.

"Fluid milk product" means milk, skim milk, flavored or cultured milk or skim milk, buttermilk, concentrated milk, sweet or sour cream, and any fluid mixture of cream and milk or skim milk, including prepared milk shake mixes containing less than 15 percent total milk solids. The term includes these products in fluid, frozen (except cream), fortified or reconstituted form, but does not include sterilized cream in hermetically sealed metal or glass containers, eggnog, ice cream mix, or other frozen dessert mixes, aerated cream products, storage cream, cultured sour mixtures disposed of as other than sour cream unless labeled as a Grade A product, and evaporated or condensed milk or skim milk in either plain or sweetened form.

§ 1034.17 Other source milk.

"Other source milk" means all skim milk and butterfat contained in or represented by:

(a) Receipts during the month in the form of fluid milk products except: (1) Producer milk (including own farm production), (2) fluid milk products received from other pool plants either by transfer or diversion, and (3) sterilized cream received and disposed of in the same hermetically sealed metal or glass container;

(b) Products other than fluid milk products from any source (including those produced at the plant) which are reprocessed, repackaged, converted into or combined with another product during the month; and

(c) Any disappearance of nonfluid milk products not otherwise accounted for.

§ 1034.18 Route disposition.

"Route disposition" means a delivery (including that custom-packaged for another person, and disposition from a plant store or through vendor or vending machines) of any fluid milk product to a retail or wholesale outlet either directly or through a distribution point other than a plant.

MARKET ADMINISTRATOR

§ 1034.20 Designation.

The agency for the administration of this part shall be a market administrator, appointed by the Secretary, who shall be entitled to such compensation as may be determined by, and shall be subject to removal by the Secretary.

§ 1034.21 Powers.

The market administrator shall have the following powers with respect to this part:

(a) To administer its terms and provisions;

(b) To receive, investigate and report to the Secretary complaints of violations;

(c) To make rules and regulations to effectuate its terms and provisions; and

(d) To recommend to the Secretary amendments thereto.

§ 1034.22 Duties.

The market administrator shall perform all duties necessary to administer the terms and provisions of this part. His duties shall include but not be limited to those specified in this section.

(a) Within 30 days following the date on which he enters upon his duties execute and deliver to the Secretary a bond effective as of the date on which he enters upon his duties as market administrator and conditioned upon the faithful performance of such duties, in an amount and with surety thereon satisfactory to the Secretary.

(b) Employ and fix the compensation of such persons as may be necessary to enable him to administer the terms and provisions of this part.

(c) Obtain a bond in a reasonable amount, and with satisfactory surety therein, covering each employee who handles funds entrusted to the market administrator.

(d) Pay, out of the funds provided by § 1034.88, the cost of his bond and of the bonds of his employees, his own compensation, and all other expenses (except those incurred under § 1034.87) necessarily incurred by him in the maintenance and functioning of his office and in the performance of his duties.

(e) Keep such books and records as will clearly reflect the transactions provided for in this part, and, upon request by the Secretary, surrender the same to his successor or to such other person as the Secretary may designate.

(f) Publicly disclose to handlers and producers, unless otherwise directed by the Secretary, the name of any person who, within 2 days after the day upon which he is required to perform such acts, has not made (1) reports pursuant to §§ 1034.30 and 1034.32 or (2) payments pursuant to §§ 1034.80, 1034.84, 1034.86, 1034.87, and 1034.88.

(g) Submit his books and records to examination by the Secretary and furnish such information and reports as the Secretary may request.

(h) Verify handlers' reports and payments to the extent necessary, by any appropriate means including audit of the handler's records and, if made available of the records of any other person upon whose utilization the classification of skim milk or butterfat depends.

(i) Publicly announce (by posting in a conspicuous place in his office and by such other means as he deems appropriate):

(1) On or before the sixth day of each month the minimum price for Class I milk pursuant to § 1034.51 and the Class I butterfat differential pursuant to § 1034.53(a) both for the current month, and the minimum price for Class II milk pursuant to § 1034.52 and the Class II butterfat differential pursuant to § 1034.53(b) both for the preceding month.

(2) On or before the 12th day after the end of each month the uniform price computed pursuant to § 1034.71 and the butterfat differential computed pursuant to § 1034.81 for such month.

(j) Notify on or before the 12th day after the end of each month each handler who reported pursuant to § 1034.30 of:

(1) The amount and value of such handler's milk in each class computed pursuant to § 1034.45 and § 1034.70;

(2) The uniform price computed pursuant to § 1034.71; and

(3) The amount to be paid by such handler pursuant to §§ 1034.82, 1034.84, 1034.87, and 1034.88 and the amount, if any, due such handler pursuant to § 1034.85.

(k) On or before the 12th day after the end of each month report to each cooperative association for such month with respect to each pool plant, the utilization on a pro rata basis of producer milk, payment for which is to be made to such cooperative association pursuant to § 1034.80.

(l) Whenever required for purpose of allocating receipts from other order plants pursuant to § 1034.45(a)(9) and the corresponding step of § 1034.45(b), the market administrator shall estimate and publicly announce the utilization (to the nearest whole percentage) in each class during the month of skim milk and butterfat, respectively, in producer milk of all handlers. Such estimate shall be based upon the most current available data and shall be final for such purpose.

(m) Report to the market administrator of the other order, as soon as possible after the report of receipts and utilization for the month is received from a handler who has received fluid milk products from an other order plant, the classification to which such receipts are allocated pursuant to § 1034.45 pursuant to such report, and thereafter any change in such allocation required to correct errors disclosed in verification of such report.

(n) Furnish to each handler operating a pool plant who has shipped fluid milk products to an other order plant, the classification to which the skim milk and butterfat in such fluid milk products were allocated by the market administrator of the other order on the basis of the report of the receiving handler; and, as necessary, any changes in such classification arising in the verification of such report.

FEDERAL REGISTER, VOL. 32, NO. 154—THURSDAY, AUGUST 10, 1967

(c) Prepare and make available for the benefit of producers, handlers and consumers, statistics and information concerning the operation of this part which do not reveal confidential information.

REPORTS, RECORDS AND FACILITIES

§ 1034.30 Reports of receipts and utilization.

On or before the seventh day of each month the following handlers shall report for the preceding month to, and in detail on forms prescribed by, the market administrator as follows:

(a) Each handler who operates a pool plant(s) shall report for each such plant:

(1) Receipts of skim milk and butterfat in:

(i) Producer milk (including own farm production) received;

(ii) Fluid milk products received from other pool plants;

(iii) Other source milk, with the identity of each source;

(2) Inventories of fluid milk products on hand at the beginning of the month in bulk and in packaged form, separately;

(3) The utilization or disposition of all receipts required to be reported, including separate data relative to:

(i) Bulk fluid milk products on hand at the end of the month;

(ii) Packaged fluid milk products on hand at the end of the month; and

(iii) Route disposition inside and outside the marketing area; and

(4) Such other information with respect to receipts and utilization as the market administrator may request;

(b) Each cooperative association shall report with respect to producer milk for which it is the handler but not otherwise reported under paragraph (a) of this section or § 1034.46(b);

(1) Receipts of skim milk and butterfat in producer milk;

(2) The utilization of skim milk and butterfat handled;

(3) The quantities of skim milk and butterfat caused to be delivered to pool plants of other handlers or to nonpool plants;

(4) Such other information with respect to the receipts and utilization of milk as the market administrator may request; and

(c) Each handler who operates a partially regulated distributing plant shall report for such plant the information required by paragraph (a) of this section, except that receipts of milk approved by any duly constituted health authority for fluid consumption in the marketing area shall be reported as if producer milk. Such report shall include separate data on route disposition in the marketing area.

§ 1034.31 Other reports.

(a) Each producer-handler and each handler exempt pursuant to §§ 1034.61 and 1034.62(b) shall make reports to the market administrator at such time and in such manner as the market administrator may request.

§ 1034.32 Payroll reports.

(a) Each handler pursuant to § 1034.8 (a), (b), or (c) shall submit to the market administrator on or before the 20th day after the end of the month, his producer payroll for that month which shall show for each producer:

(1) The daily and total pounds of milk received from such producer with the average butterfat test thereof; and

(2) The net amount of such handler's payments to such producer with the price, deductions and charges involved.

(b) Each handler operating a partially regulated distributing plant shall report to the market administrator on or before the 20th day after the end of the month the same information as is required pursuant to paragraph (a) of this section of a handler operating a pool plant if he wishes his obligation under § 1034.62 to be computed according to § 1034.62(a). Such report shall include payments to dairy farmers delivering Grade A milk.

§ 1034.33 Records and facilities.

Each handler, including any partially regulated handler, shall maintain and make available to the market administrator or to his representative during the usual hours of business such accounts and records of his operations, together with such facilities as are necessary for the market administrator to verify or establish the correct data with respect to:

(a) Receipts of producer milk and other source milk and the utilization of such receipts at each of his plants;

(b) Weights and tests for butterfat and other content of all milk, skim milk, cream, and other milk products handled;

(c) The pounds of skim milk and butterfat contained in or represented by all milk products on hand at the beginning and end of each month at each plant; and

(d) Payments to producers, other dairy farmers, and cooperative associations including the amount and nature of any deductions made and the disbursement of money so deducted.

§ 1034.34 Retention of records.

All books and records required under this part to be made available to the market administrator shall be retained by the handler for a period of 3 years to begin at the end of the month to which such books and records pertain. If, within such 3-year period, the market administrator notifies the handler in writing that the retention of such books and records or of specified books and records, is necessary in connection with a proceeding under section 8c(15)(A) of the Act or a court action specified in such notice, the handler shall retain such books and records, or specified books and records, until further written notification from the market administrator. In either case the market administrator shall give further written notification to the handler promptly upon the termination of the litigation or when the records are no longer necessary in connection therewith.

CLASSIFICATION

§ 1034.40 Skim milk and butterfat to be classified.

All skim milk and butterfat required to be reported pursuant to §§ 1034.30 and 1034.31 shall be classified by the market administrator as Class I milk or Class II milk subject to the conditions of this section and §§ 1034.41 through 1034.46. When nonfat milk solids derived from nonfat dry milk, condensed skim milk or any other product condensed from milk or skim milk are utilized or unaccounted for by the handler, the total pounds of skim milk classified shall reflect a volume equivalent to the skim milk used to produce such nonfat milk solids, except that if the solids are utilized to fortify fluid milk products the actual weight of any such product shall be included in classifying the total product weight.

§ 1034.41 Classes of utilization.

The classes of utilization of milk shall be as follows:

(a) Class I milk. Class I milk means skim milk (except as provided for fortified fluid milk products pursuant to § 1034.40) and butterfat:

(1) Disposed of in the form of fluid milk products other than those specified pursuant to paragraphs (b) (2), (3), and (4);

(2) In inventory of fluid milk products in packaged form on hand at the end of the month; and

(3) Not accounted for as Class II milk.

(b) Class II milk. Class II milk means skim milk and butterfat:

(1) Used to produce any product other than a fluid milk product;

(2) Disposed of and used for livestock feed or as skim milk dumped;

(3) Contained (skim milk only) in that portion of fortified fluid milk products not classified as Class I milk pursuant to paragraph (a) of this section;

(4) Contained in inventory of bulk fluid milk products on hand at the end of the month;

(5) In shrinkage of skim milk and butterfat, respectively, assigned pursuant to § 1034.42(c) (1) and (3); and

(6) In shrinkage of skim milk and butterfat, respectively, assigned pursuant to § 1034.42(c)(2).

§ 1034.42 Shrinkage.

Skim milk and butterfat, respectively, at each pool plant to be classified as Class II milk pursuant to § 1034.41(b) (5) and (6) shall be computed as follows:

(a) If the sum of the quantities of skim milk and butterfat, respectively, classified as Class I and Class II milk pursuant to § 1034.41(a) and (b) (1), (2), (3), and (4) equals or exceeds the receipts of skim milk and butterfat, respectively, required to be reported pursuant to § 1034.30, no skim milk or butterfat, respectively, shall be classified as Class II milk pursuant to § 1034.41(b) (5) and (6);

(b) Compute the total shrinkage of skim milk and butterfat; and

(c) Subject to the conditions of subparagraph (3) of this paragraph, prorate the resulting amounts between the quantities specified in subparagraphs (1) and (2) of this paragraph. The amounts assigned to the quantities in subparagraph (1) of this paragraph shall not exceed 2.5 percent of such quantities and the amounts assigned to the other source milk included in subparagraph (2) of this paragraph shall equal the actual shrinkage allocated to these quantities.

(1) The receipts of producer milk at such plant less transfers of fluid milk products in bulk form to other pool plants; plus 60 percent of the fluid milk products transferred in bulk to other pool plants; and plus 40 percent of the fluid milk products received in bulk from other pool plants and other order plants, exclusive of the quantities from other order plants for which Class II utilization was requested by the operator of such plant and the handler;

(2) Other source milk in the form of fluid milk products exclusive of that specified in subparagraph (1) of this paragraph; and

(3) If settlement by a handler on milk received from a cooperative association pursuant to § 1034.8(c) is made on the basis of weights and butterfat tests determined at the farm and the market administrator is so notified of such basis of settlement by the date the handler is required to submit his monthly report pursuant to § 1034.30, 2.5 percent shrinkage shall be allowed the handler with respect to all such milk, otherwise to 60 percent of such receipts and the balance (computed at the 2.5 percent rate) to the cooperative association supplying the milk.

§ 1034.43 Transfers.

Skim milk or butterfat in the form of a fluid milk product disposed of by a handler from a pool plant shall be classified:

(a) At the utilization indicated by the operators of both plants, otherwise as Class I milk, if transferred or diverted to another pool plant, subject to the following conditions:

(1) The skim milk or butterfat so assigned to either class shall be limited to the amount thereof remaining in such class in the transferee plant after computations pursuant to § 1034.45 (a)(9) and (b);

(2) If the transferor plant received during the month other source milk to be allocated pursuant to § 1034.45(a)(4), the skim milk and butterfat so transferred or diverted shall be classified so as to allocate the least possible Class I utilization to such other source milk; and

(3) If the transferor handler received during the month other source milk to be allocated pursuant to § 1034.45 (a)(9) and (b), the skim milk and butterfat so transferred or diverted up to the total of such receipts shall not be classified as Class I milk to a greater extent than would be applicable to a like quantity of such other source milk received at the transferee plant.

(4) If the movement is from a pool distributing plant to a pool supply plant, it shall be considered Class II utilization to the extent such utilization is available at the receiving plant.

(b) As Class I milk, if moved to a producer-handler or a plant exempt pursuant to § 1034.60(b);

(c) As Class I milk, if transferred or diverted in bulk to a nonpool plant that is neither an other order plant, nor a producer-handler plant, unless the requirements of subparagraphs (1) and (2) of this paragraph are met, in which case the skim milk and butterfat so transferred or diverted shall be classified in accordance with the assignment resulting from subparagraph (3) of this paragraph:

(1) The transferring or diverting handler claims classification pursuant to the assignment set forth in subparagraph (3) of this paragraph in his report submitted to the market administrator pursuant to § 1034.30 for the month within which such transaction occurred;

(2) The operator of such nonpool plant maintains books and records showing the utilization of all skim milk and butterfat received at such plant which are made available if requested by the market administrator for the purpose of verification; and

(3) The skim milk and butterfat so transferred shall be classified on the basis of the following assignment of utilization at such nonpool plant in excess of receipts of packaged fluid milk products from all pool plants and other order plants:

(i) Route disposition in the marketing area of another order issued pursuant to the Act shall be first assigned to receipts from plants fully regulated by such order, next pro rata to receipts from pool plants and other order plants not regulated by such order, and thereafter to receipts from dairy farmers who the market administrator determines constitute regular sources of supply of fluid milk products for such nonpool plant;

(ii) Class I utilization in excess of that assigned pursuant to subdivision (i) of this subparagraph shall be assigned first to remaining receipts from dairy farmers who the market administrator determines constitute the regular source of supply of fluid milk products for such nonpool plant and Class I utilization in excess of such receipts shall be assigned pro rata to unassigned receipts at such nonpool plant from all pool and other order plants; and

(iii) To the extent that Class I utilization is not so assigned to it, the skim milk and butterfat so transferred shall be classified as Class II milk; and

(d) As follows, if transferred to an other order plant in excess of receipts from such plant in the same category as described in subparagraph (1), (2), or (3) of this paragraph:

(1) If transferred in consumer packages, classification shall be in the classes to which allocated as a fluid milk product under the other order;

(2) If transferred in bulk form, classification shall be in the classes to which allocated as a fluid milk product under the other order (including allocation under the conditions set forth in subparagraph (3) of this paragraph);

(3) If the operators of both the transferor and transferee plants so request in the reports of receipts and utilization filed with their respective market administrators, transfers in bulk form shall be classified as Class II to the extent of the Class II utilization (or comparable utilization under such other order) available for such assignment pursuant to the allocation provisions of the transferee order;

(4) If the classification to which allocated under the other order is not available to the market administrator for purposes of establishing classification pursuant to this paragraph, classification shall be as Class I, subject to adjustment when such information is available;

(5) For purposes of this paragraph, if the transferee order provides for more than two classes of utilization, milk allocated to a class consisting primarily of fluid milk products shall be classified as Class I, and milk allocated to other classes shall be classified as Class II; and

(6) If the form in which any fluid milk product is transferred to an other order plant is not defined as a fluid milk product under such other order, classification shall be in accordance with the provisions of § 1034.41.

§ 1034.44 Computation of the skim milk and butterfat in each class.

For each month, the market administrator shall correct for mathematical and other obvious errors the report of receipts and utilization for each pool plant and shall compute the pounds of butterfat and skim milk in Class I milk and Class II milk at each such plant.

§ 1034.45 Allocation of skim milk and butterfat classified.

After making the computations pursuant to § 1034.44, the market administrator shall determine, for each pool plant, the classification of producer milk received thereat. In making the allocations for this purpose under paragraphs (a) and (b) of this section, any subtractions of receipts of skim milk or butterfat (except other source milk received as cottage cheese curd to be subtracted pursuant to subparagraph (4)(i) of this paragraph) to begin with Class II milk shall be made in series starting with skim milk and butterfart other than that used to produce cottage cheese, then skim milk and butterfat used to produce cottage cheese prior to any such subtractions from Class I milk.

(a) Skim milk shall be allocated in the following manner:

(1) Subtract from the total pounds of skim milk in Class II the pounds of skim milk classified as Class II pursuant to § 1034.41(b)(5);

(2) Subtract from the remaining pounds of skim milk in each class the pounds of skim milk in fluid milk products received in packaged form from other order plants as follows:

(i) From Class II milk, the lesser of the pounds remaining or two percent of such receipts; and

(ii) From Class I milk, the remainder of such receipts;

(3) Except for the first month this order is effective with respect to each handler, subtract from the remaining pounds of skim milk in Class I, the pounds of skim milk in inventory of fluid milk products in packaged form on hand at the beginning of the month;

(4) Subtract successively from the pounds of skim milk remaining in each class in series beginning with Class II, the pounds of skim milk in each of the following:

(i) Other source milk in a form other than that of a fluid milk product, provided that any such milk received as cottage cheese curd shall be subtracted directly from the handler's cottage cheese utilization.

(ii) Receipts of fluid milk products for which Grade A certification is not established or which are from unidentified sources;

(iii) Receipts of fluid milk products from a producer-handler as defined under this or any other Federal order; and

(iv) Receipts of fluid milk products from a plant exempt pursuant to § 1034.60(b);

(5) Subtract, in the order specified below, from the pounds of skim milk remaining in Class II:

(i) The pounds of skim milk in receipts of fluid milk products from unregulated supply plants for which the handler requests Class II utilization (other than cottage cheese manufacture) but not in excess of the pounds of skim milk remaining in such Class II uses;

(ii) The pounds of skim milk remaining in receipts of fluid milk products from unregulated supply plants which are in excess of the pounds of skim milk determined as follows:

(a) Multiply the pounds of skim milk remaining in Class I milk (excluding Class I transfers between pool plants of the handler) at all pool plants of the handler by 1.25;

(b) Subtract from the result the sum of the pounds of skim milk at all such pool plants in producer milk, in receipts from other pool handlers and in receipts in bulk order from other order plants; and

(c)(1) Multiply any resulting plus quantity by the percentage that receipts of skim milk in fluid milk products from unregulated supply plants remaining at this plant is of all such receipts remaining at all pool plants of such handler, after any deductions pursuant to subdivision (i) of this subparagraph;

(2) Should such computation result in a quantity to be subtracted from Class II, which is in excess of the pounds of skim milk remaining in Class II, the pounds of skim milk in Class II shall be increased to the quantity to be subtracted and the pounds of skim milk in Class I shall be decreased a like amount. In such case the utilization of skim milk at other pool plant(s) of such handler shall be adjusted in the reverse direction by an identical amount in sequence beginning with the nearest other pool plant of such handler at which such adjustment can be made;

(iii) The pounds of skim milk in receipts of fluid milk products in bulk from an other order plant in excess of similar transfers to such plant, but not in excess of the pounds of skim milk remaining in Class II milk, if Class II utilization was requested by the operator of such plant and the handler;

(6) Subtract from the pounds of skim milk remaining in each class, in series beginning with Class II, the pounds of skim milk in inventory of bulk fluid milk products (and for the first month the order is effective with respect to each handler, the pounds of fluid milk products in packaged form) on hand at the beginning of the month;

(7) Add to the remaining pounds of skim milk in Class II milk, the pounds subtracted pursuant to subparagraph (1) of this paragraph;

(8) (i) Subtract from the pounds of skim milk remaining in each class, pro rata to the total pounds of skim milk remaining in each class in all pool plants of the receiving handler, the pounds of skim milk in receipts of fluid milk products from unregulated supply plants that were not subtracted pursuant to subparagraph (5) (i) or (ii) of this paragraph;

(ii) Should such proration result in the amount to be subtracted from any class exceeding the pounds of skim milk remaining in such class in the pool plant at which such skim milk was received, the pounds of skim milk in such class shall be increased to the amount to be subtracted and the pounds of skim milk in the other class shall be decreased a like amount. In such case the utilization of milk at other pool plant(s) of such handler shall be adjusted in the reverse direction by an identical amount in sequence beginning with the nearest other pool plant of such handler at which such adjustment can be made;

(9) Subtract from the pounds of skim milk remaining in each class the pounds of skim milk in receipts of fluid milk products in bulk from an other order plant, in excess in each case of similar transfers to the same plant, that were not subtracted pursuant to subparagraph (5) (iii) of this paragraph pursuant to the following procedure:

(i) Subject to the provisions of subdivisions (ii) and (iii) of this subparagraph, such subtraction shall be pro rata to whichever of the following represents the higher proportion of all Class II milk.

(a) The estimated utilization of skim milk in each class, by all handlers, as announced for the month pursuant to § 1034.22(I); or

(b) The pounds of skim milk in each class remaining at all pool plants of the handler;

(ii) Should proration pursuant to subdivision (i) of this subparagraph result in the total pounds of skim milk to be subtracted from Class II at all pool plants of the handler exceeding the pounds of skim milk remaining in Class II at such plants, the pounds of such excess shall be subtracted from the pounds of skim milk remaining in Class I after such proration at the pool plants at which received;

(iii) Except as provided in subdivision (ii) of this subparagraph, should proration pursuant to either subdivision (i) or (ii) of this subparagraph result in the amount to be subtracted from any class exceeding the pounds of skim milk remaining in such class in the pool plant at which such skim milk was received, the pounds of skim milk in such class shall be increased to the amount to be subtracted and the pounds of skim milk in the other class shall be decreased a like amount. In such case the utilization of milk at other pool plant(s) of such handler shall be adjusted in the reverse direction by an identical amount in sequence beginning with the nearest other pool plant of such handler at which such adjustment can be made;

(10) Subtract from the pounds of skim milk remaining in each class the pounds of skim milk received in fluid milk products from pool plants of other handlers according to the classification assigned pursuant to § 1034.43(a); and

(11) If the pounds of skim milk remaining in both classes exceed the pounds of skim milk in producer milk, subtract such excess from the pounds of skim milk remaining in each class in series beginning with Class II. Any amount so subtracted shall be known as "overage".

(b) Butterfat shall be allocated in accordance with the procedure outlined for skim milk in paragraph (a) of this section; and

(c) Combine the amounts of skim milk and butterfat determined pursuant to paragraphs (a) and (b) of this section into one total for each class and determine the weighted average butterfat content of producer milk in each class.

§ 1034.46 Responsibility of handlers.

(a) Except as provided in paragraph (b) of this section, all skim milk and butterfat shall be classified as Class I milk unless the handler who first receives such skim milk or butterfat proves to the market administrator that such skim milk or butterfat should be classified otherwise.

(b) Producer milk in bulk delivered by a cooperative association as a handler under § 1034.8(c) to the pool plant of another handler, or caused to be diverted by the cooperative association from one pool plant to another, shall be classified according to use or disposition at the receiving plant, and the value thereof at the class prices shall be included in the net pool obligation computed for such handler pursuant to § 1034.70. For purposes of location adjustments pursuant to § 1034.54 and administrative expense pursuant to § 1034.88, such milk shall be treated as producer milk of the receiving handler.

(c) Any skim milk or butterfat shall be reclassified if verification by the market administrator discloses that the original classification was incorrect.

MINIMUM PRICES

§ 1034.50 Basic formula price.

The basic formula price shall be the average price per hundredweight for manufacturing grade milk, f.o.b. plants in Wisconsin and Minnesota, as reported by the Department for the month. Such price shall be adjusted to a 3.5 percent butterfat basis by a butterfat differential rounded to the nearest one-tenth cent computed at 0.12 times the simple average of the daily wholesale selling prices (using the midpoint of any range as one price) per pound of Grade A (92-score) bulk creamery butter at Chicago, as reported for the month by the Department (hereinafter referred to as the Chicago butter price). The basic formula price shall be rounded to the nearest full cent. For the purpose of computing Class I prices from the effective date hereof through April 1968, the basic formula price shall be not less than $4.05.

§ 1034.51 Class I milk prices.

Subject to the provisions of § 1034.53 the price per hundredweight for Class I milk for the month shall be determined by the market administrator as follows:

(a) Add $1.24, plus 20 cents through April 1968, to the basic formula price for the preceding month plus or minus a "supply-demand adjustment" of not more than 39 cents computed as follows:
